FOR

AFRICA AND THE EAST.

NINETY-FOURTH YEAR,

CONTAINING

THE ANNIVERSARY SERMON

BY

LORD BISHOP OF LONDON,

VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE SOCIETY;

The Annual Report of the Committee;

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE FUNDS;

BALANCE SHEET; &c. &c.

LONDON:

CHURCH MISSIONARY HOUSE,

SALISBURY SQUARE.

1893.

Communications on the General Business of the Society should be addressed

Telegraphic Address:—

All Bills and Orders for Money to be made payable to the Rev. Prebendary Major-Gen. Commanding Officer.

The Office of the Society is open daily, from 9 to 6, and on Saturday when it closes at one o'clock.

Except under very special circumstances, no one can be seen during office hours.

The Committee meet at the Society's House, on the second Tuesday in each month throughout the year, at eleven o'clock.

SUBSCRIPTIONS AND DONATIONS will be received

At the Society's House, Salisbury Square, London, E.C.

At the Society's Bankers—Messrs. Barclay and Company, Limited, Barclay's Bank, Ltd., 20 Birchin Lane, London, E.C.

And in Ireland at the C.M.S. Office, 3 Lawson Street, Dublin, or by the Irish Branch Secretaries.

RULES OBSERVED IN THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE ANNUAL REPORT.

(1) Annual and Life Governors (see Laws and Regulations, page) are entitled to a copy bound in blue cloth.

END.—For this purpose, Annual Subscriptions of £1 1s. or upwards are considered equivalent to Life Subscriptions of £5 5s.

(2) Annual and Life Members (see Laws and Regulations, page) and Clergymen who support the Society in any way are entitled to a copy in paper covers, either with or without the Appeal Insert (Contributions received through Associations).

END.—For this purpose Annual Subscriptions of £1 1s. or upwards are considered equivalent to Life Subscriptions of that amount.

Clergymen should be careful to mention Offices.

The object of distributing the Report without the Appeal Insert is to secure a larger circulation of the Missionary information it contains.

(3) Annual Subscribers of 10s. 6d. (see Laws and Regulations, page) and upwards who are not Members are entitled to a copy of the Abridged Proceedings (which includes the Report, Statement of Accounts).

A Report Meeting for friends of the Society is held at the C.M. House every Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m.

STATIONS, CLERICAL OR LAY MISSIONARIES, AND NATIVE CLERGYMEN, SUPPORTED EITHER DIRECTLY BY THE SOCIETY, OR BY NATIVE CHURCH FUNDS SUBSIDISED OR AIDED BY THE SOCIETY.

JUNE 1, 1893.

 A STATION is the place at which a Clerical or Lay Missionary is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers show the date of their first connexion with the Society's Missions. Their University or College is indicated thus: Oxford, "Oxf."; Cambridge, "Camb."; Dublin, "T.C.D."; Durham, "Dur."; Archbishop of Canterbury's Degree, "Lamb."; Islington, "Isl."; London College of Divinity, "Lon. Coll. Div."; King's College, London, "K.C.L."

*This mark * denotes that the Missionary to whose name it is prefixed is in Local Connexion. It includes Europeans who have joined in the Mission, and Clergymen who were born in the country in which they labour.*

The mark ‡ denotes that the name to which it is prefixed is that of an Agent supported by Native Church Funds aided by the Society. The Native Ministers in New Zealand are supported partly by Subscriptions from Native Christians, and partly from the rents of lands belonging to the Society in the Colony.

The Names of Native Clergymen are printed in italics. The figures after their names show the date of ordination.

The names under each station are printed in order of date, without reference to nationality, sex, orders, or other difference; except that, the Secretaries of Missions are placed first in order at the stations where they reside, and wives of Missionaries in full connexion are placed in almost every instance immediately after their husbands.

The maiden names of Missionaries' wives and the year of marriage, when known, are given in parenthesis; in the case of each lady who was a Missionary of the Society before marriage, the Mission in which she laboured and the year of joining it are given; and in the case of ladies who were Missionaries of other Societies, the initials indicating the Society are given as well as the country and year of joining.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Women; such as cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing the adult women.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society held at Exeter Hall, London, Tuesday, May 2nd, 1893, being its Ninety-fourth Anniversary—

SIR JOHN H. KENNAWAY, Bart., M.P., President, in the Chair,

AFTER READING OF SCRIPTURE AND PRAYER;

The General Review of the Year was read, followed by the CHAIRMAN'S Address, after which, on a Motion by the RIGHT REV. BISHOP BARRY, D.D., seconded by Mr. J. MONRO, C.B., it was Resolved—

I. That the General Review which has now been read, together with the Report, of which an abstract has been presented, be adopted and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Lord Bishop of London for his Sermon before the Society last evening, and that it be printed and circulated; that Sir T. Fowell Buxton, Bart., be the Treasurer of the Society; and that the Committee be appointed for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies.

On a Motion by the REV. T. WALKER, M.A., of Tinnevelly, seconded by the REV. H. TUGWELL, B.A., of the Yoruba Mission, and supported by the REV. ISAAC OLUWOLE B.A., of Lagos, it was Resolved—

II. That this Meeting receives with hearty thanksgiving, but with a very solemn sense, of responsibility, tidings from all parts of the world in which the Church Missionary Society is privileged to labour, of opening doors, increased opportunities, and, in many cases, a growing unrest and spirit of enquiry.

Deeply sensible of the privilege which Christ has bestowed on His Church to be His witness to the uttermost parts of the earth, in earnest expectation of His return, and with the fullest conviction that the Gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth, this meeting would themselves realise, and would pray that the Holy Spirit may press home on all servants of the Lord Jesus Christ, the obligation which rests on them to find and to fulfil the part assigned to each one in the glorious work of evangelising the world.

On a Motion by the REV. H. B. MACARTNEY, M.A., of Melbourne, seconded by MR. EUGENE STOCK, it was Resolved—

III. That this Meeting thankfully recognises the signs of a deepening conviction among Christian people in every land that the evangelisation of the whole world is a primary and now urgent duty of the whole Church of Christ, and that even young and struggling branches of the Church will be themselves benefited by looking not only on their own things, but each also on the things of others. They rejoice in the response given in the Australasian Colonies to the message conveyed to them by the deputation which the Society sent out last year at the invitation of the Primate of Australia; and they pray that all the Colonial Churches, and not only they, but also the Churches gathered out of Heathenism by the Lord's blessing upon Missionary effort, may more and more be led to take an active part in the great work, either in co-operation with this or other Societies, or in other ways, by sending forth and supporting their own Missionaries to various parts of the world.

The following Meetings were also held in London on the same day in connexion with the Anniversary:—

At ST. JAMES'S HALL, Piccadilly, simultaneously with the Annual Meeting; Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Bart., V.P., Treasurer, in the Chair.

At PRINCES HALL, Piccadilly, at 3 P.M., for Ladies only; the Rev. F. E. Wigram, M.A., Honorary Secretary, in the Chair.

At EXETER HALL, Strand, at 6.45 P.M.; the Right Rev. Edward Bickersteth, D.D., Bishop of the Church of England in Japan, in the Chair.

At ST. JAMES'S HALL, Piccadilly, at 8 P.M.; Sir Mark Stewart, M.P., V.P., &c., in th Chair.

Addresses were delivered at these Meetings by the Chairmen, Sir C. Euan Smith, the Revs. R. W. Stewart, Ruttonji Nowroji, W. E. Burroughs, B. Baring-Gould, J. S. Hill, E. J. Peck, J. H. Knowles, A. Elwin, D. J. S. Hunt, W. Gray, H. B. Macartney, A. E. Price, and R. H. Walker; and Captain Dawson; also by Miss G. A. Gollock, Mrs. G. E. A. Pargiter, Mrs. R. W. Stewart, and Mrs. J. S. Hill.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

(As revised at a Special Meeting of Members of the Society, held on July 2, 1890.)

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a COMMITTEE, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for Members of the Royal Family; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of All England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office, and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the Churches of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such other persons as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upwards, and if Clergymen Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings, and upwards, per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas, and upwards, in one sum shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds, and upwards, in one sum, shall be Governors for Life.

V. Subscriptions and Benefactions shall confer the same privileges, whether paid to the Society direct or through an Auxiliary or Association.

VI. The COMMITTEE may appoint such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Honorary Members for Life, or Honorary Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the Tuesday next before the first Wednesday in May; when the proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and the Treasurer and COMMITTEE chosen. And whenever any vacancy in the office of Treasurer shall occur, the COMMITTEE may fill up the vacancy, for the interval between the occurrence of such vacancy and the next Annual Meeting.

VIII. The COMMITTEE may summon a Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, at any time, and they shall do so on receipt of a requisition in writing, addressed to the Secretaries, and signed by not less than Fifty Members of the Society, and specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three London Daily Newspapers, and in two other Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Laws and Regulations of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones made, but at the Annual Meeting or at a Special General Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the COMMITTEE. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The COMMITTEE shall consist of the following, being members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland:—(a) Twenty-four Lay Members of the Society elected at the Annual Meeting. (b) All Clergymen who are Members of the Society and have been so for not less than one year. (c) All Honorary Governors for Life, and all such other Governors as have been so for not less than one year. In every year so many of the elected Members shall go out of office as, with the vacancies, if any, occurring among them during the preceding year, will make six vacancies, and shall not be re-eligible until the following year. The COMMITTEE shall decide which Members go out of office in each year.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds and Home Organization, a Committee of Correspondence, a Committee of Finance, and a Committee of Estimates, and shall have power to fill up vacancies. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall make such reports of its proceedings to the COMMITTEE as the COMMITTEE shall require.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate to the COMMITTEE proper persons as Patrons, President, Vice-Presidents, Honorary Life Governors, Honorary Life Members of the Society, and preachers of the Anniversary Sermons.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds and Home Organization is to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt means of obtaining Subscriptions, Benefactions, and Collections in Churches, Chapels, and at Meetings; to take a general oversight of the Associations; and to nominate, from time to time, to the COMMITTEE, suitable persons to act as Agents and Representatives of the Society for these objects.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to nominate them to the COMMITTEE, to superintend their instruction, when necessary, to recommend their location, and to correspond with them when sent out, and generally to direct the foreign work of the Society. Subject to the control of the COMMITTEE, the Committee of Correspondence may delegate any of their duties to Committees elected from among themselves, and may authorize such Committees to report directly to the COMMITTEE, and may fix their Quorum.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Finance is, generally, to superintend the accounts and financial affairs of the Society, and from time to time to note and to report to the COMMITTEE how far the expenditure corresponds with the sanctioned Estimates.

XVII. The office of the Committee of Estimates is, to prepare and submit to the COMMITTEE an estimate of the probable expenditure of the Society.

XVIII. The Committee of Correspondence shall appoint from among themselves, at their First Meeting in every year, a Clerical Sub-Committee, and may appoint at their discretion other Committees, for the examination of Missionary Candidates.

XIX. The COMMITTEE may make regulations as to the conduct of business by themselves, and by the other Committees, and subject to and so far as not inconsistent with any such regulations for the time being in force, the COMMITTEE shall receive and deal with the Reports of the other Committees, shall decide upon the countries where Missions shall be carried on, and shall superintend and control the affairs of the Society in general. The COMMITTEE may authorize any Committee appointed under Law XII., and with the consent of the Committee of Correspondence any Committee appointed under Law XV. to deal with and dispose of any matters and classes of matters the consideration of which falls within its province, reporting its action to the next meeting of the COMMITTEE. Subject to the control of the COMMITTEE, every Committee may make Bye-laws for its own government, and may appoint Sub-Committees and fix their quorum.

XX. The COMMITTEE shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject, in the case of the appointment of Secretaries, to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting. One, at least, of the Secretaries shall be a layman. The COMMITTEE shall also have power to acquire property of every description for the purposes of the Society, and to invest the funds of the Society as they may deem expedient, and to vest all or any portions of the property and funds of the Society in such Trustee or Trustees, or corporate body, as they may in each case think fit.

XXI. The COMMITTEE shall meet on the second Tuesday in every month, and oftener if needful. The other Committees shall meet as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on. All Committee Meetings shall be opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer and Secretaries shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees.

XXIII. Five Members shall be necessary to form a Quorum of the COMMITTEE; and Three of each of the Committees provided for in Law XII.; in each case exclusive of the Secretaries. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote. Every Committee may act notwithstanding vacancies.

XXIV. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three Members of the COMMITTEE, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary, or in his absence by one of the other Secretaries.

XXV. The accounts of the Society shall be audited and reported upon by Public Accountants appointed by the COMMITTEE, and Five Honorary Auditors, Members of the Society (of whom not more than two shall be Members of the COMMITTEE), shall be appointed annually by the COMMITTEE for the purpose of considering the Reports of Public Accountants, and of making recommendations thereon, and generally on the Accounts to the COMMITTEE once at least in every year.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVI. Every offer for Missionary Service shall be referred by the Secretaries either to the Committee of Correspondence or in the first instance to the Clerical Sub-Committee or other Committee appointed under Law XVIII. to which it shall belong under rules laid down by the Committee of Correspondence; and the Committee of Correspondence shall have power to deal with the offer, both as to the training and as to the nomination as a Missionary of the Candidate. Provided that no one shall be sent out as a Missionary without having been approved by the Committee of Correspondence; and without, as a general rule, having appeared before them.

XXVII. Candidates nominated by the Committee of Correspondence, and accepted by the COMMITTEE, shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for their future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVIII. Candidates shall consider themselves engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time that the COMMITTEE shall decide, and be subject to such regulations as may be established by the COMMITTEE for the direction of the Missionaries: respect, however, being had to their personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by them with the Society.

XXIX. Men who have been duly prepared and finally approved for Missionary work, shall go out, either ordained or unordained, at the discretion of the COMMITTEE.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the COMMITTEE; and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the COMMITTEE, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, such provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable as in the judgment of the COMMITTEE is suitable. The COMMITTEE shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support. The COMMITTEE shall be further empowered in special cases to make such arrangements with those employed by them as they may think fit.

GENERAL.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. All questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between a Bishop of the Church of England abroad and the COMMITTEE, shall, in the absence of any tribunal having legal cognizance of the same, be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, whose decision thereupon shall be binding upon the Society and its agents, and representatives. The proposed reference shall be made by the COMMITTEE, through His Grace the Primate, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the COMMITTEE may deem advisable.

XXXIII. The object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," the Society cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The Bishops of the Church of England under the authority of the law of the land ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] the Society's Missionaries; and in the event of their being appointed by the COMMITTEE to labour at stations within the jurisdiction of a Bishop of the Church of England abroad, it is the practice of the Society to apply to the Bishop for licenses in which are specified the districts to which the Missionaries have been assigned. This is done on the understanding that licenses will neither be refused nor when granted be withdrawn from the Missionaries during their connection with the Society, except for some assigned legal cause.

PRAYER USED AT THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY AND AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

ALMIGHTY and most merciful FATHER, we give Thee humble thanks for the light of Thy Gospel. Make us more grateful for this Thy mercy, and more zealous for the salvation of all mankind.

Visit in mercy the Church of Christ; enrich it more abundantly with the grace of Thy Holy Spirit; and bless its endeavours to make known Thy Truth. Unite, as one man, all who are truly labouring for Thee. Disappoint the designs of Satan. Let all Christian Societies live in harmony and love; give them wisdom in all their plans; perfect Thy strength in their weakness; and direct their labours to Thy glory.

The harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few! O Thou Lord of the Harvest, send forth labourers into Thy Harvest! Fill with Thy Spirit those whom Thou hast sent forth; and enable them faithfully and boldly to preach, among Jews and Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ. Keep them from the snares of the world, the flesh, and the devil; deliver them from all evil; and make them wise to win souls.

Upon all the Native Converts whom Thou hast gathered to Thyself, through Thy labouring servants throughout the world, pour out Thy Holy Spirit, that, as Thou hast begotten them again unto a lively hope, so they may ever be followers of Thee as dear children. Deliver them from all remaining darkness and ignorance; destroy and abolish in their hearts all that remains of Satan's kingdom; grant that their faith, and hope, and love may grow exceedingly; make them to be ready to every good work, and more especially to exert themselves for the salvation of those around them; that so, by their zeal and faithful testimony, by their holiness and fruitfulness, they may glorify Thy name before their countrymen, and bring in unto Thee, from the midst of them, such as shall be saved.

Have compassion, O Most-merciful Father, on all those who have come under instruction, though they be not yet altogether Christians. Convince them effectually, by Thy Word and Spirit, of their sinful and miserable state; pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication, and draw them to Jesus.

Take away blindness from the Jews. Let them receive Thee, O Jesus, as their Messiah, and proclaim Thy saving Name among the Gentiles.

Deliver all Mohammedans from the delusions of the False Prophet! O Thou True Prophet of Thy Church, enlighten them by Thy Holy Spirit, and bow them down at the foot of Thy Cross!

Pity blind Idolaters who are kept in cruel bondage by the god of this world. Turn them from idols, that they may serve the Living and True God.

O Thou Almighty Saviour, who by the right hand of God art exalted, and hast received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, shed forth His light and grace on this dark world!

Cause all Christians, we beseech Thee, to sow bountifully; that they may reap also bountifully. O Thou that lovest a cheerful giver, let all grace abound toward them, that they may minister liberally of their substance to the making known of Thy Name!

With these our humble prayers, we join our praises and thanksgiving for what Thou hast already done in making known Thy salvation; perfect Thy work, O Lord; shortly accomplish the number of Thine elect; and hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom.

Be present with us, O Lord, at this time. Give us all a single eye to Thy glory. May Thy blessing rest upon our meeting; and may all our hearts be this day quickened and encouraged to fresh and persevering efforts in Thy Service.

We ask these mercies for the glory of Thy Name, through the merits and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and would ascribe to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Three Persons in One God, everlasting praise. Amen.

OUR Father which art in Heaven: Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

PRAYER USED AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE.

ALMIGHTY GOD, our heavenly Father, who hast purchased to Thyself an Universal Church, by the precious blood of Thy dear Son, we give Thee hearty thanks that it hath pleased Thee to call us to the knowledge of Thy grace and Faith in Thee, and to appoint our lot in an age and country where the true light shineth. We bless Thee that Thou hast awakened us in some measure to feel our responsibilities. We praise Thee for what we have seen and heard of the power of Thy Word among the heathen, we adore Thee for Thy many servants who have gone out from amongst us to toil, and suffer, and die in making known Thy salvation; and we thank Thee that Thou dost allow us, unworthy sinners, to unite together in this work of faith and labour of love.

We humbly confess our past lukewarmness in this Thy service, notwithstanding these Thine inestimable benefits and mercies. For our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, forgive us our past negligences, and so endue us with Thy Holy Spirit, that we may more earnestly seek Thy glory in the salvation of souls.

Grant us, we beseech Thee, Thy very present help at these our meetings. We ask, most gracious God and Father, for a constraining sense of the love of the Lord Jesus, and for wisdom to direct us in all our endeavours. Increase upon us the spirit of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Give us faith and courage; give us zeal and patience; give us a single eye to Thy glory, and help us to bear and to forbear. The silver and the gold are Thine, O King of kings! Supply us with what is needful for our great work, and make us faithful stewards of Thy bounty, for proclaiming to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

We pray also for all who are united with us in the direction of this sacred cause.

May Thine especial blessing rest upon our Committees, with their Secretaries, throughout the world. Bestow on them the help that we feel so needful for ourselves. Enable them to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, and ever to find favour in the sight of all with whom they may have to do.

Especially we beseech Thee to look, O most merciful Father, upon our Missionary brethren. Draw out our hearts towards them more and more; and while they are bearing the burden abroad, give us grace to help and succour them by our sympathy and prayers at home. Bless every letter written to them from this house, and all our intercourse with them. We pray for them that they may be filled with Thy Spirit. Grant that the same mind may be in them which was also in Christ Jesus. Let them never lose their first love. Raise them above the cares of this world. Help them to deny themselves and to endure all things for the elect's sake. Give them the tongue of the learned. Clothe them with humility. Teach them to follow peace with each other, and with all men. Support them under spiritual distresses, temptations of the adversary, bodily sickness, domestic anxieties, and hope deferred. And so confirm Thy word from their lips by the power of the Holy Ghost, that through them multitudes may be turned from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto Thee, our God.

We commend to Thee the Missionaries' children entrusted to our charge. Bring them all to a true knowledge of, and faith in Thee. Defend them with Thy heavenly grace that they may continue Thine for ever, and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more, until they come into Thy everlasting kingdom. Give all needed grace to those who have the direction of the Home in the discharge of the arduous work with which Thou hast been pleased to entrust them.

We most heartily thank Thee, O Lord, for those whom Thou hast already sent forth through this Society; and we pray for a yet larger outpouring of a Missionary spirit on our youger Clergy, on the members of our Universities, on those who are elsewhere preparing for this holy work, on the young men of all ranks and orders throughout our land. And herein do we implore Thy special favour on our Islington Institution, that its numbers may be replenished continually: and that none may go forth thence but such as shall be able ministers of the New Testament, full of Faith, and of the Holy Ghost.

We praise Thee, O Thou God of all grace, for the Converts, the Native Catechists, and the Native Clergy, whom Thou hast granted to us in our several Missions. As Thou hast raised the Native Churches thus far, bring them, we pray Thee, to full ripeness and perfectness of age in Christ. Pour out upon them Thy Holy Spirit. Stablish, strengthen, settle them, and so enlarge their liberality, that they may both maintain Thy Word among themselves, and may make it known to the regions beyond them, till all the Gentiles hear the glad tidings of Thy love.

And now, O Lord God, be Thou in the midst of us to-day. Give us a constant sense of Thy presence, and may all our undertakings be begun, continued, and ended in Thee, to the honour of Thy great name for the sake of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

PRAYERS FOR MISSIONS,

SUITABLE TO BE USED AT MISSIONARY MEETINGS AND IN PRIVATE.

I.—From the Book of Common Prayer according to the use of the Church of Ireland.

Almighty God, who by Thy Son Jesus Christ didst give commandment to the Apostles that they should go into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature; grant to us whom Thou hast called into Thy Church a ready will to obey Thy Word, and fill us with a hearty desire to make Thy way known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. Look with compassion upon the heathen that have not known Thee, and on the multitudes that are scattered as sheep having no shepherd. O heavenly Father, Lord of the harvest, have respect, we beseech Thee, to our prayers, and send forth labourers into Thy harvest. Fit and prepare them by Thy grace for the work of the ministry; give them the spirit of power, and of love, and of a sound mind; strengthen them to endure hardness; and grant that Thy Holy Spirit may prosper their work, and that by their life and doctrine they may set forth Thy glory and set forward the salvation of all men; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

II.—For a Blessing on Missionaries and their Labours.

(By Archbishop Sumner.)

O most merciful Saviour and Redeemer, who wouldest not that any should perish but that all men should be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth, fulfil Thy gracious promise to be present with those who are gone forth in Thy Name to preach the Gospel of Salvation in distant lands. Be with them in all perils by land or by water, in sickness and distress, in weariness and painfulness, in disappointment and persecution. Bless them, we beseech Thee, with Thy continual favour, and send Thy Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth. O Lord, let Thy ministers be clothed with righteousness, and grant that Thy word spoken by their mouths may never be spoken in vain. Endue them with power from on high, and so prosper Thy work in their hands, that the fulness of the Gentiles may be gathered in, and all Israel be saved.

Hear us, O Lord, for Thy mercy's sake, and grant that all who are saved by Thy Name may be one in Thee, and may abound more and more in prayers and in free-will offerings, for the extension of Thy kingdom throughout the world, to Thy honour and glory, who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

III.—For Missions and for Grace to help them.

(By Bishop Christopher Wordsworth.)

O Lord Jesu Christ, Saviour of Mankind, who hast commanded Thy disciples to go into all the world and to preach the Gospel to every creature, and who hast declared that this Gospel of the Kingdom shall first be preached to all nations, and that then the end shall come; we humbly beseech Thee to raise up men full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and send them forth to do the work of evangelists by spreading abroad the glad tidings of salvation; and so to fill us with Thy love, and to quicken us with Thy grace, that we may labour joyfully with them by prayers and offerings for their work, so that finally at Thy Second Coming to judge the world, we together with them, and with those who have received the Gospel at their hands, may rejoice in Thy presence with exceeding joy, and may praise Thee for evermore, our holy and most merciful Redeemer, our most worthy Judge Eternal, our most mighty Lord and God, to Whom, with the Father and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory now and for ever. Amen.

IV.

(By Bishop Cotton, of Calcutta.)

O God, who hast made of one blood all nations of men to dwell upon the face of thy whole earth, and who didst send Thy blessed Son to preach peace to them that are afar off, and to them that are nigh, grant that all the people of heathen and Mohammedan lands may feel after Thee and find Thee; and hasten, O Lord, the fulfilment of Thy promise, to pour out Thy Spirit upon all flesh, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE ANNUAL SERMON,

Preached at St. Bride's Church, Fleet Street, on Monday Evening, May 1st, 1893,

BY

THE RIGHT REV. FREDERICK TEMPLE D.D.,

LORD BISHOP OF LONDON.

"BUT YE, BRETHREN, BE NOT WEARY IN WELL DOING."—2 Thess. iii. 13.

THESE words are remarkable as coming at such a time as the time when they were written, and they are perhaps still more remarkable because they are repeated by St. Paul later on; and again we may say that they are still further repeated, as it were, not by St. Paul, but by St. John, in the message which was sent by the Lord to the Church at Laodicea. It seems strange when we think of those days that there should be any need to tell the people, "Be not weary in well doing, for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not."

There are many faults traceable in the Church of the Apostles. We have only to read the Epistle to the Corinthians with a little care to see how very grievous those faults were, and how very much danger there was that the Church, with all its faith and all its zeal, should nevertheless be allowed to tolerate a very low standard of morality. What a fearful picture is presented to us in the first Epistle to the Corinthians! The whole of the Corinthian Church is involved in the evil, and the fearful sin which St. Paul condemns in such stern language had received apparently no condemnation from the Corinthians themselves. The disorders at the Holy Communion, when one was drunken and another was hungry, give us a picture of a Church that, however zealous and however blessed with the wonderful gifts of the Holy Ghost, was nevertheless impaired by much that our Lord must have visited with the strongest condemnation. And in other places in the New Testament the same thing crosses us.

But I do not think that even with these few instances readers of the New Testament generally would speak of the Church of the Apostles' days as lacking in fervour and an enthusiastic desire to do the Lord's will, and to spread the Lord's Gospel, and to preach the Lord's Christ. Was it not rather marked by that kind of passionate earnestness which very often specially distinguishes new converts? And this falls in with what we might expect from the men who were doing the work. It seems as if it were impossible that you should be converted by such a man as St. Paul, and that afterwards you should feel cold, that you should find that your desire to serve God was dying out within you; it would seem impossible that you should err on that side, though you might err on many other sides and in many other ways. And yet here is the warning: "Be not weary in well doing." It is clear that human nature was the same in those days as it is in these days, and that although there might not have been as much need as there was long afterwards to urge upon Christians that they must not be weary in well doing, yet there was need. There were those who were expecting too much, who were disappointed too easily, and found it very strange that the Lord's work was not done more quickly than they saw it done. There were those, as there will always be those, who are expecting that the Lord's work will always be done very rapidly. But to the Lord, as we know, a single day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as a single day.

I suppose most of us at first sight are very much more struck with something that is done with a sudden blow, very much more struck with an exhibition of power that we see in some sudden, vast change brought about in an exceedingly short space of time; and we think that there is more evidence of Divine power and Divine interference in the rapid than in the slow. And yet reflexion would rather lead us to look at the other side. There is no doubt that when anything is done very rapidly, whether it be in a great convulsion of nature, or whether it be in the sudden change in the views and convictions of a large number of men, there is something very striking in the rapidity with which God sometimes does work of that kind. But is there not something still more striking in the steady, quiet work that goes on century after century, and shows that the one purpose is held fast long after those who were first employed to fulfil it have passed away, and when through generation after generation it was quite impossible for men to keep up any one purpose, because they passed away and could not hand on the determination with which they themselves had been actuated? Is it not still more striking, I say, that there is but one purpose displayed through all these changes of successive generations, and that whilst men change and pass away from the earth, there is still the one great aim steadily followed, there is still the one great work going on? If there be proof of a Divine operation, surely it is rather here.

And so it has been that it has pleased God very often to do a great deal of His work very slowly, far more slowly than men at all desire or find it easy to bear. Men are in consequence tempted to disappointment, because, although they are able to recognise in a certain way that it is God's work because of its character, yet there comes over them a sense that if it be God's work, why does such a vast space of time separate the beginning from the end? Why should it not be done as God could do it if He would—at once? This preaching of the Gospel to all nations—why should it go on for so many centuries when all this time the heathen are outside the fold, and so many millions have lived and died upon the earth and never heard the name of Christ, or known the revelation of God's Holy Word? Why is it that so many have passed away without receiving the Divine message? Can it be really the work of God when it goes on so long? Of course there are unbelievers who are ready to taunt us with the same thing, and to ask us whether we will really maintain this work when it seems so plain that the time that it occupies is altogether inconsistent with any evidence of a Divine interference. It is a secret feeling of this kind which sometimes creates disappointment, and makes men weary in well doing. But whenever such thoughts come, there stands the precept of the Apostle, "But ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing;" and the precept repeated again later on, "Be not weary in well doing; for in due season ye shall reap, if ye faint not."

Let us consider for a little while the work of the early Church, and let us consider what are the objections made to the work that we are doing, in view of the fact that our work is a continuation and extension of that which was done at the beginning. We profess to preach the same Gospel, we give the same message, we are using the same instruments. We acknowledge at once that in one respect we differ altogether from those first preachers, for they had a direct inspiration, which we have not. But in all other respects the very essence of our position is that we are doing what they did, and what the Lord commanded both them and us to do. Sometimes it is said of us, "Are you preachers like the first preachers of the Gospel? Look at their zeal, look at their devotion, look at their sufferings, their privations, their perseverance, their saintly characters: have you anything to put by the side of them? Have you any men of whom you can say, 'He is like St. Paul,' or any that you can speak of as like St. John? Is there any among your preachers of the Gospel who at all stand on the same level, and who as it were belong to the same group, and whom posterity in long times hereafter shall look back upon and speak of, as you do of the first preachers?" We answer, "No, there are none." We cannot speak as if there were.

But, nevertheless, this is nothing new. If you look at the history of the Church the moment after the Apostles were gone from it, if you look at the literature of the Church the moment the canon of Holy Scripture was closed, when the Apostles and inspired men under the guidance of the Apostles no longer continued to write, what a wonderful descent there is! Is there anything that you find after the Apostles are gone that is at all like the writings of the Apostles themselves? Is there any approach to it? No! The gap between the Apostles and their immediate followers in the primitive Church shows plainly enough that it was God's will that nothing afterwards should at all be put by the side of what the inspired Apostles wrote and said. The change is marked, and was unmistakably acknowledged in their own day. There have been great men since, great saints, great teachers, great preachers; there have been men who have borne something of the same labour and the same suffering, who have shown something of the same devotion; but men to be put by the side of these men we find none.

And so, when we are taunted with the fact that our missionaries are no longer such as the Apostles were, we answer, "That has been the characteristic of the Church ever since the time of the Apostles themselves." There are many whom we can point to as devoted servants of God, but there are none whom we can put side by side with those who were originally sent by the Lord Jesus Christ Himself, and not sent only, but, we may say, inspired and trained for their work by having lived in company with Him, and having received what we may call a Divine infection from constant intercourse with that unique and heavenly character.

Again, we are told "Your converts, after all, are exceedingly few. You go on preaching what you say is the one truth; you deny that there is any other system of truth that approaches this one; you maintain that all the different philosophies of the world, and that all the different religious systems, though having a great deal of God in them, yet fall infinitely short of this that you are preaching. But how much of the human race have you as yet converted? What have you yet done towards bringing to the feet of Christ the enormous mass of humanity? There are other religions that have taken their rise in other parts of the world that even now outnumber you. There are those that seem to lay a stronger hold upon the minds of their disciples than Christianity lays upon yours. Compare what they are doing and what you are doing. Can you say that there is any evidence that you are steadily conquering the world?" The answer is, It has been so always. It has pleased God that the work has always grown very slowly. It is true that we have seen that in times past there have been conversions of large numbers, very sudden conversions in a very brief space of time; but those have not been the conversions that are the glory of the Church. They have been marred over and over again by lapses, by strange apostacies, by re-conversions, as we may say. But the number of Christians when the Apostles were finally taken away from the world was by no means large; it was but a small fraction of the then known human race, a very small fraction. The thought which is expressed by St. John that they were but a few, and that the whole world was lying in wickedness, we still find continuing long afterwards in the minds of the Christians of successive generations. They felt themselves to be, as indeed they were, but a small, separate, elect body; whilst the mass outside were left to the mercy of God, and no man knew how they would be dealt with. Yes, the work was very slow, and the numbers that are to be won still far surpass what seems to be the limit of human power. It is very slow work, and it always has been very slow, and in all probability it will still continue to be very slow.

We are deceived in this matter very much indeed by the fact that, where the Church is freshly planted, there the converts are separated from those outside by a very distinct and definite line, whereas where the Church has stood for centuries there the Christians merge into unbelievers by imperceptible degrees. There are Christians whose lives do not stand out from the lives of unbelievers in the slightest degree, Christians who have been taught the Gospel, who have received the sacrament of baptism, and yet for all that show nothing in their lives or in their conversation to prove that they belong to Christ, and sometimes it is difficult to say where the unbeliever ends and the Christian begins. The proportion of Christians who are really the Lord's, who are really carrying out His holy will with great self-sacrifice, is smaller in reality than it seems to be in appearance. And so, even where the Church has been long established, there is less done than we suppose; there is more to be done, a great deal more than we often fancy.

But that is not all. Those who watch the progress of the conversion of the mass of mankind say to us very often, "What is your Christianity worth? You number a great many converts, but where is their faith and their life and their fulfilment of the Lord's commands in relation to the whole world? What hold has it upon them? Is it really the case that they are Christians in more than name? Do they really understand what you have taught them? Very often these Christians in very many respects, if you look at their moral character, are on the same level as the heathen from whom they have been drawn; and in India for a man to say that he has given up his caste and is now a Christian is sometimes equivalent to saying, 'I am ready for the indulgence of appetite, I am ready to cheat or to steal; I was not free before, but I am now.'" We are taunted with the reproach that many whom we convert are really the worse for their conversion. It is said that the Mohammedan before he is converted to the Gospel is at any rate kept from the grievous sin of intemperance, but that when he becomes a Christian he abuses his Christian liberty. And, again, that a high-caste Indian will sometimes show himself incapable of untruth, but that when he becomes a Christian, and his caste is no longer a restraint to him, he is no longer held by it, and you can no longer trust him.

Now of course, in reality, all these things are exaggerations of the grossest kind. All these things are nothing more than misstatements of particular incidents and particular cases, as if they gave the whole truth in regard to the matter. We might dismiss these statements rightly enough by saying that they are not at all true pictures of what the conversion of the heathen is. But there is a sufficient amount of truth in such charges as these to make us look with some anxiety as to the nature of the work we are doing. Of course the Gospel is a Gospel of liberty, and it relies upon an inward force; and outward rules, however excellent in themselves, are not enforced with the same stringency as if the man was no longer to be considered as having any freedom. We rely upon the working of the Spirit of God in men's souls, and when men are left thus to this internal guidance there is a very real danger that in the absence of the external rules which once propped them up, as it were, which once shielded them all round, some of them will be found too weak to resist the temptations which otherwise they would have resisted successfully.

This is all true, and it has been the same in the Church's experience from the beginning. It may be said, indeed, that to preach the freedom of the Gospel is, and always has been, a dangerous thing. Freedom has in itself always a very real element of danger. A man who has been held up by, as it were, mechanical restraints, is, when these mechanical restraints are removed, very much more severely tempted than he was before; and the knowledge that it is possible for him to do what before he would not be permitted to do, the knowledge that he may approach sin a great deal nearer, is a snare to him, very often a terrible snare.

When we look back at the early history of the Church we see that there was precisely the same thing. There was very often real need of mechanical or, we may call them, formal restraints, and rules had to be made to keep men in the right path because their internal strength was not yet sufficient to hold them proof against evil within. We see that even in the earliest days the moral standard was sometimes lowered, even in the presence of the Apostles themselves.

And of course it will be always so; and yet for all that, and whatever rules we may make, we still insist that the Gospel of Christ is a Gospel which works upon men from within the soul. The grace of God always works upon a man by beginning within and passing into outward conduct, and it is then, and then only, that you are quite sure that a man has been laid hold of by the Spirit of the Lord. Though it be true that in his weak state he may very often be the better for many formal rules—and it is necessary to make and enforce them—yet it is necessary also to point out that such things are temporary, that such things are not the essence of the Gospel, that the Gospel is always a power that works from within outward, and that the grace which the Lord gives through His own appointed sacraments is still the same that He formerly bestowed, and which has its effect first within and then outwardly in the life.

And while this is so, it will always be that the preaching of the Gospel will be attended with all these difficulties. And yet it shall prevail, as time goes on, through generation after generation, and lift men higher and higher. And things which sometimes we wonder how the Gospel could tolerate at the beginning are eventually condemned and cast out by the increasing light and the increasing force which God's grace bestows upon the whole Church in the course of time. How marvellous it is to look back upon the past that nowhere in the New Testament is slavery distinctly condemned! And yet we recognise that it is impossible for a man to have in him the fulness of the teaching of the New Testament and not to condemn such an institution as that. It has been swept away by the power of God's grace working on the souls of men.

And so too, I doubt not, the Church will make progress more and more as time goes on, and there shall be, as the past history of the Church has shown us, a steady progress of Christian truth, gathering in slowly but surely the great mass of the human race to the feet of Christ, and at the same time lifting up their souls to a higher and higher standard of purity and of holiness; gathering in more and more millions, and as more and more are gathered in opening the eyes of all alike to see with more and more clearness the holy will of Him who has given the Gospel to mankind.

We who are working for this end must not be faint in the work that we are doing, nor must we be weary. We are following in the old path; we are pressing forward as the Church has pressed forward always; we have still the use of that Holy Word which God caused to be written for the instruction of all men; we have still with us that Holy Spirit which has been given for the purpose of doing God's work amongst all mankind; and we are sure that the work is His, and if it be slow in progress, if it have not the results that we are looking for, we know that in due season we shall reap if we faint not. The Lord Himself has told us not to be weary in well doing, has warned us against all these disappointments, has told us that there will be temptations to meet, has told us that in spite of temptation we must trust in Him. We must trust in Him. And let my last word of exhortation to this great Society be: Trust in the Lord and faint not; trust in the Lord through all difficulties and all obstacles; trust in the Lord through all disappointments, for disappointments you will meet, many and great; but I say, trust in the Lord, and go forward to the work.

GENERAL REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

(READ AT THE ANNIVERSARY, IN EXETER HALL.)

"I will praise Thee, O LORD, with my whole heart; I will show forth all Thy marvellous works." (Psal. ix. 1.)

OF the couplet of Psalms, the 9th and 10th, which are appointed for this second morning of the month, the former is one of thanksgiving for victories abroad, the latter confesses and mourns over the state of religion at home. The interests of Foreign and of Home Missions are inseparable, and the Committee, while praising God for blessings vouchsafed on the inadequate efforts of Christ's servants to spread His name among the heathen, are thankful to know that the friends of Evangelical truth are urging an aggressive forward movement to combat the irreligion which abounds in our own Christian land. On the other hand the Committee are assured that the diligent home worker will find an incentive and encouragement to persevere by a study of successes vouchsafed in the foreign field. When the confidence is realised which the Psalmist expresses in this 9th Psalm, that God will arise and vindicate His power among the heathen abroad, it will beget a like confidence concerning the ignorant and degraded in our home parishes, and, with the Psalmist at the close of the 10th Psalm, the devout exclamation will be uttered, "The LORD is King for ever and ever; the heathen are perished out of His land."

The Committee's duty to-day is to show the works which God has wrought in and by the Church Missionary Society during the past year. And truly His works seem to the Committee more "marvellous" as they contemplate them each succeeding year. His unfailing supplies of means to carry on the work—His answers to prayer for direction and guidance—His providence in moving the hearts of statesmen, and controlling events for the opening of the world to the Gospel—His long-suffering with the infirmities and shortcomings of His servants—His gift of the spirit of faithfulness and devotion to the missionaries at their various posts of labour and difficulty—His converting grace, bringing men of diverse nationalities and races to welcome the glad news of salvation in the Lord Jesus—all these are "marvellous" indeed. The Committee's unfeigned desire is to show them forth in such wise that the Lord only may be praised, and that He may be praised by each one of His people here this day with their whole heart.

India. The Committee begin their review of the Missions with INDIA, where the past year has been one of special interest, owing to the recent meeting of the Decennial Missionary Conference at Bombay, and owing to the publication of important and elaborate statistical tables indicating the numerical progress of Protestant Missions in that country. Exactly a hundred years ago, in the month of May, 1793, the British Parliament, in renewing the Charter of the East India Company, threw out a clause which, at the instance of William Wilberforce, had been inserted in Committee, empowering the Court of Directors to send out schoolmasters for the religious and moral improvement of the Natives. Ten days after the passing of the Bill withholding those powers, William Carey, the first English missionary, embarked for India. The noble band of missionaries from Great Britain, the Continent of Europe, and America, who met for conference and prayer a few months ago in Bombay, were but the delegates of a much larger number who, exactly a century after Carey's sailing, represent Protestant missionary enterprise among the Heathen of India.

Progress of Christianity in India. When Carey landed in India Protestant Christianity was represented by a feeble and languishing Mission in the south of the country, having a few thousand converts, and Carey himself had to remove to Danish territory. Sixty years later the Protestant Indian Christians numbered nearly a hundred thousand. Now they are considerably over half a million. Those connected with the C.M.S. at the end of 1891 were 114,696, almost exactly one-fifth of the whole number. But it is a noteworthy fact that, large as the growth has been in the number of professing Christians, the increase of communicants has been at a far higher rate. The Protestant adherents during the last forty years multiplied sixfold, but the communicants increased twelvefold.

But the true evidence of the power of the Gospel among the peoples of India must be sought, not in statistical tables, but in the lives of the Native Christians. That there are many humble, holy, Bible-loving, zealous members in the congregations connected with the C.M.S. the Committee rejoice to know. They know also, however, that in the presence of the entanglements of heathenism and the pride-fostering influence of caste, there is need for ceaseless vigilance and for loving but unflinching exercise of discipline. This is especially true in the Missions where large ingatherings have been vouchsafed, and the Committee have reason to be grateful to the Bishop of Madras for his sympathetic co-operation with the missionaries in his diocese in all their anxious labours. During the past year Bishop Gell made laborious visitations of the Telugu and Tinnevelly Missions, when he confirmed at one station alone—Mengnanapuram—as many as 800 candidates.

The appointment of the Rev. Alfred Clifford to be the first occupant of the See of Lucknow was a cause of much thankfulness to the Committee. They trust he will be privileged to witness an unmistakable advance of the Christian Church throughout the North-West Provinces, where Hinduism is in the fulness of its strength.

That a real impression is being made in the country at large upon the great system of Hinduism is abundantly evidenced by the changed attitude of many of the high caste and educated classes. These classes are undoubtedly far more accessible than formerly to the evangelist. Mr. James Monro, C.B., late Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, had no difficulty in obtaining large audiences of English-speaking Native gentlemen in Calcutta and Nuddea and Burdwan, who listened with the keenest interest to his able criticisms of Brahminism; and the Associated Evangelists, for whose bright and hopeful work the Committee unfeignedly thank God, find the upper classes little less ready to listen than the millions of the peasantry. In Tinnevelly the itinerating missionaries found a whole Brahmin street in a state of dissatisfaction with Hinduism, their leader confessing, "The more I read of it the less I believe it." These indications of a moving among the dry bones are very largely due to Mission Colleges and Anglo-Vernacular Schools—such as the Noble College, Masulipatam, this year celebrating its jubilee—and not a little also to the work of the lady missionaries of the Zenana societies, of which the Committee cannot speak too gratefully.

Mohammedanism also has yielded trophies to the Gospel, both in India and in the countries under Moslem rule. The following instances may be mentioned. The Medical Missions at Quettah and at Tank have gathered in their first converts—both Mohammedans—during the year; the former was a Qazi and the Imam of his village mosque. Another Mohammedan convert, a Maulvie, sent with his family to Madras from Bellary by an L.M.S. missionary, was baptized by the Rev. Malcolm Goldsmith at Madras. And a convert of 1891, at Poona, also a former Maulvie, is proving an able Christian apologist at Bombay. In Mohammedan Lands the work is hampered by many restrictions, but even there the power of the Gospel has been manifested, and the Missions have borne fruit in the baptism of converts. A Mohammedan Lands.

Moslem was baptized by the Rev. Dr. R. Bruce at Julfa, but had soon afterwards to flee for his life. In another Mohammedan city two converts of 1890 and 1891 are now permitted to reside, and although one has been twice imprisoned, he had been released on bail and was enjoying his liberty when the last despatches were sent. In Palestine over 4,000 Moslem patients attended the Medical Mission at Nablous, and nearly all the lady missionaries write of the warm welcome they receive from Moslem women in their homes.

And Buddhism, the third great false religious system, is being persistently attacked in Ceylon, China, and Japan, mainly by direct preaching, but also by the slower process of Christian education. In CEYLON, for example, as in India, Mission Schools are an important agency for reaching the upper-class native families. One lad, who with four others voluntarily joined a catechumen's class in the Cotta High School, when taken before the chief dignitary of the Buddhists in Ceylon, told him that he had vainly sought salvation while a pupil of the Buddhist monks, but had found it in Jesus Christ after he came to the Mission School. Five pupils of Trinity College, Kandy, were baptized during the year, three of whom were formerly Buddhists, and two Hindus.

Ceylon.

It is a great satisfaction to the Committee that Bishop Moule, to whom the offer of a home sphere was recently made, has elected to continue for the present his onerous labours as a missionary bishop in CHINA. The anti-foreign prejudices of many of the literati and official classes in that land show little sign of abatement. At the interior stations in the north-west of Fuh-Kien, attacks were made of a peculiarly violent and offensive kind on Dr. J. Rigg and the Rev. H. S. Phillips in May and October last, but through God's great goodness neither of them was permanently injured, and both hope to be permitted to continue their labours in that district. Persecution has also been rife in some localities against the Native Christians for non-compliance with idolatrous customs. That opposition to Christianity is not general, however, among the people is proved by the large increase in the number of adherents. In Fuh-Kien these are more by 840 than in 1891, and in the T'ai Chow district of Cheh-Kiang 98 were baptized during the year. Dr. D. Duncan Main says: "The doors open to the medical missionary are legion. The difficulty is not to find them, but to find time to enter them. We are the centre of gravity, and they gravitate to us without difficulty." It is manifest that a wide door is open for itinerant missionaries almost throughout China. The provinces of Kwang Si and of Kiang Si were visited during the year by Dr. W. W. Colborne and Mr. Phillips respectively; and the far more distant province of Sz-Chuen has been safely reached by the Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Horsburgh and their party of nine, and he believes their lives are as safe there as in England. The Society is greatly indebted to the China Inland Mission for constant help and counsel to this party, both at the coast and in Sz-Chuen.

Japan.

What has been said of open doors in China is even more true of JAPAN. Bishop Bickersteth is so convinced of this that he is endeavouring to make arrangements during his short stay at home for the division of his present diocese into three. The Committee have expressed their readiness, in view of the rapid development of the Mission, and in view of the opinion expressed by their senior missionaries, to provide the stipends of two additional Bishops to be nominated by the Society, one for the northern island of Yezo, and the other for the southern island of Kiu-Shiu, in both which the C.M.S. is the only Episcopal society engaged. Before coming home the Bishop held the first Confirmation of Ainu Christians, and 80 adult Japanese were baptized in the Northern Island alone during the year. One of them was formerly a Buddhist priest, who was led to inquire regarding Christianity by reading the first chapter of Ecclesiastes. Buddhism, he said, had taught him that all was vanity, but Ecclesiastes went further and taught him where to find that which is not vanity.

North-West America.

The news from NORTH-WEST AMERICA of Bishop Horden's death, after more than forty years spent in Christ's service on the barren coasts of the great Hudson Bay, just when he was preparing to resign his arduous episcopate to younger hands, is a reminder of the blessing which has attended the patient love and devotion of God's servants in those lonely regions. Under his supervision the Crees, the Ojibbeways, and the Chipewyan Indians throughout the diocese have heard, and most of them embraced, the Gospel, and the Eskimos on both the east and west main have been followed on the wastes of ice to their snow houses. Bishop Bompas and Bishop Reeve are in their Arctic dioceses on the east and west of the Rocky Mountains, withstanding the aggressions of Romish priests, and seeking out the remaining heathen Red Men. For about eleven months of each year they are shut off from communication with the civilised world.

Only a brief mention can be made of the NORTH PACIFIC Mission, to which Bishop Ridley returned in September much improved in health; NEW ZEALAND, the reports from which tell of the gradual recovery of lapsed Hau-haus to the Church; and the island of MAURITIUS, which was paralysed by the terrible cyclone of April, 1892, and where the pastoral and evangelistic work is carried on in spite of great difficulties and discouragements.

The African Missions had a prominent place in the sympathies and prayers of the Committee during the past year.

West Africa.

Adverting first to WEST AFRICA, the Committee are thankful that they were guided, they believe from above, in the selection of the Rev. J. S. Hill for the episcopal supervision of the Niger and Yoruba Missions, and they are indebted to the Archbishop of Canterbury for not only accepting his nomination, but for entrusting to him the duty, as his Grace's Commissary, of visiting the Mission and reporting to his Grace, that he might the better consider what due provision should be made "for the extension and strengthening of the Church and kingdom of our Heavenly Master and Lord Jesus Christ." Mr. Hill has recommended the nomination of the Revs. Charles Phillips and Isaac Oluwole, both of them African clergymen of experience, as Assistant Bishops for the Yoruba Mission, to which the Archbishop and the Committee have gladly assented. The Committee rejoice to welcome Mr. Hill on his return, and they ask that prayer may be made for him and for the Missions under his care. The recent opening of the roads and other circumstances point to immediate opportunities for extension in the Yoruba country. Bishop Ingham's efforts and those of Canon Taylor Smith for the spiritual revival of the Christians of Sierra Leone and Lagos are noticed with much thankfulness by the Committee.

East Africa.

EAST AFRICA, and especially UGANDA, has been writ large among the topics of discussion in the press and on public platforms during the past year, and the Committee hope and believe it has been written deep in the hearts of the English people. The Committee received with sincere sorrow the painful accounts of the civil war, although they never doubted, what has proved to be the fact, that the differences between the rival native factions were rather political than religious. In view of the great perils that threatened the country on the intended withdrawal of the Imperial British East Africa Company, a deputation from the Committee waited on the Foreign Secretary, Lord Rosebery, in September. A few days after this interview, the Government announced their readiness to bear the charges of maintaining the representatives of the Company in Uganda until March 31, that is, three months after the date fixed upon for the withdrawal. Sir Gerald Portal and a strong staff of experienced officers started from the coast on January 1, commissioned to make a report to the Government for their and the country's guidance in dealing with Uganda. The Committee thankfully reflect that if, as they confidently hope, Uganda is saved from anarchy and ruin, it will have been largely due, under God, and in answer to much earnest prayer, to the generous donors of the £16,000 in November, 1891, who enabled the Company to hold on until public opinion had matured. No one can now doubt that in approving, by a vote combining men of all parties, the step taken by the Government, the House of Commons reflected the general feeling of the nation.

Bishop Tucker in Uganda.

Bishop Tucker has now returned to Uganda, travelling by the route first traversed by Bishop Hannington, who, as he himself said, had "purchased this road to Uganda with his life," and whose remains were discovered en route, and reverently conveyed to Mengo. The Bishop writes that he preached on Christmas Day to a congregation of 5,000 in the new church built by the Native Christians. He says: "I wonder whether in the whole Mission field such a sight has been witnessed since Apostolic days. The perfect stillness as I stood up to speak, and indeed throughout the service, was almost as awe-inspiring as the sight of the great multitude itself. . . . Christmas Day was a day worth coming to the ends of the earth to enjoy." The Committee have had much pleasure in welcoming the Rev. R. H. Walker and the Native Christian chief, Mika Sematimba, on a short visit to England. Mr. Walker has added much to the knowledge of the Society's friends at home regarding the country, and especially regarding the eagerness of the people for instruction. He mentions one female convert who committed the whole of St. Matthew's Gospel to memory, and repeated to him the fifth chapter; and a male convert who travelled on several occasions a distance of five hours' journey to satisfy himself regarding a long list of difficulties which had occurred to him while reading the Book of Numbers. The Committee regret that Chagga, near Kilima-Njaro, has been necessarily vacated. The Mission is now located at Taveta, in British territory.

More labourers needed.

From all the Missions appeals for more labourers are being constantly received. In view of the several populous and apparently healthy districts passed through on his journey to the Lake through the British sphere of influence, Bishop Tucker prays that God may rouse His people to a deeper sense of their responsibilities, of the preciousness of their opportunities, of the shortness of time, the length of eternity, and the inestimable value of immortal souls. The Bishop-designate of the Niger writes that the whole west coast from Lagos to Akassa is now, as never before, opening wide doors to the Gospel; the people are willing to hear, he says, and are dying in Paganism. The openings in China and Japan have already been referred to; while from India, Mr. Eugene Stock, after visiting many of the Missions, writes: "Everywhere we find one sore need—MEN!" What can the Committee say to emphasise this general cry? In addition to the Day of Intercession in November, the Committee invited the friends and missionaries of the Society to observe July 14 as a day for special prayer for men, and their invitation was widely responded to. They can only urge their friends not to faint in their supplications. An answer will come, the Committee are assured. And they are encouraged in this assurance by the experience of the past twenty years. Since 1872, when the Day of Intercession was appointed, the increase of accepted candidates has been marked. During the twenty years preceding 1873 the number accepted was not quite 400; during the twenty years which have followed that year it has been about 750. But this further difference between the two periods is important. During the former the growth was scarcely perceptible, the number for the two decades being practically the same; whereas during the last twenty years the growth has continued almost without interruption. During the ten years ending 1882 the yearly average was 26; during the ten years ending 1892 it was 48; and during the five years ending 1892 it was 64. Of ordained candidates, 30 were accepted during the ten years ending 1882, and 120 between 1883 and 1892, a fourfold increase. Of ladies accepted during the same two periods, the increase was from 16 to 137. During the past year the number accepted for service was 81,* not including those accepted for training in one or other of the Society's Institutions. The Society's Training College at Islington has been affiliated to Durham University.

Deputation to the Colonies.

The Committee referred last year to the deputation they had just sent to Australasia to seek to awaken there a larger measure of missionary interest. They have had much joy in welcoming back their brothers, Mr. Eugene Stock and the Rev. R. W. Stewart, and they thank God for preserving them throughout their journeyings and incessant labours. They appreciate very gratefully the cordial reception which was accorded them by bishops, clergy, and laity both in Australia and New Zealand, and they on their part gladly welcome to-day a representative of the Colonies in the person of the Rev. H. B. Macartney, of Melbourne. While fully recognising and wishing God-speed to the missionary enterprises of the Australasian Churches that already existed, the Committee gladly now report that the old C.M.S. Association in New South Wales has been largely developed, a new one formed in Victoria, and plans matured for one in New Zealand; which Associations will now have authority to select and train and send out missionaries, their locations being determined by the Parent Committee. Three missionaries,

* Of the 81 accepted, 14 were in Orders, including three Islington men, one from the London College of Divinity, and 10 graduates, one of whom is qualified as a medical practitioner. Besides the last-named, one other was a medical man, six were University laymen, ten were non-University laymen (of whom two were Islington College students and two joined in Ceylon), and 50 were ladies. The graduates include ten ordained men and six laymen, as mentioned above—two were from Oxford, ten from Cambridge, two from Dublin, and two from Durham.

a clergyman and his wife and an honorary lady missionary, have been already sent out from Sydney; nine other candidates have been accepted at that place and at Melbourne; and a Training Home for women candidates, provided and presided over by a granddaughter of Samuel Marsden, has been opened at Sydney.

Missionary interest.

Besides these results of the Deputation's visit to Australasia, the Committee observe with much satisfaction that about 60 branches of the Gleaners' Union were started there with over 1,700 members, thus ensuring that in the places visited some at least will continue to pray and to labour for the evangelization of the world. The year's enrolments of the Union, reported at the Sixth Anniversary in November, did not include these new Colonial members, and yet they fell little short of 10,000; while 87 new branches were formed during the year, making a total of 437. Indications of the spread and deepening of missionary interest are also afforded by the formation of Younger Clergy and Lay Workers' Unions in different parts of the country, and by the activity and progressive energy of their officers and members. Some of them, for example, have met in London, travelling from the distant north, to confer on the best means to enlist and deepen missionary interest in the classes they represent.

The London F.S.M.

But the chief interest in the Society's home operations during the year has been the effort, which was made in February last, to arouse Churchmen in the metropolis to an augmented interest in Missions. In several districts the preparations were very complete, and the movement elicited the hearty co-operation of a larger number of the London clergy and laity than has probably ever before been enlisted at one time in this great cause. The claims of the Heathen and Mohammedan world were pleaded with fervour and much power by many friends, and by none more feelingly and eloquently than by the Bishop of London in his address to the clergy at the commencement of the movement. The large meetings at its close in this Hall on two successive nights, when it was sought to clench the impressions made, were occasions to be remembered.

Secretary for Africa.

The Committee referred last year to the resignation of the Rev. Robert Lang. They have had much satisfaction in nominating as his successor the Rev. Frederick Baylis, Rector of St. Philip's, Ancoats, Manchester, and they now submit his name, in pursuance of Law XX., for formal appointment by this Annual Meeting.

New V.-P.'s, &c.

Dr. Pulleine, Suffragan Bishop of Richmond, and Dr. Julius and Dr. Mules, Bishops of Christ Church and Nelson, in New Zealand, have accepted the office of Vice-President; and the Committee have also appointed to this office Dr. Jex-Blake, Dean of Wells, Dr. W. M. Cowper, Dean of Sydney, and Dr.

Macartney, the venerable Dean of Melbourne, whose birthday was April 10, 1799, two days before the Church Missionary Society was founded. To fill six vacancies in the list of One Hundred Honorary Governors for Life, the Committee have nominated the following: The Revs. E. D. Stead, J. W. Pratt, J. Wilkinson, and R. Dandy; Dr. Kinsey, and C. R. Walsh, Esq. And the Committeé have added to the list of Honorary Members for Life the names of Mrs. William Gray and Miss Emily Elliott.

Deaths.

The obituary of the year is a long list. Of missionaries on the active staff, it includes J. V. Dermott, one of the Emergency party for East Africa of 1890; C. K. Campbell, who was drowned in the effort to save a native youth while bathing at Hydrabad; and Miss Brandram, of Japan. Of missionaries' wives and widows, Mrs. Matthews, of New Zealand; Mrs. Buswell and Mrs. Honiss, of Mauritius; Mrs. Waltenberg, of Madras; Mrs. Schön, of West Africa; Mrs. Merk and Mrs. Morris, of North India; and Mrs. Cowley, widow of Archdeacon Cowley, of North-West America. Of former missionaries, Archdeacon Hobbs, of Mauritius; Dr. Mason, the translator of the Cree Bible; W. R. Blackett, Dr. C. Sandreczki, T. K. Weatherhead, C. C. McArthur, and J. Palmer. Of native clergy, I. Swamithasan, M. Devaprasadham. Turning now to the Vice-Presidents and to the names of home friends removed during the year, of the two Vice-Presidents, one, Bishop Horden, was a missionary on the active list; the other was Bishop Claughton, formerly of St. Albans. Six Honorary Life Governors, as already stated, have been removed, and one Honorary Life Member: they are Canon Money, a beloved member of the Committee; Canon Jackson, of Leeds; the Rev. John Mills, of Orton Waterville; General Burn, of Paddington; Colonel Horsley, of Canterbury; Mr. James Stuart, of Harrow; and Miss Cahill, of Richmond, in Surrey. The Committee have lost from their own body the Rev. Uriah Davies, the Rev. A. G. Gristock, Mr. J. J. Bourne, and Mr. E. B. Thomas. Some other friends must also be mentioned: Dean Dowse; Canon Payne; the Revs. J. G. Uwins, W. Eardley, S. Paynter, and J. Spurrell; Miss E. J. Whately; and Mrs. Pennefather.

The time availing for reading this Review does not suffice for an adequate statement of the Society's financial position, and the Committee will not attempt more than a brief reference to one or two features of the year's accounts. The total receipts amount to £282,805, the largest yet recorded except when the princely gifts of Mr. Jones swelled the receipts of 1882–3. Like that year, this year also includes a gift of unusual proportions. The late Rev. James Spurrell, who bequeathed upwards of £180,000 to religious and charitable institutions, left £50,000 (less £5,000 legacy duty) to the C.M.S. One moiety of this sum constitutes a special fund for China, in accordance with the wishes of the testator; and the other moiety has been mainly used to replace certain securities belonging to the Society (not Trust Funds) which had been temporarily used to complete the Building Fund of the Missionaries' Children's Home, an object which the Committee have much desired to accomplish. Apart from this noble bequest, which has thus been specially applied, legacies are lower by several thousand pounds than they have been for the past few years. On the other hand the ordinary expenditure has exceeded that of last year by £5,004, and would have been much larger but for the fall in the value of silver, which has effected a considerable saving on exchange. As a consequence, there is a deficit on the year's accounts of £15,335, of which £11,623 is met by the Contingency Fund, leaving an adverse balance of £3,712 to be carried forward to 1893–4. The Committee observe with thankfulness that the receipts from Associations have made a substantial forward movement within the past few years. During the five years from 1880 to 1885 the average yearly receipts from these sources were £141,626; and during the following five years from 1885 to 1890 they were £142,725, a growth of little more than one thousand pounds during the decade. In 1891 the Associations gave £156,478; in 1892 they gave £161,668; this year they have sent up £163,685, a larger sum than ever before, and representing an increase on the average of the five years ending 1890 of £20,000 a year. The Committee take this increase as a token that the Society at large is resolved to support them in the policy they have repeatedly emphasised and proclaimed, that of accepting and sending out all suitable candidates whom the Lord of the harvest raises up in answer to prayer. They beseech their friends not to waver in this resolution, nor to weary in their efforts and supplications, but to abound to this good work more and more, even as God makes all grace abound towards them, causing them to have always all sufficiency in all things.

Expenditure.

The Committee commenced this review with a verse from the Book of Psalms, expressing thankfulness for victories gained. They will conclude it with a stirring appeal from the Book of Judges, inciting to engage with all energy in a warfare impending and emergent. "Deborah said unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Sisera into thine hand; is not the LORD gone out before thee?" God had drawn to the summit of Tabor ten thousand men of Israel who were ready to jeopard their lives in the high places of the field, and this was doubtless one proof which convinced Deborah that the Lord was gone out before His people. And the Committee draw the same conclusion as, in their urgent need of recruits, they contemplate to-day the ranks of the younger Evangelical clergy and communicants of our Church, and believe, as they do so, that probably never before, through God's blessing on the home ministry, did those ranks contain so large a number of consecrated men and women. From among them a few have gone into the Mission field, but they are indeed only a few. Of the rest—though by no means, like the Danites of old, engrossed in the pursuit of riches, nor yet, like the Reubenites, enervated by wealth acquired, though neither dubious nor distracted in their allegiance and loyalty to Christ, yet—the majority have never prayerfully considered the possibility of their Lord's command to evangelize the world applying to themselves. They need to have their thoughts directed to the present opportunities for making known Christ's name to the heathen which God's providence presents. As Deborah invited Barak to lift up his eyes and see how God had drawn Sisera with his chariots and his multitude to the foot of Tabor, that he might not only discern and count them, but attack and overcome them, in God's strength; so the Committee would earnestly invite every true servant of Christ to look now and see how the heathen are brought within sight and touch of the Christian Church. This is the day when the Lord will effect a mighty deliverance, only let His people arise in His strength to fulfil His word. Who, the Committee solemnly ask, will emulate the valiant governors of Machir and the sons of Zebulun and Naphtali? Who will come to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD against the mighty? The Master enjoins, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature." Up, then, and tarry not, for "this is the day," and "the night cometh when no man can work."

Missions.

AFRICA.

Impediments to progress of Civilisation.

EVERY event which marks the progress of the opening of this vast continent, closed for so many centuries to the influences alike of civilisation and of the Gospel, must interest the friends of Missions. The most serious obstacles to this progress are not the physical obstacles presented by its enormous area unassisted by navigable waterways and its malarial coasts. They are to be traced to the presence and influence of the followers of Islam as represented by the powerful states which occupy so large a space of the interior north of the Equator, and by the communities of Arab traders which are found entrenched in the Lake regions. By these the slave trade, which has depopulated extensive tracts of country and has disorganised and demoralised the whole native population, is encouraged and maintained. Morocco is probably now the chief slave-mart of North Africa. Mr. C. H. Allen, the energetic secretary of the Anti-Slavery Society, wrote in August, 1892, to the Times that a caravan composed of 2,500 camels and of 4,000 slaves reached the borders of Morocco from Timbuctoo in July. The efforts of England and France to establish satisfactory relations with this State appear to have been frustrated; but they will doubtless be persevered in, and their success may be expected under God to affect the whole Western Soudan, to the extent at least of discouraging this trade. On the Guinea coast doors to the interior have been opened by the French occupation of Abomey, and by successful treaties with the Ijebus and Egbas on the part of the English, giving access respectively to Dahomey and the Yoruba country, and to the Mohammedan kingdoms beyond. A French traveller, M. Monted, following the expedition of the Royal Niger Company which was referred to in last year's Report, visited and spent four months at Kuka, on Lake Tchad, the capital of Bornu, having travelled from the Senegal viâ Say on the Niger, and then proceeded to Tripoli viâ the Sahara. Individual enterprise and international rivalry are forces not easily resisted, and they are working surely if slowly under God's Hand for restraining the tyrannies and constraining the exclusiveness of these Moslem States.

Slave Trade in the lake regions.

South of the Equator the Arab slave traders, retreating before the onward march of England and Germany from the East, and of France and Belgium from the West, have concentrated their strength in the vicinity of the great lakes, especially the Tanganyika and the Nyassa. In the rich agricultural district of Katanga to the west of Lake Bangweolo, at the south of which Livingstone died, several officers of the Congo Free State, while engaged in opening commercial stations, were attacked by Arabs in the spring of 1892, and murdered with circumstances of peculiar barbarity. About the same time apparently a British officer, Captain Maguire, met with his death on the Nyassa in an attack on Arab slavers. One of the Free Church Missionaries writes: "Slave-dealing Arabs are predominant all over the country. They are a powerful factor, both east and west of the lake (Nyassa). There never was a time known in the history of the lake when so many guns and so much powder were in circulation." Both Great Britain and Germany are evidently resolved on reclaiming this lake from its illegitimate use. Two British gunboats are already on the Upper Shiré and two others have been ordered to the Nyassa, and a steel vessel with steam power has been sent to the same lake by Germany. The Victoria Nyanza has not yet received a steamer on its waters. Major Wissman took one out in the summer of 1892, intending to convey it viâ the Shiré river and Lakes Nyassa and Tanganyika; but the boat was not taken forward and is now doing duty on the coast.

Exploration.

A German traveller has rendered good service by proving that the last unexplored link in the route from the Zambesi mouth to the Victoria Nyanza presents no obstacles to the traveller. The land journey from the north of the Nyassa to the south of Tanganyika is well known and has been frequently trodden, but that between Tanganyika and the Victoria had not been thoroughly explored until the autumn of 1892, when Dr. Baumann made the journey. Captain Macdonald, who conducted the survey from the coast to the Victoria Lake for which the British Parliament voted £20,000 in March 1892, reports that, with the exception of the lofty Mau plateau, no serious physical difficulties to the construction of a railway are found on the route. As an illustration of the schemes affecting the future of the Lake regions which men of proved practical capacity are ready to promote, may be mentioned a proposal made by the Hon. Cecil Rhodes, Premier of Cape Colony and Director of the British South Africa Company, when in London at the close of 1892, to extend the telegraph which that Company has laid from the Cape a distance of 1,750 miles to Fort Salisbury in Mashonaland, northward viâ the Zambesi, Nyassaland, the Tanganyika, to Uganda, and ultimately to complete the connexion with Egypt and the Mediterranean.

The Missions of the Church Missionary Society are the following:—(1) West Africa, i.e. the colony of Sierra Leone and its neighbourhood; (2) Yoruba; (3) Niger; and (4) Eastern Equatorial Africa.

Episcopal Supervision.

THE Episcopal supervision of the Society's West African Missions was shared during the lifetime of the late Bishop Crowther between him and the Bishop of Sierra Leone. The jurisdiction of the latter includes by letters patent the island of Lagos, being a British possession, as well as the colony of Sierra Leone, while the diocese of the Bishop of the Niger included not only the Niger territories, but also the Yoruba country on the mainland. By a mutual arrangement, however, it was agreed that the Yoruba congregations should look to the Bishop of Sierra Leone for episcopal help. The Committee nominated the Rev. J. S. Hill in July to succeed Bishop Crowther, and the Archbishop of Canterbury graciously accepted his nomination. The Bishop-designate, who in accordance with the Archbishop's desire made a preliminary visit to the West Coast before his consecration, as commissary to the Archbishop, has recommended that two native clergymen, the Revs. C. Phillips and I. Oluwole, be consecrated as Assistant Bishops for the Yoruba country, which the Archbishop and the Committee have approved. The assistance of the Bishop of Sierra Leone, which has been rendered at very great inconvenience, and necessarily at long intervals as regards the interior Yoruba stations, will therefore no longer be required after these appointments shall have been consummated, and the Committee have expressed their sense of obligation for the kindness with which this help has ever been afforded.

Death of Mrs. Schön.

Mrs. Schön, widow of the late Rev. Dr. J. F. Schön, distinguished for his linguistic labours in the Hausa language, died on October 26 at New Brompton, in Kent.

The Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Alley returned to the Mission in September, and Canon J. Taylor Smith in October; the Rev. W. J. Humphrey, who visited England in September on special business, returning in less than four weeks, left the Mission in May to take furlough; the Rev. O. Moore visited this country in June, and returned in April, 1893; Miss M. Williams came home in December, 1892, on short furlough, and went back in March; and Miss H. Bisset came home in April.

SIERRA LEONE.

Sierra Leone Church.

In the summer of 1892, when Bishop Ingham visited this country, he was able to give the Committee in some respects a brighter report of the Sierra Leone Church than had been possible for several years past. Especially encouraging to him was the state of the finances. Whereas in 1890 the balance-sheet of the Native Pastorate Auxiliary Association showed a deficit of nearly £400, the year ending April, 1891, had a credit balance of over £70, and in April, 1892, the surplus stood at about £360. The difficulties to which the Committee referred last year still unhappily continue. The spirit manifested by some of the clergy in refusing to recognise the binding authority of the new Articles of Arrangement has apparently affected several students of Fourah Bay College. In August the whole body of students represented their supposed grievances to the Rev. W. J. Humphrey, the Principal. They contended that all College rules affecting discipline, &c., which were not included in those required as a condition of affiliation with Durham University were ultra vires, and they refused to attend lectures pending the settlement of the questions raised. The Principal consequently suspended the students, and came to England to confer with the Committee. He had eventually to dismiss five of the students, and two were allowed to resign. A College calendar published for 1892 states that 27 students took their B.A. degree between 1876, when the College was affiliated to Durham, and the end of 1891. The Rev. E. Leversuch has been appointed Acting Vice-Principal of the College until a permanent appointment can be made.

Fourah Bay College.

During the Rev. Obadiah Moore's absence from the Colony on a visit to this country, the Grammar School was under the general superintendence of Mr. Leversuch. The new schoolroom in connexion with the Annie Walsh Institution, which was referred to last year as in course of erection, fell down during the night of July 27, a consequence probably of the heavy and continuous rain arriving before the building was protected by a roof. During the season of Lent 1892 special devotional meetings were held in the school, which were much blessed to some of the girls. Miss E. Dunkley wrote:—

Annie Walsh Institution.

> We had long been praying for this, and the answer was sent while I was absent in England. Letters telling me all about it made me a sharer of the joy at the time, and on my return in May I found great cause for thanksgiving in the altered lives of some, who had before given us much sorrow by their unsatisfactory conduct. There were also evident signs of "growth in grace" among those who had previously given their hearts to the Lord.

Accessions of new girls from time to time introduce very unhopeful material—"roughness, deceit, lying" are mentioned as frequent characteristics—but the godly tone and influence of the school has a marked effect in most cases.

PORT LOKKOH.

During his furlough in England the Rev. J. A. Alley revised the MS. of the Timneh version of the Pentateuch, and corrected the proof sheets so far as they were set up before he left home. The Rev. S. Taylor has been appointed Minister of the Chapel of Ease to Holy Trinity Church, Freetown.

Bishop Ingham's Visitation.

BISHOP INGHAM'S visitation of Lagos in April, 1892, was a season of much spiritual blessing. The Rev. H. Tugwell wrote:—

> The Bishop has been enabled to carry out the heavy programme in every detail with singular power and with the manifest presence of the Holy Spirit. Our intercourse with the candidates for ordination, the gathering together daily for prayer and communion in the Spirit, hallowed each day's service, and brought us into very close union with Christ and one another. The Bishop's comments on Psalm xx. will not soon be forgotten. The Confirmation Services and the Ordination Service were also times of great delight. All who took part are filled with delight and with gratitude to God. I do not exaggerate, I am convinced, when I say that the results of this visitation will be great, far-reaching, and permanent. The frequent gathering together of the agents, their entertainment, &c., have also been the means of bringing us all into much closer contact in the bonds of sympathy and love.

Ordination.

The Bishop admitted the Rev. D. O. Williams to Priests' Orders, and Mr. J. A. Lahanmi to Deacons' Orders, on April 3.

Reinforcements.

Reinforcements were sent out consisting of the Rev. M. A. Dodds, of the London College of Divinity, Curate of St. Chad's, Derby, and Mrs. Dodds; the Rev. Frederick G. Toase, Associate of King's College, London, Curate of St. Barnabas, Holloway; and Mr. Tom Jays, Student of Islington College. The following returned to the Mission during the year: The Rev. S. S. and Mrs. Farrow, the Rev. R. Kidd, Miss Higgins, Miss Tynan, and Miss Wright. On the other hand, the Rev. H. Tugwell, the Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Wood, the Revs. C. Phillips and I. Oluwole, and Miss Thomas came home on furlough or on sick leave. Before leaving Lagos Mr. Tugwell wrote: "I do not suppose it would be possible to find a more devoted body of men and women than constitute our little band of Yoruba missionaries, and it would certainly be difficult to find any happier. 'The voice of joy and thanksgiving is in our dwellings.'"

Happy band of Workers.

LAGOS.

Canon Taylor Smith, of Sierra Leone, after his return from furlough, spent over two months in the Yoruba Mission. He visited and held special services at Abeokuta and Ibadan, and subsequently held similar services at Christ Church, Lagos. The Training Institution had 23 students during the year, whose general behaviour and work were satisfactory. The seven students who went out of the Institution in 1891 are all well reported of by Mr. Tugwell, who had opportunities of visiting them and seeing their work, which struck him as being both hearty and thorough. Six other students went out at Christmas, 1892: one to St. Paul's School, Lagos, one to Igbogun Island, one to Isehin, one to Ibadan, and two to Ijebu Ode. The Principal of the Institution, the Rev. J. Vernall, has also charge of the Printing Press and Book Shop; the former issued over 20,000 copies of various productions, including localised Gleaners, and the latter received for sales £1,828, as compared with £1,450 the previous year. The Girls' Seminary shows improvement, Mr. Tugwell says, in numbers, in tone, and in missionary spirit. He believes that many of the girls take an intelligent and lively interest in missionary work. Miss F. Higgins, after her return from furlough, went for the Christmas holidays with Miss J. J. Thomas to Ilaro, a place about 100 miles in the interior to the north-west of Lagos, where the school supports a catechist. They remained there until the end of February, and six converts, the first-fruits of the place, were baptized by Mr. Tugwell on February 26. The eldest daughter of the Rev. C. Phillips acted as their interpreter, and was an invaluable helper in their missionary efforts among the women of the place. The Grammar School, under the Rev. Isaac Oluwole, who came to England in April 1893, had 85 pupils at the close of 1892. Five of the lads passed the College of Preceptors' Examination, two in the second and three in the third class. An "old boy" of the school, now a barrister, showed his interest in it by paying the examination fee of a poor boy; another sent questions in geometry with two prizes for successful competitors; a third, a B.A. and L.Th. of Durham, who is the son of Mohammedan parents, but became a Christian while a youth in an elementary school, has been appointed a tutor of the Grammar School.

Girls' Seminary.

Grammar School.

The Missions of the Lagos Native Church had a prosperous year, both as regards volunteers for service and finances. The income increased considerably, and eight new agents were sent out to occupy six additional stations. Mr. Tugwell says that not only are the volunteers more numerous, but they are of a higher order in spiritual attainments than heretofore. After one of Mr. Tugwell's visits to the Ijebu country a Missionary Meeting was held in October in the Faji schoolroom, under the chairmanship of the Rev. I. Oluwole, when Mr. Tugwell and the Rev. N. Johnson (who had accompanied him) gave an account of their tour and appealed for recruits. Two members of Mr. Johnson's congregation at Aroloya volunteered for Missionary service. A Valedictory Meeting was held in St. Paul's schoolroom, Breadfruit, on November 14, to send forth five agents to Ijebu Ode and Ijebu Remo. The Bishop-designate, the Rev. J. S. Hill, was present, the Rev. James Johnson read the instructions, and Archdeacon Crowther, the Rev. I. Oluwole, Mr. Payne, and others addressed the outgoing party.

Native Church Missions.

The Rev. D. Coker is unable to report progress at BADAGRY; indeed the statistics show a falling off under several heads.

INTERIOR MISSION: ABEOKUTA AND IBADAN.

Occupation of Ijebu Country by the English.

The year to be reviewed in this Report was an eventful one for the Yoruba country. The military occupation of Ijebu Ode, the capital of the Ijebu country, by the English, since the successful expedition of May 1892, is an event of much consequence. The Ijebu kingdom is a narrow strip of land, less than forty miles in width and about one hundred in length, running along the land side of the lagoon near the mouth of which the island of Lagos is situated. The people, applying the "hinterland" doctrine in its most rigorous interpretation, established an absolute monopoly of the northern trade, and constituted themselves middlemen for the interior. No Yoruban was allowed to pass through their country to the coast on pain of losing his goods, and no trader from Lagos or anywhere to the south was suffered to penetrate into the interior. Human sacrifices and the practice of killing a number of slaves after the death of any person of means or position were exceedingly prevalent and frequent. These customs must now of course be discontinued, and the British occupation ensures that the hindrance hitherto successfully opposed to commerce and evangelization has now been removed. Next in importance to the occupation of Ijebuland, the successful ratification of a treaty between the Egbas of Abeokuta and the Governor of Lagos in January was an event to be recorded. For several months of 1892 the Egbas closed the roads to the coast, and in March they returned unopened a letter of the Governor of Lagos. In January, 1893, Governor Carter visited Abeokuta, and a treaty was signed, providing that human sacrifices in the one township in Abeokuta in which they were still offered should cease, that protection should be given to all Christian missionaries, that roads should not again be closed, and that no territories should be given to other powers without the consent of England. A third event affecting the Yoruba country indirectly and negatively was the French expedition against the Dahomians and their occupation of Abomey. Of old the annual raids of the Dahomians into Yoruba wrought much destruction and depopulated the western part of the country. And even so recently as 1890 eleven towns were destroyed by them in the immediate vicinity of Abeokuta. It may be hoped that the days of these unprovoked aggressions and of the degrading "customs" which have long made Dahomey a synonym for all that is cruel and barbarous are ended.

Abeokuta.

The Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Wood were the only Europeans in ABEOKUTA between December, 1891, when the Rev. S. S. and Mrs. Farrow left it, and November, 1892, when the Rev. M. A. and Mrs. Dodds reached it. This was one consequence of the closing of the roads referred to above, as Mr. and Mrs. Dodds were several months waiting for an opportunity to go up. Another consequence was a considerable diminution of income contributed by the pastorates—about £245 less than in 1891—the stoppage of trade having deprived the people of the means to give. The reports of the Native agents lead Mr. Wood to conclude that many of the Christians suffered in spiritual as well as in temporal things; their attention was concentrated too much on food and raiment, and the kingdom of God and His righteousness were the less sought in consequence. Mr. Wood says, "Judging from my own experience and observation, I should say that the great want of our people is a deeper and more full knowledge of sin as it is in God's sight." Street preaching was impossible for a part of the year owing to the excited state of the people, who were ready to accredit the Christians with the responsibility for the roads being closed. Notwithstanding all discouragements, and notwithstanding diminished resources, several new buildings were advanced. A new church was built at Gbagura, another at Ilugun, and a third was well advanced at Ighein, on the site of a church built by Samuel Crowther which was pulled down in 1867 when the missionaries were expelled from the town. Two houses for agents have also been built, one wholly, the other in part during the year. Canon Taylor Smith conducted special services, mostly at the Ake church, but a few of them at Igbore and Ikija, between December 3 and 12; the 8th was observed as a "Quiet Day" for the agents, and the several devotional meetings were much appreciated and most helpful. Mr. T. Jays arrived at Abeokuta in December. The Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Wood have come home on furlough.

Need of a deeper knowledge of sin.

Special Mission Services.

The Rev. T. Harding, taking advantage of the treaty which had just been made between the Governor of Lagos and the Ijebus, passed through the Ijebu country to IBADAN in February, 1892, but the carriers whom he sent down to the Lagoon to fetch up his provisions, &c., were beaten and robbed and driven back. An Ijebu Christian man who volunteered to convey Mr. Harding's letters to the coast during the blockade was caught on his return journey, and, after being kept for some days in irons, was put to death. Later the Ijebus demanded of the Ibadans that Mr. Harding and the Rev D. Olubi should be expelled from Ibadan, and when this demand had been made three times the Ibadan authorities requested the brethren to leave. An appeal against the decision was addressed to the chiefs, but the arrival of a further deputation from the Ijebus, conveying bribes, determined the chiefs, who were then engaged in warfare against the Ilorins, to send a peremptory message to Ibadan that the Mission agents were to be driven away and the Christians to be killed and plundered. May 23rd was fixed for this to be done. On Sunday, the 22nd, however, it was reported that a flash had been seen and a report as of a cannon had been heard in the direction of Ijebu Ode. The following day the news reached Ibadan that Ijebu Ode had been taken by the English; and as the action against the Mission was only determined upon through fear of the Ijebus, it was immediately abandoned. "Thus God delivered His own and showed forth His glory," Mr. Harding wrote. Thousands of people congratulated the Christians on their deliverance, and a special thanksgiving service was held on June 8, Whit Monday. Mr. Harding wrote at the end of the year, on reviewing these events:—

"Thus God delivered His own!"

> We thank God that He has not only shown that He takes care of His own, but that "all things work together for good to them that love God." What was intended as an evil has really been a blessing, for the faith of the Christians has been strengthened, and the heathen confess that (to put it in their own way) "God is." They have also given us a more patient hearing since in the streets, and we can enter into any person's compound with evident signs of welcome, and the people gather themselves together to hear the Word of God.

The "London of Negroland."

A traveller has recently called Ibadan the "London of Negroland." It is six miles at least from end to end, and more than three in width. Within the walls of the city itself at least 120,000 people are gathered, while, including 163 suburban farming villages, its population is estimated at from 200,000 to 250,000. The wall and ditch which surround it are said to be more than eighteen miles in circumference. There are three C.M.S. churches in the town, in the districts respectively of Kudeti, Aremo, and Ogunpa, with congregations of 140, 255, and 95 respectively. The Rev. D. Olubi, who is well known throughout the Ibadan district, resides at Kudeti, and Mr. Harding writes thankfully of the example and influence of his and Mrs. Olubi's domestic life. He says, "I have seen more of what we call home in this house than in any other in the interior."

A Christian home.

The Ogunpa congregation, though last numerically, is first in zeal and self-denial. The whole congregation appear to engage in evangelistic efforts, preaching in compounds and at markets. Mr. Harding attributes this partly to the solemnising effect of the death of the aged catechist, Okuseinde, who was, like Mr. Olubi, one of Mr. Hinderer's converts. A fourth station in the town has been projected at Yemetu, and the necessary buildings commenced by the united labours of the three congregations. Very real unity exists among the Christians, Mr. Harding says, and he adds, "I am very thankful also to find in the church very little of either slavery or polygamy, and the Christians seem determined that the gin and rum curse shall not prosper by their aid." Pastorate committees have been appointed, and on January 11, 1893, the first meeting was held of the Ibadan Church Council.

Church Council formed.

Mr. Harding visited the out-stations in the autumn. At Isehin the Christians are very few in number, and their spiritual life is at a low ebb, judged by their efforts to make Christ known to others. Mr. Harding baptized two young men at Ogbomoso, both of whom could read the Yoruba New Testament. A decided move forward is perceptible at this place, and the Christians have a more intelligent grasp of their faith. The Native pastor of Oyo, the Rev. S. Johnson, mentions seven adult baptisms, one being an ex-priestess of Sango. This young person first applied for baptism in 1890, but at that time she still attended the sacrifice at the Sango festival, delegating to others the work of killing the victims. She openly renounced her office before she was baptized. Mr. Harding during his visit exhibited some Scripture lantern slides in the palace. A large open-air service was also held at the Akesan market, after which complaint was made to the Alafin that it had been proclaimed by the Christian teachers that the worship of idols was to cease. His reply was, "Let them alone; they used no force; they do not enter your rooms to clear away your idols; let whoever be disposed join."

A Priestess baptized at Oyo.

ODE ONDO.

The king of ODE ONDO died in January, 1892, and human sacrifices were not offered, as the people were indignant at the failure of an expedition which the king had just led against Ikale, and refused the usual honours (!) at his funeral. Governor Carter visited the town in March, and the Rev. C. Phillips writes very gratefully of his good example in the observance of the Sabbath. Mr. Phillips says:—

Ode Ondo.

Visit of Governor of Lagos.

> We felt very thankful for the high example which his Excellency set for due respect to the sanctity of the Lord's Day by refraining from travelling. Some of our converts in their trading trips to Lagos imbibe loose notions respecting the Sabbath, and seem to think that we are too rigorous in our admonitions. His Excellency has strengthened our hands very much by his high example.

On Easter Day, 1892, five men and a schoolboy were baptized, and one of the men introduced to Mr. Phillips a young man to occupy, as he said, the place in the catechumens' class which he was vacating. Mr. Phillips found this young man able to read the Yoruba Scriptures intelligently, having been taught by his Christian friend. The catechumens' class was so large and the members so eager for instruction that it was found desirable to divide it into two sections. The church, which was destroyed by fire in 1891, was reopened on August 24, 1892. The Revs. H. Tugwell and N. Johnson, from Lagos, were present on the occasion, and they also visited ILESHA about the same time. The king of the latter place died a fortnight after their visit. No human sacrifices were offered. The Rev. M. J. Luke baptized twelve adults during the year.

The Rev. J. S. Hill's Appointment.

THE appointment of the Rev. Joseph Sidney Hill as Bishop-designate of the Niger has been already mentioned in the introductory notes to the West Africa Missions. Mr. Hill's offer of his services for this Mission as an ordinary Missionary, and his acceptance by the Committee, were referred to in last year's Report. This was in November, 1891, before the death of Bishop Crowther, and therefore before it was possible to contemplate the appointment which has since been made.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, when he intimated his readiness to appoint Mr. Hill to the Niger bishopric, expressed an earnest desire that he should, before consecration, pay a visit to the Mission; and he further gave him authority to act as his Grace's Commissary in the following terms:—

The Archbishop of Canterbury's Instructions to Mr. Hill.

"Whereas we are well assured that it is expedient in the first place that an extended visitation should be made and full knowledge obtained for our information of all the particulars, conditions, and circumstances relating to the said charge, We do hereby nominate you, the said Reverend Joseph Sidney Hill, as Bishop Designate for the Territory of the Niger, to be our Delegate and Commissary, with full directions to visit all that region or territory, or so much thereof as you shall find expedient, in order to report to us according to your instructions all such particulars and conditions as may be of assistance to us in considering the due provision to be now and henceforth made by the Blessing of God for the extension and strengthening of the Church and Kingdom of our Heavenly Master and Lord Jesus Christ. And we do earnestly entreat all Christian people, among whom you shall come, both clergy and laity, lovingly to receive you as our Commissary and Delegate, and diligently to forward the work you have in hand, to show you all kindness, and to consult with you for the common good, in the same amity and benevolence which we are persuaded that they would show to ourselves if we were in our own person able to undertake that visitation and charge which we now and hereby commit to you as our said Commissary.

"We therefore charge you, the said Right Reverend Joseph Sidney Hill, Bishop Designate, to report to us of all those things in such manner that we may with full knowledge and confidence consecrate you here in England, when we shall have received you again, to be Bishop of the said Territory.

"And so we humbly pray our Heavenly Father to have you always in His holy protection."

Mr. Hill was appointed by the Committee Director of the Mission, with powers similar to those exercised in the Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission by Bishop Tucker. He sailed, accompanied by Mrs. Hill, and by Mr. Proctor and Miss Warner, two of the year's recruits, on September 10. They reached Lagos on October 8. There Mr. Hill made a stay of three months and conferred with the leading African Christians and others, both privately and in more public and formal assemblies, Archdeacon Crowther and the Rev. J. Boyle and Mr. P. A. Bennett from the Conferences at Lagos.

Niger and the Revs. T. Harding and C. Phillips from the interior Yoruba stations visiting Lagos for the purpose of aiding the Bishop-designate with information and counsel.

Mr. Hill left Lagos to visit the Niger in December. Mr. Bennett, who had intended to come forward from Lagos to England, to take a furlough which had already been twice deferred, offered to return with Mr. and Mrs. Hill, and as his health had much improved since leaving the Niger, he was allowed to do so. They went up the river as far as Lokoja, visiting several stations, and then returned, arriving in England on April 20. Mr. Hill wrote from the mouth of the Niger, before proceeding up the river, of the numerous openings for making the Gospel known which the Oil Rivers District, under British protection, affords. He said:—

"People willing to hear but dying in Paganism."

The places we have visited on our way are all rapidly feeling the influence of the British protection, so that the whole country from Lagos to Akassa is now, as never before, like Ijebu, Abeokuta, and Ibadan, opening wide doors for the Gospel. Captain Harper, the Consul at Wari (nephew of Bishop Harper, of New Zealand) begged me most earnestly to try and send some one into that district. It is thickly, and I may say densely, populated for miles and miles in one continuous road. The people are all willing to hear, but as yet never have heard, and are dying in Paganism. A party of chiefs have arranged to ask me to do something to give them a missionary. Wari is fairly healthy, and the captain is willing to give land for a station and otherwise assist. But this is only one of such needs: at Benin two young men from the Customs came to entreat me to try and get a missionary for them: all we could do was to give them a parcel of Gospel books, and encourage them to go on with their own most useful work. Bennett tells me this is what I am in for all up the Niger.

Reinforcements.

The Rev. H. H. Dobinson sailed to return to this Mission in February. The new reinforcements sent out during the year, besides Mr. and Mrs. Hill, were the Rev. F. Melville Jones, B.A., University of New Zealand, and also of Ridley Hall, Cambridge, curate of Holy Trinity, Cheltenham; Mr. H. Proctor, student of the Society's College, Islington; Miss Edith Ashley Warner; Miss Rose Frisby; and Miss Mary Taylor. Mr. G. D. Wilson, a probationary student, was also sent out for further preparation and probation under the care of the Bishop-designate. These recruits fall far short of the Committee's hopes and aims. In April, 1892, they instructed the Secretaries to issue without delay a special appeal for men, which was done; and again in December, it having been suggested that the reason why no candidates offered for the Mission was that a doubt existed regarding the lines on which the Committee proposed to carry on the Soudan and Upper Niger Mission, a full statement was put forth with a further appeal for men. Nevertheless, none have volunteered. On the other hand, for various reasons, the five remaining European members of the Soudan staff have one by one resigned. The Committee especially regretted that the Rev. Eric Lewis felt compelled to do so for the same or similar reasons which had led him to subscribe his signature to the letter of the missionaries to the Committee which was referred to in the Report for 1891-2 (page 31). Dr. Harford Battersby's resignation was occasioned by considerations of health. He was obliged by a renewed attack of fever to leave the Niger in August. His retirement has necessitated also that of Miss A. Clapton, to whom he was engaged and has since been married.

DELTA AND LOWER NIGER.

The Bonny "Pastorate."

The Committee are awaiting a solution of the difficulties in the Niger Delta. The "Pastorate" there, which was formally inaugurated on April 29, 1892, and which includes the congregations of Bonny, Okrika, and a few out-stations, with Archdeacon D. C. Crowther and the Rev. J. Boyle as its clergy, still maintains its independence of the Society, which is of a quite different character from the independence of the duly constituted Pastorates at Lagos and elsewhere. The Committee, fully hoping that Mr. Hill's conciliatory policy will restore the connexion which has been broken, are leaving the Society's property (in buildings, &c.) in the occupation of the Pastorate pending a settlement of the question.

Tuwon.

Tuwon, Brass, was placed under the Rev. P. J. Williams, who was transferred for that purpose from Ida in the spring of 1892, and the Rev. A. C. Strong was removed to Onitsha. Mr. Williams' account of this station, after nine months' experience of its condition, bears out in all respects what Mr. Strong had testified, as quoted in last year's Report. He says:—

> Judging from past reports and descriptions of the progress of the work in this and adjacent stations of the Society, I think there must have been sad retrogression; for the services, classes, and school attendances fall far below those of former years, not to speak of the low moral tone of many of the professed Christians, which has resulted in almost a wholesale excommunication from membership, as the station's register clearly shows. But, what is sadder, these seem quite content to remain in their state—more so, I believe, because they feel that they have on their side the majority. In 1891 there were enrolled 213 communicants. We have now 101, or a little less than half. In the class for confirmation there were in that year 183 baptized adults. This year only 70 were registered, and the highest number that have ever partaken of the Lord's Supper since I have been here is 46. The majority have relapsed into idolatry and polygamy, and for one cause or another have been cut off from membership. This state of things leaves one almost unmistakably to infer that the frequent and large number of baptisms of recent years were almost premature, and apparently indiscriminate; and unquestionably it has yielded not happy fruits to the Church in this place, but rather been productive of most serious results. These are, indeed, hard accounts to give, but they nevertheless come from strong convictions, and anyone acquainted with the existing state of things must come honestly to the same conclusions. To reclaim the backsliders and bring back the lost will most assuredly be no easy work, as it is now most clearly evident to those who have undertaken the task.

"No easy work."

A want which, unhappily, still exists, and which Mr. Williams is labouring to supply, is an Idzo version of the Word of God. This want, and that of vernacular instruction, doubtless lie very near the root of the defections and generally low condition of the professing Christians in this station, and also in the neighbouring one of Nembe where Mr. J. Allen is the pastoral catechist. The Rev. J. D. Garrick, of OGBONOMA, declined to join the Bonny Pastorate movement, and consequently the station remains in connexion with the Society. Opposition from the chiefs and others is very severe against those attending the services, and it was especially so against six converts who were baptized in June, the first-fruits of this station. Two of them were women, who would probably have been sold or killed but for the intervention of European traders; two others, one of whom had not yet been baptized, died under circumstances which gave rise to suspicions of violence. The people say, "You call us to come to church, and when we come we are killed!" The following from Mr. Garrick's letter illustrates how the Gospel spreads and how Satan seeks to hinder it. He says:—

Opposition at Ogbonoma

"When we come to church we are killed."

> A young man, now well-to-do, but once a maker of idols, went to the market to trade. Whilst there he fell in with one of the schoolboys, who gave him instruction. God blessed the words spoken. The man's eyes became opened, he saw the folly of idol-worship, threw away his idols, and left off idol-making. Since then, with others like-minded, he had been worshipping God. Three months ago he fitted up a place in his house at Buguma as a prayer-room, and there a good number gather themselves for instruction. This coming to the ears of the king and chiefs, they were alarmed, and endeavoured to put a stop to the services. On Sunday, November 6, a meeting was held, to which all known as praying people were summoned. A good number were afraid and stayed away, but about forty persons, men and women, were strong enough to attend. They were charged with bringing trouble into the country by refusing to worship the idols and give rum to their ancestors, and by bringing in other strange customs. The leaders were singled out, and told to prepare to go to the Long Juju, somewhere in the interior, within two or three weeks. If the Juju approve of their worshipping God they would return, but if not they would be lost. This going to the Long Juju is no idle threat. It is the way by which New Calabar people take off their people. When anyone is obnoxious he is dubbed a witch or wizard and sent off, and nothing more is heard. He is either waylaid or killed, or sold into some far-off place. Often half a dozen people are sent together, and none return.
> The next day the persecuted from Buguma called to see me and tell their troubles. I started for Buguma and took the king by surprise. I told him at once what brought me over. After much talk and explanations, he said he would summon a meeting of chiefs. Canoes were despatched to the shipping, to call in all chiefs who happened to be there. The drum was beaten for an hour or so. It was a big meeting.
>
> I told the king and chiefs, "Sunday is coming, and the people will surely assemble for prayer; I have got all the names of those praying down in my book, as they have been already menaced, and some were to be sent to the Long Juju. There is left for me now only one step." "What is that?" they said. I replied, "The Consul must step in." Immediately on my leaving, all those who belonged to Native clubs were thrown out, and other laws to affect the women passed. But the Sunday following the people gathered again for service. I know the chiefs—how treacherous they are. To ensure the safety of the persecuted I had to see the Vice-Consul. Without this nearly all would in some way or other come to grief. Now the people are being driven from one house to another whenever they assemble. Appeal to Vice-Consul.

The Rev. A. C. Strong reports five adult baptisms at Onitsha and four at Obotshi. The attendance at the Sunday services at Asaba, on the right bank of the river, diminished after the death (referred to last year) of one of its kings who was a catechumen, but by the year's close it averaged 230 in the morning and from 90 to 100 in the evening. The attendance at a daily morning service in the church is encouraging: it consists of extempore prayer, singing, reading, and exposition of God's Word. The catechist, Mr. J. H. Spencer, says:— Asaba.

I have been very much cheered this year by the very deep interest manifested by some in the hearing and treasuring up of God's Holy Word. I once overheard one of the converts—Simon Onwuka—speaking to another convert after an early morning service as follows: "My friend, I don't know with what to compare God's Word, which is ever enjoyable and never tiresome. I think I can compare it to yam, because that is the only kind of food we can eat so many times a day and throughout the whole year, if we can afford it, without getting tired. If we feed on maize only, after a few days we are tired of it. If we eat only ukwa (Native bread-fruit), in a few days we don't want it. If we have to live only on fish or meat, we shall soon be tired of either. But yam is ever welcome to our taste, and ever enjoyable. It is just so I have proved the Word of God to be. The more I hear of it, the greater becomes the craving to hear more. It never becomes tiresome." A Native Convert compares God's Word to yam.

Mr. Spencer visits the gaol on Sunday afternoons, and he believes God has blessed his work among the prisoners. One of these, a Krooman, said to him, "Them word you tell me be good word; they be sweet word. I like them plenty. Me not forget them."

SOUDAN AND UPPER NIGER.

At Lokoja Dr. Harford Battersby was in charge for four months, from April 21 till August 15, when an attack of fever obliged him to come home. Mr. P. A. Bennett spent a fortnight at the confluence at the beginning of April. Mr. J. J. Williams, the Native catechist, says that a good number of Mohammedans and heathen attend the Sunday services, and Mohammedans also drop in from time to time during the Sunday school. Mr. Obadiah Thomas carries on the work at Gbebe, the out-station on the opposite bank of the river. He preaches in Igbira and Nupe, and occasionally also in Bunu, when members of that tribe are present. He says the Christian adherents seem to be growing in grace and in the knowledge of their Lord and Saviour. Six were baptized in February by the Rev. H. H. Dobinson. Lokoja.

In a touching document which was found among Mr. Brooke's papers, bearing date January 29, just a month before his fatal illness commenced, after instructions regarding steps to be taken in the event of his death, the injunction was written, "Let itineration be carried on as steadily as possible. . . . Tell the Christians to work while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work." This instruction to itinerate was acted upon. Several evangelistic tours were taken both from Lokoja and Gbebe. In May Dr. Battersby and Mr. Thomas visited the Bassas on the east of the river, and Mr. Williams those on the west side. At the end of the same month Dr. Battersby and Mr. Williams travelled to Bida, where they spent six days, and were accorded two interviews by the king, who manifested much interest, as also did the Ndeji, or Prime Minister, at their account of Bishop Crowther and of Mr. Brooke. They had interviews also with some of the princes, and had many evidences of goodwill from various influential quarters, and the king sent before their departure a present of a Hausa gown and trousers and a turban. Mr. Williams paid another visit to Bida in September, which encouraged him very much. In August Dr. Battersby and Mr. Thomas went to Yimaha, on the Lower Binue. Just before starting special meetings and a conference "on the lines of Keswick," were held at Lokoja.

This Mission, or, more correctly, one division of it, has been an object not merely of missionary interest, but also of public and national interest, during the year under review, and a brief record of some events which in their nature are rather political than religious seems necessary before proceeding to narrate the story of the Lord's work.

Decision of the I.B.E.A. Co. to retire from Uganda.

In May, 1892, the Imperial British East Africa Company informed the Government, and at the same time apprised the secretaries of the Society of their having done so, that they had decided to retire from Uganda at the end of 1892, the period to which the Company had engaged to remain in consideration of pecuniary assistance to the amount of £16,000 contributed in November, 1891, by friends of the C.M.S. After the general election in the autumn of 1892, and the change of Government which resulted, the Committee requested permission to send a deputation to Lord Rosebery, the new Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and an interview was granted on September 23. The following paragraphs may be quoted from the memorial which the deputation presented:—

C.M.S. deputation to Lord Rosebery.

> It appears to the Committee of the Church Missionary Society that the Anglo-German Agreement of July 1890, which brought Uganda within the sphere of British influence, and the subsequent occupation of the country by the Imperial British East Africa Company, in pursuance of powers conveyed to the Company by charter from Her Majesty's Government, have imposed a direct responsibility upon the British Government with respect to the maintenance of order in Uganda, and that in consequence it behoves them to express again, as they did last year, to Her Majesty's Ministers of State, the grave apprehensions which they entertain regarding the results of the withdrawal of the British power.
> We venture, therefore, respectfully to ask, in the name of the Committee of the Church Missionary Society, that Her Majesty's Government will take immediate steps to maintain British influence in Uganda, and so avert the evil consequences of the withdrawal of the Imperial British East Africa Company so far as in them lies.
>
> At the same time, we would assure your Lordship that the Committee of the Church Missionary Society will not in any case, God helping them, relax their labours to evangelize the tribes of Equatorial Africa, and they are persuaded that their missionaries in Uganda will not forsake, in the hour of danger, converts whom God has given them.

Lord Rosebery, in reply, acknowledged the pressing nature of the question; but reminded the deputation of the magnitude of the considerations, especially the financial considerations, involved in the course which they had urged on the Government. He manifested special interest in the references made by the deputation to the effects which evacuation might be expected to have on the slave trade. These indications of the Foreign Secretary's desire for further light on the subject from this point of view probably had weight in determining the Anti-Slavery Society to send an influential deputation a month later, on October 20, which elicited from Lord Rosebery the following remarkable expression of his views, as reported in the Times:—

Deputation of Anti-Slavery Society.

The Foreign Secretary's reply.

Reference to the late Alexander Mackay.

I do not myself think, and I venture to ask you not to believe, that either the Government or the country are indifferent to this question of Uganda. I do not approach it, the Government does not approach it, as a matter of small moment, as a remote district, which has been momentarily occupied by a Company, soon to be evacuated by the Company, and as a thing which in no degree affects the Imperial Government. We, at any rate I, view it as a country of great possibilities, as the key, perhaps, of Central Africa, as commanding the Nile basin, as a field recently of heroic enterprise, as a land that has been watered by the blood of our saints and martyrs; and I for one, as a Scotchman, can never be indifferent to a land which witnessed the heroic exploits of Alexander Mackay, that Christian Bayard whose reputation will always be dear not only in his own immediate northern country, but throughout the Empire at large. Gentlemen, I say that, whereas we view Uganda from all these different aspects, in my opinion you represent the greatest force of all, because you represent what Mr. Bosworth Smith eloquently called that continuity of moral policy which Great Britain cannot afford at any time or in any dispensation to disregard. That continuity of moral policy is a moral force by which, in my opinion, this country has to be judged. It is the salt which savours our history; it is a spirit which has exalted it; and it is by that when we have passed away that, in my belief, we shall come to be judged. It is not by her exploits in the field that Greece remains with us; it is by the spiritual form of her literature. It is not by her campaigns that Rome is best remembered, but by her laws, and immediately, and in a lesser degree, by the roads and aqueducts which are the signs of her civilisation. And in the same way I believe that this country, when this country stands before history, will stand, when all else has passed away, not by her fleets, or her armies, or her commerce, because other nations have fleets and armies and commerce, but by her heroic self-denying exertions which she has put forward to put down this iniquitous traffic. I know that when we speak of extending civilisation, or extending commerce, other nations look on askance. They believe us to be occupied by selfish and grasping and greedy motives, but there is one point on which they cannot deny that we have been actuated by a higher and purer spirit, and that is in the cause which you advocate. My belief is that, having put our hands to the plough in that great enterprise, we shall not be able, even if we were willing, to look back. I do not say this as pledging the Government to pursue any course of policy with regard to Uganda, because I am not here, and this is not the place, to declare that policy; but I may say this—that in the multiplicity of the considerations which we must weigh and balance before coming to a final resolution on this subject, the great cause which you have come to advocate to-day must occupy a commanding place.

During the interval between these two deputations, a letter from the Foreign Office to the Imperial British East Africa

Company was published, dated September 30, making an important proposal in these terms :—

Proposal Government with view to delaying evacuation.

It being evident that the resources of the Company are unequal to their continued occupation of Uganda, which has likewise been declared by the late Government to be arduous, if not impossible, in the present state of communication, Her Majesty's Government adhere to the acceptance by their predecessors of the principle of that evacuation.

It having been, however, pressed upon them by various communications, especially in a recent telegram from Sir G. Portal, that dangers may arise from immediate evacuation at the appointed time, which might be obviated by some further delay that would give time for preparation calculated to facilitate evacuation with greater safety, Her Majesty's Government are prepared to assist the Company by pecuniary contribution towards the cost of prolongation of the occupation for three months, up to March 31, on a scale not exceeding that of the present expenditure. It must, however, be distinctly understood that this measure is taken solely with a view to facilitate the safe evacuation by the Company, which is rendered necessary by their financial position; that the responsibility for the measures to be taken in carrying out the evacuation will rest with the Company alone; that the Government do not intend by this step to take upon themselves any of the liabilities incurred by the Company or their agents in respect of Uganda or the surrounding territories, and that the Government reserve to themselves absolute freedom of action in regard to any future measures consequent upon the evacuation.

This offer was accepted, and instructions accordingly were at once wired to the Company's Administrator at Mombasa for communication with Captain Williams in Uganda.

A Commissioner sent to Uganda.

On November 23, a further announcement was made by the Government to the effect that they had resolved to send out a Commissioner, with a sufficient escort, for the purpose of reporting on the actual state of affairs in Uganda, and the best means of dealing with the country. Sir Gerald Portal, Her Majesty's Consul-General at Zanzibar, was appointed as the Ministerial Commissioner for this object, and several able and experienced officers were attached to his staff. Sir Gerald left the coast on January 1, 1893, and reached Uganda in March.

Uganda Debates in the Houses of Parliament.

A reference was made to the despatch of the Commissioner in the Queen's Speech to the Houses of Parliament, and satisfactory assurances were given by Lord Rosebery in the House of Lords, and by the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Sir E. Grey, in the House of Commons, in reply to anxious questions from several influential quarters, that Sir Gerald possessed ample authority and powers to safeguard the maintenance of order in Uganda, after the departure of the Company and pending the decision of the Government regarding its future policy. An amendment to the Address in reply to the Queen's Speech, expressing a hope that the Commissioners would effect the evacuation of Uganda without any increase in the Queen's Imperial responsibilities, was moved by Mr. Labouchere, but was not pressed to a division. On March 20, however, the same member moved in Committee of Supply a reduction of the vote by £5,000, being the cost of Sir Gerald Portal's mission. The amendment secured only 46 votes, and was lost by a majority of 322, an emphatic expression of national approval of the steps taken by the Government in the interests of Uganda.

On receiving the report of their deputation's reception by the Foreign Secretary, the Committee, on October 11, passed a Resolution which was in effect an earnest appeal to the British public. Omitting a few paragraphs on account of space (see Intelligencer for November, 1892), the Resolution was as follows:—

Committee's Statement to the Nation.

At the present grave crisis in the history of Uganda the Committee of the Church Missionary Society feel that a special responsibility devolves upon them to communicate to the British public their sense of the grave wrong which will be inflicted upon the people of Uganda if this determination to withdraw the protection in which they have been led to trust be carried into effect.

How that protection should be secured is a political question ; and one of the fundamental principles of the Society is that the Committee and missionaries must keep clear of politics. They, therefore, make no suggestion on this point ; but are firmly convinced that where the claims of duty are paramount, some method of meeting those claims can be devised.

Nor do they attempt to indicate whether the moral responsibility rests on the Company, which under Royal Charter has assumed Imperial responsibilities, or on the Government under whose charter that Company acts. But they cannot forget that in the exercise of the powers thus granted the Imperial British East Africa Company has persuaded the people of Uganda to place themselves under British protection. They, therefore, insist that a grave responsibility lies on the nation itself ; and they urge that a duty rests upon every citizen to secure, as much as in him lies, that by some means or other the national responsibilities shall be fulfilled.

But the claims of humanity demand that a society, which has special interest in Uganda, and which through its missionaries on the spot has special means of judging of the urgency of the present crisis, should contribute anything which its position enables it to contribute to the data which go to the solution of the problem.

The Committee feel bound to let it be known that Bishop Tucker and their missionaries in Uganda unite in expressing their conviction that the withdrawal of British protection will be followed by a general war and the inevitable massacre of Christians. They have received a touching appeal from the Christian converts connected with their Mission, who write, "Our friends, we inform you that we Baganda are under the Queen's flag. We very much want the agents of the Company to stay in our country ; moreover, we think that our country should be subject to the Queen as she rules all other dominions. Our friends, we tell you the truth, we shall undoubtedly, in the case of the Company withdrawing, fight amongst ourselves, and our country will become a wilderness." Careful consideration of the opinions expressed by Captain Lugard in his report of March 4, 1892, and in his letter to the Times of March 8, and by Bishop Tucker and the missionaries, as to the almost certain effects of the withdrawal of British influence from Uganda, leaves the conviction on the minds of the Committee that the fears of these gentlemen, so eminently qualified to form a just estimate, are by no means exaggerated.

In conclusion, the Committee wish it to be clearly understood that it is not merely on account of the peril in which the missionaries stand that they have recently approached the Government on this subject, and that they feel now impelled to make this representation to the nation at large. With regard to the missionaries, Bishop Tucker is now on his way to Uganda, and, in counsel with his brethren, will determine what course of action will best promote the interests of the work. The Committee leave them entirely unfettered. It is not for the Committee, far distant from the scene, and ignorant of what changes may be taking place there, to sound the note of recall; and they trustfully commit the Bishop and the missionaries to the guidance and protection of God. They press for a full consideration of the present crisis under the solemn conviction that great hindrances to the spread of the Gospel, wholesale massacre of Native Christians, fresh impulse to the slave-trade, and disaster to the heathen themselves, are too likely to result from the withdrawal of British influence, on the continuation of which the people of Uganda and of the neighbouring districts have been led to rely.

Grounds of the Committee's action.

The general interest manifested by all classes in this subject at the close of 1892 was strikingly and unmistakably evinced. An appeal by the Archbishop of Canterbury at the Folkestone Church Congress for emphatic prayer that, whatever the commercial difficulties were, our country's course might be so shaped that Christian converts should not be abandoned to imminent destruction, met with a unanimous and hearty expression of interest. Diocesan Conferences throughout the land, and meetings of friends of the S.P.G. and Universities' Mission, as well as of the C.M.S., sent up to the Government memorials and resolutions. The Moderators and other dignitaries of the Church of Scotland, the Free Church, and the United Presbyterians sent a memorial urging that "the advent of the British Government to Uganda, directly or by Chartered Company, has necessarily created an Imperial responsibility, and has so affected the position of the numerous native converts and of the missionaries themselves, as, in our opinion, to forbid withdrawal." Chambers of Commerce, geographical societies, and public meetings called by the mayors of several large towns at the requisition of the citizens, expressed with striking unanimity the hope that Uganda might not be forsaken. The testimony of Mr. Bosworth Smith, given in a letter to the Times in December, 1892, was:—

General interest—shown at the Church Congress,

Diocesan Conferences,

by Presbyterians of Scotland, and by Public Meetings.

> The country has made up its mind. At four great public meetings, in four great centres of intelligence or influence of very different kinds, at which I have had the honour of speaking during the last four weeks—South Kensington, Leeds, Cambridge, and Birmingham—and representing, as I have been told at each place, all creeds and classes to a degree to which hardly any other meeting in recent times has done, the feeling was as enthusiastic as it was unanimous. Captain Lugard has addressed four times that number of great public meetings and nearly every Chamber of Commerce in the country, and always with the same result. More than this, not one single meeting has been called together anywhere in support of the evacuation; not one single person of eminence—unless, indeed, it be Sir Wilfrid Lawson—has written to the press to advocate it, and his letter, if it had any influence at all, could only further the cause which it was written to oppose; not one single newspaper of note—unless, indeed, it be Truth—continues, whatever may have been the case a few weeks ago, to argue for the policy which, at one time, it seemed would pass almost unchallenged.

"The country has made up its mind."

The demonstration is, in fact, complete. As the facts have become known and the issues realised, the one policy has gradually filled the moral and political horizon ; the other has irretrievably collapsed.

Captain Lugard in England.

Captain Lugard's arrival in this country at the beginning of October was exceedingly opportune. His important letters to the Times of October 8 and 17, setting forth the commercial, political, and philanthropic interests involved in the question of abandoning Uganda, and his able speeches at numerous meetings, were doubtless influential factors in stimulating the public interest, as well as in instructing the public mind.

Bishop Tucker—

Bishop Tucker visited Chagga in February, Jilore in March, and Shimba later. The Bishop had planned to start up-country for Uganda in the summer, and to travel through British territory. But the scarcity of porters occasioned a delay of many weeks, and he was not able to start until September. His companions were Dr. E. J. Baxter, the Rev. W. A. Crabtree, and Messrs. C. A. Günther, E. Millar, R. H. Leakey, A. B. Fisher, and J. P. Nickisson. The journey was commenced under circumstances of special anxiety and uncertainty. No step had yet been taken by the Government intimating their plans regarding Uganda, informed that Government disavowed responsibility for his safety in proceeding to Uganda.

and, a few days before starting, the Bishop received from the Consul-General an intimation that the Government disavowed all responsibility in respect of the safety of his party. The Bishop in reply assented cordially to the proposition; but respectfully pointed out that such a disclaimer would not relieve the Government of responsibility for the safety of English missionaries already in Uganda should that country be abandoned and given up to civil war and anarchy. The Bishop wrote:—

The Bishop's reply.

> Let me not be misunderstood. I deprecate in the very strongest terms the idea that missionaries in penetrating into savage and uncivilised countries, should look for or expect aid and protection from their home Government. No proposition could be more preposterous, no contention more absurd. But if the missionaries have no right (and clearly they have none) to compromise the home Government, on the other hand, the home Government, I maintain, has no right to compromise the missionaries. And this, I submit, Her Majesty's Government has done with respect to Uganda.
> Fifteen years ago our missionaries entered Uganda, carrying their lives, so to speak, in their hands, never looking for, never expecting Government protection. In course of time Her Majesty's Government granted a Royal Charter to the Imperial British East Africa Company, in which it delegated to the Company its powers of influence and functions of government within the sphere of British influence. In virtue of the powers entrusted to it under that Charter, the I.B.E.A. Company made its appearance in Uganda some two years ago. Its representative at once (on December 26, 1890) entered into a treaty with the king and chiefs. That treaty has now been superseded by another one, signed on March 30, 1892. In both treaties, but more especially in the latter, the Company is pledged in the strongest possible terms to protect the king and people and to maintain its position in Uganda.
> Naturally the adherents of the English Mission supported the English Resident in the exercise of those powers entrusted to him by the English Government through the I.B.E.A. Company. The result was that they incurred the hatred and hostility of all the other parties in the state.

To tear up the treaties that have been signed, after having thus compromised the English missionaries and their adherents, and on the faith of which the latter were led to cast in their lot with the English Company; to break pledges given in the most solemn manner; to repudiate obligations entered into with deliberation and aforethought; and then to disclaim all responsibility for the consequences that must inevitably ensue, would be, to my mind, to adopt a course of action that I dare not at the present moment trust myself to characterise, and one that I cannot believe would ever be sanctioned by any Government of Her Majesty the Queen.

Journey through British territory.

On September 26, after a solemn and happy service of Communion—when a Hannington Memorial service of plate given to the diocese by the members of St. Mary Hall, Oxford, was used for the first time—amid the singing of hymns by the school children, Frere Town was left behind. At Tzavo the news of the Government's decision to assist the Company to remain in Uganda till the end of March reached the Bishop, who also learned while staying at this place that the special mail-runners carrying these tidings up-country had been attacked by Masai in the neighbourhood and their mails stolen. The Bishop was able to communicate the Company's message to Captain Macdonald, whom he met shortly afterwards en route to the coast, and who then returned up-country. As the party proceeded, they were much impressed with the inviting openings for missionary work in several populous districts. While at Machako's, the Bishop made a short tour among the Wakamba, being accompanied by Mr. Ainsworth, agent of the I.B.E.A. Company at Machako's. The Bishop wrote:—

Openings for Missionary Work among the Wakamba,

The district is a very open one, the air bracing and the climate, I should say, peculiarly healthful. The people came to see us in large numbers, and were most friendly and cordial in their welcome. The second day, that is to say, on November 1, we moved from village to village throughout this district. The whole face of the country is covered with small villages, and as the young children came around, the longing to teach them the things of Christ was almost overpowering. I should say that here in Ukambani there is, without question, an open door for the Gospel of Christ.

Again, a little farther on, the Bishop wrote:—

in Kikuu,

This country of Kikuyu is a wonderfully fertile one. We are over 6,000 feet above sea-level. The climate is almost English. Vegetables of all kinds grow luxuriantly; beautiful flowers are to be gathered on every hand. The people are very numerous, but I am told they are treacherous. With the exception, perhaps, of the Kilima Njaro district, there is no part of Africa that I have seen that seems so well adapted to European life. May God in His own time point out what He would have us do with respect to the occupation of Kikuyu!

and in Kavirondo.

Upper Kavirondo presents a wonderful field for missionary work. It has a teeming population of a most friendly disposition. They are most anxious to be taught, and are, I believe, a very intelligent people. The country is very healthy, food is abundant, and the opportunities for itinerating almost unlimited.

In this last-named country, Kavirondo, at the village of Mumia, Bishop Tucker learned that the remains of the late Bishop Hannington had been interred in this place by Mr. Jackson, of the I.B.E.A. Company, in 1890. The Bishop was led to the spot, under the floor of a native hut which had fallen down. He wrote :—

Discovery of the late Bishop Hannington's bones.

As you can imagine, it was a solemn moment as I stood there. Day by day during this journey I have realised more and more the courage and unflinching resolution of Bishop Hannington. Without the society of a single white man as a companion, to traverse these vast tracts of uninhabited country, facing starvation and death continually, was an undertaking that could only have been carried through, as he carried it through, by a man of the very greatest courage and self-denial. As I have journeyed he has been in my thoughts continually, and now to stand, so to speak, at his graveside was in every sense a supreme moment.

I sent for the chief. I told him that I knew where the Bishop's remains were, and asked his permission to dig for them. I felt that there are only two suitable resting-places for them—either in Busoga, where he fell, or in Uganda, whither he was journeying, where he so longed to be. To leave them here seems impossible. The chief evidently wishes to have nothing to do with them. The fact that they are here is concealed as much as possible, and all connexion with them is denied. I fear to leave them in Busoga will be equally difficult. Uganda, therefore, it seems to me, is the place of all others where they may rest most suitably. I propose, therefore, to take them on with me to Mengo, and there, with the Service of our beloved Church, to place them in their final resting-place. In reply to my application for permission to dig, the chief still denied all knowledge of the spot, but said if I knew about it, I might dig. This was all I wanted. I changed the topic of conversation, made him a present, and he retired.

Proposal to inter them in the Church at Mengo.

At 6.30 A.M. with six men I went to the spot that had been pointed out to me, and for an hour and a half the men worked most industriously with their spades and native hoes. But it was very evident that the earth at this spot had not been disturbed for long ages. I therefore directed the men to dig in a spot some three feet further away. In about half an hour our efforts were successful, and the lid of the box was laid bare. It was quite clear to us that the box had been disturbed since its burial by Mr. Jackson. I believe an idea had got abroad that ivory had been buried, and an effort had been made to get it. Instead of the box standing quite in a horizontal position, it was at a considerable angle. The lid of the box was broken, and the inside casing of tin was broken. A covering was sent for from the camp, and the box and all connected with it was placed in it.

Later in the day Dr. Baxter at my request went with me to my tent. After shutting ourselves in, we very carefully opened the box and removed its contents. The Bishop's remains were incomplete, but the skull was perfect. Both Dr. Baxter and myself were thoroughly satisfied as to the Bishop's remains being before us. With loving care the box was packed with the beautiful grass which was around us ; it was then fastened, and after an interval removed for conveyance to Uganda. Only the members of the Mission party have any knowledge of the real nature of the work in which we have been engaged. There is so much superstition attached to the presence of the white man's bones in the country, that I have felt it best to keep the matter as quiet as possible.

The party reach the Lake.

On December 20, the first view was caught of the Victoria Nyanza, and the whole party united in singing the Doxology in thankfulness for God's goodness in so greatly prospering their journey. Ferrymen were waiting for them to conduct them over the Nile; and the two days' marching from that crossing was among people whose greeting was, the Bishop says, "more than cordial; it was warm and hearty in the extreme." Mengo was reached on December 23.

Reinforcements.

The reinforcements sent out to this Mission since June 1, 1892, consisted of one graduate of Cambridge, Mr. Ernest Millar, who sailed in June, 1892, and was mentioned among the reinforcements in last year's Report; and of five ladies. Three of these latter, the Misses Louisa, Mary, and Sibella Bazett, are sisters, all honorary missionaries, whose father, the late Richard Young Bazett, of the Bombay Civil Service, was for twenty years, until his death in 1889, secretary of the Berkshire C.M.S. Association. The other two were Miss Lilian Hill and Miss Jane B. Tobin.

Translations.

During the year the Committee have sought the assistance of several societies, which has been most cheerfully rendered, in printing versions of the Holy Scriptures, the Prayer Book, and other publications, translated by the Society's missionaries, for use in this Mission. In Sagalla, the S.P.C.K. has undertaken the publication of a First Reading Book and an Introduction to the Language, both by Mr. J. A. Wray; and the R.T.S. has published a translation of the Catechism of the C.V.E.S., also by Mr. Wray. In Kigogo, the B. & F.B.S. has undertaken to publish the Books of Ruth and Jonah, and the S.P.C.K. has published the "Peep of Day"; these have been translated by the Rev. J. E. Beverley. In Luganda, the B. & F.B.S. has printed the Epistles to the Corinthians, Thessalonians, and Hebrews, those also to Timothy, Titus and Philemon, and the Epistles of James, Peter, John and Jude; the Books of Exodus and Joshua are in the printers' hands; and the S.P.C.K. has published an edition of the Collects, a book of Hymns, and one of Bible Stories, and a Primer and a Selection of Scripture Texts, all sent home by Mr. G. L. Pilkington. The whole of the New Testament has now been translated into Luganda.

Death of Sultan of Zanzibar.

Seyyid Ali Ben Said, the Sultan of Zanzibar, died in March, 1893, and was succeeded by Hamed Ben Thwain, grandson of Thwain, the fourth brother of the Sultan Seyyid Barghash, who died in 1888.

I. MOMBASA: FRERE TOWN, JILORE, AND RABAI.

The lady recruits mentioned above, namely, the three Miss Bazetts, Miss Hill, and Miss Tobin sailed in the company of the Rev. A. G. and Mrs. Smith, returning from furlough, in October. Mrs. Hooper, who came home in ill-health in July, 1892, returned in February, 1893. Miss E. S. Perrin came home invalided in June, 1892. Miss M. R. Gedge and Miss M. L. Holmes came home on furlough in March, 1893, and the Rev. H. K.

Binns, the Secretary of the Mission, came home in April for conference with the Committee. The Rev. A. G. Smith has been appointed Acting Secretary during Mr. Binns' absence.

Bishop Tucker was very thankful that the delay in his departure up-country enabled him before doing so to make Mombasa. arrangements for the occupation of MOMBASA. Mr. H. F. and Mrs. Gordon took up their abode there in May; and the Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Taylor, the three Miss Bazetts, and Miss Furley have since moved thither. Dr. C. S. and Mrs. Edwards entered into occupation of the new hospital buildings on the island in November.

Frere Town. The Annual Letters of Missionaries at FRERE TOWN all testify to a year of happy united work for the Master. At the beginning of October, special meetings were held for prayer and humiliation before God, seeking for a greater outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the workers and on the people. The Rev. T. S. England writes of these meetings:—

> Special addresses were given each night, and it was a time of much refreshment to us all, Europeans and Natives. Since then we have held a prayer-meeting every Friday evening in the boys' schoolroom, which meeting is thrown open to any one to pray or to testify for Jesus. God has added His blessing, and His Holy Spirit has been working in our midst in a very marked manner.

The Rev. A. G. Smith wrote soon after his return:—

> The first thing which struck me was a large Native prayer-meeting (held every Friday), and it was very refreshing to hear several brethren quietly, simply, and humbly tell how the Lord had helped them to testify for Him before the heathen, some with good success. Again, others would tell how they had fallen, and ask the prayers of all on their behalf. The solemnness of these meetings takes away all feeling of unreality and pride. This meeting, I find, is the outcome of a week of prayer, held after the Bishop's departure for Uganda.

Baptisms. The second mark of progress was the baptism, on Sunday, Oct. 27, of forty adults, who have for a long time been lovingly trained and prayed over. Each candidate has expressed an earnest desire to witness and work for Christ, and they are already giving proof of their sincerity by their words and deeds.

The Bible-class for women, held every Sunday by Miss Gedge and Priscilla Bai, has more than doubled since last year, the class averaging over a hundred members.

Boys' School. Mr. England mentions with thankfulness the return to Frere Town of a number of former pupils of the Boys' School who had left the settlement for the purpose of earning high wages at Mombasa or as caravan porters; they had discovered that the company of the Arabs and Waswahili among whom they were thrown did them harm, and they were glad to return to what they called their "home" at Frere Town. The boys, of their own accord, Mr. England says, set apart one evening of each week for a Women's Work. prayer-meeting, which they conduct themselves. The Work among Women was encouraging. Miss M. C. Brewer reports of the elder girls and the young married women, among whom her work chiefly lies, that several of them turned to God in all sincerity, so far as could be judged, for salvation. The Frere Town branch of the Y.W.C.A. has more than fifty members. Mrs. Gardener has charge of the Dormitory Girls, and she says that some who were formerly the most troublesome are now coming out on the Lord's side.

Jilore.

During his visit to JILORE in March, the Bishop confirmed ten persons, eight of whom belonged to the station, two having accompanied him from Frere Town in order to be married to two young men of the station. All these, the Rev. D. A. L. Hooper says, turned out most satisfactorily. In September, a special blessing rested upon the meetings and services. Mr. Hooper says:—

A spiritual revival.

The Holy Ghost seemed just to fill every member of the Bible Class. One night, after I had taken up an hour, for over three hours the thirteen Natives present kept up an endless song of praise and thanksgiving. The following Sunday we were determined to draw in the net, and so substituted an informal service in the place of our ordinary church service. We invited those under conviction to come out to the communion rail to be dealt with and prayed with. Three were specially carried to the Lord the night before at our prayer-meeting, being named by different individuals. Before the week was out these were all rejoicing, and five others—two had come into the light and found rest on that first night, and two others shortly before. Four of these have been since baptized; the others were baptized before, and included the wife and child of the catechist Paulos, who for some time has worked with Mr. Burt. Those who formerly were regarded as the brightest, including Yohana Gona, say now they never knew what the joy of the Lord was. Others have had their mouths opened and the dumb spirit cast out. Yohana says the Natives of different villages notice the difference in those who go to teach them. The interest is increasing. Others, if not definitely converted, are apparently very near the Kingdom. It is not uncommon now for the meeting held three nights a week to last three hours instead of one as formerly.

Meetings lasting three hours.

Many tribes are represented at Jilore. In addition to the Masai convert referred to in last year's Report, an Unyamwezi lad, a girl from the Congo, a woman from the Soudan—all lately baptized—and a lad from Kikuyu are found there. A strange and degrading practice of mud-eating appears to be a stumbling-block to some of the converts. Mr. Hooper says:—

A degrading heathen practice.

Mud-eating is a habit that binds its slaves quite as fast as tobacco. It is eaten after the meal. One told how many had been on to her, doing all they could to persuade her to give up the practice. She had tried, but had not been successful for long together. But now strength was claimed, and therefore victory won. Her husband made her plaster the whole side of the house, which had been eaten away! Just fancy the devil being able to keep anyone from the joy of the Lord through the love of eating mud, but it is a fact.

The Rev. F. Burt left Jilore in the winter of 1891–2, on account of attacks of fever, and though he returned in the spring he could only remain a few weeks. He spent several months in itinerating, visiting 400 villages, and walking 1,000 miles, making Mwaiba his head-quarters. He says :—

Mwaiba.

People are generally ready to hear us, and to kneel in prayer at the close. Not a few are enthusiastic in expressing their belief in what we say, though often laughing outright at the idea of the resurrection of the body and life everlasting. But as they say, "We laugh for joy in hope of seeing our departed friends."

Rabai.

The congregations at RABAI continue good, especially so at the daily Morning Prayers, at 6.30. The responses have been described by one listening from without the church as resembling a "roar," as each person present at the services attempts (many of the adults cannot yet read their Prayer Books) to respond audibly. The Rev. E. A. Fitch, while thankfully bearing testimony to a general readiness to attend services and classes, and to instances of liberality and evangelistic zeal, is saddened on account of the low spiritual life of the majority of the Christians. He thinks that this is due in part to the fact that Christianity has not cost the people any sacrifice, but has rather been a gain, namely, has brought with it freedom from slavery. The lives of too many of these nominal Christians are a stumbling-block to the neighbouring heathen Wanyika. Miss A. M. Clowes, assisted by Miss M. L. Holmes, had charge of the Girls' School, and Mr. J. Burness of the Boys' School. The ladies give pleasing incidents of their work among the children. Miss Clowes says :—

Work among children.

On Sunday morning, 9–10 o'clock, I have a class of over forty infants, and much enjoy teaching them. The little earnest black faces are so very sweet, some of them, and they try so hard to learn their text and one verse of a hymn. They now know a good many hymns which they have learned on Sundays and week-days in school: "There is a green hill far away," "Jesus, meek and gentle," "Holy Bible! Book divine," "Here we suffer grief and pain," "Around the throne of God in heaven," "Little drops," and several others. They also know how to sing all these hymns.

Miss M. A. Ackerman writes :—

Men, women, and children are now glad to buy clothes and bring their pice or rupees with them ; Miss Holmes has taken this in hand during the past year. Two little fellows came over from Kisimani to buy a coat one day, bringing some pice, but not enough ; and as there is one fixed price, which cannot be altered, they were going sorrowfully away, but seeing me sitting on the step, came and poured out their trouble. They had two madafu (young cocoanuts, fit for drinking), which I bought for a pice each, but still they wanted fifteen more ; after a little talk, and looking at their dear little bright faces, I said I would give them the fifteen pice and they could bring me a fowl or eggs the next day to repay. Much as they wanted the coat, both protested, saying, "they could not bring either fowl or eggs, for they had none ; all they could bring were cocoanuts or madafu." I wish I could picture to you the bare, black little lads, with the tiniest scrap of cloth on, and bright shining black eyes, looking at you so truthfully and yet so wistfully, wanting the coat but repeating, as I gave them the pice, "Bibi, we can only pay back in cocoanuts and madafu." It would melt the hardest heart, and put many a cultured English lad to shame. Very carefully they counted out to Miss Holmes their own pice, then, looking at me, counted out mine, saying at the same time, "These are yours, Bibi, and I will bring you madafu to-morrow." The next day in the afternoon came the little lads, laden with madafu and cocoanuts.

Four Catechists are supported by the Christians at Frere Town and Rabai; they are stationed at Chaa-Ngombe, and Kisimani. A voluntary band of men and women visits the neighbouring villages from Rabai every Sunday. Mr. Burness says:— Voluntary Evangelists.

We meet for prayer at 3 P.M. (at this season, November, 3.45 P.M., because the sun is so fierce), and then we go forth in five bands, sometimes four in number, sometimes less, and we have a number of villages we regularly visit. Sometimes one band will visit as many as five or six groups of houses or small villages. They sing, and then a portion of Scripture is read and explained; and very often a man or woman will tell in their own simple way how once they were in darkness like their hearers, but their teachers (the missionaries) came, and they were taught, and now they know the truth, and so they have come out to tell them; and it is touching to hear these Christians call the heathen people "My sisters," or "My brothers."

Mr. Fitch was married at Rabai to Miss A. M. Clowes on December 12.

II. TAITA AND CHAGGA.

MR. J. A. WRAY returned from furlough at the beginning of 1893, accompanied by Mrs. Wray (née Miss E. K. Robinson), and soon afterwards visited TAITA to ascertain the views of the chiefs and people regarding the reopening of the Mission. He found them very wishful to have him again resident in their midst. Taita.

It was mentioned in last year's Annual Report that Meli, the eldest son of Mandara, was appointed by the German officer in charge of Kilima Njaro to succeed his father in the chieftainship of CHAGGA. The relations between the German officers and this young chief were for some reason far from cordial, and twice before the visit of Bishop Tucker in February, 1892, Dr. Karl Peters, who was in charge, requested the Rev. A. R. Steggall and Dr. E. J. Baxter to withdraw from Mochi to a place of safety, as a conflict was considered imminent. Fighting did take place in June, and resulted unhappily in the death of two German officers. It is clear from Mr. Steggall's letters that the missionaries used their utmost efforts as peacemakers, both before and after the fighting of June, and indeed their pacific influence was recognised by the German Governor at the coast, Baron Von Soden, who wrote inviting Mr. Steggall to endeavour to persuade Meli to make his submission. Nevertheless, in September, the following telegram was received by Bishop Tucker from the British Consul-General:— Chagga.

September 6, 1892.—German Government, both here and in Europe, have made further strong representations on subject of support given to Missionaries requested by Government to leave Mochi.

Natives at Mochi by mere presence of Mission. No further specific accusations are made, but German Government announce that they have decided, for the sake of their prestige, that the English Mission cannot be permitted to remain at Mochi. If the Mission will at once spontaneously withdraw from Mochi, it is invited to settle in any other part of the German sphere, and even at Morang on Kilima Njaro. If the Mission do not withdraw spontaneously, the Government state that it will bring trouble and war on all that district. Please telegraph to me fully whether you will accept the German offer. I need hardly point out that a peaceful and friendly solution is greatly to be desired.—PORTAL.

The Bishop replied as follows :—

September 8, 1892.—In order to save the Wamochi from the war which is threatened in case the Mission continues in its present position in Chagga, we, at the request of the German Government and the expressed desire of Her Majesty's Government, undertake to attempt what may prove to be a most dangerous and difficult task—that of withdrawal; reserving to ourselves the right of claiming compensation for the value of our Mission buildings, which are nearly new, and also the cost of removal, and any loss that may be incurred in the operation.—TUCKER.

Mission transferred to Taveta.

Accordingly Mr. Steggall and Mr. A. McGregor, the latter of whom had arrived at Mochi in July (Dr. Baxter left Mochi for the coast in May), removed to Taveta in the course of October, accompanied by fifteen youths, of whom two only were natives of Mochi. It is a satisfaction to the Committee that the Leipzig Evangelical Lutheran Mission propose to occupy the vacated station at Mochi.

TAVETA was chosen as the new station for two reasons. Mr. Steggall had invariably received a kindly welcome from the people when he visited them from time to time from Mochi, and, as mentioned in previous Reports, the first convert of the Mission to receive baptism was a youth of Taveta. Then, Taveta is within the British sphere of influence, and in view of the treatment experienced at Mochi this seemed an advantage of some importance. Baron Von Soden has since complained to Sir Gerald Portal that supplies of ammunition have been received by Meli from the Mission Station at Taveta. The Consul-General pointed out to the German Governor the insufficient nature of the evidence on which these charges were made; but Lord Rosebery, in communicating them to the Committee, expressed the opinion that, inasmuch as they were evidently believed in by the Germans, and as an undesirable state of friction was thus created, it was worthy of the Committee's serious consideration whether the Society's station should not be removed from Taveta to a place at a greater distance from Mochi, or, at all events, that Mr. Steggall should be asked to withdraw from the frontier district. In deference to the wishes of the Foreign Office, the Committee asked Mr. Steggall to withdraw temporarily from Taveta, although they had every confidence that the charges against him would prove unfounded. The Committee have not thought it their duty to accede at present to the suggestion to give up Taveta as a Mission station.

III. USAGARA AND USUKUMA.

The Rev. A. N. and Mrs. Wood came home on furlough from Mamboia, and the Rev. J. E. Beverley from Kisokwe, in July, 1892. Mr. C. A. Günther resided at Mamboia for a few months after Mr. Wood's departure, but, being a German subject, he found that he would become liable to be called upon for military service after six months' residence in German territory, and he therefore removed to Frere Town. Mr. and Mrs. D. Deekes arrived at Mamboia in the summer. The Rev. H. and Mrs. Cole sailed in October, to return after furlough to Kisokwe.

Most of the thirty-five baptized Christians at Mamboia are young men, and Mr. Deekes says they are zealous in making known to others the message of God's love. Just before leaving, Mr. Wood wrote :— Mamboia.

You will be glad to hear that the female catechumens are increasing, and that the young men are not ashamed to own their Lord or to proclaim the good news they have heard. Last Sunday, as they were out preaching by themselves, they met with opposition, and it was very refreshing to hear them tell God all about it in our prayer-meeting. There is such a simple, matter-of-fact way about them which is very nice. Our prayer-meetings are always better when they meet with opposition. I can always tell how they have got on by their prayers. Take, for instance, the following as a typical expression : "O good and great Lord, we went to such a village and told the people a few of Thy words, but they took no heed, and refused to listen ; they even despised the good news. O Lord, open their hearts ; wake them out of sleep : have mercy on them. Give them Thy good Spirit to draw them to Thee. We were all in error and darkness until our teachers came with words of life," &c. Prayer-meetings.

We have had great excitement here lately. A lion caught a man near our house, and partly ate him. All cultivation at once ceased, and a few of the bravest hunters tried to follow it, but their courage failed. Not knowing what to do, they thought perhaps the European could kill it ; so our head-chief sent his son with an earnest request that I would rid the land of such a monster. I gave him a little strychnine, and directed him how to use it. The result was that the next morning the lion was found dead. Messrs. Pratley, Günther, and myself went down to see it. It was a very large male lion, measuring, from tip of nose to root of tail, 8 feet, and from tip of nose to end of tail, 10½ feet. The crowds of people were very demonstrative around the dead lion, and all seemed to look upon me as a great hero, and said I had saved them, for had the lion lived they would not have been able to cultivate. All the people said it was an old man-eater. The Natives buried the carcase of the lion ; but the hyænas came during the night and had a feast, to their sorrow, for ten of them have been found dead. The people cannot understand it at all : one lion and ten hyænas with less than a teaspoonful of white-looking stuff, like salt, as they describe it. A man-eater disposed of.

At Mpwapwa the Rev. J. C. Price baptized eight converts, two of whom belonged to Kisokwe. He gives the following account of the service :— Mpwapwa.

The baptism was an impressive ceremony, and, although very few

An impressive baptism.

Wagogo responded to our invitation to be present, the report of it caused quite a sensation. After service in the church, we went to the river, where a place had been deepened in the sandy bed for the purpose. After prayer, singing, and a short address, the Christians took their places on one side of the river, and the candidates and every one else on the opposite bank. I then asked them the usual questions, explaining that the "works of the devil" included all their heathen customs, rites, and beliefs, and after each had given a satisfactory answer, I stood in the water and called them to me one by one. They knelt down in the water, and, after the baptismal formula, were put completely under the water; then after being signed with the cross, went over to join the band of Christians on the other side. There were four young men, two women, and two girls.

Mr. Price mentions an instance of indiscreet zeal on the part of some of the Christian young men:—

Indiscreet zeal.

A large procession of people passed one day on their way to one of their sacred places for the purpose of building a tiny grass hut (their apology for a temple) and make offerings to the gods. The young fellows came to me (one of them the late chief's son) saying they were going off to protest against this folly. I did not know exactly what they meant to do. However, they rushed off, and in the presence of all the people set fire to the "temple" they had just erected, and scattered the offerings placed therein. Of course the people were in a great rage, and threatened all sorts of things. At last they called a meeting of the head-men, and they had to appear and give an account of themselves. The people wanted them to pay a fine, but they refused to do this, so at last they let them go, saying, "Well, you worship your God as you like, only let us alone to follow our customs and worship our gods in our way." Of course the matter did not really end there. One young man (a catechumen) was told that if he got baptized they would take his wife from him, and tie him up, or drive him away. He said he would rather give up his wife than his Saviour!

Both Christians and inquirers have to put up with a good deal of persecution in a small way. They are looked upon as fools, and told that when people are baptized their hearts are taken out of their bodies, and they are no longer Wagogo.

In March, 1893, Mr. Price wrote as follows of a visit he had paid to Ugogo:—

I have paid another visit to Ugogo. This time I was sent for by the chief of Ibwijili. He had sent for me in December, when I was unable to go; now again a deputation came entreating me to go. The small-pox has been making great havoc, and I knew he wanted me to go and vaccinate his people. I told them I was unable to do this as my lymph had run out. This would not satisfy them—I must go in any case and tell them the word of God. I found the people wonderfully prepared to listen to the Gospel. There was a terrible lot of sickness besides the small-pox, especially frightful ulcers. I was very busy trying to doctor the poor people till my supply of medicines ran out. On the Sunday I was there nearly 1,000 people assembled to hear the Gospel. They listened very eagerly. I had two of the young men from here with me, who also spoke, so that we were preaching for nearly three hours. After we had delivered our message, I asked who of them really wanted to turn to God—to repent and believe in Christ as their Saviour. Immediately nearly the whole crowd rose to their feet, and, stretching out both hands imploringly to heaven, shouted, "We repent, O God. Jesus Christ, save us, help us." I had never seen anything like it. I then prayed, and they repeated the Lord's Prayer after me. After this, taking them at their word, I said, "If you truly repent, God will forgive and save you and give you another life, better than this, which is full of evil, sickness, and trouble. Then if you want God to be your Father you must live like His children, and give up hating, fighting, and killing others —love one another, love all men." To this they replied, "Yes, we will now throw away our weapons." Later in the day I overheard them talking; one said, "Ah, when he came and told us these things before, we made light of it, now it is not so." Another said, "Yes, he makes our hearts white."

A heathen audience of nearly 1,000 people calling on Jesus Christ.

Some apprehension of an attack by the Wahehe on Mpwapwa was entertained in October. They had killed a German officer and destroyed a number of villages. Mr. Price wrote: "They cannot, however, do anything more than our God allows them to do. I am not in the least anxious."

Kisokwe. KISOKWE was without a resident missionary for several months after the departure of the Rev. J. E. Beverley in June until the arrival of Mr. J. H. Briggs in October. Mr. Cole wrote in December, soon after his return:—

Our little church cannot contain all the people who come on Sundays, and we shall be glad when we have a more commodious place of worship. The population has greatly increased, and the Wagogo seem more desirous to become Christians than heretofore. Polygamy is, of course, the great curse. The small-pox has carried away a great many from the neighbouring districts, and it has now found its way into the Ugogo Country.

Nassa. The work at NASSA, on the Speke Gulf, at the south of Lake Victoria, made considerable progress during the year. The late Rev. J. V. Dermott wrote in April, 1892, a few weeks before his death:—

You will, I am sure, be pleased to hear that the work of the Lord seems to be prospering here. We have only re-occupied the station about a year, and yet the change for the better which has come over the place and people is truly remarkable, and makes our hearts rejoice. Our dear brethren, Messrs. Deekes and Walker, had not worked here in vain in former years; they tried to show the Natives that the missionaries were their friends, and those who live near the station, and even for many miles distant, have learnt the lesson. Instead of seeing the backs of people steadily disappearing as we enter the different villages, we are now greeted in a friendly and respectful manner—even the children run out to salute us. This, you may think, is not much. True! but, thank God, it is not all. Before Mr. Deekes left I used to go with him on his visits to the villages, and listen whilst he told them something of the story of redeeming love. We seldom had large meetings, and they were at all times impromptu. Now, however, we have regular services in our village every morning and night, to which a few outsiders come, i.e., people not living in our village; but on Sunday mornings now we have quite encouraging attendances of people from distances. Yesterday, for example, between ninety and a hundred came in the morning; then in the afternoon we invited all to join us at a service in the chief's village; at this meeting there were about eighty present. We are not a little pleased to find that the chief over this district is a most regular attendant at our daily service, although he does not at present show any great yearning after the Truth.

Change for the better.

Missionaries respected and trusted.

On Sunday mornings, so as to make it generally known that it is the day of rest, we fly a "white flag" with the words "Day of Rest" written on it in Kisukuma. Then about an hour before service we send a boy out with a native drum to call the people to church. A bell would, perhaps, be better, but we haven't one, having sent the one we did have to Uganda.

A white flag raised on Sundays.

Field work discontinued on the Sabbath.

Now what has encouraged us so much lately is the fact that on the Sunday all the people cease cultivating within an area of three or four miles; and for the last month or two we have not seen a single man out in the fields with his spade, although this is the season for hoeing. They do not all come to service, far from it; but we must not be in too great a hurry; they are learning gradually, but let us hope all the more surely, some truths of God's Word. They are a terribly dull tribe, these Wasakuma; it takes them a long time to take in a single idea, so different to the Waganda and coast-men, but they make up in physical strength for what they lack mentally; and besides they are good-natured, and willing for the most part to learn, and that compensates for a good deal.

And Mr. E. H. Hubbard, writing in December, said :—

Were a stranger to appear amongst us, he might wonder what has been done to make known God's Word to these poor degraded Wasakuma. He would go to the village and see hundreds of almost naked savages, probably drinking pombe and engaged in their wild dances, while around the huts facing the cornfields and the lake would be found little houses built to contain the offerings for the evil spirits of the land and lake. Were he to stop from making further inquiries, I am afraid he would be very disappointed and think our work had been in vain. I am thankful to say it is not so, for during the fifteen months I have been here a great change has taken place, both with the people at large and especially over a few individuals. A year ago we thought if fifty came to our little services, including our own people, that our work was progressing. Now we usually get between 400 and 500, and often many more. Sunday work has almost altogether ceased, and now, instead of digging in the fields and fishing on that day, we get a large number come to the mission village to talk about the words of God. The day is now regarded by all as a day of rest.

Waganda teachers.

Three Waganda teachers, named respectively Natanieli, Bartolomayo, and Simeoni, were very helpful, especially Natanieli, in the services and classes, and also in translation work; good progress was made with a Wasakuma translation of St. Matthew's Gospel and of the Prayer Book. These teachers returned to Uganda in the autumn. Mr. Hubbard wrote of them :—

I do thank God for their stay here. Natanieli has been the right-hand of the Mission, and I shall miss him much. I trust the brethren in Buganda will try and send over two others, especially as I cannot expect the Bishop and his party to arrive at Nassa much before next April. Two days ago there was a very sad accident happened to one of the boys, who was ready for baptism. He and a few other boys from the Mission were bathing when a huge crocodile seized and carried him off. It cast quite a gloom over us, for we all loved the dear little fellow very much. I believe he was ready for his summons, and so, as far as we know, he is the first Msukuma to enter the Saviour's presence. It was only last week I went and begged the boy's parents to allow him to stay on. They wished him to return to his old life again.

A candidate for baptism carried off by a crocodile.

Services were regularly held in neighbouring villages, and occasionally itinerations were made. It was during one of these itinerating tours that Mr. Dermott caught the fever which ended fatally on April 24. In his last letter home he said :—

Yesterday, however (Sunday), I was going to a certain village to hold a service, and just outside it saw a most interesting sight. There were two travelling blacksmiths making spear-heads; they had come from the Majita hills, about 100 miles distant (or more) by road, carrying their implements with them, very much like travelling tinkers at home. Having chosen a nice shady spot under a tree, they had made a charcoal fire, which one man was blowing with a pair of bellows, made entirely of skins (not of skin and wood, like the one Deekes has taken home), whilst his friend forged the iron into the required shape. What surprised me most was to see that they possessed a well-made hammer and a pair of blacksmith's tongs. Not knowing they were Wajita, I said to them, "To-day is the day of rest, and not for work; you ought not to work," and then passed on, but was very much pleased on returning to find that they had put out the fire, left off work, and had evidently attended the service. Travelling blacksmiths observing Sunday.

Mr. Hubbard's loneliness was relieved by short visits from the Rev. R. H. Walker, Dr. Wright, and Mr. Smith en route from Uganda to the coast in July and October, and from Mr. Pilkington, who crossed the lake on a health trip, also in October.

IV. UGANDA.

Some account has already been given in the introductory remarks on this Mission of the general anxiety caused in England by the announcement of the intention of the Imperial British East Africa Company to withdraw from Uganda, and by the uncertainty as to the intentions of the Government regarding the maintenance of the British occupation. The Company's resolution to retire was made known to the Society in May, 1892. Less than two months before, at the end of March, the Company had suggested to the Committee the expediency of the Society's caravans to the interior adopting the Company's route. It would seem probable, therefore, that their determination was largely influenced by the intelligence which was received by telegram from Zanzibar in April (see Annual Report 1891–2, page 58) of a civil conflict which took place in Mengo in the previous January.

On the other hand, there is reason to believe, as will appear below, that the news received in Uganda of the Company's previous intention in 1891 to withdraw (see Report for last year, page 41) was one of the causes which led to the Mengo conflict.

The sad and painful accounts of the civil war which in due course reached this country were read by the Committee with sincere sorrow, which was, however, mitigated by the entire confirmation of their conviction that the differences between the rival native factions were political rather than religious. The earliest report giving particulars of the war which reached Europe was that of Monseigneur Hirth, the Roman Catholic Bishop, which was dated from Bukoba, in German territory, on February 10. The reports from the Society's missionaries were not received until the end of July, two months later, owing to the communications viâ the Company's route having been closed The unhappy civil war of January, 1892.

by hostile Natives who held the passes of the Nile. The letters of Monseigneur Hirth, Captain Lugard, and of the C.M.S. Missionaries, were printed in the Intelligencer for July, August, and September, 1892. The course of events appears to have been as follows. On December 9, 1891, Mr. James Martin reached Uganda with a caravan of supplies for the Company's forces, and a steel sailing boat to navigate the lake. The moral effect upon Mwanga of this new accession of strength was to convince him of the stability and permanence of the Company's position, and to dispose him to espouse their side in lieu of that of the French priests, which he had hitherto favoured, and which was more or less alien to the Company's influence. In his mind this change of political alliance involved a change also of religion, and accordingly in the course of December Mwanga proposed to become a Protestant. Mr. G. L. Pilkington wrote on December 27, 1891:—

Mwanga's proposal to become a Protestant.

> This morning, about 6.30, I heard Henry calling to one of my boys. I answered him, and, getting out of bed and putting on some clothes, called him in. He and Sembera, Samwili, Mika, and Stefano had come to tell me that the king wished to become a Protestant, having quarrelled with the Roman Catholics. I took them into Roscoe's house, and we consulted about it. The king had sent them to us. We told them finally to tell the king that in so far as the matter was a political one, it was none of our business. . . . We further advised them to do nothing till they had consulted with Captain Williams. We then had prayer with them, and they went to Captain Williams. He, we hear, will not allow the king at present to become a Protestant, as it would, he says, mean war, and an alliance between the Roman Catholics and Mohammedans. We shall do nothing more in the matter at present. The king's proposal comes, I suppose, only from political motives. Really we have not much to do with it.
> I went to the king, and asked to see him alone, as I had things to speak of which I thought he would rather hear in private. He turned out all his chiefs, keeping one man only with him. I then explained what we thought of his proposed turning Protestant; I told him that his soul was of no more value in our sight or in God's than that of the meanest of his subjects, and that we wanted real, not nominal Protestants. I reminded him of his father Mutesa's opinion, that "the English had the truth." I began this by saying, "Your father, Mutesa, was a clever man," to which he answered the single word, "Kitalo," which means a marvel. I finally told him to do what he believed God wished him to do.

Mr. Pilkington's interview with Mwanga.

The Rev. G. K. Baskerville gives some further particulars, and narrates the sequel:—

> On December 9 a large caravan for the Company had arrived, bringing a great quantity of ammunition. This had put the king into a great state of excitement, and the day after Christmas Day the king sent a message to the Katikiro, saying that he wished to become a Protestant; he saw that the power was on the Protestant side, a large caravan had arrived, Captain Lugard had returned as far as Budu with a large number of Soudanese soldiers, recovered from the two regiments of Emin Pasha's, left after Stanley had passed on to the coast. And he had been put in a further state of alarm by the Kimbugwe, the leading Roman Catholic chief, sending a party of men to destroy all his bhang pipes. These men had burned one of the king's houses and killed four men. That night he asked for a Protestant guard to stand over his place. The Roman Catholics then came to our party, proposing to depose the king and put one of Kalema's sons, Mwanga's nephew, on to the throne. To this the Protestants would not agree. Mwanga was bad, but what could they hope from a boy who had been in training at the Roman Catholic station of Bukumbe, near Usambiro? Accordingly, the king saw that the time was come for the weather-cock to shift. He was not, however, to be allowed to change his religion so easily. The French Bishop, the plan of deposing him being frustrated, thought that it would never do to lose the king from the Papist party, and went out and put the enormity of his sin before him, exhorting him to come to confession. "First," said Mwanga, "I must have a present. My men have been killed and my house burned." "All right," says Monseigneur, "you shall have forty tusks of ivory." "As soon as I get them," says the king, "you shall confess me."

A proposal to depose the king.

On December 31, Captain Lugard returned to Mengo from his expedition to Unyoro, accompanied by about a hundred of Emin Pasha's soldiers, who had stayed behind when Mr. Stanley escorted their leader to the coast. About the same time, or a few days later, a party of newly arrived priests reached Mengo, who communicated to their people the information about the proposed retirement of the Company. Captain Lugard wrote on February 11 as to this:—

Captain Lugard returns to Mengo from Unyoro.

On January 12, the French Bishop, who had gone to meet a party of newly arrived priests, reached Mengo. Though our mail was supposed to be leaving in a day or two, he despatched urgent mails viâ Usukuma without waiting for it. Almost immediately after this date matters began to assume a critical aspect here. There had been hitherto every prospect of continued peace, but now difficulties and quarrels began to spring up daily between the two parties, and, as far as I could judge, the trouble in every instance arose from aggressions on the part of the Catholics. This, with other reasons which I cannot detail here, induced me to believe that the Bishop's party had brought the news of the announcement in English papers of the intended withdrawal from Uganda, and that they had for some reason used this information in such a way as to bring on the crisis. Matters culminated in a cold-blooded murder of a Protestant by a Catholic in the streets of Mengo. My urgent appeals to the king for justice in the matter were entirely set aside. The king declined to punish the murderer in any way, and Dualla, who conveyed a second protest from me, was told openly in the Burza that if I interfered to see justice done my soldiers should be killed to a man, Kampala would be looted, and we should all lose our lives. Such language in Burza was an entirely new departure, and has never been used since I arrived in Uganda. At night the French party beat the war-drums, and next day, January 24, got under arms. They had been massing in great numbers in Mengo for some days previously. While still engaged in negotiations with the king, and endeavouring by every means to avert war, the battle was precipitated by an attack on the part of the French party. They greatly outnumbered our force. A very large number (the main body, I believe) charged down towards Kampala, but I drove them back with the Maxim, and the final result was their defeat. They fled to the islands, and unfortunately managed to secure the person of the king.

News of the Company's intended withdrawal reaches Uganda.

In his Report to the Directors of the Company, Captain Lugard wrote more fully of the events which immediately preceded the war. He said:—

On Wednesday, January 20, the Protestants came to me in great excitement to report that a man had been murdered and his gun taken by the Catholics in the streets of Mengo; that a party of the latter had collected and defied the Protestants to remove the corpse, and that a fight would have been the consequence, involving a general war, had not the Katikiro called off his men and come to appeal to me. I at once went to the king, and was kept waiting a long time outside—a mark of discourtesy. I insisted on the corpse being at once removed, and this was ordered. I then reminded the king that since the first day I had come to Mengo I had told him strongly that in every case of murder the murderer should be executed, since one such outrage was enough to plunge the whole country in war. If there had been provocation let the others be severely flogged, but an execution was necessary as an example. He was very civil, and said it was quite true I had always said this, and it was quite right, but it was proper the evidence should be heard first. He therefore sent for the man who had killed the other. A very long delay ensued, during which there was much laughing and chatting, and as only Catholics were present it was obvious to me that they had already settled with the king, satisfactorily to themselves, how the judgment should be given. Pleading indisposition I left the baraza, leaving Dualla and my confidential interpreter, both unbiassed Mohammedans, to hear all that passed and report to me. The report was very unsatisfactory. The murder was quite unjustified, but the king gave judgment for the Catholic side, not even exacting a fine or any lesser penalty than death. Dualla expostulated strongly, and, for fear he should be mistaken in the evidence, repeated all he had heard, and asked if he had made no mistake. He then said that he knew I would be much vexed on hearing the evidence and the king's decision; these reached me in the evening (20th). I warned the Church Missionary Society the same evening of the imminence of war, and offered them an asylum in Kampala if trouble came. Next day (21st) I sent a letter to the king by the hand of Dualla, telling him the decision was unjust, and begging him to reconsider it; that the Protestants were exasperated at this and other unredressed grievances, and that if justice were not done there would be war, and I thought the Protestants were justified in their demands for justice. Dualla was kept waiting a long time, and had much difficulty in getting an audience at all. My letter was read, only Roman Catholics being present. On every former occasion when I have been compelled to speak strongly there has been the greatest anxiety exhibited to avoid war, and the king above all has invariably shown the greatest excitement and fear. On this occasion, by Dualla's account, an entirely different attitude was shown.

The king said calmly that he had made his decision and would not depart from it, and if war came it was my fault for taking the side of the Protestants. The Catholics present (only two of the biggest chiefs and one minor one were in the baraza) went further. They said if I sent any soldiers to enforce my judgment every one of them should be killed; I should lose all my goods, Kampala would be destroyed, and all the Europeans should die. Dualla, in a long argument, proved how strictly impartial had been my attitude for the whole year past, and he assured them that it was they, and not we, who would lose their property and their lives in case of war. Next day (22nd) I received a long letter from the king, giving a long list of grievances of the Catholics since I had left Mengo, and couched in uncompromising terms. This was written by the Kauta, I think. At the end was an abjectly humble appeal that I would give him (Mwanga) three days to tie up his things and run away before the war. I replied I had been strictly impartial, and if justice was not done there would be trouble, but that I deplored a war which would utterly ruin the country. On the 23rd, seeing that the Catholics appeared to have made up their minds to fight, I wrote to the Roman Catholic Bishop warning him of the state of things, and asking him to use his influence to prevent so terrible a war.

Captain Lugard says further, quoting now from his reply to charges advanced by the French Government, based on the letters of the priests :—

Monseigneur's reply held out no hopes of his exerting his influence in the way I had asked. My Report relates in full how my authority as the Administrator of Uganda was set at nought, how this action was followed by personal insult and open threats. At this juncture the onus of action lay on me, and I have no hesitation in saying that in honour I would have been compelled to take the initiative, for I had clearly expressed my view that the Protestant party were in the right in their demands for justice, and the murderer must be arrested and brought before me. The Protestant party, finding that the matter had now become one between myself and the king and Catholics, and being the weaker party threatened with annihilation unless I supported them, and withal unprepared for war, were only too glad to leave the onus on me. The question, therefore, is admittedly whether the Catholics began the fight or I myself did—not the Protestants.

I emphatically state that it was the Catholic party who entirely and of purpose provoked the war—gratuitously taking the onus off my hands. I had understood they would fight if I attempted to arrest the murderer, but so keen were they on fighting, and so confident of success, that they would not wait for any action on my part, but precipitated the conflict absolutely unnecessarily. I myself saw a group of Catholics fire a shot close by Kampala with the sole object of starting the fight, and several such isolated shots I heard in the direction of the Catholics. These are a challenge, and also at a moment of intense excitement are calculated to make the opposing force think the fighting has begun, and so bring on a general engagement. At this time I was still doing my utmost to avert the war. The Catholics also brandished flags in the manner of the Waganda in challenging to battle. As far as I could see, the Protestants remained singularly quiet, and in no way responded to the challenges. For the Catholic party were confident of victory, while the Protestants knew it would be a struggle for them for very life.

The Roman Catholic party provoked the war.

After the battle the bulk of the people owning allegiance to the Roman Catholic chiefs fled to Budu, but the king with a few chiefs and some of the people escaped to his old asylum on Bulungugi Island in Murchison Creek. The French Bishop and several priests found refuge after the battle—having declined the proffered protection before—in the fort at Kampala, where the English missionaries were during the fighting on the 24th. After a few days the Bishop was allowed to follow the king, on the understanding that he would persuade him to return to the capital. But Captain Lugard suspected that instead of fulfilling his promise the Bishop used his influence in the opposite direction. The Captain wrote from Kampala in February :—

Retreat of Mwanga.

I offered to reinstate the king and the French party in all their former positions and influence and to forget the war. I received constant letters from the king in reply, saying he was most anxious to return. However, Monseigneur, the head of the Catholic Mission, who advocated a complete separation of the two parties, went down to the islands where the king and chiefs were, and I heard from various sources which I could not doubt (Stokes' men, unbiassed Mohammedans, and several personal adherents of the king), that the Bishop had used all his influence to prevent the king's return. He had promised me he would do all in his power to bring him back. He had also told me he was going to Sese, instead of which he remained in the islands with the king. Finally, we were forced to attack the islands, and we drove out the enemy with much loss. They have now concentrated in Budu.

Mwanga's return to the capital.

At the end of March, however, Mwanga returned to Mengo and made his reconciliation with Captain Lugard, and a treaty was signed the same day by both parties, the king acknowledging the suzerainty of the Company and the Company agreeing to afford protection. Mr. Baskerville says in his journal:—

March 30.—The king has come. The people crowded off this morning to meet him at Musongo, the landing-place. We were walking out about four by the market place—the flag of the Company had been hoisted this morning, and we had walked that way to see it—when we noticed great crowds and a terrific drumming, which we knew meant the near approach of the king. We followed the crowds who were pressing up to welcome him. Pilkington, who had gone earlier, saw him pass the capital on his way to the camp, and saw him embrace the Katikiro as if (he said) he had been a long-lost brother. We met Pilkington at the top of Mengo, and went on together to the camp. I have not said that two of the priests came yesterday. We met them just outside the camp and went in together. The king looked very dirty, with a scrubby beard and unwashed garments—a wreck of majesty. Capt. Lugard gave him a musical-box and some cloth. He shook hands with us quite warmly. Only two big chiefs have come back, and the others have all fled, being afraid for their lives. The two who have come were the best of them.

The Mohammedan faction submits to Captain Lugard.

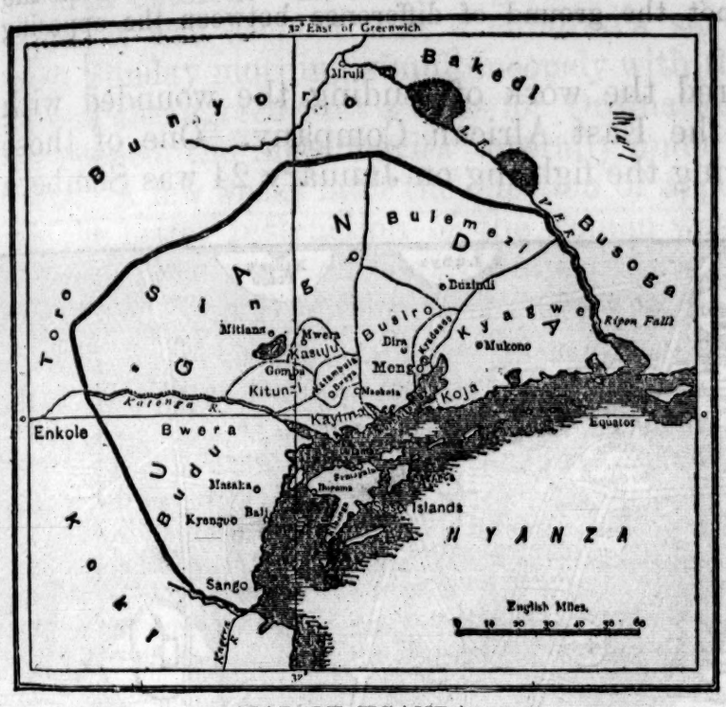
On May 28 the Mohammedan King, Mbogo, a brother of the late King Mtesa, submitted to Captain Lugard and placed himself entirely in his hands, renouncing all pretension to royalty. Captain Lugard had the satisfaction before he left Uganda to come home, of making a division of the country which appeared to satisfy all the Native parties. To the Roman Catholics the rich western province of Budu was assigned, the Protestants received the eastern and northern provinces including the capital, and the Mohammedans obtained three small provinces in the middle of the country.

Division of the country.

The map on the next page shows the divisions of the country, and the following account of the chieftainships will be found helpful in following the story of the Mission. A few of the most important chiefs have no district under their rule. The Katikiro, Apollo Kagwa, and the Kimbugwe, Simei Lwakalenzi, are such: the former is the principal chief in the land, and the latter has rights and properties in the districts of several of the territorial chiefs. The Sekibobo has the district of Kyagwe; Nikodemo Sebwato, formerly the Pokino, a warm friend of the English missionaries, is the incumbent of this office. The Kago has Kyadondo; Paulo Bakunga, an earnest Christian, holds the office, Mr. Walker says, "simply from the desire to establish Christianity in the country." The Kangao is over Bulemezi; the present chief, Zakariya Kizito, is an able man and a consistent Christian; he accompanied Captain Lugard to the Albert Lake. The Mugema, Yosuwa Kati, a man of quiet

Distribution of offices.

Christian influence, is over Busiro. Mika Sematimba, who accompanied Mr. Walker to England in 1892, is under the Mugema by virtue of his office as the Makamba. The Kasuju, Katambala, and the Kitunzi own Busuju, Butambala and Butunzi respectively; these offices are held by Mohammedans. The Kayima, Tomasi Mukasi, a recent convert, has Singo lya Kayima. The Mukwenda has the large district of Singo; Yona Waswa, the chief who holds this office, is the only one of the important chiefs who has visited Zanzibar. The Pokino has Budu, the best cultivated district in Uganda; in the summer of 1892 this was held by Seboa, a Roman Catholic chief, "a quiet, kind-hearted man, much respected by the Protestants," Mr. Walker says.



MAP OF UGANDA.

The explanation of the party spirit and strife which culminated in the lamentable civil war is probably to be found in the following words of the Rev. R. H. Walker:— Explanation of the party spirit.

> I have given the subject much consideration, and I am sure I have fairly got to the bottom of it. When Mutesa was king here and one religion was dominant in the land, there was only one party in the country, and the king was at the head of it. Then if anyone disagreed he was promptly sat upon. No combination was possible. There was no bond to unite men to act together against the king. When religion was more taught, then there was a subject on which men could unite. A bond was then formed, parties grew up, the Mohammedan and Christian sections united and overthrew the king. Then these two parties overthrew each other, and to this day the whole country is torn to pieces. Each body of men wants the power of the country to be divided amongst themselves. They agree to their friends receiving good posts because they only hold their own by the help of their friends. The bitterness that exists between the various parties is not from religious differences at all, but because men belong to different parties; and as their own party prospers or is depressed, so they themselves suffer or advance. The desire for wealth and power in the land is at the root of the bitterness and the fights. Many men are drawn into these unchristian quarrels because they stand by and see their friends ill-used. The head of the Roman Catholic or French party begins to eat away the power that by right belongs to the Protestant or English party; then resistance is offered, and the whole party is involved in what in the first instance was the personal grievance of one of its members. Thus, whilst religion is the ground of agreement between the members of the various parties, it is not the ground of difference between the opposing parties.

Religion the ground of agreement, but not the ground of difference.

Dr. Wright shared the work of tending the wounded with Dr. Macpherson of the East African Company. One of those who were killed during the fighting on January 24 was Sembera PLAN OF MENGO AND ITS IMMEDIATE NEIGHBOURHOOD.

Death of Sembera Mackay.

Mackay, one of the earliest twelve members of the Church Council, and one of the six Lay Readers appointed by Bishop Tucker in 1891. Mr. Baskerville wrote:—

One of the first guns fired had killed Sembera Mackay, our best and ablest man and most deeply-taught Christian. He had gone to find a guard for our place, and, as he was passing some houses where some of the king's slaves lived, he was shot at and died almost immediately—dear, brave Sembera, whom every one loved, and of whom I never heard a disparaging word, has entered into his reward—and we are left to sorrow over his loss, and to trust our God to supply his place. Two other Church elders have been wounded, and two Protestant chiefs, one badly so.

Services and Classes.

The public excitement during January, and for some time afterwards, was a serious hindrance to the pursuance of evangelistic and pastoral work. Nevertheless, at no time were the classes and services intermitted. Even on the morning of Sunday, January 24, although services were impossible, Mr. J. Roscoe, with Sembera Mackay and a few others, met for a Bible reading.

All arrangements for services and classes were made by the Church Council. At a meeting of this body held at the end of April, it was decided that a children's service should be held each Sunday morning simultaneously with the service for adults. It was also agreed that a class for Ordination candidates should be opened, the missionaries severally undertaking definite subjects. A few weeks later the question of appointing female elders for the better instruction of the women was discussed, and the following six were chosen: Rudia, Kawa, Ada Dumonde, Loi, Sara, and Sara Bweindee. The two first named are princesses, cousins of Mwanga; and the last but one, Sara, is the wife of Henry Wright Duta. Mr. Walker says :—

Class for Ordination candidates.

The meetings of the Church elders are opened with prayer by each member in turn. Then matters are discussed, a record of them is kept, and the meeting closes again with prayer. The meetings are held at the houses of the members in turn. All matters concerning the work are brought up at these meetings. The women hold their meetings separately. Their work was to help in teaching the girls and women, and to look into the private life of the women who came for baptism. They also informed the Church elders if women came to the Lord's Supper without the approval of the body of Christians.

Meetings of the Church Council.

Mr. Walker, during his few months at Mengo, after his arrival there from Budu in February, and before his leaving for furlough in June, instructed a class of about twenty women for two hours daily. He wrote :—

Class for Women.

We are reading St. Luke's Gospel. Each in turn reads the Swahili, and translates it into Luganda. I explain, as I am able, as we go on. I am attempting all this in Luganda, as none of them understand Swahili when it is spoken. I am very fond of these good women, and they take so kindly my mistakes and do all they can to help me. From not being in any way afraid of them I can try my powers of speech to the utmost. I find that men cannot wait till I have found the word I want to use, but these patient souls are most kind. They are the wives of the Church elders and leading Christians in Buganda. Many of them have been baptized, and they can all read.

The building of the new church on the top of the hill Namirembe (see plan of Mengo on previous page), referred to last year, was much interrupted by the war, but as soon as order was established the chiefs and people returned to the work. In May as many as 500 people are said to have been engaged on the building. Mr. Pilkington calculates that its erection would have cost £1,000 at the rate of 3*d*. per day per man. July 31 was the day fixed by the elders for the opening services. A national religious song was composed by Mr. Ashe for the occasion. Mr. Baskerville thus describes the church and the opening services :—

New church on Namirembe Hill.

A huge barn is the nearest thing to it outside, and inside a forest of poles six feet apart. There are three doors and three windows each side; north and south ends have respectively three windows and two windows and a door. At north end are two vestries in the corners, between these the table is to be; about twenty feet from north wall, flanking the table, and about twelve feet in front, are raised reading and preaching inclosures. To the east of the pulpit is a daïs for the king. The Bishop will sit by the communion table. We must try and make him a chair.

A forest of poles.

Opening services.

The church was crowded morning and afternoon, and we calculate it holds about 3,000. In the morning a great crowd sat outside, insomuch that Dr. Wright, who arrived late, thought the congregation had not yet been admitted. I got up there about 8.30 in the morning, and as I began to go up the hill I heard a mighty shout. The king had come. He had borrowed our donkey for the occasion. He remained in the people's vestry for about half an hour. I found that Ashe had arrived and arranged a seat for the Resident, surmounted by the Company's large flag. As everyone was waiting we began by singing, and then took the offertory, 3,731 shells, everyone putting in one, the poor not less and the rich not more—thus we calculate the capacity of the church. I received the offertory at the rails, and put the offerings on the table. The table is not permanent, but one is being made. This was lent by the Katikiro for the occasion. About nine we started the service, everyone rising as the king came in, and shouting ! which they did subsequently just as Ashe rose to repeat the Nicene Creed, thinking it a signal to that effect. We rebuked them, telling them that they should not shout in God's House, but rise in silence. We had special lessons : morning, 1 Kings viii., and 2nd lesson, Rev. xxi. In the afternoon Nikodemo preached from St. Matt. xxviii. 18. Henry Wright Duta took in the morning St. Matt. xxv. Zakariya, who was to have read the lessons in the afternoon, was too ill to come. Ashe and I divided the prayers between us at each service. Before the morning prayer Pilkington read a translation of a letter sent by the Bishop.

Usually, one of the Native elders preaches at the morning service, which is the more largely attended, and one of the European missionaries in the afternoon. The number of communicants is given as 120, and there were present on the three occasions when the number is mentioned in the missionaries' letters 79 and 73, in May and June respectively, and in the old church; and 100 in the new church in August. The church collections since May have been placed to a fund for repaying the money, £80, contributed by Tinnevelly Christians after the persecution in 1886. (See Ann. Report of 1886–7, page 158.)

Collections to repay gift from Tinnevelly

Sixty persons were baptized on Easter Day and about thirty others in June. They had been under daily instruction for some months by the Church elders, these latter receiving previous instruction each morning from Mr. Pilkington. Three men were sent in August as teachers to the Baziba country, on the west of the lake, in German territory, the people having applied for Protestant teachers.

Baptisms.

Teachers sent to Baziba country.

The earnest desire of the people of Uganda to possess the Word of God is one of the most remarkable and encouraging facts mentioned in the missionaries' reports. The arrival of some boxes in June, forwarded from Bukoba, the German station on the west of the lake, gave rise to a scene which Mr. Baskerville thus describes :—

June 22.—Talk about sieges—if ever there was a siege it was yesterday, and this morning it seems likely to be renewed tenfold. I mentioned that our canoes had come, and I gave out on Sunday that the Gospels of St. Matthew would be sold Monday morning. I was roused up before it was light by the roar of voices, and after dressing hurriedly, sallied out to the—I had almost said—fight. Close to my house is a slight shed used for the cows to stand in, in the heat of the day. This we barricaded, keeping the people outside; but barricades were useless—in came the door, and we thought the whole place would have fallen. In ten minutes all the hundred Gospels were sold. We now returned for some breakfast. I had just opened another box, which I strongly suspected to be books, and I found beautiful little reading-books, arranged by Samweli when at the coast, about 800 in all. Here was a find! I had barricaded my house front window, and we sold through it; the doctor selling to the women in another place. Now was a scrimmage, and shells came pouring in. I have in the house six or seven loads of cowries. In the evening we opened two other boxes, which proved to contain Prayer Books and large wall reading sheets. I am going to try and get some breakfast now before we begin selling.—(Little later.) We have survived, and taken 36,000 shells for the Prayer Books. But I should think a thousand or more people are waiting about, each with shells, mad to buy a book, but we have none to sell. Oh! that Stokes would come, for the other books are to arrive in his boat. We have managed to put aside a few for Busoga and the country. We could sell fifty loads, when we only have three to sell. This treaty which confines the Roman Catholics to Budu only holds for two years, and then they will be able to return and hold office. Our prayer is that we may be able to flood the country with the Word of God before then.

Eager purchasers of books.

Mr. Ashe's small printing press has proved of great service. In August he was engaged in printing reading-sheets and a Luhuma translation of the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and Ten Commandments, which he had made, to send to Toro. A brother of the King of Ankori and several baptized Christians there are said to be able to read.

Printing press.

In spiritual power the Church would seem to have suffered as much, if not more, from the political prosperity accorded to the Protestant party after the war than from the unrest and frequent disturbances of the previous period. Mr. Baskerville wrote in April:—

The Native Church is very slack; amongst the elders I know some six earnest men, but of the others I am doubtful, perhaps I do not know them very much. I do not doubt that there are many who are truly saved, but they have no joy or assurance. Ashe feels this and so does Roscoe very keenly.

Dangers to spiritual life of the Church.

All the political success, I feel confident, tends to detract from the spirituality of the Church. I believe it might be the best thing now for the Buganda Church to have a fierce and hot persecution, to be deprived of power and thrown on their Saviour. Many might fall away; probably we should have but a handful left, but they would be sincere and could not fail to be a great power.

King Mwanga's professed adhesion to the Protestant faith, and his attendance occasionally at the services, is recognised, as a source of danger to the purity of the Church. Mwanga has undoubtedly yielded to some very gross vices. That of bhang (or hemp) smoking is much abhorred by the Christians, and Mwanga's indulgence in it was actively resisted by the Roman Catholic chiefs while he continued of their party. The following entry in Mr. Baskerville's journal shows that he still indulged the habit after his restoration to the throne :—

April 19.—We went to see the king this afternoon about the stealing of our loads from Bukoba. Ashe and Walker had been in the morning, but were told the king was at work. "What work?" "Cutting poles!" "Why?" "For a house!" "Why is he doing it?" "Because it is to smoke bhang in it, and not a chief in the land will consent to build it for him!"

Mr. Walker, however, says of the king :—

Mwanga is of a much less cruel nature than his father or grandfather. He takes no pleasure in witnessing scenes of cruelty or pain, as far as I know; but he gives way in private to animal passions. As far as I can gather from Mika, he has not sacrificed many people; he has despised the old heathen religion from his childhood. Mika can only tell me of two men given as sacrifices, but tells me of a hasty order given which caused twenty people to be put to death. On the whole, I should suppose that he may yet turn out a better king than any of his ancestors have been. Mika assures me that Mwanga's bad acts have been due more to the bad advice he has received than to the badness of the king's nature.

Dr. Wright advised the removal of the houses of the missionaries from the bottom of a valley, in dangerous proximity to a marsh, to the summit of the hill; and accordingly the chiefs and people cheerfully built new houses on convenient sites, and abundant supplies of native food have been sent the missionaries from time to time.

The C.M.S. staff in Uganda.

The European staff at Mengo at the beginning of 1892 consisted of Mr. G. L. Pilkington, Mr. J. Roscoe, and Dr. Gaskoin Wright. In February the Revs. R. H. Walker and G. K. Baskerville and Mr. F. C. Smith (who was on a visit to Budu) arrived from Budu in consequence of the fighting, and were accompanied by the Rev. R. P. Ashe, who had terminated his journey from the coast by travelling round the west of the lake by land. In June Mr. Walker left for furlough, and in September Dr. Wright and Mr. Smith left to come home on account of the former's state of health. In October Mr. Pilkington crossed the lake and visited Nassa for the benefit of his health; and Mr. Ashe accompanied Dr. Macpherson, of the I.B.E.A. Company, who was invalided home, as far as Busoga. In December Bishop Tucker, the Rev. W. A. Crabtree, Dr. E. J. Baxter, Mr. C. A. Günther, Mr. R. H. Leakey, Mr. Ernest Millar, Mr. A. B. Fisher, and Mr. J. P. Nickisson arrived. The Bishop wrote a few days after his arrival:—

Arrival of Bishop Tucker and his party.

At about 4 P.M., December 23, to our great joy our long and weary journey of eighty-nine days was at an end, and we were with our dear brethren at Mengo. A heavy storm of rain had prevented people coming in any large numbers to meet us, but as the weather cleared up we were soon besieged with visitors. To see the friends and brethren who two years ago had travelled up from the coast with me was indeed a great joy. Mr. Pilkington was looking the very picture of health. Mr. Baskerville, too, was looking very well, and enjoys, I am glad to think, excellent health. After some refreshment we went to see the houses in which we are to live. They have been built for us by our Native brethren. My house astonished me. It is one of the largest in Buganda. It has six rooms in it.

Services on Christmas Day.

Christmas Day dawned, and verily it is a day never to be forgotten. The thrill that went through me when, two years ago, I addressed a congregation of 1,000 souls in the old church is still fresh in my memory. If I was thrilled then I was simply overwhelmed yesterday when I stood up to speak in the name of our Master to a congregation numbering over 5,000 souls. I wonder whether in the whole mission-field such a sight has been witnessed since Apostolic days. The perfect stillness as I stood up to speak, and indeed throughout the service, was almost as awe-inspiring as the sight of the great multitude itself. Mr. Pilkington interpreted for me, and it was quite evident that he performed his task to perfection. In the afternoon a second service was held, and I suppose between three and four thousand people must have been present. At this service about thirty women were baptized. Mr. Baskerville preached in Luganda. Later in the afternoon an English service was held. At this service a larger number of Europeans were present than have been gathered together before in Uganda. Christmas Day was a trying day, but an intensely joyful day—a day worth coming to the ends of the earth to enjoy.

I have brought with me from the coast more than 8,000 portions of the Word of God. The delight of the people is indescribable. Daily my house is besieged by would-be purchasers. Last time when books arrived the eagerness to possess them was such that there was danger of the house being knocked down. It has therefore been decided to sell them at several centres at one and the same time. Those who come for books are therefore turned away until the arrangements are complete for the sale to go forward. Many more loads of books are coming up by the old road, and I trust, by our friends at home keeping up the supply, to pour a constant stream of God's truth upon the land.

BUSOGA.

Busoga.

As mentioned in last year's Report, Mr. F. C. Smith spent several months of 1891 at Wakoli's. In June, 1892, he returned thither, and at the same time Mr. J. Roscoe went to reside at Luba's village, the place of the late Bishop Hannington's murder. On July 6 the chief Wakoli was shot by a camp man in no way connected with the Mission. Mr. Smith was suspected by the infuriated people of having instigated the murder, and his life was placed in the greatest danger during that and the following days. Mr. Smith returned to Mengo, and, as already stated, accompanied Dr. Wright to England soon afterwards.

A missionary's life in danger.

Mr. Roscoe at Luba's.

Mr. Roscoe had a kindly reception from Luba; he was granted a good site for building, and was promised supplies of food. Boys attended to read, and a brother and three sons of Luba also commenced learning. As his health suffered, Mr. Roscoe returned to Mengo in August.

BUDU.

The interesting work which the Rev. R. H. Walker commenced at Massaka, and the Rev. G. K. Baskerville at Kyango in 1891, was cut short by the news of the fighting at Mengo, and the attacks of Roman Catholic chiefs in Budu which immediately occurred after the receipt of this news.

A general migration.

The Rev. R. P. Ashe arrived at Massaka in January, and a few days after, when he was about to proceed, the first intimation of events at the capital was brought by a Native messenger. A migration of some 5,000 people followed, who directed their course towards Mengo. On February 2nd, this mass of people, consisting largely of helpless women and children, were passed within half a mile by a party of armed men under a Roman Catholic chief retreating to Budu, but providentially no attack was made, and two days later they were met by Nicodemo and another Protestant chief, and were escorted safely to the capital.

Christmas, 1891, in Budu.

Mr. Walker was in Budu about ten months. Of the services on Christmas Day, 1891, he wrote:—

A Native preacher.

For Christmas all the principal chiefs round here came over to spend a few days. The church was crowded. I did not preach in the church, because there are others here who excel me. Yonathani Kaidzi preached to us on Christmas Day from "God has spoken unto us by His Son." "At Sinai," he said, "God spoke in His Majesty and glory, and everybody ran away; but now He speaks unto us by a Child suckled by a woman." Yonathani asked the people to observe the condescension of God. Then he observed: "We can understand the language and thoughts of one like ourselves," and asked the people which of them could tell what the lion, the elephant, or the cock say. He then showed them the thoughtful care of God in that the glad tidings had not come to them in English, but that now they have it in Luganda, their own language.

EGYPT MISSION.

Retirement of the Rev. F. A. Klein.

THE Rev. F. A. Klein, after more than forty years of missionary service, thirty-one in connexion with the Palestine Mission, and eleven at Cairo, has retired from active work, but he will (D.V.) devote much of his time to literary work in furtherance of the missionary enterprise among Mohammedans. His Arabic translation of Bishop Ryle's Commentary on St. Luke was issued from the press during 1892. The Rev. Henry Sykes, of the Palestine Mission, at the request of the Committee, undertook for a few months the duties of Acting Secretary. The Rev. F. F. Adeney, who was invalided from Jerusalem, has been appointed to this post. The Rev. P. G. Wood visited England in the autumn of 1892, and returned in November, accompanied by Mrs. Wood (née Miss Evelyn Christmas). Miss Mary Cay has been added to the staff of missionaries, but on the other hand Dr. Frank Laird has retired. The staff now numbers three ordained and one unordained male missionaries, and nine ladies, including three wives of missionaries. Excepting the Rev. W. F. Connor, who is at home on leave, no member of this staff has had a longer experience of missionary work than three years, most of them having arrived at Cairo in the winter of 1891-2; consequently the main work of the year under review has been that of preparation for future work. One of the lady missionaries gives the following account of her visits to the women in their homes:—

Visiting the women in Cairo.

We could seldom go to more than three or four houses in one afternoon, as a visit to a native house in Cairo is rather a lengthy proceeding, and we have often to walk a long way between each house. My visits have been chiefly to the parents of the children who come to our C.M.S. day-school, so the little girls generally piloted us to their own houses. After treading our way through some of the narrowest possible streets, very dirty and dusty, with very high houses on either side, we at last dived into a large open doorway, leading into a small yard indescribably dirty; we found our way into a narrow passage, and up some nearly dark and rather break-neck stairs to the very top of the house, where we were shown into a small room, tolerably comfortable and clean. A man was seated cross-legged on the floor sewing. We sat down and began to talk; he was very friendly. After waiting some time, the lady of the house came in and greeted us with many expressions of politeness, then followed the inevitable little cups of Turkish coffee. I asked the little girl to read an Arabic text which I had in my Bible. She read it very nicely, which opened the way for Nuzha to explain and talk about it, and afterwards she read them a Bible story. They listened most attentively, and the man asked many questions.

Construction of railways in Palestine.

THE opening of a new railway from Jaffa to Jerusalem on September 26, 1892, and the commencement of other lines, especially of one from Haifa to Damascus, are indications of changes effected and prospective which may be confidently hoped under God's Hand to make for a much-needed increase both of the general prosperity of the country and of liberty for the individual. Anxiety was felt at the beginning of 1892 regarding the effects of some new regulations which were published by the Turkish authorities at Constantinople, affecting missions-schools and preaching-places, which threatened to hamper very seriously aggressive missionary work. The intervention of the American and English Governments induced the authorities to withdraw the regulations, and the result was that the missionaries enjoyed during the year under review more immunity from interference than for some time past. An exception must be mentioned. In the Nablous district, a school at Zebabdeh, one of the out-stations, was closed in a very arbitrary and summary manner. The Rev. C. Fallscheer wrote:—

Interference by local officials in the Nablous District.

In the middle of February last, a messenger arrived from our teacher in Zebabdeh with the news that the Governor of Jenin had sent his secretary with soldiers to surprise the school and to take the books and teacher to Jenin, and imprison him just as they did during the two previous years. This was the work of the Latin priest in Zebabdeh, who gave money to the Governor to put down the Protestant work there. To show you that they were working together, I may mention that the secretary and the soldiers lodged for the night in the Latin convent, and from there they went to our school and took the books, and in the evening the secretary (a Moslem) and the Latin priest mocked and laughed at the Holy Scriptures and blasphemed. May the Lord forgive them! The next morning the teacher was obliged to go to the convent to take his books and Bibles, which lay in a dirty corner, and put them in his saddle-bag, because he was taken under escort to Jenin and imprisoned. He was in prison three days, which is against the law, as no one can be imprisoned before he is found guilty. As soon as I was informed about this, I wrote a petition to the Governor, reminding him of what he had done last year, that he had been obliged to set the teacher at liberty, and that he had no right to imprison the teacher without being found guilty of a crime. Then he released him at once, but he was under surety and was not allowed to leave the town of Jenin. The books were examined and pronounced harmless. I sent another letter to the Governor, stronger than the first, when the Kaimmakan sent the teacher under escort with his books to Nablous. As soon as he arrived here he was set free and his books returned. Still they gave no permission for the teacher to return to his work, and they also demanded much money.

The greatest injustice of all was what follows. The Governor of Jenin sent soldiers to Zebabdeh in the midst of the harvest this year, and brought the whole Protestant congregation, men, women, and children, under escort to Jenin, with the intention of forcing them to join another church; but the congregation stood firm. He threatened to put them in prison and to send them to Beyrout, and told them that they would be thrown from the steamer into the sea; but they said, "We are Protestants, and will die as such." In the midst of the harvest it is a most serious matter to take Fellaheen from their work.

The Consul-General at Beyrout promptly used his influence with the Governor-General, and the school was reopened, and it is hoped that through the same kindly intervention other oppressive restrictions of former years will be removed. The British Consul at Jerusalem, Mr. J. Dixon, has accepted a seat on the Society's Finance Committee.

Death of Dr. C. Sandreczki

Dr. Charles Sandreczki, who laboured thirty-two years in connexion with the Society's Mediterranean Mission, died in Germany in July, 1892. Dr. Sandreczki was formerly a Roman Catholic, and was led by the study of the Scriptures to leave the Church of Rome. After having gone to Greece under King Otto, with the view of founding a university, he joined the Church Missionary Society in 1840, and was stationed at Syra. In 1847 he was transferred to Smyrna, and again, in 1851, to Jerusalem, where he was appointed Secretary of the Mediterranean Mission. His connexion with the Society was closed in 1872.

and of Mr. J. Palmer.

Mr. J. Palmer, who retired in 1888 from this Mission in consequence of the failure of his eyesight and generally impaired health, died in December, 1892. He was Head Master of the Bishop Gobat School at Jerusalem for nearly forty years.

Reinforcements.

The following reinforcements have joined the staff:—The Rev. Robert Sterling, B.A., M.B., B.Sc., Durham, Curate of Earsdon; Miss Caroline C. Coote, who has resided a year in Palestine and passed with credit the first language examination, as an honorary missionary; Miss Margaret Nevill; Miss Gertrude Fanny Tindal; Miss Elise Kauffmann; Miss Ada A. M. Bedells; and Miss Mary Agnes Daniels. In addition to these, the Mission has gained by the transference to it of Miss Alice Wardlaw Ramsay from the Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission; but, on the other hand, the Rev. F. F. and Mrs. Adeney have been transferred from Palestine to Egypt, as already mentioned under the latter Mission. The Rev. C. B. and Mrs. Nash came home in the autumn on account of the latter's state of health, and he has found it necessary for the same reason to retire from the Mission. Miss K. Sachs, who had a long and serious illness, came home in May, 1893, and the Rev. C. T. and Mrs. Wilson came home at the same time on medical certificate. The Rev. H. Sykes returned to the Mission in July, 1892; the Rev. J. R. and Mrs. Longley Hall, and Mrs. and Miss Low in September; and Miss E. E. Newton and Miss E. G. Reeve, who came home on short leave in the summer, returned in October. The recruits sailed in December, except Mr. Stirling and Miss Daniels, who sailed in March, 1893.

The thirty-second Conference of the Palestine missionaries met at Jaffa in November. It had been intended to hold the meetings at Haifa, but the Rev. J. R. Longley Hall, the Secretary of the Mission, was unable, in consequence of repeated attacks of fever, to undertake the journey to Haifa, and the arrangements were consequently altered.

JAFFA.

Jaffa. The veteran missionary, the Rev. T. F. Wolters, remarks that the opportunities for work among the Mohammedans at Jaffa and elsewhere in this Mission are far greater for female than for male workers, and he writes very gratefully of the help afforded by the ladies at the station. Miss E. Armstrong says:—

Visits to Moslem houses. Our visiting is almost exclusively among the Moslems, and we are almost invariably received with courtesy—sometimes, indeed very often, with eager welcome. These poor women begin to feel their want of education in many instances, and are glad to hear what they cannot read for themselves. Among the Fellaheen especially, when we go to their tents, we find many who are beginning to understand a great deal about the glad tidings which we are privileged to bring to them, and they will often ask for something to be read or explained which they have perhaps heard once and have not quite understood.

We meet, too, with opposition, of course. Some acknowledge freely that Jesus is the Christ of God and the Saviour of the World, but others dispute every inch of ground, and I have often heard one Moslem woman taking one side of the argument, and explaining to her neighbour the points in dispute. The seed is being sown; the Lord of the harvest only can give the increase. I have this year commenced a meeting in the town, at the women's own request, and it is well attended, the average about thirty.

The Syrian pastor, the Rev. Murad-el-Haddad, was removed to Haifa in the spring of 1892. The larger number of the Native congregation consists of Mission servants, teachers, and their families. The congregations at the out-stations Ramleh and Lydd are causes of much anxiety to the Superintending Missionary; the former is distracted by dissensions and jealousies, and the latter manifests a lamentable measure of lukewarmness in the things of God. But there are promising openings into Moslem homes, and the schools are doing a good work among the young.

JERUSALEM.

Jerusalem. A Theological Class of three students, one of whom was the former Greek priest, Khuri Girius, of Kefr Yasif, referred to in the Annual Report for 1891-2 (page 73), was opened in the summer of 1892. The Preparandi Institution, under the Rev. J. Zeller, had seventeen students, who, besides their secular studies, received instruction in the Holy Scriptures, the Prayer Book, and Church history. The new class formed in the autumn included six youths from the Bishop Gobat School, whose superior knowledge and studious habits showed the advantage of their previous training. There were some fifty boarders in this school; one of these was an Arab lad, supported by a collection made after an address by Mr. D. L. Moody, the American evangelist, on Mount Calvary on Easter Day. A correspondent of the British Weekly thus described the occasion:— Address on Mount Calvary by Mr. Moody

> It was a strange gathering. English and American tourists; Sisters of Mercy in their quaint headgear; English-speaking converts from the C.M.S. church, in more or less un-English garb; a kawass or two, resplendent in gold-embroidered garments; two or three Bethlehem women in their pretty dress; several Christian women, with dark faces framed in their big white sheets; some imposing looking dragomans; Abyssinians, with dark faces and gleaming white teeth; nurses from the English Mission Hospital in their pretty uniform; a detachment of boys and girls in neat uniforms from Bishop Gobat's and the C.M.S. schools. All these, with many others I must not stay to mention, were grouped on the round green hill outside the Damascus gate of Jerusalem that is believed to be the very scene of our Lord's crucifixion.
> He began by speaking of the places in sight and their associations. We felt very near Melchisedek, Abraham, Samuel, David, and the Man Christ Jesus, as place after place was pointed to—"just there, on that hill;" "right over yonder;" "right there in front," and similar phrases introduced brief word-pictures of stirring scenes associated with Zion, Olivet, Bethany, Mizpeh, &c.
> But the preacher's finger was most often pointed to Moriah, where "God lifted the veil of time, and showed to Abraham His friend the day of Christ that made him glad. If he didn't see it then, I don't know when he did see it;" and an eloquent description of Abraham's nearly-completed sacrifice led up to a powerful picture of God's infinite love when He spared not His Son, and an appeal to unconverted and unconsecrated hearts there present.

The esteem in which the Gobat School is held is attested by the fact that £264 was received during the year for fees, notwithstanding that in the other Jerusalem schools the education is gratuitous. Thirty-eight of the boys are Protestants. Mr. F. T. Ellis, the head-master, was attacked by robbers between Jericho and the Dead Sea in April, and had a narrow escape; the donkey on which he rode was shot under him. The Congregation, of which the Rev. Ibrahim Baz is the pastor, has somewhat increased. A former member of the Greek Church, a native of Tripoli, in Syria, regarding whom the Rev. C. T. Wilson expresses the belief that he is a truly converted man, joined the congregation and was admitted to the Lord's Supper. The Bible Depôt outside the Jaffa Gate is a centre of valuable work. Evangelistic services, in Arabic, held there three times a week, are usually well attended. Miss H. Campbell writes, "I believe most fully that the seal of God is on these meetings. Many men come, and many stay to talk with Mr. Wilson afterwards." Upon the marriage of Miss S. R. Savage to the Rev. F. F. Adeney in July, Miss A. Welch took charge of the Girls' High School, with its seven boarders and five day scholars. Miss K. Sachs had the housekeeping cares of the school until she was laid aside, as Bible Depôt. High School.

already mentioned, by a serious illness which has necessitated her return home. Before leaving she wrote :—

"An intensely happy year."

It was touching to be told how our dear little boarders held a prayer-meeting among themselves on my behalf, and their delight next morning, on hearing I was better, to think "God had heard them so quickly." They are happy, merry little maidens, always singing; they have mostly a correct ear and clear voice, and are not a bit shy, so it is easy to teach them to sing effectively; they are learning the sol-fa system very intelligently, and greatly delight in the singing lesson and musical drill I give them twice a week when I am able. They are making good progress in English, and know several hymns by heart. It has been an intensely happy year, in spite of illness (influenza hindered me two months in the spring). The climate is perfection, and I thoroughly enjoy the study of Arabic, when able to pursue it.

More difficulty than in recent years was experienced in visiting the houses in Jerusalem, the people having been warned by those in authority not to receive the lady missionaries. One woman, of whom Miss A. M. Elverson entertained hopes, was threatened with death if she continued to receive her visits. After an address at a women's meeting about the Uganda Mission several of the women offered Miss Elverson small sums of money to help to send more teachers to that country.

Ramallah.

Miss F. Nuttall says of the women of the Greek Church at Ramallah that there is practically little difference between their condition and that of their Moslem neighbours—indeed, that they have hardly any religious ideas except such as they have gathered from the latter. She is happily able to add that she thinks "there is scarcely a house in Ramallah without either a Bible or a Gospel or some manual of devotion." Seventeen villages around Ramallah, of which 13 were purely Moslem, were visited. A few simple medicines sufficed to open every door, and such remarks as, "Ah, yes; Christians are better than we are; they are kind, we never help each other," proved that some thoughtfulness had been excited in very ignorant minds.

Village work.

In only two villages did Miss Nuttall meet with opposition, and in both the resistance was short-lived. Of one of these Miss Nuttall says :—

"Bigotry not proof against quinine."

We were twice ordered out of the village by a red-turbaned dignitary, who belongs to some particularly bigoted sect. However, the next week we were gladly received by another great man, who begged for medicine for his wife and children. I told him I considered we had been badly treated, and should not come again, so he immediately gave orders that the lady (sitt) was to be always welcomed, and that no one should interfere with her. He himself is a very bigoted man, but his bigotry is not proof against quinine. He begged me also to go and see his daughter who was married to the Sheikh of a large neighbouring village, and that visit made an open door, and I trust will be the beginning of good things there.

GAZA.

Gaza.

A quiet year is reported by the Rev. J. Huber; the schools, Bible depôt, classes, and visiting were conducted without opposition or interference by the local authorities. Unhappily there was no medical missionary at Gaza during the greater part of the year, but this need has now been supplied by the arrival of Rev. R. Sterling.

NABLOUS (DENIS CROFTON MISSION).

Nablous.

The Church Services in this bigoted Mohammedan city are attended by between thirty and forty souls, and classes are held, as at the other stations, in the schoolroom and in the homes of the Protestant Christians for the study of the Scriptures. The schools contain 46 children, of whom 24 are Protestants, 33 Greek, 5 Jews, and 4 Samaritans. Of the Samaritans Miss E. G. Reeve says:—

The Samaritans.

The Samaritan remnant lives here, 140 in number. They are a tall fair-haired race, and interesting in their antiquity. They observe the law of Moses most scrupulously, and recognize the Pentateuch only as the Word of God. The High Priest came to visit me, and when I questioned him as to his opinion of Jesus of Nazareth, he replied that Moses had foretold that a prophet should arise and call himself Messiah, and that prophet should be "crucified." This statement I could not accept, and I gave him the Bible, asking to what passage he referred. He hesitated, so I showed him Deut. xviii. 19, and he then read verse 20: "Even that prophet shall die." And that was all the ground he had for saying it had been foretold by Moses that Jesus should be crucified. I asked if the yearly Passover sacrifice took away sin. He replied, "No; that sacrifice is merely commemorative. We expect to purge our sin by prayer, to enter heaven by prayer, and by the intercession of Moses." One longs for this interesting people, that the veil may be lifted from their hearts.

The Medical Mission was visited, Dr. H. J. Bailey writes, by some 5,000 patients, of whom eighty-six per cent. were Moslems, most of whom heard the Gospel preached and the Bible read during their visits. The growing confidence in the Missions is illustrated by the attendance at the dispensary during the past year of many women of the better classes. Dr. Bailey writes:—

Well-to-do Moslem women attending Mission dispensary

From the first I have found the Moslem officials and richer classes quite ready to ask me to attend their wives and daughters in their homes, and during the last two months I have been twice called in to attend Moslem women during confinement, some serious complication having arisen. To allow any man to attend such cases was unheard of before, and, as a further illustration of the wonderful success granted in answer to prayer which all medical missionaries tell me they have so often experienced, I may add that both these cases recovered. But there has always been a reluctance on the part of the richer Moslems to allow their wives to attend the Medical Mission dispensary. Now I have set apart two days a week specially for women only and children, their reluctance has been overcome to a great extent, as they know all will be treated with equal kindness, and what we should all call Christian courtesy. This speaks well for my Native dispenser and assistant, the former especially being a true missionary.

Dr. and Mrs. Bailey experienced a severe trial in January. Their new-born child was taken from them, a few hours after its birth, under specially painful circumstances. The shock and the cold brought on Mrs. Bailey a severe illness, but happily it was of a short duration.

There are schools at Rafidiah, Nisf-el-Jebel, Bourka, Tobaz, and Zebabdeh. The last-named place is called by Mr. Fallscheer "our child of sorrow," because of the opposition of the Latin priest.

Opposition of Latin priest.

NAZARETH, ACCA, AND HAIFA.

Nazareth.

The Rev. Chalil Jamal has been much encouraged by the prevalence of a happier and more peaceful state of feeling on the part of the NAZARETH congregation. The attendance at the Sunday morning services averages from 170 to 218. Services or Bible classes, the latter frequently in the houses of members of the congregation, are held every evening except on Saturdays.

Acca.

ACCA experienced a visitation of cholera in July, and eleven died during fifteen days. Miss E. C. Wardlaw Ramsay left just before the outbreak in order to proceed to England. Exceptional difficulties attend the work at HAIFA. Miss S. L. Barker took up her residence there in June 1892, but as the girls' school had been closed for one year it was some months before she was able to recommence it. There were over 70 children in it, nearly all Moslems, in February. A women's meeting which began with about 10 members, not one being a Moslem, had soon an average attendance of over 40, most of them being Moslems, and some belonging to the upper classes. Miss Barker is much encouraged by the cordial welcome she receives in Mohammedan houses both of rich and poor. Miss Attlee spent several weeks at Haifa in the summer, and during a visit to the German sanatorium on Mount Carmel went among the fellaheen. She says:—

Among the fellaheen on Mount Carmel.

> Upon Carmel there were some delightfully refreshing little bits of work amongst the fellaheen (peasants), many of whom we found living in areeshies made of twisted leafy branches, and all of whom seemed never to have ever heard of the Saviour, and to be so ready and eager to be taught. One remarkably beautiful girl, named Zahra (a flower), I was very fond of, and frequently visited her and her nice mother and future mother-in-law in their areeshi. On one occasion it was very cheering to find that a text I had taught in a tiny village more than a mile distant, down in one of the picturesque slopes of Carmel, had been passed on and learnt by another girl, who, when she met me in the areeshi, asked whether I was the sitt (lady) who had taught it.

SALT AND THE HAURAN.

Salt.

Owing to the Rev. H. Sykes' appointment temporarily to a charge at Cairo, as already explained, soon after his return to the Mission from England, Salt had no resident European missionary during nearly the whole of the year under review. The Rev. J. R. L. Hall visited the station in January, and wrote:—

> There were thirty communicants on the Sunday morning at Salt, and the church was more than filled—several people standing—at the ordinary Sunday morning service, and well filled again in the afternoon. The Tuesday evening Bible Class was attended by about thirty men. In the boys' and girls' schools there were seventy-five and twenty-seven children respectively. There was a very nice tone about the Salt congregation, although they were (with other inhabitants of Salt) in very great trouble with the Government. The Kaimakam had robbed the village of 3,000 durrum of land—about 1,000 acres—and had given it to the Circassians, and when the Saltees appealed to the Wali of Damascus the Kaimakam had the ten representatives—chosen by the different communities in Salt—most cruelly treated and nearly killed. There is a large class of Confirmation candidates, who are being prepared by Mr. Nicola.

Mr. Nicola is a candidate for ordination, and, meanwhile, has the Bishop's licence to conduct services.

El-Husn, where the Rev. S. Boutagi is stationed, is to the east of Jordan, a short distance to the south of Arbela, which was a city of Decapolis. Of its population of about one thousand, one-third are Moslems. Mr. Boutagi reports very unfavourably of the Mohammedans and Christians alike, and the few professing Protestants are by no means a creditable example to their neighbours. A few strangers from other places show more interest in divine things. El-Husn.

Mr. Hall visited Medeba also, and says:—

At Medeba I found very little going on, as the Governor is very bitter towards all the Christians, and seems specially oppressive and annoying to the Khuri Yusef, the C.M.S. catechist. We had the Communion together, and I trust the Khuri was really comforted and encouraged by my visit. Medeba is a very important place for Mission work east of Jordan, and I believe that in a short time we shall find it become the centre of most interesting work amongst the Bedouin and Circassians. Medeba.

PERSIA AND BAGHDAD MISSION.

JULFA.

Julfa. GREATER liberty of action for Missionary operations in JULFA was experienced in 1892 than probably in any previous year. The Rev. Dr. R. Bruce considers that this was due to the fact that the attention of the Mohammedan priests was directed mainly towards the European merchants, by whose discomfiture through the failure of the Imperial Tobacco Corporation they recovered much of their old power in the country. It was a special mercy that Julfa escaped a visitation of cholera, which was rife elsewhere in Persia.

Completion of Persian Bible. Dr. Bruce completed the translation of the Bible in December, and he has come home to see it through the press. He has also made progress in the preparation of a Harmony of the Gospels in Persian, which he hopes will be of much use to Moslem inquirers. The Rev. W. St. Clair Tisdall, formerly of the Bombay Mohammedan Mission, has been appointed to succeed Dr. Bruce in the secretaryship. He, with Mrs. Tisdall, reached Julfa in December. While at Bushire, en route, Mr. and Mrs. Tisdall had the sorrow of losing their infant child. He wrote:—

> I hope that the deep sorrow which came upon us so soon after landing in the country may make us live nearer to Him who bore our griefs and carried our sorrows, and may be a kind of consecration to the work to which He has called us in this land.

The Persian Services on Sunday mornings are always attended by some and often by as many as seventeen Mohammedans. During the summer some of them walked from Ispahan to Julfa, four or five miles, and, after attending the morning service, remained for the Sunday School Class in the afternoon. Dr. Bruce says that in no one year of his thirty-four years of Mission work has he had a greater number of interesting inquirers than in the past year. One whom he baptized, after Inquirers. continuing for a time to live in Julfa, confessing publicly his faith in Christ, was at last obliged in order to save his life to flee to the American Mission, at Hamadan. Dr. Bruce says:—

> No one in free Christian England can realise the painful difficulty which I have so often experienced this year in answering the question of a Mohammedan inquirer, when he comes to the point at which in India, e.g., he would certainly be baptized and received into Christ's Church. "What am I to do? If I confess Christ publicly in Ispahan I shall certainly be put to death." All one can do is to place before him the "hard saying" of our blessed Master, "He that denieth Me before men, him will I deny before My Father in heaven"; and to add, "If they persecute you in one city, flee ye to another." One dear seeker after salvation, who still comes to read the Word with me every week, was advised by me to go to Busreh, where the Americans would give him work, and he said, "But I cannot leave my mother, who has been such a good mother to me, and is entirely dependent on me for her support." Another, an elderly and learned Seiyid, who is head-master of one of the best schools in the town, came to me, Nicodemus-like, several nights, and dined and slept in the mission-house. The last time he came he had written to make an engagement, and to request that I would baptize him secretly by night. Alas! like the rich man whom our Lord loved, and of whom He said that he was not far from the Kingdom of God, he left me very sorrowful the next morning because I could not, under the circumstances, comply with his request.

All the Missionaries write regretfully of the temporary closure of the Medical Mission, because the Committee have not yet been able to send out anyone to succeed the Rev. Dr. E. F. Hoernle and Dr. M. Eustace. How wide the door is for this agency is illustrated by the opportunities which Miss M. R. S. Bird found of reaching Moslem women (only these were treated by Miss Bird, as the Armenian Christian women have no objection to being seen and prescribed for by male doctors) through possessing some knowledge of medicine, though not having enjoyed a special training. Miss Bird wrote in December:—

Access to women through an elementary knowledge of medicine.

Since I began to try to doctor my poor Persian neighbours at the beginning of June, 4,007 attendances have been entered at my dispensary room. Natives divide all diseases into hot and cold. Fevers, diphtheria, measles, influenza, &c., are hot, so patients are given the juice of water-melons and a decoction of herbs. Numbers die from exhaustion. For burns and scalds they mix white of egg and ink together, and spread it on thickly. This forms a hard coating, and causes much pain from the matter not being able to escape. Washing they dread. Many say if you wash a wound the patient will die.

Native remedies.

The number of women attending the Mission attracted attention, and the head Mullah issued an order forbidding their doing so, stating that Miss Bird was a Babi and taught the women to become Babis. Some of the women's husbands, however, declared the statement to be false, and the visits continued. Upon the faithful agent of the London Jews' Society, Mr. Norollah, being expelled from Ispahan, through the hatred of the Jews it is supposed, the C.M.S. Missionaries held a service once a week in the Jews' quarter, and two Jews were baptized during the year.

A Lady Missionary charged with being a Babi.

Dr. Bruce, accompanied by his wife and daughter and Miss Bird, took a fortnight's tour among the villages near Julfa in the autumn, and there also medicine proved an unfailing means of securing the confidence of the benighted Moslem and Babi village women. The Rev. H. Carless made a long itinerating tour from March till June, in the course of which he visited Shiraz, Kirman, and Yezd. He wrote:—

Visit to Kirman

From Shiraz we made a long march of twenty-eight days to Kirman; it was all entirely fresh country to me, and, I believe, untrodden by Christian missionary feet. All the people were most kind, and we had a large number of listeners, and on the Sunday afternoon the chief mullah had a large gathering in his house to meet us, that we might speak together of God and His Word. We were so thankful for our two days' stay there.

In Kirman we stayed nearly five weeks. It is rather a ruined place, with 35,000 people, and full of different Mohammedan sects. There is also a Jewish colony (about 500), and a Parsee one of about 1,200. The mullahs there received me very courteously. I visited them nearly all, and they returned my visit, the latter quite an uncommon occurrence among these bigoted religious leaders. They were outwardly very kind to me, and we really had good times in talking with them. The Lord gave us also some earnest, true seekers, whom we expect to see and hear more of hereafter.

and Yezd. In Yezd we stayed four weeks, after a thirteen days' march up from Kirman. The city was more disturbed than when I was last there, owing to the anti-tobacco agitation, but we had a good time. The Lord specially gave me an opening among the students in the Mohammedan Theological Seminary there, and I saw several of them privately many times. The chief mullah in Yezd is a particularly kindly and merciful man, and I much enjoyed a visit to him.

BAGHDAD.

Baghdad. The Rev. H. Carless went to Baghdad in December and remained there until May 1893. No clerical missionary had been at this station since the Rev. C. H. Stileman's removal to Julfa in October 1891. Dr. H. M. Sutton says that the services, notwithstanding this disadvantage, were unusually well attended, and that a warm spirit of unity and brotherly love prevails among the members of the congregation. The dispensary was "only too well attended," more people applying than Dr. Sutton could possibly attend to. Regarding the Turkish official mentioned in the last two annual reports, Dr. Sutton says:—

> He lived in Baghdad after his baptism for six months, having suffered indeed the loss of worldly goods, but otherwise undisturbed, except by occasional threats from his relatives. Then he went to Busreh, where he did excellent work as colporteur in connexion with the Arabia Mission. His wife and baby were baptized there. After some months they all returned to Baghdad for change of air, and Yakoub, immediately upon landing, was taken off by the police to the Governor-General, who ordered him to remain in Baghdad until he should summon him before him again. No complaint was or could be brought against him, "except concerning the law of his God." So he lived on in Baghdad, a consistent, happy Christian, instructing his wife in the Scriptures and witnessing quietly for Christ, until a short while ago he was taken again by the police, badly treated, and carried off to Hillah (Babylon), where, after a few days' imprisonment, he has been released on bail. One does indeed praise God for this example of steadfast Christian faith in a convert in a country like this, and for such rejoicing in tribulation as is evinced in a letter he wrote me from his prison in Hillah.

Imprisoned and badly treated for Christ's sake.

INDIA.

Bombay Decennial Missionary Conference.

THE Decennial Missionary Conference which met at Bombay from December 29, 1892, to January 4, 1893, was the fourth such conference of Protestant Missionaries from all parts of India. The others were held at Lahore in 1862, at Allahabad in 1872, and at Calcutta in 1882. The growing appreciation of the privilege of mutual intercourse and interchange of counsel on the practical problems of their common work is shown by the fact that, whereas at Calcutta in 1882 the roll of members of the Conference amounted to 475, that at Bombay almost reached 700. More than one of the secular newspapers remarked that no other body of Europeans in India could muster so large a gathering at one time. The subjects discussed were: Work among the Depressed Classes and the Masses; Social and Legal Rights of Native Christians; Work among Lepers; The Native Church in India—its Organisation and Self-Support; The Religious Training of the Young; The Jesuit Advance in India; Work among the Educated Classes in India; Work among Women; The Native Church—the Training and Position of its Ministry; Education as a Missionary Agency; Industrial Work; Plan of Uniform Missionary Statistics: Observance of the Lord's Day in India; Public Morals in India; The Social Condition of the Lower Classes; Missionary Comity; Work among Anglo-Indians and Eurasians; Christian Literature; Business Arrangements and Closing Exercises. In addition to this varied programme, several meetings were held in connexion with the conference: e.g., a public missionary meeting, at which the Bishop Designate of Lucknow presided; a meeting of the Christian Women Workers' Union; and the Rev. Dr. W. Hooper, of Jabalpur, delivered a lecture on The Hindu Doctrine of Transmigration.

An Appeal.

The following earnest appeal, bearing the signatures of the Secretaries, the Revs. A. Manwaring and J. L. Phillips, addressed to "the Church of Christ in Europe, America, Australasia, and Asia," was issued by the Conference under an overwhelming sense of the "vastness of the work contrasted with the utterly inadequate supply of workers." The Conference said:—

> We re-echo to you the cry of the unsatisfied heart of India. With it we pass on the Master's Word for the perishing multitude, "Give ye them to eat."
> An opportunity and a responsibility never known before confront us.
>
> The work among the educated and English-speaking classes has reached a crisis. The faithful labours of godly men in the class-room need to be followed up by men of consecrated culture, free to devote their whole time to aggressive work among India's thinking men. Who will come and help to bring young India to the feet of Christ?
> Medical missionaries of both sexes are urgently required. We hold up before medical students and young doctors the splendid opportunity of reaching the souls of men through their bodies.

The women of India must be evangelized by women. Ten times the present number of workers could not overtake the task. Missionary ladies now working are so taxed by the care of converts and inquirers already gained that often no strength is left for entering thousands of unentered but open doors. Can our sisters in Protestant Christendom permit this to continue?

India has fifty million Mohammedans, a larger number than are found in the Turkish Empire, and far more free to embrace Christianity. Who will come to work for them?

Scores of missionaries should be set apart to promote the production of Christian literature in the language of the people.

Sunday-schools into which hundreds of thousands of India's children can readily be brought and moulded for Christ, furnish one of India's greatest opportunities for yet more workers.

Industrial schools are urgently needed to help in developing a robust character in Christian youth, and to open new avenues to honest work for them. These call for capable Christian workers of special qualifications.

The population of India is largely rural. In hundreds and thousands of villages there is a distinct mass-movement toward Christianity. There are millions who would speedily become Christians if messengers of Christ could reach them, take them by the hand, and not only baptize them but also lead them into all Christian living. Most of these people belong to the depressed classes; but they are none the less heirs to our common salvation, and whatever admixtures of less spiritual motives may exist, God Himself is stirring their hearts and turning their thoughts toward the things that belong to His Kingdom.

In the name of Christ and of the unevangelized masses for whom He died, we appeal to you to send more labourers at once.

May every Church hear the voice of the Holy Spirit saying, "Separate Me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them." In every Church may there be a Barnabas and Saul ready to obey the Spirit's promptings!

Face to face with 284,000,000 in this land, for whom in this generation you as well as we are responsible, we ask, Will you not speedily double the number of labourers?

Will you not also send your choicest pastors to labour for a term of years among the millions who may be reached through the English tongue?

Is this too great a demand to make upon the resources of those saved by Omnipotent Love? At the beginning of another century of Missions let us "expect great things from God and attempt great things for God."

For the reflex blessing to yourselves, "hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches." The manifestation of Christ is greatest to those who keep His commandment, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

Conference of C.M.S. Indian Missionaries.

The Committee decided to take advantage of the presence at Bombay of so many C.M.S. Missionaries to invite them to hold a Conference among themselves, and the following list of subjects was suggested by the Committee for discussion:—

(i.) The work of the Holy Spirit of God in connexion with missionary operations.

(ii.) Native Christians and Native Churches. Steps to be taken for (a) deepening the spiritual life, and (b) increasing the evangelistic zeal of Native Christians; and (c) leading on Native Churches in the directions of self-support and self-extension.

(iii.) The Society's educational work, (a) for Christians, (b) for non-Christians—what the Society's attitude ought to be towards educational work in India generally, under all the present circumstances of India.

(iv.) European missionaries,—relations of European missionaries to each other in a station or district.

(v.) Europeans in India. How to stir up more interest in missionary work amongst them, and to draw out voluntary workers.

(vi.) Methods of evangelistic work (a) amongst the rich and educated, (b) amongst the rural masses and the poorer classes.

(vii.) The financial questions which relate to pay and pension of agents and others.

This C.M.S. Conference, which was the first of its kind, embracing Missionaries from all the Society's Indian Missions, was held from January 5 to 9. The Editorial Secretary of the Society, Mr. Eugene Stock, who had just completed with the Rev. R. W. Stewart a mission to Australasia, to which they had been deputed by the Committee, presided at all the meetings. The minutes expressing the views arrived at by the Conference on the above subjects and others, are receiving the Committee's careful attention.

Mr. Eugene Stock's visit to India.

Mr. Eugene Stock visited (besides Bombay) Madras, Tinnevelly, Agra, Delhi, Amritsar, Tarn Taran, Ajnala, Bahrwal, Batala, Lahore, Peshâwur, Lucknow, Allahabad, Benares, Taljhari, Burdwan, Calcutta, and Krishnagar. He wrote: "Everywhere we find one sore need—MEN!"

This "sore need" obtains emphatic expression in the figures supplied by the Returns of the Government Census of India for 1891, when it is remembered that the whole of the Protestant Missionary Agencies labouring in the country are only maintaining 857 Foreign Ordained Agents. According to their religious profession the enumeration of the people in the British Provinces and Native States respectively is as follows:—

Increase of Native Protestant Christian Community in forty years.

The valuable Statistical Tables of Protestant Missions in India, Burmah, and Ceylon, prepared on information collected at the close of 1890, at the request of the Calcutta Missionary Conference, give the number of Native Protestant Christians in India at the date just mentioned as 559,661, a more than six-fold increase during the forty years since these tables were first published in 1851; the number of communicants as 182,722, an increase more than twelve-fold; the number of Native ordained agents as 797, thirty-eight times as many as in 1851; while the Foreign ordained agents were 857, two-and-a-half times as many as at the earlier date. The development in the Educational branch of Missionary work during the same period is represented by the following figures:—In 1851 there were for males 91 Vernacular Schools and 12,401 pupils; in 1890 the numbers were respectively 460 and 53,564. Of Vernacular Schools for primary education there were 1,099 with 38,661 pupils at the earlier date; and 4,770 with 122,193 pupils at the later one. For females there were 285 Day Schools having 8,919 pupils in 1851, and 1,507 having 62,414 pupils in 1890; while there were 86 Boarding Schools with 2,274 pupils in 1851, and 166 with 7,302 pupils (in addition to 1,784 inmates of orphanages) in 1890. The earlier tables before those of 1871 did not give the number of zenanas visited; the houses visited in 1871 were 1,300, and in them 1,997 females were under instruction; in 1890 the number of houses was 40,513, and of pupils 32,659. The number of students from Missionary Colleges who passed the Matriculation Examination of Indian Universities during the ten years from 1872 to 1881 was 1,185, and during the nine years from 1882 to 1890 it was 2,077; those proceeding to the First Arts during the two periods were respectively 250 and 836; and those to the B.A. were 145 and 695. There were 1867 Sunday Schools in India in 1881, with 61,688 pupils; and in 1890 there were 3,503 such schools, with 135,565 pupils.

Comparative view of work of all Protestant Denominations.

The two following tables present a summary—the former of the chief items in the statistics for 1890 of all the Protestant denominations, and the second of the same connected with the various societies belonging to the Church of England.

* The discrepancy in the relative numbers of houses and of pupils is probably to be explained by the fact that many houses are casually visited by zenana ladies which are not open for regular visitation and systematic instruction, or for which an adequate supply of teachers for such regular visits is not available.

† The Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, or I.F.N.S., is not put under a particular Church in the Indian Statistical Tables, on account of its undenominational character, but a large part of its work is connected with C.M.S., and ought to fall under Church of England, and so come, like C.E.Z.M.S., under C.M.S.

‡ In the Indian Statistical Tables, C.E.Z.M.S. is not separately given, but is treated as a Branch of C.M.S.

NORTH INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived 1816.)

In the Society's Annual Report for 1891–2 the fervent hope was expressed that the choice of the first Bishop of the new Diocese of Lucknow might fall upon "a true and wise servant of Jesus Christ, with a large missionary heart." In the appointment of the Rev. Alfred Clifford, for seven years the Secretary of the Society's Calcutta Corresponding Committee, this hope was richly realised. The Committee were very thankful, and they pray with renewed fervour that his Episcopate may be exceedingly helpful to the progress and strengthening of the Church, both European and Native, in the North-West Provinces.

Appointment of Bishop Clifford.

After a few weeks' visit paid to this country by Dr. and Mrs. Clifford, they returned to Calcutta for the Consecration, which took place at St. Paul's Cathedral in that city on January 15. The Bishops of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Lahore, Colombo, Rangoon, Travancore, and Chota Nagpore took part in the Consecration Service. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of Lahore from Psalm xlv. 16, and the following is extracted from the report of it which appeared in the North India Gleaner:—

His Consecration.

Sermon by Bishop of Lahore.

To-day we are witnessing another fulfilment of this promise; we are not founding a purely missionary bishopric in regions where the Gospel has never been proclaimed, nor are we sending a successor to a chair which has been occupied and vacated. We are planting a new centre, relieving this metropolitan diocese once more of a portion of its vast area and population. For forty years after the Act of 1833, which added the Bishoprics of Madras and Bombay to the then single See of Calcutta, all plans for the extension of the Indian Episcopate were baffled again and again. But in the last fifteen years it has been more than doubled, and, the service of this morning completed, three Sees will have become eight. The Bishop we are consecrating to-day goes to a charge containing some fifty millions of people. It is, for an Indian diocese, compact and homogeneous. It is a land rich in sites of historic interest, and including that city wholly given to idolatry to which more than forty millions of those to whom our brother is sent look as the holiest place on earth.

It is a heavy charge, and the fact that he is sent to be its first Bishop adds something to the burden. It is a peculiar and rare responsibility to be the first Bishop of a diocese, not only because the work of organisation has to be undertaken ab initio, for in this instance the lines have been, as far as possible, laid with provident thought beforehand. But there is a tradition to be created, a tone and standard to be set. What does not the Diocese of Lichfield owe to St. Chad, and the whole northern English province to St. Aidan? What does not the Diocese of Lahore owe to its first Bishop, who lived on so high a level of unworldliness, and was so completely emancipated from the trammels of ecclesiastical and party spirit? Our confidence in bidding God-speed to the first Bishop of Lucknow to-day is in some measure due to the conviction that another has been found in the ranks of the great Missionary Society which gave us Bishop French who will emulate his evangelistic fervour, his superiority to shibboleths and ecclesiastical fashions, his devotion to the primitive and genuinely Catholic ideal.

Progress in North India.

The Statistical Tables of Protestant Missions in India give the numbers of Native Christians in Calcutta and its environs at the close of 1851, 1871, and 1890, to have been respectively 6,410, 10,009, and 11,223 (in 1890, the communicants were 4,018); in Bengal, exclusive of Calcutta, the numbers were 6,637, 9,970, and 14,173 (in 1890 there were 4,137 communicants); in Behar, which includes Bhagalpur, they were 172, 1,241, and 908 (in 1890, the communicants were 406); and in the Santal Pergunnahs, in 1871 and 1890, they were 905 and 10,682 (in 1890, the communicants were 5,208). In the North-West Provinces and Oudh the Christians were 1,667, 6,989, and 30,321 in 1851, 1871, and 1890 respectively (the communicants in 1890 were 14,722); in Central India, including Indore, Berars, and the Central Provinces, they were 35, 455, and 1,328 (communicants in 1890 were 585); and in Rajputana they were in 1871 and 1890 respectively 494 and 1,683 (communicants in the latter year being 568).

The Committee have appointed the Rev. Philip Ireland Jones to succeed Bishop Clifford in the Secretaryship of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee; and they have appointed the Rev. H. D. Williamson to be Acting Secretary during the absence from India of Mr. Ireland Jones, who has come home on furlough.

Death of Rev. W. R. Blackett,

The Rev. W. R. Blackett, who for eight years, from 1876 to 1884, had charge of the Calcutta Divinity School, died in March, 1893. In 1881, Mr. Blackett was appointed one of the representatives of the Missionary Body in India on the Government Education Commission. After his retirement from Missionary service he held the living of Holy Trinity, Nottingham, until 1891, when he was appointed Principal of the Home and Colonial Training Institution, in which capacity he had the privilege, which he much appreciated, of assisting many in their preparation for labour in the Mission-field. Mr. Blackett went out to Metlakahtla in 1886, at the invitation of the Committee, as co-delegate with General Touch, to settle difficulties which at that time beset the Mission there. Mrs. Dyson, the wife of another former Principal of the Divinity School, the Rev. Dr. S. Dyson, the much-respected Vice-Principal of the Society's Islington College, died in May. Mrs. Dyson was the daughter of the Rev. C. H. Blumhardt, another old Bengal Missionary, and sister of a third, the Rev. E. K. Blumhardt.

and Mrs. Dyson.

Reinforcements.

Two clergymen and one layman have joined the Mission, designated by the Committee to form a band of Associated Evangelists for Calcutta and neighbourhood. They are the Rev. Charles Bird Clarke, B.A., Corpus Christi College and Ridley Hall, Cambridge, Curate of the Parish Church, Islington; the Rev. John Francis Hewitt, student of Islington College, who was ordained deacon by the Bishop of London on Trinity Sunday, June 12, 1892, and read the Gospel at the Ordination; and Mr. Frank Wright Bourdillon, an Artist by profession. Miss Emily J. Neele, daughter of the Rev. A. P. Neele, Vicar of Bristol, formerly of this Mission, and niece of Miss H. J. Neele, has also been added to the staff. There have returned to the Mission the Rev. Jani Alli, the Rev. G. H. and Mrs. Parsons, the Rev. W. H. and Mrs. Ball, the Rev. H. and Mrs. Brown, and Miss H. J. Neele. Besides the Rev. P. Ireland and Mrs. Jones, Miss Margaret Hall has come home on furlough.

Ordinations.

On December 18, 1892, the Bishop of Calcutta admitted the Revs. C. H. Bradburn, F. B. Gwinn, and H. J. Jackson to Priest's Orders, and Babu Horish Dey to Deacon's Orders.

The Bengal Central Church Council met at Calcutta on March 3, the Bishop of Calcutta, as on previous occasions, presiding.

CALCUTTA.

Calcutta.

The Committee have been thankful to send out a small band of Associated Evangelists to labour in the vast city of Calcutta, containing with its suburbs no less than a million of inhabitants. The sphere of labour on which in due time, after studying the language, they will enter, has been well set forth in successive appeals for such a band of workers which the Missionaries labouring in Calcutta have written. The Rev. W. H. Ball wrote:—

Circulation of low-class Western literature.

In Calcutta the people are familiar not only with the best side of Western civilisation and literature, but also its worst. My experience leads me to think that there is not so much atheistic literature circulated in India as is sometimes imagined. A far greater evil is the low-class English novels and cheap books which are read by so many. The attacks on Christianity which appear in our magazines, the scandals which are published at such length in our daily papers, all find their way to India, are copied into their papers, and sometimes translated into the vernacular.

It must also be remembered that Calcutta is a port into which ships come from all nations, it is also a garrison town; and with every desire to acknowledge the many exceptions there are, yet it must be confessed that the resident Christian population, the sailors and soldiers, do not show forth those signs of a true Christian life which are calculated to attract and win the non-Christians to Christ. Christianity also is not a novelty, and many fancy they know all about it and are inclined to treat it as a twice-told tale.

Opportunities for Missionary Work.

Hundreds of young students come to Calcutta every year. They are bright, eager young men, always ready to hear something new. Coming from Hindu homes in the country, they are often strangers in Calcutta, living in hostels, with no religious restraints, surrounded by temptation on every side. Of the future only one thing is certain, and that is, that their faith in Hinduism will in a great measure be destroyed by a Western education. They may go forth into the battle of life with faith destroyed, evil habits contracted, dissatisfied with their surroundings, centres of evil influence; or they may be influenced by Christianity, and if not won definitely for Christ, they will yet go forth on the side of truth and morality. Here is a noble field for the Christian worker; requiring love, for they are quick discerners of character; patience, for there will be many disappointments; faith to believe that no true work can be in vain.

Besides these, there are many of the poorer classes who speak Hindi. We work amongst these, but only in a very half-hearted way. But the results have shown that they are very accessible to the Gospel. And there are also thousands of the Bengali middle classes, shopkeepers, servants, workmen, people who come to Calcutta for a time, pilgrims and others, who would be reached in Bengali.

And a letter addressed to members of Cambridge University and signed by several of the Missionaries:—

Young Bengal.

The Bengalis are the most quick-witted and pushing of the people of India. They lead in all the principal intellectual and moral movements of the day, and the best and most vigorous brains of Young Bengal are to be found in Calcutta. The University of Calcutta has at present 4,930 members who are reading for the First Arts Examination and B.A. and M.A. Degrees. Of these 3,090 are studying in the capital itself. Besides these, there are the thousands who have gone through the University course, or part of it, and are now practising in professions, or employed in Government offices. With this in view you will perceive how important it is to make Calcutta a powerful centre for evangelistic work. To put Christian teaching into Calcutta is to leaven the whole lump of India. To establish in it a pure, strong, intelligent, thoroughly converted Christian community, is to build the city of God on a hill where it cannot be hid.

The present seems to be an exceptionally opportune time for strengthening our work in Calcutta. For many years past disintegrating influences have been at work. Caste has been loosened. Prejudices have been dispelled. Christian light has more and more permeated through all ranks of society. The result is that among the upper, middle, and lower classes we are finding both men and women more accessible to the Truth, and a larger number of converts are being won to Christ. There can be no question but that the minds and hearts of many in Calcutta are being touched by God's Spirit. A harvest is ripening. If reapers are sent forth it may soon be gathered in.

Evangelistic Work.

The Rev. I. W. Charlton, before his removal to Krishnagar at the end of the year, had the superintendence of the Evangelistic Work in the city of Calcutta and in the neighbouring villages. The Church Missionary Association expends yearly about Rs. 3200 on Native agents and buildings. All expenses connected with eight schools for low-caste Hindus and Mohammedans, the rent of a school for girls in Amherst Street, and the salaries of a Hindu preacher and of two domestic readers, are paid by this fund. The Calcutta branches of the Gleaners' Union—of which there are seven, all formed since September, 1891—support a catechist who is also the editor of a small monthly periodical, the Bengali Gleaner, which has a circulation of over 500. Monthly Missionary lectures in connexion with the Union are given at Trinity Church. Mr. Charlton says the Union has greatly quickened missionary interest among both Europeans and Bengalis. Besides the agents already mentioned, Mr. Charlton had several other native preachers under his supervision who visited the homes of the people and the sick in the hospitals, and in the evenings preached in the streets of the city. The Voluntary Workers' Union has twenty-five Bengali and six Eurasian members, by whom several out-door meetings are conducted weekly throughout the year. Indeed, Mr. Charlton says that almost as much preaching was done during 1892 by voluntary workers as by the paid agents. The Union has two mission-halls, in Sobha Bazaar and in Borro Bazaar. The latter place is inhabited by a race of Hindi-speaking traders who differ entirely in dress, appearance, and in character from the Bengalis, and who have hitherto been neglected by Christian workers; to this place the Eurasian members of the Union, most of whom are acquainted with either Hindi or Urdu, go weekly. A grant from the Postmen and Telegraph Christian Association in England enabled Mr. Charlton to employ a catechist for work among men engaged in Post-office employ. Mr. Charlton prepared on paper a plan for systematically visiting every house in the northern portion of Calcutta. He found, however, that the number of native volunteers for the work of visiting the 231 districts he had mapped out was not sufficient to work the plan completely. He and Mrs. Charlton, with the latter's two Bible-women, accompanied the catechist in a month's itinerating among the villages south of Calcutta, travelling in boats. Mr. Charlton says:—

Voluntary Preachers.

House-to-house Visitation.

> We found the people intensely ignorant, but fairly well off, as they get large and regular crops of rice, and so, although we were able to make little impression on them, so quickly passing through, we were able to sell hundreds of portions of Scripture. During the cold season Rs. 70 worth were sold; and when it is remembered that the greater number of them are sold for one pice (the quarter of an anna, or the sixty-fourth of a rupee), it will be seen that this represents a very large number. At first the people always objected, saying, "We can't read;" to which we answered, "Then what do you do when you get a letter from a distant relative?" "Oh, we go to some one who can read and get it read to us," which immediately suggested to them a sufficient reason for doing the same with God's letter about their eternal welfare. But this sort of seed-sowing has to be done in patience, and the harvest to be waited for, but it is a harvest which must come.

Sale of Scriptures.

Baptisms.

During this tour a young Mohammedan accepted the Gospel; he was baptized in April, 1892, but was subsequently removed by his relatives. A few months earlier, in December, 1891, Mr. Charlton baptized a young Mohammedan, of good family, named Myai Uddin Ahmed. He had listened to Gospel preaching in order to create a disturbance, and had read the Bible in order to criticise, but was gradually led to desire salvation in Christ. In the same month two converts of the C.E.Z.M.S. were baptized, one, a young Brahmin lady, at the Old Church, and the other at Christ Church. And in the former church a Hindi-speaking youth, aged 17, was baptized in October. The Rev. R. K. Bose, whose work is among the Educated Natives of the city and suburbs, finds a ready hearing for his message, and believes that there is a great awakening among thoughtful and educated people in Calcutta. Many of the gentlemen he meets are familiar, he says, with the various phases of Western infidelity, and are conversant with such works as those of Mill, Huxley, Darwin, Tyndal, Hume, Bain, Comte, Tom Paine, Colenso, Herbert Spencer, Francis Newman, Parker, Olcott, and others. He is also acquainted with some who, though not baptized, have daily prayers in their homes and offer their worship in the Name of Christ. A small congregation of about thirty aborigines from Chota Nagpore, chiefly scavengers in the employ of the municipality, worship in Entally Church, where the service is in Hindi. The Rev. A. Stark, who had the sorrow of losing one of his daughters in the spring of 1892, has charge of this work as well as of Trinity Church and the Leper Asylum. In the congregation worshipping at Trinity Church he perceives a growth in grace, but the exercise of discipline was necessary, in which the support of the Bishop of Calcutta was gratefully appreciated. A three days' spiritual conference was held for the workers in connexion with this church in January, 1892, and addresses were delivered by Messrs. Clifford, Charlton, Gouldsmith, Bose, and Chandra. The subject considered was "The Holy Spirit in me, and the work of the Holy Spirit in my work." A weekly service is held in the church of the Leper Asylum. Mr. Stark says:—

Educated Natives.

Spiritual Conference.

Leper Asylum.

> I have taken a weekly service here, and have also regularly administered the Communion at stated times. It is very cheering to see how much the poor lepers appreciate their weekly service, how hearty they are in the prayers and singing, and how attentive to the sermon, often shaking their heads in approval, and sometimes giving vent to an exclamation. One adult leper has been baptized.

The Mohammedan Mission also was temporarily under Mr. Stark's charge during the furlough of the Rev. Jani Alli, who returned to Calcutta in the autumn. In the Hindustani service, held in the Old Church, Mr. Stark had the help of the Rev. Katwara Lal. There are some forty communicants in this congregation. The ministrations of the Rev. H. Gouldsmith at the Old Church are increasingly appreciated by the Eurasian community and by the English residents in Calcutta. The offertories, which amounted in 1888 to Rs. 5180, were Rs. 6719 in 1892. More frequent administrations of the Lord's Supper account largely, doubtless, for the increase from 1,902 to 3,112 in the number who communicated during the two years respectively.

Old Church.

Again it has to be said that no report has been received of the Boys' Boarding School. Miss Alice Sampson was in charge of the Girls' Boarding School until Miss H. J. Neele returned from furlough at the beginning of 1893, and was much encouraged by the results of examinations; out of 30 girls sent up for the 4th, 5th, and 6th Government standards in Bengali, 23 passed, more than half being in the first division. Miss Sampson writes in terms of high commendation of the four Bengali teachers, all former pupils, who are not only faithful and hardworking in the educational work, but also strive, she says, with real self-denial to lead the girls to follow in the Saviour's footsteps. Of one old and one present pupil Miss Sampson writes:—

Girls' Boarding School.

There is one of whom I would tell, whose brief life-work was ended less than a month ago. Her mother, a Brahmin convert, died a year or two ago of consumption, leaving two daughters S. and A. The elder was one of our first pupils when we opened our school at Christ Church Parsonage, ten years ago. The mother prayed much for these two girls, and for dear S. her prayers were abundantly answered; she gave her heart to the Lord, and many can testify how real her Christianity was. Last year she left school, and went to Benares to teach in a school for Hindu girls belonging to the I.F.N.S. Mission, as it was thought better for her to be in a drier climate than Bengal. She was very happy in her work there, but it was not to be for long, the Lord was calling her, and in November last she became too ill to work any longer, and was taken to the Converts' Home at Barrackpore, to spend her last days there. But God so blessed that dear girl's work at Benares, that she was the means of leading one of her little pupils to the knowledge of the Saviour; and this little one was the means of bringing her mother also to Jesus, and now both have been baptized. S. was one of our "Gleaners," and she has proved a very true one. We are praying much for A., the little sister who is left. She feels her sister's loss deeply, and I do trust it may be God's way of answering her mother's prayers for her too.

A true "Gleaner."

We have among our boarders one who was baptized only a year ago. She is a fruit of the Zenana missionaries' work; her heart was touched while being taught in her own home, and after waiting until she was of age (eighteen), she left her home early one morning, was received by the Zenana missionaries, and baptized at once by Mr. Clifford. She has had to endure some most trying interviews with her Hindu relatives, who were deeply attached to her: on one occasion she was beaten and kicked by her grandmother, and her gold bangles roughly torn off her hands, although she had never before received any but the most loving treatment from her. She remained firm, and was kept in the most perfect peace the whole time. She came here to school a week after her baptism, and has fitted into her place among her Christian schoolfellows in a wonderful way. She is most anxious to learn, but still more anxious to know what is right, and to do it. The Bible is her constant study, and the questions she asks about what she reads show much spiritual intelligence. It is worth while coming to India to teach such pupils!

"Beaten and kicked by her grandmother."

Agarpara Orphanage.

The inmates of the Agarpara Orphanage increased from 77 to 99, most of the new comers being from Nuddea. The health record of the year, in contrast with that of 1891, was a good one, though cholera and dysentery were frequently close at hand. Miss E. M. Hall says:—

We have four Bible-classes daily, and three classes on Sundays. The first prayer in the morning, and the prayer before lying down at night, is offered by a girl chosen in turn from the number, all joining in the Lord's Prayer. Some of the small ones can say a prayer extempore very carefully. We have been trying to encourage the girls to read their Bibles privately, but it is almost impossible to discover who do and who do not.

The C.E.Z.M.S. has eleven European lady Missionaries engaged in Calcutta and neighbourhood, besides some eighteen ladies in local connexion and numerous Bible-women and Native teachers. Two ladies, Miss Hunt and Miss E. T. Sampson, are attached to the Normal School; three, Miss S. Mulvany, Miss Hensley, and Miss Bardsley, to work among Mohammedans; four, Miss Highton, Miss Valpy, Miss Evans, and Miss Marks, are engaged at Baranagore and Agarpara; and two, Miss Rainsford-Hannay and Miss Cowley, are at Howrah.

BURDWAN.

A new church, in lieu of the one erected by the late Rev. J. J. Weitbrecht in 1847, and in a much better position, was built during the year. The Rev. A. J. Santer says :—

Burdwan.

I cannot adequately describe the advantages gained by having the new church in its present position. It stands at the corner of the Grand Trunk Road and the Raneegunge Bazaar Road, where the greatest amount of traffic takes place, and where it is seen by everyone. All the people going to the courts must pass it. It is within easy reach of the Babus' houses, and many of them have expressed their intention of attending the services of the church as soon as it is opened. In fact, when the foundations were being cut according to the original plan, some of the Babus complained that the church would be so small that there would be no room for them! I took the hint and at once lengthened the building by thirteen feet before the cost of doing so would be too great.

Babus complain that new Church is too small.

Lectures by Mr. Monro, C.B.

In July, Mr. James Monro, C.B., by Mr. Santer's invitation, delivered two lectures in Burdwan, which were attended by some 200 people, among whom were a large number of Babus and of students of the Raj College. Both lectures were listened to with deep attention. Mr. Santer wrote of the second one :—

The interest was intense. For fully an hour not a sound could be heard but the speaker's voice, except for applause here and there. It was a grand lecture. Mr. Monro led the people to see how far modern Hinduism had departed from the simplicity of the Vedas; what a great achievement it would be to return to the Vedic times; but in thus returning, if done thoroughly, honestly and completely, such anti-Vedic institutions as idolatry, priestly supremacy, caste, subjection of woman, must be swept away. Were they prepared to take for their motto "Deeds not words"?

The conclusion was listened to with breathless attention. Return to the Vedic religion would be a retrogression which would amount to a mighty advance on present times; but after all when the highest height of the Vedas had been reached, men would find there a blank which would leave the human heart still yearning. That blank was the want of a mediator between God and man—a want felt in every heart, and illustrated but recently in the desire of some Brahmos to instal the late Babu Keshub Chunder Sen in that office. But that blank was already filled, and filled to perfection and absolutely, by Jesus Christ. It is impossible to summarise the lecture in a manner worthy of its subject, its words, or its delivery. We hope soon to see it in print. These lectures now form the topic of debate and conversation all over the town. May the seed thus sown germinate in many a heart, and spring up, not merely into Vedic reformation life, but into that eternal life which is to know God and Jesus Christ whom He has sent!

An "At Home."

On the day which intervened between the delivery of the two lectures Mr. Santer invited the élite of Burdwan society to an "At Home" at the Mission House, of which he wrote:—

Most of the Bengali gentlemen partook of refreshments in the shape of tea or lemonade and cake. All had an opportunity for a personal chat with Mr. Monro. Some of the Bengali gentlemen had known him in his official Indian days, or their fathers had, perhaps, served under him. All were eager to meet one whom they honoured for the work he is doing. As one Babu, on the previous evening, when moving a vote of thanks, put it, "We see in him one who, after twenty-five years of labour among us, might have retired to enjoy a well-earned rest at home; but who, instead, has returned to India to spend his life for the good of our countrymen."

Some of the students of the Raj College attend Bible-classes with much regularity, and Mr. Santer is very hopeful regarding them. When any of them proceed to Calcutta for their B.A. course of studies, he furnishes them with letters of introduction to one of the Calcutta missionaries. The out-station at Asensol, opened for work among the "Bowrie class," has been given up to the Methodist Episcopal Mission, which has a missionary stationed there.

Miss E. Mulvany, Miss M. Smith, and Miss K. Edwards, of the C.E.Z.M.S., are stationed at Burdwan.

NUDDEA DISTRICT.

Special Mission at Chupra.

The Nuddea District Church Council held its meetings at Kapasdanga on March 9, 1892. In May a Special Mission was conducted at Chupra by the Rev. I. W. Charlton and Mr. Arthur Le Feuvre, assisted by Mrs. Charlton and by Miss Dawe of the C.E.Z.M.S. The Rev. P. Ireland Jones, the Superintending Missionary, wrote:—

The pastors respectively of the two parishes (Revs. Thomas Biswas and Koilash Dey) for weeks beforehand endeavoured to stir all hearts to readiness for the approaching "Mission," and at length, on the last day of April, the two missioners, and Mrs. Charlton and Miss Dawe, reached Chupra, looking forward to beginning work on Sunday, May 1. The main plan was this. A daily morning service at 5 A.M., which secured a very fair number of field-workers before sunrise; a Bible-reading at 3.30 P.M. for workers; an evening service and after-meeting at seven. Besides these regular occasions of meetings daily, we had four special meetings for women, with an average attendance of ninety present. These were taken by Miss Dawe. The morning addresses were given by Mr. Charlton, and were clear and simple statements of Christian truth, aptly illustrated from the daily life of the hearers, passing from foundation teaching on sin to the work of the Divine Spirit in men. The Bible-readings fell to the lot of the Superintending Missionary. Mr. Le Feuvre's evening addresses were thoughtful and direct statements of human frailty and need, as seen in the sins of head, heart, hand, eye, foot. There was also a special message for parents from him, as of one whose heart is deeply moved for the children of India. Besides these gatherings, the boys in the school, the village cowherds, and the other children all had opportunities of hearing in simple words the story of the love of God to His children.

And now for a few words as to the response of the hearers to all these efforts on their behalf. The attendance was good, sometimes large; attention was well maintained; after-meetings were not "thin" or formal. The latter are not easy to manage in India, where lip profession is so easy. No opportunity was given for any public testimony, but ejaculatory prayer was invited. Several persons were distinctly helped; many, alas! remained as they were, except for added responsibility; all have had a new ideal, or rather the old ideal re-presented for realisation, and "the Day" alone shall reveal all the issues of those ten days of the Chupra Mission. The women were invited to offer themselve for occasional work as volunteers, for preaching visits with the Bible-women to non-Christians, and twenty-one responded. The faith of the pastor provided thirty-one dhan-haries (earthen pots) for collecting rice-offerings for Church work, but they were all taken, and fourteen more later on, and still more are being asked for. Mr. Parsons gave out dhan-haries long ago, but our people soon grew lax in the privilege of giving. A weekly prayer-meeting, and also a preaching by the agents at Chupra, has been also agreed upon. And now with thanksgiving and prayer for blessing, and also forgiveness, we commend into God's Hand this His Work done in His Name.

Offers of voluntary help.

Mr. Ireland Jones has been succeeded as Superintendent of the district by Mr. Charlton, who wrote, upon taking up his new sphere, that Mrs. Charlton and he did not regard it as a change from evangelistic to pastoral work, so much as a change from one sort of evangelistic work to another. "Here," he said, "our aim will be to seek to evangelize the heathen through the Christian Church. We look upon the Native Christians not only as sheep of His pasture to be shepherded and fed, but as soldiers of His army, to be drilled and taught to fight." He asks—and the Committee gladly repeat his request, for no more important and responsible work is to be found in the Mission field—that they may be remembered in prayer.

"Soldiers to be drilled and taught to fight."

Twenty-two students were in the Training School in the town of Krishnagar, and four went out of the school to take up work in various Mission Schools during the year. Ten passed the Government examination out of thirteen presented, eight of them, however, being placed in the third division. The Rev. E. T. Butler says:—

Training School.

> As an exhibition of intellectual power one is, of course, dissatisfied with this result, yet we have to remember that our lads have no hereditary intellectual prestige to fall back upon like the Hindus. For generations their ancestors have been agriculturists, and been far more familiar with the plough and its accompaniments than with book-lore. Even to-day many of their parents can neither read nor write.
> Upon the training which bears more particularly upon their Christian life, one cannot lay too much stress. With regard to this one must leave the future to test the work of the present. Here, with few temptations surrounding them, edged in by school discipline, and with regular periods set apart for devotion, it is sometimes difficult to ascertain the inner working of the boys' hearts. In my addresses I always take as the beginning and end of my teaching, "Jesus Christ, as Saviour, Prophet, and King."

An industrial school is under formation in which, at the close of the year, six boys were receiving lessons in either tailoring, blacksmithing, or carpentry. The Girls' Boarding School at Krishnagar, a C.M.S. institution worked by Miss Annie Sampson of the C.E.Z.M.S., was quite full with 32 children at the close of the year. All the children who can read are members of the Children's Scripture Union. Evangelistic Work is carried on in Krishnagar town and district under the Rev. W. Wallace, who writes :—

Girls' Boarding School.

"A great and widespread change."

A very great and widespread change is being gradually brought about. Amongst our preachers is one H., who, as a Hindu, belonged to a good caste. He has a Kulin (superior rank) relative at M. He went to call on her recently, when we were together at M. In the evening he came back greatly pleased, and told me the following in conversation : "Now and again my brother K. (a Christian) and I have come to see this relative. Hitherto when she used to hear of our arrival, she never would allow us to cross her door, sending word to us to go to such and such a neighbour's verandah ; she would come there, and, with more or less formality, grant us an interview. She would then go back to her house, and we would come away. On this occasion, however, she invited me into the house, gave me the best place, and, in a word, freely received me. I noticed too, on the wall, amongst other pictures (such pictures are generally of heathen deities), a picture of Christ in a prominent position." All who know Hindus and caste will recognize that this is something more than a merely true incident, it is also a significant one.

A picture of Christ in a Hindu house.

Again, at a village near this, named Balegram, I had been preaching last year ; after leaving, a Hindu accosted me, and begged me to send a Christian teacher and establish a school there (the same request was on two other occasions made me at other places). I said I would mention the matter, but did not think that the Society at present could open new schools. Some conversation then ensued, in which I complained of Hindu unwillingness to hear with the heart. I suppose I somehow intimated, too, that there was no visible result of our work, no advance. He very earnestly answered : "Is that what you think ? The change is tremendous. Ten years ago—no ! five years ago—I would have thought it a sin to look at you ; if I had touched you I would have gone off at once to wash in Ganges water. Now here I ask you to establish a school and take charge of our children. I talk with you, touch you, and esteem it no fault."

Lectures to English-speaking Babus.

Lectures to English-speaking Babus were much appreciated. Mr. Butler says of them :—

The lectures were as follows :—"The Equation of Religion," by Babu Kali C. Banerji, M.A., B.L. ; "Restlessness," "Intellectualism," "The Policy of Compromise as an Expedient in Religion," "Retrogressive Progress," "The Universality of the Christian Religion," and "The Development of Hinduism," by J. Monro, Esq., C.B. ; "The Age of Error and Salvation," by Mr. Wallace ; "Traits of a True Religion," by the Rev. P. Ireland Jones ; "The Easter Message," by the Rev. H. Whitehead ; "The Second Crucfixion of Christ," by Mr. Charlton ; "Immortality," by the Rev. A. Tomory ; "The First Step Godwards," by myself ; and two Bengali lectures on "Light" and "Resurrection," given by our two brothers, the Rev. T. Biswas and the Rev. Koilash C. Dey. We are exceedingly thankful to Mr. Monro for his sympathy in the work. He delivered six of the lectures, which created a deal of questioning amongst some Babus, and a more careful examination of the Shastras by others.

Much questioning created.

Mr. Monro's plan of taking them back to their own Shastras, and showing their inconsistencies, and also their own neglect of the same, has much to commend it. We missionaries ought to have such an acquaintance of the Shastras as would enable us to do the same when necessity required it. The lectures, Mr. Monro's in particular, called forth a number of counter lectures in the town. Two Shanasis, an Aryan Somajite, and a follower of Choytana ventilated their ideas in lectures, which we attended. It was wonderful how near the last one came to Christianity.

As the outcome of these lectures, two Bible-classes have been opened, one for F.A. and B.A. students and others, and the other for the Entrance Class students. These have been fairly well attended, the averages being nine and sixteen. Mr. Monro kindly took the former class.

Two adult converts were baptized, one from Hinduism and one, a woman, from Mohammedanism. The case of the former was thus related in the North India localised Gleaner:

Instructed by a fellow-student.

On Sunday, April 3, a young Hindu, Nogendra Nath Sircar, was admitted into the Church of Christ by baptism at Krishnagar. He was brought to a knowledge of the Saviour through the instrumentality of one of the Normal School students, who three years ago had been his fellow-student in Calcutta. After they parted company, these two continued to correspond, and the Christian young man did not forget to urge upon his friend the claims of Christ. About two months ago Nogendra's father, who is a Sanskrit pundit, ordered his son to visit the shrines sacred to Hinduism in Northern India. Nogendra communicated his intention to his friend; whereupon a reply was sent pointing out the uselessness of making such a tour, and inviting him to come and learn about Jesus Christ. He came and learnt. The grasp which Nogendra soon had of the elementary truths of our holy religion pointed to the presence of the Divine Teacher and also illustrated Tertullian's saying about man being "naturaliter Christianus." After five weeks' instruction, it was felt that he was ready to put on Christ in baptism. A week before the date fixed for the event, he wrote to his father telling him his intentions. The father's reply was characteristic as pointing to a change of front on the part of intelligent Hindus: "If you are really converted, I shall raise no objection to your baptism." At the baptism the student who had been instrumental in bringing Nogendra to the Saviour, stood his chief witness, and our young friend chose Philip as his Christian name. As a Christian named Philip had brought him to the Saviour, may we not hope that Philip may be a missionary and lead his friends to Christ?

A Hindu father raises no objection to his son's baptism.

Associated Evangelists.

The Rev. A. G. Lockett, the leader of the Associated Evangelists who labour around Santirajpur, is the only one of the band who has forwarded an Annual Letter. The year, he says, was without stirring incidents, and there were no baptisms, yet he is assured that good, steady work was done, the fruits of which will most certainly be found later. Mr. Le Feuvre, a member of the band, had a very merciful escape in February, 1893, from a very terrible death. He was attacked by a mad jackal, which had already bitten several people. For two minutes the beast was furiously biting at him. It was eventually killed, and only one very slight bruise was found on Mr. Le Feuvre, although his clothes were torn to shreds.

Escape from a terrible death.

In the town of Krishnagar, besides Miss Annie Sampson, of the Boarding School, the C.E.Z.M.S. has Miss Collison and Miss

E. Sampson; at Bollobhpur the ladies of the Nuddea Village Mission reside, viz., Miss Dawe, Miss Brown, and Miss Owles; and at Chupra Miss Adams has the Widows' Training Class.

SANTALIA.

(Commenced 1860.)

Visitation by Bishop Whitley.

THE Bishop of Chota Nagpur (Bishop Whitley), acting for the Bishop of Calcutta, admitted Mr. Joel Barsa Hembron to deacon's orders on January 29, 1893. During his visitation he also confirmed 119 candidates at Taljhari, and dedicated a church at Lakhipur. The Bishop wrote in the Taljhari Record-book, "I have greatly enjoyed my visit to this interesting Mission. I have learnt much, and thank the Missionaries for their kindness. May God keep and bless them all!"

Pastorates.

The Rev. F. T. Cole, whose return to the Mission at the request of the Committee after a very brief furlough was mentioned in last year's Annual Report, had a bad attack of malarial fever a few months after reaching India. He took a sea voyage to Singapore, but was eventually obliged to come home once more. Mr. Cole was much encouraged by nearly all he saw of the Pastorates. "With one or two exceptions," he wrote, "the Native brethren have done their duty nobly, working on day by day patiently." And again, "Taken as a whole the Christians have this year given nobly, not only to the Church collections, but also in the first-fruits and harvest offerings." The Rev. D. M. Brown, who was married to Miss L. Legg in February, 1893, was associated with Mr. Cole, and though, as he says, having a very imperfect acquaintance with the vernacular, he could do but little, he was privileged to see much. He writes:—

> Here, in Santalia, is a young Christian Church learning to walk alone. And although it is mainly those who are "behind the scenes" who see many walk of whom they think and speak, "even weeping," it is also true that perhaps only they fully realise what a wonderful work of steady progress is going on in the Native Church, both with regard to outward organisation and inward development.
> It has been my privilege to visit, with Mr. Cole, many distant villages, and to unite in devout worship with the Santhals in their mud and thatch churches. I have also seen a great deal of house-to-house visitation and other kinds of pastoral work by the European missionary. But I can truthfully say that whether in the joyous harvest festival, when Christians gather together from miles around, or whether in the visitation of some solitary Christian family, often living miles away from others, I have been rejoiced at the evidence of real religion; and I only wonder, when their limited opportunities are considered, that the level and tone of the Native Church is as high as it is.

Twenty-one pupils of the Taljhari Boys' Boarding School were baptized during the year after special instruction for at least a year in all cases. The age of most of them is about seventeen.

Twenty-two others are under preparation for baptism. The Rev. C. H. Bradburn, now at home, was greatly encouraged by the interest taken in the work by the Native Christian teachers.

The Rev. A. J. Shields left the Mission for England in April, 1892, and he has been appointed Association Secretary for the Central Division of Ireland. Since his departure the charge of the GODDA district has fallen on the Rev. F. Etheridge. At Godda services are held in three languages—Santali, Hindi, and Pahari. The out-stations for Pahari work are Rattanpur, Sogedih, Ladda, and Kalhajor. Mr. Etheridge's Annual Letter was written while itinerating among the Paharis. He says:— Godda. Work among Paharis.

At present I am encamped in a valley with a range of hills on both sides; there is no road, so tents and all impedimenta have to be carried by coolies. They tell me that a white man has never been seen here before. The women and children are tremendously afraid of me, and flee for their lives at my approach; however, they overcome their timidity after a bit, and then look at our large coloured Bible-pictures, and listen to us with great interest. During the last week or so, work among them has been difficult, owing to the keeping of one of their festivals. They make a huge quantity of intoxicating liquor from Indian corn or other grain, and then the whole village, men, women, and children, go in for a regular debauch, all drunk together, vomiting, and falling over one another. Several villages club together, and then they have one of these bouts in each village in succession. White man never seen before.

The Pahari Boarding School had nine unbaptized boys when Mr. Etheridge wrote, but he described them as "bright young Christians, with quite an enthusiasm for Christ," and five of them were baptized on Christmas Day shortly after he wrote.

The Rev. J. Brown, of BAHAWA, had charge of a Preparandi Class of five members, one of whom was the candidate for deacon's orders referred to above. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, with Miss Leffler of the C.E.Z.M.S. and four Bible-women, itinerated in the cold season. Ten adults were baptized at the beginning of 1893. Mr. Brown says:— Preparandi Class.

During February and March there have been nineteen baptisms here, ten of the baptized being adults—Santhals and Paharis—of the neighbouring villages and hills. Will readers pray for us that we may have more of the mind and spirit of Christ, that His Kingdom may increase more and more among these tribes and their neighbours the Hindus and others in these parts? A persecuting spirit sometimes shows itself. One man was recently deprived of all his patrimony (17½ bigahs of land) by his aged heathen mother-in-law, who does not approve of his being a Christian. Another Christian man, when paying his rent to the heathen and drunken headman of the village, was abused and told to flee and find a home elsewhere. Another has had a case secretly and maliciously reported against him by the same heathen headman, happily without any proof whatever. It will be a happy time for Santhalia when it shall be wholly Christian and sober. It is a common and well-known fact that village business is never transacted by the headmen and their punchayets (or only in very rare instances) unless they have the intoxicating rice-beer to drink. The Christians hated for their sobriety and integrity.

Christians are hated by the heathen headmen, simply because they do not make rice-beer for the headman's use. The opposition shown by Christians to the taking of bribes is another reason why they are disliked. In fact, the righteousness of Christianity makes it unpopular. But this is nothing new.

Mrs. Brown has charge of the Bahawa Girls' Boarding School, with eighty boarders. The behaviour of the girls was generally very good, and several caused unfeigned pleasure by their Christian conduct. She says:—

> One girl having received a small money prize for examination in the "Pilgrim's Progress," gave part of it to the Church collection, and she wrote to her father that God had helped her to write the paper, and it was only right that she should show her gratitude by giving part of the reward to His work. Another girl, who with her widowed mother and her little brothers and sisters are the only Christians in their village, told me she did long and pray that the heathen there might learn to know and love the Lord Jesus, and she added, "I do tell them all I can when I am at home in the holidays, but, Mem Saheb, will you also pray for them?"
> In the early part of the year a heathen girl from a village twelve miles away, in which there is one Christian family, asked for admission to the school, which we gladly gave, though I was afraid she would not stay. However, she did, and the next term brought her cousin with her. The Scripture teaching they have received has not been in vain, for when I was at Sarjomghutu during the Christmas holidays, I saw them both in church there, having walked three miles to be present at and take part in the services, and this they did each Sunday during the holidays. They also told one of the Christians that since they had been in the school they felt no desire to go to the village dancing, but when that was going on and all the girls were there, they went to bed. This little incident, trivial as it may seem, is most encouraging. For the dancing, with the evils inseparably connected with it, is one of the greatest hindrances to the young girls becoming Christians, as they are passionately fond of it.

BHAGALPUR.

Bhagalpur.

The Rev. J. A. Cullen explains the geographical relation between Bhagalpur, of which the town of Bhagalpur is the capital, and the Santal Pergunnahs, and pleads for more labourers for the populous province of Behar, in which both are situated. He says:—

> The province of Behar lies between Bengal and the North-West Provinces, and has a population of 24 millions of people. This is divided into two divisions—Patna with 16 millions, and Bhagulpore with 8 millions. The Santhal Pergunnahs (not Santalia) is a small district in the latter division with 1½ millions of people. Therefore to the remaining 22½ millions of Beharis outside the Santhal Pergunnahs, the C.M.S. has one Mission at Bhagulpore, where one missionary is left to work single-handed. It may be asked, "Are there no missionaries of other societies at work?" Yes. The Baptists have a weak Mission at Patna, and another at Monghyr. Three Mission stations weakly manned! Is that all the Church of Christ thinks it necessary to do for 22½ millions of Beharis? There are thousands of villages in Behar in which the Gospel has never been preached, and millions of men and women who have never heard the Gospel message.

Two associations were formed by natives in Bhagalpur, both which afforded encouragement to Mr. Cullen. One was a "Society for the Moral Training of Young Men." This was started by a number of native gentlemen, who invited Mr. Cullen to become their president, because, as they said in reply to his query as to why they offered the honour to him, "Who is better suited to teach morality than a Christian Missionary?" The other was formed by the Native Christians, and was called the "Angumani Ittihadi Masihi," or Christian Union Association, each member undertaking to do some work for Christ. In the Leper Asylum, which has 49 inmates, there are several candidates for baptism. The Rev. N. R. Bahksh has left the Society's service, and the work at Jamalpur is now carried on by a Catechist.

Miss Haitz and Miss Däuble, of the C.E.Z.M.S., are at this station.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

Agra, 1813; Mirat, 1815; Benares, 1817; Gorakhpur, 1823; Azimgarh and Jaunpur, 1831; Lucknow, 1858; Allahabad, 1859; Faizabad, 1862; Aligarh, 1863.

In the present, as in former Reports, the North-West Provinces are treated as a part of the North India Mission, because the Corresponding Committee—the formation of which was mentioned in the Report for 1891–92—did not hold its first meeting until the close of the year under review, namely, on December 13, 1892. In future Reports (D.V.) the North-West and Central Provinces and Rajputana will be included under a separate Mission, the "North-West Provinces Mission."

Bishop Clifford enthroned at Allahabad.

The ceremony of enthroning Bishop Clifford took place at the Cathedral at Allahabad on January 25th, 1893, before a large congregation. The Bishop of Calcutta, the Metropolitan, preached from Psalm xc. 16. After the service, the Archdeacon of Lucknow, the Rev. Brook Deedes, and the Rev. Dr. W. Hooper addressed a few farewell words to the Metropolitan in the adjacent schoolroom. The following extracts are taken from the report of the Pioneer:—

Address to the Metropolitan.

The Rev. Dr. Hooper (of the Church Missionary Society), as one of the senior missionaries present, added a few words on behalf of the missionary and Native clergy. His own deepest heart's feelings, and he was sure the feelings of them all, were of gratitude to Almighty God, and under Him to the Bishop, for the way in which he had ruled them and directed and helped and strengthened them. The Bishop never allowed the fact that he was a State official to interfere in the slightest degree with his spiritual relationship to the missionary body, which had no connexion at all with the State. The missionaries had always found him taking just as real and deep interest in them and their work as he took in the other clergy of the diocese. He had never made the slightest difference between European and Native. They were grateful for the new Bishop given them, but at the same time they rejoiced to think that they were not passing altogether from under the Metropolitan's care. They were sure of his continued interest, sympathy, and prayers; and they, missionaries and Native clergy, would never cease to remember him in their own poor and unworthy prayers.

The Bishop of Calcutta, in replying, said that it had been a great gratification to him to hear the kind words Dr. Hooper had spoken. He (the speaker) could most truly say that he had loved the Native as he had loved the European; and the keynote of his work had been to insist that Natives, Eurasians, and Europeans must all be absolutely on the same level, according to their qualifications and characters. From the commencement he said that he could have no share in any work that did not acknowledge this; and he trusted that in Northern India, at all events, that question had been settled for ever. The Bishop expressed the belief that the day would come when the Church in India would be entirely served by Native clergy and ruled by Native bishops. He would rejoice if he might live to see the day—but there again a thousand years in God's sight were but as a day. The day might be long distant; but it seemed to him that the lines on which they must work were unmistakable. It was not necessary for the clergy to tell him of their affectionate regard. He knew of it; and the fact that he knew was all that they desired to know. In conclusion, speaking of the new Bishop, he said: "God forbid that anyone should think that everything is to be exactly the same as it has been. Your Bishop has his own faculties, he has his gifts; Oh, welcome them! Never let us rest in our intercessions to Almighty God, and never rest from our labours, until the Church of Christ is made a praise in this country."

Bishop Johnson's hopes for the Indian Church.

The Committee earnestly desire to see the Society's work strengthened and extended in this part of India, where Hinduism presents its most solid and compacted form, believing that an impression produced on Benares and the other sacred cities of the North-West Provinces would rapidly make itself felt throughout India. The following reinforcements have been sent out during the year:—The Rev. William Newby Fraser, Curate of St. Peter's, Wooloomooloo, Sydney, and Mrs. Fraser, sent out by the New South Wales Church Missionary Association; Mr. John Charles Harrison, a student of Islington College; Miss Wilhelmina Beatrice Josephine Wilkinson, daughter of the Rev. J. Wilkinson, for several years Honorary Association Secretary of the Society for Bristol and neighbourhood; Miss Elizabeth Ellen Thompson; Miss Katherine Batten; and Miss Constance Lancaster. In addition to these recruits the Rev. R. J. Kennedy has been transferred from the Punjab Mission to assist in the work at St. John's College, Agra. And another must be mentioned, Miss Helen Wilkinson, who offered to the Society, but was declined on the advice of the Medical Board; she accompanied her cousin, Miss W. B. J. Wilkinson, on her own responsibility.

Reinforcements.

The Missionary Conference met from October 26th to 28th at Lucknow. The day preceding, the 25th, was observed as a "Quiet Day," and the Rev. H. D. Williamson gave three addresses on "Believers as Brethren, Servants, and Friends of Christ." The Rev. G. B. Durrant attributes largely to these devotional meetings before the opening of the business proceedings of the Conference the spirit of harmony and brotherly love which prevailed throughout the Session.

Missionary Conference.

Bishop of Calcutta at Central Church Council.

The N.-W.P. District Church Council met in Allahabad on November 2nd, and the Central Church Council on the following day. The Bishop of Calcutta presided at the commencement of the Central Church Council, and, this being the last occasion he would do so, the Council passed a warm vote of thanks to him for his interest in and care for the progress of the Indian Church.

Death of Mr. Ram Chunder Bose.

The Native Church in North India suffered a serious loss in May, 1892, by the death of Mr. Ram Chunder Bose, whose labours as a scholar, an author, and a lecturer were of great service to the Mission cause. The following notice appeared in the North India localised Gleaner :—

> Mr. Bose, like so many of the most prominent men in the Bengali Christian community, owed his conversion to the influence of Dr. Duff. After his baptism, which took place in 1853, he became a teacher in a school belonging to the L.M.S. at Benares. He did not remain long in this position, however, but after an interval of Government service he joined the Mission staff of the American Episcopal Methodists. He gradually became widely known throughout North India as a writer and an itinerant lecturer on Christianity in its relation to Hinduism ; and there can be few places of importance in the N.-W. Provinces and Bengal where his tall, spare, attenuated figure and eager, intellectual face were not a familiar sight. And where Mr. Bose was known, there he was respected, both by Christians and non-Christians, though he was a keen critic of the religious views and manner of life of both. His lectures were full of vigour, logical acumen, and moral fire. A few years ago Mr. Bose was led to make a special study of Church history and the views on Church organisation and doctrine which prevailed in primitive times. The result was that last year he felt conscientiously bound to leave the Methodist body. He attached himself to the Church of England, and became a member of the Church Missionary Society. His researches in the field of Church history and doctrine were recently published in a very able series of articles in the Indian Church Review. Mr. Bose's character always struck us as a singularly interesting one, and it was of a type perhaps not very commonly found among Bengalis. Its main traits were independence, a restless craving for truth, downright honesty, moral courage, and candour to a degree which made friends as well as antagonists sometimes wince ; but combined with this was a beautiful transparent simplicity and unworldliness, and a humility and self-depreciation which were very touching in one so undoubtedly possessed of intellectual gifts of a high order. His candour and simplicity were sometimes perhaps carried to excess, and led him to proclaim his opinions to the world while they were still in a crude and half-formed stage. It is no exaggeration to say that the Indian Church suffers a serious loss in the death of Ram Chunder Bose.

His influence as a lecturer.

The Rev. G. B. Durrant, the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, was married in September to Miss I. Luce, an honorary lady missionary of the Z.B.M.M. in Oudh.

BENARES.

Benares—"a hard place."

"Benares is a peculiarly hard place in which to work," one of the Missionaries writes. A visit to its ghats and temples and monasteries affords incontestible proof that Hinduism is very far from being dead. The Rev. Dr. C. Baumann, however, remarks :—

Intellectual and moral changes.

A penetration beneath the surface of Hindu society at Kashi discovers great intellectual and moral changes, all tending, as I firmly believe, to a deliverance from its bondage. Conversations held with English-educated Natives elicited not infrequently a high appreciation of the Biblical presentation of the moral nature of God, and of the character and teachings of Christ. But as regards the bulk of the people, to them this city, with all its gross idolatry and false philosophy, is still as it were the gate of heaven. The powerful hold still maintained by Benares upon India is still chiefly in the faith of the thousands of pilgrims who visit the city during all parts of the year to seek relief to their sin-oppressed souls by bathing in its waters and worshipping at its shrines, and it is towards them that one's deepest sympathy is drawn forth.

Increase of lady workers.

The workers (Europeans and natives respectively) of the different societies represented in the City held weekly meetings for prayer in each other's houses by rotation. Dr. Baumann expresses thankfulness for the increase in the number of lady workers (mostly of the Z.B.M.M.), fifteen now as compared with four or five some 25 years ago. On the other hand the Baptist Missionary Society has retired from this station, and the London Missionary Society has lost by death its zealous and experienced missionary, the Rev. John Hewlett. Street preaching is conducted daily by Dr. Baumann and by catechists in the city; their treatment, except occasionally by pundits, is courteous, and the tracts they offer are accepted gladly, and even eagerly sought for. The Rev. B. Davis continues his labours at Jay Narayan's School, which lost two of its Native masters by death during the year.

Sigra Orphanage.

The Sigra Orphanage, under Miss A. H. R. Bull, has 45 inmates, whose ages range from 46 (!) to 2 years. A few of them are afflicted, being blind or dumb. The following from Miss Bull's Annual Letter exhibits the work of love carried on in this institution :—

Sukerania was the child of an apparently half-witted beggar, who was found and cared for until her death by some missionary ladies. When the tiny thing first came here it was feared that, besides having deformities on hands and feet, she was deaf and dumb. This summer, however, after a long time of teaching, with much tenderness and patience, she has begun to speak, and can do so now quite nicely; although the least sharp word or motion is sufficient to make her entirely mute, and then nothing will persuade her to make a sound. It is very sweet to hear some of the elder ones, who seem from their outward conduct to realise Christ as their Saviour, teaching this little one Bible verses and hymns. May the words now learnt and taught prove a real blessing to teachers and taught!

Orphan girls instructing a class of heathen children.

In order to help our children to know the preciousness of giving the knowledge of the Saviour and only true God to those who are still in the darkness of heathenism, we established this year a class on the verandah for heathen girls, chiefly composed of those of the servants of the different bungalows around. This class is taught in turn by the elder girls, each one teaching for one week at a time. Thus far our efforts seem to have been blessed to both teachers and pupils. For a time it had to be closed, owing to my illness; and on my return I was accosted by some eager little faces, asking "when they might come again to learn," and by my own girls "when they might continue their work."

Miss M. Stratton and Miss E. M. Bateman from Mattra gave assistance in the orphanage during an illness which Miss Bull suffered in August. The Normal School is now worked by ladies of the Z.B.M.M., but Miss E. Bedford has charge of the industrial department, which all the 87 girls in the school attend for a part of each day. The school has sent samples of the girls' sewing to the Chicago Exhibition; at the Glasgow Exhibition of 1887 a diploma was obtained. At the out-station of Azamgarh Dr. Baumann baptized in June the assistant-surgeon of the local hospital, Babu Benod Bihari Ghose, who is described as a man of mature age, considerable intelligence, and a highly-respectable position in society. He studied as a boy in the General Assembly's Institution at Calcutta. At the beginning of 1892, soon after his transference to Azamgarh, his wife died, and this affliction turned his thoughts to Christ, and led him to welcome the instructions of Mr. Christchitt, the catechist. When his decision to be baptized was known, the whole native community was stirred. Dr. Baumann wrote:—

Normal School.

Baptism of a surgeon at Azamgarh.

> Desperate efforts were now made to hinder the baptism, in which chiefly the educated countrymen of the convert took part. First they telegraphed to his son, who holds an appointment in the Police near Lucknow, to come and thwart by force his father's object, and the young man very nearly succeeded, but for certain providential circumstances which prevented him from appearing at the right time. But another and darker tale has yet to be told. His persecutors resolved by a diabolical plot to blast his character and to prejudice me against him. To all but those who know this country and its people, the incident I have to tell would appear improbable to the last degree, but it is all true, nevertheless, and the narrative may give an insight into the depths of Satan as they may be seen in a heathen land. Soon after he had left me in the evening, some old friends of his invited him to a party, innocently pretending to bid him a last affectionate farewell before he had lost caste by becoming a Christian. The convert himself had such implicit confidence in the honesty and goodwill of his friends, moreover, he was so glad to have another opportunity of telling them of what his heart was full of, that he saw no reason for refusing the request. Little did he dream of the foul design which that fair invitation was intended to facilitate and disguise. But it gradually dawned upon him, by the eager way they pressed him to partake of spirituous liquors, that what they really intended was to get him intoxicated, and in that state to cast him upon the public street. Upon this he disentangled himself as quietly as he could from his friends, and took refuge in the head-master's house.
>
> Very early next morning the doctor went under escort to the hospital to attend to his duties, and remained there till he was met by me on my return from the English Church, at about nine o'clock. The streets through which we passed were lined by crowds of spectators, whose sight evoked in me and my companions the tenderest emotions. Arrived at the Hindustani Church, we found it so thronged with people that it was difficult to make our way through it. More than 300 non-Christians, among them many Raises or gentry of the town, were inside the building, and about as many were hanging about its doors and windows. Good order was maintained by the police, whom the Collector had kindly placed at our disposal, and the Attempts to injure his character.

Baptismal Service, which at the candidate's request was read in Bengali, was watched in profound silence and with unmistakable interest.

A league formed to deprive him of his practice.

Everything was tried by his son and others to make him recant, and when every effort to shake him failed, his importuners changed their tone; they abused, insulted, and cursed him, and at last they cast him off as a polluted thing. They gave him something to eat, but treated him as a mihtar or sweeper. Finally every friend forsook him; his own son turned his back on him, leaving the station without seeing his father again; yea, a league was formed to deprive him of his private practice.

The Z.B.M.M. has nine European ladies at Benares and Sigra besides five ladies described as "Missionaries and Assistants," twenty-four Native teachers, and four Bible-women. The European ladies are: Miss Pailthorpe, M.B., Miss Gray, L.R.C.P. and S., and Miss Tulloch engaged in the Medical Mission; Miss Patteson, Miss Townshend, and Miss Johnson Smyth engaged in Zenana Visiting and Schools; and Miss Kimmins, Mrs. Burr, and Miss S. E. Smith at Sigra.

GORAKHPUR.

Gorakhpur.

The great want of the Native Christian community at Gorakhpur, Basharatpur, Dharmpur, Sternpur, and Basti, numbering 888 in all, is adequate pastoral supervision. The Rev. H. Stern says it is the complaint of all the Missions labouring in the N.-W.P. that the Native Church lacks spiritual energy. But he adds:—

> And if one pays due attention to the peculiarities of the native character, to all the peculiar surroundings of Native Christian life from its earliest years, and to the paucity and imperfection of spiritual supervision, one must wonder that things are not worse, but better than one has any right to expect. And I would most deliberately say that the aspect of the Native Church is full of hope and encouragement.

Unevangelised villages.

The Gospel is proclaimed in the bazaar by catechists and to some extent in the neighbouring villages; but who, Mr. Stern asks, is to carry the Gospel to the 4,000 or 5,000 villages in the Gorakhpur civil district, and to as many in the Basti district? A hundred evangelists, instead of ten, would still be far from enough for the work. The Rev. J. M. Paterson, while studying the language, found opportunities of witnessing for Christ. He says:—

> As soon as we had settled into our bungalow in Gorakhpur, English-speaking native gentlemen commenced calling on me, desiring to make my acquaintance, and they all were quite willing to hear my story of what I had found the Saviour had done for me. Whatever their creeds may have been, they all admitted that a man's soul, a man's sin, and a man's God were three great realities; that sin cut off man's soul from God, and that salvation necessitated the doing away of sin by effectual means.

Bible Class of young men of well-to-do families.

For several months I was enabled to hold a Bible-reading with some young English-speaking natives, who used to come regularly every morning from 6 A.M. to 7.30 A.M. and read God's Word with me, some of them being the sons of high-born and wealthy citizens of Gorakhpur, one of them being the young Qazi or leader in the Mohammedan public prayers. Many were the pointed and earnest questions he asked about the authenticity of our Scriptures, for the Mohammedans have a belief that Christ wrote a Gospel, and that the one which we now have is not genuine. Another of them, the son of one of the leading High Court pleaders, said that he wanted to be a Christian, and that he was only waiting for conviction. Would that such cases were plentiful! But, alas, they are only too few.

Schools.

In the Schools, which comprise two High Schools (one at Gorakhpur and one at Basti), one Anglo-Vernacular Middle and one Vernacular Middle School, and six Upper and Lower Primary, 873 boys and 138 girls are instructed in the things of God. The two Orphanages at Gorakhpur and Basharatpur, with over 100 children, afford training in needlework, shoemaking, blanket-weaving, printing, and agriculture. Mr. J. B. Braddon, a member of the new Allahabad Corresponding Committee, who resides at Gorakhpur, gives most grateful help in the printing department.

Miss Davies and Miss Hibberd, of the Z.B.M.M., engage in Zenana and school work at Gorakhpur.

ALLAHABAD.

Divinity School, Allahabad.

The Rev. A. E. Johnston, the Principal of the Divinity School since the Rev. H. M. M. Hackett, to the Committee's regret, resigned, reports eighteen students, the largest number he believes that the school has had; none, however, were candidates for Holy Orders. One student left the school for work under the Rev. J. A. Cullen of Bhagalpur. Mr. Johnston, with the help of the Rev. S. N. Singh of Lucknow, who resided temporarily at Allahabad for the purpose, has passed through the press the first part of an Urdu book, On the Exposition of the Apostles' Creed, and is engaged on the second part. The Rev. J. N. Carpenter, who was designated to Allahabad by the Committee when he went out in 1890, but was stationed temporarily first at Lucknow, then at Agra, entered on his work at the Divinity School in the spring of 1893. Nine adult baptisms are referred to by Mr. Johnston, but no particulars have been received.

The Rev. M. Drummond gives the following account of his pastoral work at Muirabad:—

Pastoral work at Muirabad.

When we review the last year's work in the Christian village of Muirabad, situated in a lovely spot in Allahabad, on the banks of the Ganges, one would wish that, as the village in its location so favourably stands with regard to its health and scenery, so its spiritual state be "like the tree planted by the rivers of waters and bringeth forth his fruit in his season, his leaf also shall not wither."

We have had many causes of thankfulness to the Almighty Father for the mercies and blessings vouchsafed to the work of faith and love done by His humble servants in the congregation and the heathen villages round about. The attendances at church services on Sundays, morning and evening, on principal festivals, and on Wednesday evenings were as usual.

House-to-house visitation was carried on by me during the year, and I was welcomed to every house. This piece of pastoral work needs heavenly wisdom and patience, as the people are generally apt to enter into the subject of their wants and helps; they betray otherwise signs of excitement and dissatisfaction. Sick persons visited and prayers offered by the bedside, sometimes desired by them, but in most cases I called on them unrequested.

Sunday-school.

Sunday-school is always held on Sunday morning before the service, taught by six teachers, out of which three are volunteers and the rest day-school teachers: the first boys' class is taken by me. The lessons have been given from the Old Testament, the chief promises and prophecies about the coming of Christ, and some Psalms, and the Collects of the day committed to memory. Lower classes: Creed, Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, and Church Catechism.

A Bible-class is started in connexion with the Young Men's Christian Association, and the number of young men who have joined the class is 20. The leading part is taken by me, and we read St. Matthew and Proverbs alternately on Tuesday evening.

A branch of the Young Women's Christian Association was opened by Miss Fallon for the benefit of the women of the village, and 25 members have already joined it; and a Bible-class also commenced for the women in which they read Scriptures with Miss Fallon on every Friday evening, and is appreciated by them.

Band of Hope.

A Band of Hope for the children has also been formed: their number is 35, from eight to fourteen years of age. They assemble twice a month on Saturday in the schoolroom with a piece of blue ribbon on their breast as a sign of membership. They seem to be much pleased when Miss Fallon and our organist, Miss Luke, play the harmonium for them, and bid them sing and recite something which they have previously prepared for the occasion. On the whole the meeting is very interesting and edifying to the tender hearts to know the evils of intoxication and the value of sober habits, and to realise the blessings and virtues of the Christian religion.

The mothers' meeting, as usual, is conducted by my wife, and during the year they have read the Pilgrim's Progress and other religious story-books; now they are reading the Holy War.

The Bishop of Calcutta confirmed 30 candidates in October.

Miss Fallon, referred to by Mr. Drummond in the above quotation, is a lady Missionary of the Z.B.M.M., who was formerly stationed at Faizabad. Besides her, Miss Poynter, Miss Thompson, and Miss E. Thompson, of the same Society, labour in the Zenanas and Schools of Allahabad.

LUCKNOW AND FAIZABAD.

Lucknow.

"No desire for the Gospel here," writes the Rev. A. I. Birkett of LUCKNOW; "the people are sleeping in thick darkness." And the Rev. J. S. Gray, to the same effect, says:—

From impressions that had been made on me at the five Annual Meetings of the Society at Exeter I had the privilege of attending, and elsewhere, I had the opinion that the heathen were eagerly crying out for the Gospel of Jesus Christ. I had heard of crowds of people in Japan and China coming, so I thought the virgin soil of heathen lands would be much easier to work with than the much-trodden and beaten track of South London.

The close of my first year in India brings me to a different conclusion. This is the verdict: that wherever we go the human heart is the same. The carnal mind is enmity against God. Men do not naturally like the terms of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is not until they are really aroused to think about their souls and whither they are going that they see and acknowledge their inestimable value. The heathen in Lucknow and in the district around have for ages been in such thick darkness and superstition that they have fallen into a very deep sleep, and nothing but the power of the Holy Ghost can awaken these dead souls and say to them, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." It does not lessen our responsibility, it rather urges us to come to their rescue. They are like men in a burning house heedless of their danger; or like a child in the Indian Mutiny who would not leave her bungalow and come into the fortress because her doll and garden were there. It nearly cost a brave soldier his life to rescue her from the bullets of the Sepoys. These poor people seem to have no concern about a future life, so taken up are they with their pice and cowries. May the Holy Ghost be so given to each one of us that we may be instant in season and out of season to turn their attention to the unsearchable riches of Christ!

People sleeping in thick darkness.

The Native Christian community at Lucknow cannot unhappily be described as helpful coadjutors in the work of rousing their heathen neighbours to a concern for their souls. Both pastor and people need a revival from on high.

The Band of Associated Evangelists has been strengthened by the arrival of Mr. J. C. Harrison.

The High School did well in Government Examinations, passing a higher percentage than any other Lucknow school in the University Entrance, and in Classes II. and III. Mr. R. Baker wishes friends at home could see for themselves some of the saddening scenes which are to be witnessed at a heathen Mela. For example:—

As we sit on the bridge spanning the river a crowd collects at one end. After a short rest they rise and come along; but how? not walking like other men. They put their hands together in the attitude of prayer, repeat some words in honour of their god, and then lie down full length on the ground, placing a stone as far from their heads as they can. Rising, they stand by this mark, and go through the same movement; not in ones and twos, but an almost constant stream. See, we can count thirty crossing the bridge now, old and young, even a boy not more than seven or eight years old; and this goes on for several days, some coming ten, twenty, or even thirty miles. And why all this? They, poor people, believe their god has been kind to them, or granted a special favour of something they wanted, and this is their thanks. And who or what is this god of theirs? A monkey, Mahabeer by name. And as we stand the next day in the almost countless throng, we are once again impressed with our own weakness and the great need of more helpers.

Scenes at a heathen Mela.

The Z.B.M.M. has a strong staff at Lucknow, namely, ten European ladies, five Assistant Missionaries, twenty-one Native teachers, and four Bible-women. Miss Louisa Marston, Miss Horton, and Miss Blake engage in Zenana visiting and educational work; Miss Haskew, L.R.C.P. and S., Miss Jenkins, L.R.C.P. and S., and Miss Cameron work in connexion with the Lady Kinnaird Memorial Hospital and the Medical Mission; and Miss Wahl, Miss Pearse, Mrs. Hewlett, and Miss Brett conduct the Village Mission. That Society's Report refers to the great loss suffered by the Medical Mission through the marriage of Miss Mead to the Rev. J. Haythornthwaite.

Faizabad.

The Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Baumann of FAIZABAD came to England in the spring of 1893, in consequence of failing health. Two adult baptisms are recorded—that of a young Hindu of 20 years, and the other of a Mohammedan of 30. The former was sent from Allahabad by the Rev. H. M. M. Hackett, to be further instructed before his baptism. The latter was a writer in the Faizabad Courts, but had to give up this employment in consequence of the taunts of former friends, and in addition lost his wife, who was induced to leave him after he declared for Christ. Mr. Baumann says of him :—

Trials endured by a Convert.

> Though naturally a very timid character, he resolved to become a Christian somewhere, and, taking a hearty farewell, he went westward, "not knowing whither he went." At Fathgarh he stayed for a time with a Native pastor, and was instructed and guided by him Christward. However, a severe illness compelled him to leave that place and to come to Delhi. Here the missionaries and Christians of the Cambridge Mission helped and encouraged him, and in the house of a blind Mohammedan convert (who two years ago would fain have struck me down with his bamboo staff when he got over-excited in his arguments), who recently had been baptized, he received also good advice and comfort. However, A. Khan's disease reasserted itself, and he was obliged to return again to Faizabad. This time he came and asked boldly to be baptized, not fearing any more the wrath of his relations and friends. He received in baptism the names of Solomon Eliezer, and has last week gone out with our Ajudhya catechist into the district to help the latter in preaching to the villagers. Before he left he was plucky enough to get his young wife out of her surroundings, and she has been sent by the Zenana lady to a place where she may be safely instructed in the truths of God's holy Word.

The baptized Christians in Faizabad are 128 in number, but their missionary zeal is at a low ebb. Ajudhya, comparable, Mr. Baumann says, in respect of "idolatry, gross superstition, and deep immorality" to Benares and Mattra, has only a few teachers of the Z.B.M.M. and a C.M.S. catechist working among its 10,000 inhabitants and the innumerable crowds of pilgrims who resort to it. A young Hindu lad of 18 was baptized by the name of Prem Masih. An adult convert was also received into the Church at Sultanpur, 36 miles from Faizabad; two others were baptized at Tanda, and sent to the Allahabad Divinity School. Jaunpur, a Mohammedan town, is nearer to Benares than to Faizabad, being 36 miles from the former and 84 from the latter city, but it was under the superintendence of Mr. Baumann. The congregation numbers about fifty. The native pastor, the Rev. B. Tobit, writes :—

A base pre-eminence.

A Mohammedan town.

> The people of Jaunpur, who are strict Mohammedans, at first opposed our preaching among them, but by keeping constantly preaching year after year, and seeing our simplicity and mildness, because when they began to revile and to say bad words against us, our dear Saviour, and religion, we kept silence, and afterwards we spoke very kindly to them, they then melted in their hearts and gave up persecuting and opposing us, and now, at this time, the people are so much inclined to hear us that when we go and stand in the markets and on high-roads for preaching, they throng us and pay great attention to the words of the Gospel, and some say that our words are true and excellent. The Mohammedans hear gladly all what we teach and preach, with the exception of two principles of our Christian religion which they do not understand: one is, that Jesus Christ is the Son of God; the other is the doctrine of the Trinity. The reason is that they try to know and understand these secrets in a worldly manner.

Miss Harris, Miss Wright, and Miss Hill are the European Missionaries of the Z.B.M.M. at Faizabad.

AGRA, MATTRA AND ALIGARH.

Agra.

In lieu of the Rev. J. N. Carpenter, removed to Allahabad, AGRA, and the staff of St. John's College, have received the Rev. R. J. Kennedy, who was connected for a few months with the Punjab Mission. The College also gained a valuable accession by the marriage of the Rev. J. Haythornthwaite, the Principal, to Miss Izset Mead, L.R.C.P. & S. Edinburgh, a lady Missionary of the Z.B.M.M., in May, 1892. Mr. Haythornthwaite draws attention to the remarkable increase of students in the College Department, being treble what they were at the close of 1890. In the B.A. Class he reports 15 students, in the F.A. 66, and in the Law Class 68. He was hoping to present in the spring of 1893 five for B.A. in the Universities of Calcutta and Allahabad, 24 for F.A., and 25 for Entrance. The staff of the College has been increased by the addition of a Sanscrit professor, Pundit Tulsi Ram Misra, M.A. On Missionary educational policy, Mr. Haythornthwaite remarks:—

St. John's College.

Attitude of Government towards missionary education.

> The influence and example of Missionary education has not been altogether in vain in North India, when such distinctly Christian works as Milton's Paradise Lost, Pope's Essay on Man, Butler's Sermons, and in Philosophy such books as Flint's Theism and Calderwood's Handbook of Moral Philosophy occupy so prominent a place in the prescribed course of an Indian University. The truth is, the Government Educational Department is being gradually compelled to recognise the fact that the Missionary educational policy is the only sound and right one for the youths of India; and that any system of education which ignores the moral and spiritual side of human nature is radically defective, and must in the future, unless speedily remedied, be attended with grave and far-reaching consequences among a people in whom the religious instinct is so strong.

A Hindu lad's prayer before an examination.

Mr. Carpenter took the F.A. Class daily in Scripture and English. He says that the usual attitude of the boys to the Scripture Lesson is one of serious attention; and he mentions, as an example of the state of many of them, that a Hindu lad, after failing in an examination, came to him and said, "Sir, I am very sorry that I failed in such a subject. I prayed earnestly to Jesus before the examination. I went into the corner of the room, and placed all my books before me, and then, kneeling, I asked Him to bless my work and to grant me success. He has seen this to be best for me; I know it is best. I do not blame Him." The number of students in the School Department was nearly 400 in the Collegiate School, about 100 in the Delhi Gate Branch School, and about 60 in the Lohamandi Bazaar Branch School. Lectures on Christian Evidences were given to all the boys of both departments weekly by Mr. S. G. Thomas, the Haileybury Master. The College was visited on January 20, 1893, by Sir Charles Crosthwaite, the recently appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Provinces, attended by the principal members of his staff. Public Lectures were delivered monthly on Christian Apologetics. The Bishop of Calcutta delivered one of them on "The Responsibilities of a Student," and Bishop Barry another on "The Inseparability of Christian Faith and Christian Morals." Other lectures were taken by the Principal of Agra Government College, and by Professor Andrew of the same College. The Congregation numbers on the roll 490, but many live a distance from the church, and the Sunday morning congregation is usually about 260. The Bishop of Calcutta confirmed 46 candidates in the Agra Church in October, of whom 16 were St. John's College boys. He expressed himself as "extremely pleased with the well-cared-for appearance of the church and the orderly and reverent behaviour of the congregation." There is a Sunday-school with 84 children. Miss E. Thompson and Miss C. Lancaster, two of the year's recruits, have been assigned to Agra for the purpose of opening a Girls' Boarding School, for the North-West Provinces—a long felt need.

Bishop of Calcutta and the Allahabad congregation.

Evangelistic work.

The Rev. W. L. McLean took charge of the Evangelistic Work after passing his language examinations. He baptized three adults, one young man and two women. The young man was a Mohammedan, 25 years of age, the son of a Tehsildar or tax collector, and was first interested in Christianity through reading a Gospel which was given to him. One of the two women was the grandmother, mother, and mother-in-law of several Christians, but had not yielded to the Gospel until, as one of her daughters-in-law said, "it seemed as if God Himself drew her." She was named Naomi. A Roman Catholic, who was, Mr. McLean believes, truly converted through reading a copy of the New Testament, was received into the Church in October.

Secundra.

The Rev. A. H. Wright reminds the Committee of the deep indebtedness under which the C.M.S. is to the Berlin Ladies' Society, which was formed for the purpose of sending out ladies to labour at C.M.S. stations. Four of these ladies are at SECUNDRA, where they assist in the Orphanage and the Village Mission. They are Miss Goetze, Miss von de Ropp, Miss Schultz, and Miss Magnus. In the cold weather of 1892–3 the two first named went out with their Bible-women in tents, the first attempt of the kind, Mr. Wright says, made by ladies in the Agra district. Fifty were confirmed at Secundra in October.

Mattra.

The Rev. P. M. Zenker, of MATTRA, writes with satisfaction of the success of Miss M. Stratton and Miss E. M. Bateman in their first language examination. He takes much pleasure in giving considerable help to young Missionaries by correspondence and otherwise during their language studies. One of the Catechists working with Mr. Zenker has a painful history. He was sent by the Rev. H. M. M. Hackett from Allahabad. Mr. Zenker says:—

Inquirers drugged.

The man's case is a remarkable one, and deserves to be reproduced. Years ago, when he wanted to become a Christian, relatives and friends having in vain exhausted other means, drugged both husband and wife. The man ultimately recovered from the effects of the poison, but the wife, it is feared, has been permanently injured—her reason is gone! The couple came to us at the beginning of August, and the man is preaching in the city.

A pleasing incident is mentioned by Mr. Zenker:—

An "In Memoriam" Offering.

The younger daughter of an old Armenian resident in St. John's settlement is married to a guard of the Rajputana-Malwa Railway. A year or two ago, when she had lost a child, she sent me "in memoriam" a donation for the Mission; and not long ago I received a money-order with the following written on the coupon:—"As Mr. Thompson got his increase, I herewith send you Rs. 6 as a thankful offering to the Lord. I am sorry to inform you of the loss of our dear child three months ago."

Aligarh.

At ALIGARH, which had no resident European Missionary during the year, Mr. Zenker baptized a Mission servant, previously a Mohammedan, who had been a servant to Lord Roberts, the late Commander-in-Chief, and subsequently to the late Rev. J. W. Stuart, to whose life and testimony he traced his desire to become a Christian. The Sunday morning attendance of the Native congregation, under the Rev. N. Solomon, is 36, and that of the evening 18.

Miss Bland and Miss Brownell, the former a missionary of 18 years' experience, of the Female Education Society, superintended numerous agencies for reaching the women of Agra and neighbourhood with the Gospel.

MIRAT.

Mirat.

The Rev. J. P. Ellwood on his return from furlough was appointed to the charge of Mirat. He says of the congregation that it is very poor in temporal things, and that its spiritual condition is not all that he could desire. He makes the following remarks, to which his twenty years' experience adds importance, on the spiritual state of the Native Christians of North India generally:—

Spiritual state of the North India Christians.

They are a rising community there can be no doubt, and this makes them eager to push themselves and their children forward even at the expense of a Missionary Society. Any post which gives them importance is immediately made use of to improve their position in life and raise their family in the scale of society. All these things are signs of progress, but they may or may not be signs of life. The Native Christians are passing through a crisis, and gradually becoming more like ourselves. Their habits are becoming more expensive and their wants more imperative. All these things must tell upon the spiritual life of a Church in one way or another. There is a greater demand for good educated pastors as a consequence, but no more money is forthcoming in the midst of their own increasing wants to meet the demand. The pastors are many of them overworked; there are not many of them men of ability, and work becomes a routine to them. There are no clerical meetings or conventions to stir up their spiritual life, and the probability is, they have little to encourage them and very much to depress them in their spiritual life, surrounded as they are on all sides with heathenism. We want conventions for our pastors and Native Christians, and a brotherly hand to lead them on in the midst of discouragements. A bad attack of the liver is sure to bring all the angles of life and character to the front; we require men who can see beyond these things and point them again and again outside of themselves to the Power which never fails.

The Rev. W. G. Proctor writes that itinerating is the most encouraging feature of his work. He says:—

"Christianity making itself felt."

As to results, definite conversions cannot be pointed to, but from what I have seen, I can unhesitatingly say that Christianity is making itself felt; it is exercising an influence very widespread, and though we may not be able to demarcate its progress, yet we can point to numerous instances, and in two cases which have come under my own observation of whole villages, where idolatry and the power of Brahminism is a thing of the past, and to a spirit of inquiry slowly permeating through the country with regard to Christianity.

DEHRA DUN.

Annfield.

The Native Christians at ANNFIELD and its out-stations, Masuri and Landour, are 435 in number, and the Rev. T. Carmichael observes, he says, an improved state of feeling among them. Two adults of the house-servant class were baptized. One of the Annfield school-teachers was selected out of some dozens of candidates as the head clerk on a tea-estate near Dehra, in consequence of his excellent testimonials given by gentlemen to whom he was known. A Christian schoolmaster is engaged on this estate, and the manager—the son of a clergyman in England—allows the Native Christians of the neighbourhood to meet in his house and joins with them at the Lord's Supper, although this service is in Hindustani. In April Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael visited the Siwalik Hills, and in May they went up the Jaunsar Mountains. They found the cholera raging, and Mr. Carmichael wrote:—

A cholera-stricken district.

On we went day after day through this cholera-stricken district, wondering how such a frightful disease could climb mountains high up in God's pure heaven, 5000 to 7000 feet above sea-level. But it is the filth and fanaticism of the poor heathen that produce and propagate this destroyer, which nothing but the Gospel of Christ will really eradicate or check. We saw loathsome sights as we went along, filth, superstition, cholera, death, terror, in that romantic but superstitious district.

One day we got a hill-man for a guide, and climbed a steep mountain to a village where the cholera was raging still. The sight was horrible! The dying lay round about on filthy dunghills abandoned by their friends. We scolded and entreated the people to come and render help, and then administered doses of the "cholera cure." I fear the poor sufferers were too far gone. We could not stay long, as our rest-house was on a different mountain, and we had to climb down this and up that, and the heat was frightful. I never felt such heat at such an altitude; it was almost like that of the plains. We preached to the people, and cried, "Repent! repent! Fly to Christ for salvation!" But, alas! it was of little use. The people had sent for a dewta, as they call him, an ignorant old Brahmin, to make puja to drive away the cholera! Here was the old dewta, sitting in a chauka or sacred square, performing idolatrous rites, according to the fashion of these poor, simple hill people, while tomtoms were being drummed, and a flag was flying. We shouted to him to stop his senseless mummeries and come and help the poor sufferers, but he only smiled, and stirred not. One poor fellow lay in collapse on the ground. His wife was helping the dewta to make puja. I called to her and insisted upon her coming to her husband. She said, "I dare not! I am afraid! I am even now getting cholera myself!" "Come here," I said, "and I will doctor you." She came, but looked very ill. "Where is your husband's bed? Why is he lying on the filthy ground?" She replied, "I had to give his bed to the dewta." I first dosed her, and then stood and dosed her poor, moaning, dying husband, until I was called to see a woman in a house also apparently dying of cholera. Description is useless. No one who has not seen a cholera-stricken village can imagine the filth and horrors of such a scene. We prayed to God for them, and then climbed down the steep hill, across the river and rocks at the bottom of the valley, and then up the opposite side, blistered with the heat of the sun, and trembling in every limb with the effort of that fearful morning.

CENTRAL PROVINCES AND RAJPUTANA.

Jabalpur, 1854; Mandla (Gônd Mission), 1879; Kherwara (Bheel Mission), 1880.

Reinforcement.

ONE clergyman, the Rev. John Alexander F. Warren, M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, Curate of St. Andrew's, Dublin, has reinforced the staff in the Central Provinces.

JABALPUR.

Jabalpur.

The Mission schools at this station afford the advantages of Christian education to 1,100 boys. The Rev. C. H. Gill says that at least one half the boys of Jabalpur of school-going age, excepting the undergraduates of the Government College, are found in the Mission schools. Against this statement, however, must be set the fact that only eight of the thirty-four masters engaged in these schools are Christians. At the annual prize distribution in December the Civil Commissioner of the Central Provinces, Sir Anthony P. MacDonnell, K.C.S.I., presided and made an important speech, in the course of which he said as follows:—

A Civil Commissioner on Mission and State Schools.

Such a record of good work has naturally merited and received the approval of the educational authorities, and I very heartily congratulate Mr. Gill on the success of his efforts. I do so with the more pleasure because the school is one of those which aims at something higher than imparting mere secular instruction. It recognises the great principle that moral training is the only sound basis of education. It is an aspect of the educational question which has been, perhaps, too much overlooked, and as Mr. Gill has suggested, the neglect has unfortunately led to a one-sided development, which all well-wishers of this country must deplore. Mr. Gill recognises the difficulties which beset the Government in the attempt to convey moral training in State schools. For my own part, I consider the difficulty so great that State schools offer to me but little prospect of a satisfactory solution. The problem can alone be solved by such institutions as this, which are free to make religious and moral teaching part of the daily curriculum. It is for this reason that I look on the multiplication of schools like this as a most hopeful feature in the educational outlook of the country, and that I am more than anxious to help, so far as my resources allow, efforts of this kind, no matter from what religious body they proceed.

Baptisms.

Three adults were baptized. One was an old woman, the wife of a man who became a Christian while working as a coolie in Demerara, and who is now living a consistent life at Jabalpur. The other two were a Hindu gentleman and his wife. The former, while studying as a boy at the Jabalpur Mission High School, became convinced of the truth, and his convictions became deepened while reading for his F.A. and B.A. At the time of his baptism he was an assistant professor in the Government High School at Jabalpur. But the severe persecution and isolation which followed appear to have affected his mind. Mr. Gill gives the sad story :—

Sad effect of persecution and isolation on a convert.

I regret to say the strain of persecution and isolation proved too strong for this poor man ; his mental powers also seemed to give way under the strain of his College duties ; and like one demented, three months after his baptism, he first resigned his professorship, which included a prospect of pension, and then gave up his faith in Christ, and joined a sect of the Hindus, and now he wanders about in poverty and in despair, out of caste and out of work, and without God in the world. He sought baptism himself, and was solemnly warned of its consequences. One can only account for his lapse by the present deranged state of his mind. We can only pray that he may come to himself again and seek the Saviour he once confessed.

The Rev. I. Vincent, the Native pastor, ministers to 164 Christians who worship in St. Luke's Church in the heart of the town, and in the church in the Mission Compound.

The Rev. Dr. W. Hooper spent the hot season at a hill station, Mussoorie, doing his literary work, and he had the privilege of gathering together for Bible-study many missionaries of both sexes from the Punjab and the North-West Provinces. During the itinerating season he engaged in evangelistic work in the Jabalpur district, especially around the out-stations of Murwara and Damoh. He says :—

"Time for sowing."

In all the villages we have visited, it is very evident that, with very rare exceptions, the time is the time for sowing ; but very great has been felt to be the privilege of sowing the good seed, specially in soil where very little indeed has been done in this way. We have been struck by the simplicity, and the receptiveness, and the consequent gladness exhibited in hearing the Word, in the villages in which we have just been visiting on our way along here, even villages situated on or near to the highway, where the people are supposed to lose their simplicity. Further than this, in one place our Native fellow-preachers met some pilgrims, who were so impressed by the Gospel as uttered by them, that they declared their resolution to return home and abandon their pilgrimage; and in another place a pandit, who had been invited to a neighbouring village (and invitations to pandits always include money as well as food), refused because he wished to have a religious conversation with me. Pilgrims abandoning their object.

An incident, on the last day of our tour, illustrates the power of example rather than of argument. My wife, visiting a village in which there was a Government hospital, noticed a boy with a dreadful sore on his leg, and urged his friends to take him to the hospital. Moved by her persuasions, his uncle took him up, but held him so badly that the poor boy's agonies were much increased. Seeing this, my wife took him into her own arms and carried him all the way (a rather long one) to the hospital. The people, who had never seen such an effect of Christian love (though to us so common), followed her, crying, "It is the love of Jesus Christ!" "It is the love of Jesus Christ!"

Miss Baumann of the Z.B.M.M. at Landour had a serious illness during the year, but her life was mercifully preserved.

MANDLA AND PATPARA (GÔND MISSION).

The Rev. H. D. and Mrs. Williamson, whose temporary removal to Calcutta at the beginning of 1893 has been already mentioned under North India, spent the rainy season at MANDLA. The heavy rains at one time caused the River Nerbudda to rise and inundate the town, destroying much property. Mr. Williamson attributes to this cause the illness contracted by his child, which resulted fatally, making the third child which their Heavenly Father has taken from the care of His servants during their residence at Mandla. On Sundays two Hindi and two English services were held; on Wednesday evenings a Hindi service, when Mr. Williamson gave addresses on the Articles; on Tuesdays a Mission Bible-class studied the Epistle to the Hebrews; on Thursdays a women's Bible-class read St. Matthew's Gospel; and on Fridays Mr. Williamson gave lectures on the Prayer-book. Two catechists visited and preached in the chief grain-shops, in temple courtyards, and at Native gentlemen's houses. Mrs. Williamson and the wife of one of the catechists had access to twelve Hindu and Mohammedan zenanas, where they devoted the whole time of their visits to religious teaching. Mr. Williamson, with his catechists, made five tours, visiting 524 villages and preaching to 8,477 people. The first was northward to the confines of the Native state of Rewah, the extreme limit of the Mandla district, where many villages in which the Gospel had never been preached were found. The second tour was north-westward toward Jabalpur, where visits have been frequently made, and the people are becoming, Mr. Williamson fears, Gospel-hardened. The fourth tour was westward, through a prosperous country where the Gônds have become, by contact with Hindus, somewhat Hinduised. The third and fifth tours were eastward, in the district where the C.M.S. has gathered in converts from among the Gônds. At DIUARI they (Mrs. William- Mandla. Itinerations. Diuari.

son accompanied her husband on the third tour) were encouraged to notice the progress made by the school-boys in Bible knowledge, and by the attendance of the boys' heathen relatives at the daily services. The Rev. E. P. Herbert has come home on furlough since this visit in the spring of 1892. In May, at Banguar, the Bhoi Baba's village, Mr. Williamson baptized two converts, one of whom had made himself a name as a sort of "wise man," and the people had resorted to him from all parts. The Rev. E. D. Price, who accompanied Mr. Williamson on this tour, writes:—

A Gônd Baptism.

I shall never forget the first Gônd baptism I saw here. The man stood firm and erect before Mr. Williamson, who was officiating. He was a picture, with hardly anything on, and his rough, shaggy black hair straggling all over his face. When asked the usual questions, he replied clearly and distinctly, not in the words of the book, but in his own. Asked if he wished to be baptized, he replied in a surprised tone of voice, "Why, that's what I've come for."

Marpha.

MARPHA, the home of the Associated Evangelists' band, is sixty miles east of Mandla and fifteen miles east of Diuari. The members of the band suffered more or less from illness, Mr. J. W. Goodwin having to go to the hills for three months. The leader, the Rev. H. J. Molony, writes thankfully and hopefully. He says:—

I look back now with great thankfulness on two years passed in India. Before I came out it was for five years my ambition to be a missionary, and now that it has been fulfilled, I can say it is one that does not disappoint. The highest joy I have known as a minister of Christ has been preaching the Gospel to an interested audience of heathen; I hope I may be given the still greater joy of bringing some to the feet of the Saviour.

Our band is now well established and in working order. We are not all fully qualified, but two of us have passed our second language examination, and the others are able to be practically useful in preaching and other work.

The difficulties of living here are very considerable, as nothing is procurable but milk and corn and (with difficulty) fowls. This would not be of much consequence if there were a road to Mandla, but everything has to be carried along narrow and difficult paths by men or ponies, and the distance forces us to provide ourselves with meat, bread, vegetables, &c.

Life like that in interior of Africa.

We must keep our own sheep, plant our own potatoes and vegetables, buy grain at harvest time and store it, have it ground into flour as we want it, cut hay for our horses, as well, of course, as doing our own building, doctoring, sewing, &c. Our life must be very like that in the interior of Africa, except that the people are all friendly, and civilisation is not so distant. The life I need hardly say is delightful, the work so varied, the people so simple and attractive.

I find by our record of work that we have preached to the heathen about 140 times during the year. Our congregations have averaged seventeen listeners, and in this way we have preached the Gospel to about 2,400 people. A congregation generally consists of a few men and big boys sitting down, with women standing in the background, while the preacher sits on a small bedstead.

We have daily prayers and Sunday services wherever we are, also Sunday-school, to which several of our heathen servants often come, and many informal talks with villagers, who come to see our wonders or ask for medicine.

KHERWARRA (BHEEL MISSION).

No reports have been received from the Revs. C. S. Thompson and W. B. Collins of the work among the Bheels. Two new out-stations were opened during the year, making in all five centres of work.

SINDH: Karachi, 1850; Hydrabad, 1856; Sukkur, 1887.
FRONTIER MISSION: Quetta, 1886.

Large relative increase of adherents in the Punjab.

THE relative increase of Native Christians in the Punjab during the nine years from 1881 to 1890 was considerable. The general increase in India was slightly over 46 per cent. Madras and Bengal, under this relative test, fell below the average, being respectively 22 and 30 per cent., although the positive increase in the Madras Presidency alone was little short of that in all the rest of India. The relative comparison, of course, favours the Missions starting with the lower figures, and, accordingly, the Punjab shows an advance of 335 per cent. The increase during the four decades was as follows:—In 1851 the number of Native Christians in the Punjab was 115, all connected with the American Presbyterian Church; in 1861 the number was 1,164; in 1871 they were 1,908; in 1881 they were 4,605; and in 1890 they were 18,792. The C.M.S. figures in 1861 were 102; in 1871 they were 455; in 1881 they were 1,044; and in 1890 they were 3,699. These figures are a convincing testimony to the fact that the agricultural population of Central Punjab, among whom chiefly the ingathering has been reaped, are ready to welcome the Gospel.

Responsibility for their due instruction.

But a large responsibility rests upon the Christian Church to enter this open door and to afford opportunities for the faithful and wise shepherding of these uninstructed souls. The Christians of the Himalayas and of Sindh are not included in the figures quoted above. They amounted respectively to 415 and 1,947 in 1881, and 1,937 and 2,396 in 1890.

Deaths of Rev. C. G. Däuble,

The Rev. Carl Gustav Däuble has been removed by death after 36 years of missionary service spent mostly in the North-West Provinces. Mr. Däuble went out first in 1857, just before the Mutiny. He was transferred to the Punjab Mission in 1889, and occupied the hill station of Kangra until his death. At the close of 1892 he had a serious illness, and though he recovered in part, he had a relapse, and died at Kangra in May. The widow of the Rev. J. N. Merk, another honoured German missionary, who also laboured at Kangra, died in October, 1892.

Reinforcements.

The year's reinforcements were the following:—The Rev. Claud Herbert Alewyn Field, M.A., Corpus Christi College and Ridley Hall, Cambridge, Curate of St. Andrew's, Lambeth; the Rev. Charles Massey Gough, M.A., Trinity College, Cambridge, Vicar of Steeple Claydon; Dr. Theodore L. Pennell, M.D., F.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.; Mr. Robert Venables Greene, an honorary missionary; and Miss Eleanor Selina Wigram, daughter of the Rev. F. E. Wigram, the Society's Honorary Secretary. The Revs. Robert Clark, F. A. P. Shirreff, T. E. Coverdale, F. Papprill, and T. Holden; Dr. H. Martyn Clark; also Mrs. Weitbrecht, Mrs. Papprill, Mrs. Holden, and Mrs. Martyn Clark returned to the mission, the two first after a visit of five months to England. The boat by which Mr. Clark sailed on his return to India, accompanied by a missionary party which included Mrs. and Miss Wigram, left the Birkenhead Dock only a few hours before the ill-fated "Roumania," which was totally wrecked on the coast of Portugal. Mr. Clark had a dangerous attack of pneumonia soon after his return, which caused much anxiety to his friends; but he was raised up through God's blessing on the care and nursing of Dr. Lankester, and of Dr. and Mrs. Jukes who were at Amritsar at the time. The Rev. T. J. L. and Mrs. Mayer, the Rev. E. and Mrs. Corfield, the Revs. W. A. Rice and R. Bateman, Dr. S. W. Sutton, and Mrs. F. Lawrence have come home: all on sick leave except Mr. and Mrs. Corfield, who have come on furlough. Dr. Henry Martyn Clark during his furlough pursued his medical studies at Edinburgh, and obtained his M.D. degree with honours. He was also at some pains while he was at home to inquire regarding a movement at Liverpool which had been very strangely exaggerated in India. "In and about March, 1890," to quote an Indian journal, "paragraphs appeared in several Punjab vernacular papers, stating that from 300 to 500 Englishmen had embraced Islam in Liverpool, and that a bishop was at their head. The news spread like wildfire, and in cities and villages alike preachers were told to 'go to Liverpool.'" The Rev. Rowland Bateman was challenged by a person calling himself a "Mohammedan Missionary" to meet him at Liverpool, where he would show him "fifty men and women calling themselves Mussulmans and practising the forms of worship sanctioned by our religion." This challenge was accepted by Dr. Martyn Clark, and a full report of his inquiries and the result appeared in successive numbers of the Punjab Mission News at the beginning of 1892. A later number of the same paper commented on the complete silence of the Indian vernacular press on the subject since this exposure of the facts was published. Sir William Muir, in an article in the Intelligencer for June, 1892, drew attention to the subject.

Dr. Martyn Clark and alleged Mohammedanism in Liverpool.

The Bishop of Lahore admitted the Revs. David Davies and Thomas Howell to Priest's Orders, and Mr. Wadhawa Mall to Deacon's, on December 18, 1892.

Ordinations.

AMRITSAR.

"The abundance of the blessings which God has given," the Rev. T. R. Wade writes, "has caused some new difficulties." The Amritsar.

difficulty to which he specially refers is the fact that the Native Congregation has outgrown the existing accommodation. On the first Sunday in March, 1893, there were 130 communicants at one service. Formerly room was allotted in the church for about 100 non-Christians, and often this space was crowded. Of a special service for non-Christian women, held on Good Friday, Mr. Wade says:—

Good Friday service for Hindu and Mohammedan women.

> We had services as usual every morning through Passion Week, except Saturday, and as some of the congregation could not come on Friday afternoon, having a service elsewhere, Miss Wauton requested permission to bring a number of her Hindu and Mohammedan women to church to fill the vacant seats. I readily consented, and also arranged that a special sermon should be preached in Punjabi, which they would understand better than Urdu. To my surprise, about one hundred respectable women from the Mission schools and the zenanas visited by the ladies came to church, and sat quietly and listened most attentively to all that was said. And now they want to know when they may come again. An old Hindu convert said to me afterwards, "A large number of these women are of the Khatri caste. A few years ago they would not have come near a Christian, and to touch one would have meant defilement and involved tedious purifications. And here they are coming into a Christian church and sitting in the midst of Christians. Who can say after this that there is not a great change passing over the people?"

Deaths from cholera among Christians

The mortality throughout the Punjab, especially from cholera, was heavy in 1892, and twenty members of the congregation were removed by death, of whom Mr. Wade says that he believed they all died trusting in Christ for salvation. Several of them were well known and much respected in the city. The first whom Mr. Wade instances in the following quotation was referred to in last year's Report, page 109.

> Amongst these were Babu Rallia Ram, a leading pleader in this city. More than twenty years ago he witnessed a noble confession. He was the honorary secretary of the Punjab Church Council from its beginning till last year, and he was always ready and willing to help us and all Christians in any way he could. Mr. J. W. Dales, B.A., was the second master in the large Amritsar Municipal School. He went away for a little holiday and died suddenly of cholera in Pathankote. He was a regular attendant at church, and bore a high character amongst our Christians. And then Ghulam Akbar Khan, assistant in the Medical Mission, went to Srinagar, Kashmir, for a change, and died there from cholera. He was a good, earnest, happy Christian. Babu Phailbus had been in charge for many years of our book-shop, and was well known for his kindness and hospitality. He died not only trusting but rejoicing in Christ.

Evangelistic work.

Evangelistic work is carried on in the bazaars, and in a mission room known as the San Sanghat Sabha, viz. "Fellowship with the Virtuous." The need of a larger number of Christian teachers and evangelists is sorely felt. There is not a large village around Amritsar where such a man, full of the love of Christ, who would go in and out among the people and plead with them and teach them, could not be placed and find a fruitful sphere. In several places, Mr. Wade says, the people are asking for teachers. The number of boys in the High School and its branches at the beginning of 1893 was 578, of whom 24 were Christians. The falling-off from the number reported last year, 765, appears to have been in the primary classes, and to have been due to the opening of a Punjabi High School in the city, offering the advantages of reduced fees, &c In the Middle School examination 32 boys passed, but. in the matriculation only three succeeded out of nine presented, English being the crux. The Rev. D. J. Mackenzie says of the opportunities presented by Mission School work for imparting Bible teaching :— High School.

During the past year I have had the privilege of teaching the Scriptures to the two Matriculation classes, and to the two sections of our third Middle School class. I merely mention this to show that an educational missionary is not, as some make out, a mere schoolmaster. In fact, when I say that I had the opportunity of teaching God's Word daily to about seventy boys, I am sure it will be admitted that few Evangelistic Missionaries had a better scope. A certain proportion of the Middle School boys will carry on their studies as far as the matriculation examination ; they will thus have three years' regular Bible instruction with me. Surely this is a work which, with God's blessing, must be effectual in time. Opportunities for Bible teaching.

One of the matriculation candidates of 1891 has been baptized since leaving the school, and two of the senior lads profess to be seeking the truth. No report has been received by the Committee from Miss L. E. Cooper or Miss Law, the C.E.Z.M.S. ladies who conduct the Alexandra School. There are 73 girls, not including five who are members of a training class, in the Middle Class Girls' School, under Mrs. Grime assisted by Miss Millett. The latter says :— Girls' Schools.

The girls who are quick work up to the Middle Examination, and then enter the training class, after which they can eventually take a senior teacher's certificate. Those who are not so ready with their books can prepare for the examination for Junior Teachers after having passed the Upper Primary Standard. No teacher passes out of the school without having first gained practical experience here.

Those who have really little ability (a few) give more time to needlework and cooking ; though all learn these, and they all know how to be thoroughly useful (or rather, I should say, learn to be so). All who are of a suitable age take their turn with the cooking, and, of course, make and mend their own clothes. The elder ones, too, learn as monitresses, or as mothers of the little ones, how to fulfil responsibility faithfully and to use authority rightly.

The habits of the girls are very simple, suited to the homes from whence they come. They take their meals, except in the very coldest weather, in the open air, seated at long low tables, raised a few inches only above the ground.

Four of the five girls in the training class worked up through the lower classes of the school, and one of them stood first of all the girls in the Punjab in Urdu in the Middle Examination. Zenana work was carried on by Miss Wauton, Miss Margaret Jackson, Miss Tuting, and Miss Clarke, of the C.E.Z.M.S.

Upwards of 60,000 attendances were registered at the Amritsar Largest Medical Mission in the world.

Hospital and its branch stations during the year. As regards out-patients Dr. H. Martyn Clark claims that it is the largest medical mission in the world. The Central Hospital comprises out-patients' department, waiting and consulting rooms, dispensary, operating room, dark room for eye work, dressing room and private room; in separate buildings are store-room, servants' houses, students' quarters, and in-patients' department bath-room. Branch dispensaries are at Narowal, Jandiala, Sultanwind, and Beas. Dr. A. C. Lankester distributed among the C.M.S. and C.E.Z.M.S. workers, European and Native, in the surrounding districts, forms of recommendation to the hospitals, giving right to priority of entrance. These forms were much in request, and they were not only an advantage to the patients, but by bringing them under the notice of the missionaries, they enabled the latter to follow up the instruction given to the patients while in the hospital wards. Dr. Martyn Clark received a very enthusiastic welcome, after his return to the Mission, on his first visit to Jandiala, ten miles from Amritsar. The Punjab Mission News reported as follows:—

A Missionary's welcome after furlough.

"A cross over the city gateway."

A somewhat remarkable event took place at Jandiála on Saturday, January 21. It was the day of the return of Dr. H. M. Clark to the town; and some Hindu gentlemen had resolved to receive him with all honour. They provided a sumptuous feast for all the Christians in the place, and sent two of their number to see that their guests were comfortably enjoying their hospitality. After the feast there was a handsome display of fireworks and fire-balloons, which naturally attracted a large crowd of people. But most remarkable of all was the erection of a large cross over the city gateway. This cross was decked out with little Native lamps and was most conspicuous. No murmured objection was heard to the prominence thus given to a Christian symbol. That such a thing should have been done in a town formerly notorious for its hostility to Christians, is a striking proof of the good work done by Dr. Yuhanna and Waris-ul-dín as well as by the Zenana ladies. It also bears witness to the good-will of the people towards Dr. H. M. Clark.

St. Catherine's Hospital, connected with the C.E.Z.M.S., was worked by Miss Hewlett and the Misses F. and A. Sharp.

The Bishop confirmed 25 candidates at Ajnala in February, 1892. The Rev. Mian Sadiq pleads the inadequacy of the little staff of male workers in the district, some eight or nine men, as compared with those engaged among the women. He says:—

A single-handed Native pastor.

Miss Clay has the charge of the zenanas here. She is assisted by about six or seven European ladies as well as some three or four Native women. So their work, indeed, is flourishing. As regards work among the men, it is entrusted to the charge of a single-handed Native pastor, who ought not to be responsible for the thousands of souls, as this burden is too heavy for him to bear. Money alone cannot afford him much strength, simple words of comfort do not add much to his encouragement, for he is rather advanced in age. He, of course, needs really good helpers, which he is unable to obtain himself.

The men supplied by the Native Church Council as assistants are all unfit for the work. I mean, they are inefficient like their pastor. They know but little to read and write. Is it not written in the Bible that no spotted creature should be offered to the Lord? And they are all so.

It is good indeed if these men are only "inefficient like their pastor," for Pastor Sadiq has a high reputation, though he writes so deprecatingly of himself. The ladies of the C.E.Z.M.S., who labour with Miss Clay in the Village Mission, referred to by Mr. Sadiq in the above extract, are Miss Hetherington, Miss Paton, Miss G. Hetherington, and Miss Iliff. These are stationed at Ajnala and Saurian. Miss Parslee and Miss Hobbs are at Jandiala.

BATALA.

Batala. The Rev. Dr. H. U. Weitbrecht had the happiness of welcoming Mrs. Weitbrecht back to the Mission in restored health in November. The Rev. E. Corfield was absent through ill health from April till December, during which time the Rev. H. F. and Miss A. F. Wright were transferred to Batala from Amritsar. Mr. Corfield has now come home, and the Rev. E. F. E. Wigram has temporarily assumed charge of the Baring High School. He wrote at the beginning of 1893 :—

Baring High School.

This New Year will bring very great responsibilities to my sister and me at Batala, and we do claim earnest prayer for the perpetual encampment of the Angel of the Lord around us and around the lads who are to be committed to our care. The school motto translated into English is, "Light in the Punjab." The motto of ourselves and our fellow-workers must therefore be, "Light in the School," or in other words, "Christ's Light in us." Do pray that it may be so indeed.

The Government grant to the school for 1892 was almost double that of 1891, namely, Rs. 768 as compared with Rs. 418, bearing witness to good, steady work on the part of tutors and pupils. Boys of this school took the three first places in the Senior Lake Memorial Prize Examination in the Scriptures &c., and the first place in the Junior Examination. Mr. W. Mackworth Young, the Financial Commissioner of the Punjab, and a member of the Punjab and Sindh Corresponding Committee, presented the prizes in April, 1892. The chief features of the Village Work were the baptism of several families at Shikar, where the people have helped to build themselves a prayer room; and the formation of a congregation of inquirers at Bhagowal. A young Mazhabi Sikh was baptized at Batala. As instances of the varieties of creeds, new and old, which find advocates in India, the following may be quoted from Dr. Weitbrecht's letter :—

Mohammedan efforts to win the low-caste people.

In this very Tahsil there is a Mohammedan gentleman, Mirza Imamud Din, of Qadian, who for some years past has been working to get followers among the Chuhras. Mr. Wright and myself visited him in March last. He showed us a register of adherents, not unlike our baptismal register, and two pamphlets that he had written for these people, urging them to organise themselves into a religious body like others, on a theistic basis. One of these books contained a form of prayer, which seemed a crude jumble of Mohammedan, Christian, and private ideas, and the other a sort of guide to doctrine. This prophet has not much honour in his own country, most of his adherents being many miles off, in the Jalandhar district; but he is not the only one who is trying to gain adherents among the low castes.

Unitarianism in India.

A former pupil of the Baring High School, K.U. (a Pathan convert), had gone to Central India in search of employment. There he met with Unitarian books and men. It appears that a Christian pleader, the son of an S.P.G. pastor at Banda, C.P., had become a Unitarian and had been publishing articles and pamphlets to propagate his ideas. K. U. at first opposed these men violently, then went over to them. After a time he accepted an invitation to Batala, and there, for some time, went into the subject with me. Eventually he publicly recanted, and, after a term of probation fixed by the Bishop, he was re-admitted to Holy Communion at Christmas. Thus, to the list of our internal opponents, which hitherto included chiefly Rome and Plymouth, we have to add Unitarianism as a polemical creed.

The need of giving careful teaching to the Christian converts is shown by a discovery which was made almost by accident at Talwandi Rama, where the Christians bear an exceptionally good character. Dr. Weitbrecht says:—

A "patchwork quilt of religious knowledge" indeed!

Several of the men were being prepared for confirmation, when I paid them a visit with Padri Fath Masih, and the latter one evening held, as he often does, a gyangudari, literally "patchwork quilt of religious knowledge." This is an informal meeting under a leader, in which the people sit round, smoking if they please, to discuss topics of religion, and the like. The leader allows each one in turn to express his opinion, and then sums up, or not, as he pleases, or lets the question circulate once more. At this special meeting it came out, quite incidentally, that all these people, with the exception of one, who was already a communicant, held the pantheistic doctrine of the Vedanta, i.e. that all religions are one, in the knowledge of truth as it is, and that the differences between them are only for the world of phenomena. Can we fancy a group of English field labourers discussing such a subject? These people had been carefully taught, and had honestly accepted Christianity as the best of religions in the world of maya (illusion); but of course we were unable to bring them forward for confirmation then.

The City Mission School in Batala entered its new building, the gift of the Rev. F. H. Baring, in May. It was formally opened by Colonel Hutchinson, the Deputy-Commissioner. In January Mrs. Wigram laid the corner stone of a new Dispensary in connexion with Miss Dixie's work of the C.E.Z.M.S. Miss Dixie has since come home on furlough, leaving the honoured veteran Miss Tucker, and Miss Capes and Miss Brannan to represent that Society at Batala and Fathgarh. Miss Wright concludes her first Annual Letter with the words:—"I am sure that I can add my testimony to the saying that a Missionary's life is the happiest in the world. I think one great reason for this is the consciousness that so many friends are praying for us at home."

NAROWAL.

Narowal.

A joint report has been received from the Missionaries at this station, viz., the Rev. R. Bateman, who has come home since the report was written, the Rev. F. Lawrence, and the Misses M. A. Reuther and E. Rainsford of the C.E.Z.M.S. The number of Christians, which was 1,499 at the close of 1891, was 1,425 at the end of 1892. The mortality from cholera removed a few more than were admitted by baptism, and two families apostatised; but the decrease was due mainly to the removal of 55 people from the roll who were among those transferred to Mr. Bateman's care after their baptism by the agents of the American United Presbyterian Mission in 1889 (see Annual Report for 1889–90, pages 122–3). Mr. Bateman's words on the subject of indiscriminate baptism are too important to be passed over. He, or rather the joint report, says:—

When we received these people, together with a certificate of their baptism, there were not five in a hundred of them who knew anything distinctively Christian, though several hundreds of them were registered as communicants. Many would tell you that they had become Christians mukti de waste (to obtain salvation), but if you asked them what mukti meant, they could give you no answer at all. There was many a village with a Christian community in it, wherein nobody, man, woman, or child, had ever bowed the knee in Christian prayer, or knew that there was such a book as the Bible. And when we began to work amongst them, they would resent the invitation to worship or to learn, as a novel burden for which they had not bargained. At first we tried to teach and to work through the men who had been paid agents of the American Mission, and who were presumably the best of their class. We have been obliged to discharge every one of these, not generally for mere incompetence, but for worse. They were most of them men who had brought their brethren forward for baptism in order that they themselves might gain employment and prestige which would be profitable and useful to themselves at any rate.

Evil results of indiscriminate baptisms.

My own conviction is that the result of the baptism of masses of uninstructed people is downright bad. Bad for the baptized, bad for the heathen, and bad for the Mahomedans; and that we could have employed our time and strength to much better purpose on behalf of all had these baptisms not been administered.

There are twenty-four congregations spread over the district. In illustration of the ignorance of many of the Christians and of the persecutions which they have to endure, the report says:—

The thoughtlessness and superstition of some of these poor village people is almost past belief. We asked a Catechumen a short time ago to repeat the Creed, and he actually began: "I believe in my father and mother;" a very good basis for a child's belief, but not the first Article of the Apostles' Creed. And the superstition and folly still rife amongst the people seem almost incredible in these days.

A Catechumen's creed.

Persecution has not taken the organised form that it did last year. Many have been hungry Christians who, if Chuhras, would have had plenty to eat, and almost all have borne the trial well. In one district the Zaildar has been unremitting in his efforts to stamp out Christianity. His line has been to get up false cases against Christians, and when they were away defending themselves, and in every case they successfully did, to have cattle turned upon their small holdings and so destroy their crops. In the village where he is supreme, enough arsenic was put into a Christian's saucepan to poison the whole family. Happily some guests came in, so that all got a smaller share than was intended; and though all were very ill, all recovered after a while. No one was punished for this, though everybody knew who was to blame.

Attempt to poison Christians.

The Rev. Ihsan Ullah gives a very interesting account of the conversion and baptism of Chowdhri Mansabdar, holding the office of Zaildar under Government, which in his case carries with it authority over twenty villages. He writes :—

Some four years ago, when I was visiting Dhrag, a Mahomedan Maulvi discussed the way of salvation with me at Mansabdar's house before a large audience. The Chowdhri was appointed umpire. Finally, he gave his decision (against the Maulvi) to the effect that the arguments adduced proved that a sinner could not be saved by the Mahomedan system inasmuch as God's justice demands the punishment of the offender. The Maulvi was much disconcerted by this verdict, but Mansabdar accompanied me in the dark a mile on the way to the village I had to reach that night. Several young Christians were with me. We all prayed there in the jungle, beseeching God to show His salvation to this wandering soul. All the Christian youths said, Amen. Amen.

A prayer in the jungle.

After this the Chowdhri met with Christians from time to time, and much discussion about Christian doctrines was vehemently carried on in Dhrag. As a result, and after reading many controversial works, he gave in his adhesion to Christianity, and confessed (but not openly) that Jesus Christ was the Saviour. When he was plainly told that with the mouth confession must be publicly made unto salvation, he at once prepared himself to enter the Catechumenate, and before a large gathering of people from his own villages during Sabbath worship he confessed Christ as his Saviour, and standing up like Zacchæus, said with great earnestness that if anybody had been wronged by him in time past he would now satisfy their claims.

A modern Zacchæus.

Hereupon troubles and persecutions began to be the lot of Mansabdar. He was covered with abuse and reviling from all sides. All his relatives turned against him, so much so that they agreed to ostracise him by refusing him their pipes and their drinking vessels, and the contumely with which they now treated him was more marked than the respect they had previously shown him. Under these trials he staggered in his faith, and for some time continued in the snare of man-fear. But when the tidings of Chowdhri Nizam-ul-din's baptism reached him he began to lament, saying : "Alas, would that we two had been admitted into the Kingdom of God together."

"The snare of man-fear."

When Mansabdar began to show an eager desire for baptism the great difficulty about polygamy (for he had three wives) blocked the way. He was privately told that he would have to put away two of them and only could keep one. To this he after some time agreed, and in church at Narowal, before the congregation, Mr. Bateman interpolated among the usual pre-Baptismal questions the following :—"Art thou prepared to call two of the wives thou now hast thy mother?" [To call one's wife "mother" is among Mahomedans tantamount to divorcing her.] To this he replied, "I hereby call them mother."

A singular pre-Baptismal question.

After his baptism he returned to Dhrag. There was a terrible commotion in his household. He declared that he had taken refuge in Jesus from the wrath which his sins deserved, and told the third wife that as he was a Christian she too was free by Mahomedan Law to leave him if she pleased. He was not less plain spoken to the villagers, and now he lives a bold soldier and servant of Christ, and urges his neighbours to accept the Saviour. One day as we were walking along a street in his village, he said : "I know that these people will all become followers of Christ, but oh that I might see it before I die."

On one occasion Mansabdar got very angry, because some labourers refused to carry out an order he had given them. In his passion he made them bend down [the precise attitude, known as kan-goshi, is attained by passing the arms under the knees and taking hold of the lobes of one's ears], and when in that position he caned them severely. When I came to Dhrag I heard all about it, and rating the Chowdhri soundly told him that he must ask forgiveness for this outrage. He at once showed his regret for what he had done, and calling together the poor fellows whom he had beaten, he said, "Brothers, forgive me, I have done wrong; and if you won't forgive me, then let every one of you give me as many strokes with the cane as I gave you. Do it now in the presence of the Christian Church." Such a speech, addressed to the menials of his village, was a very difficult one for a man in his position to make, but God made the rough place smooth for His servant. "Brothers, forgive me!"

Chowdhri Mansabdar's baptism has amazed the people in our district. Almost everywhere people discuss "the baptism of the Zaildar of Dhrag," which is in itself a sermon on Christianity for them. Already there are signs of one or two Mahomedans preparing to come forward for baptism.

The small Christian Boys' Boarding School has an average of fifteen pupils. Mr. Bateman says:—

As I sit at my desk my right ear is constantly delighted with the busy hum of Christians learning, the notes of Christians singing, or the merry shouts of Christian cricketers. I have not heard a rough or angry (to say nothing of a profane or indecent) word this twelve-month. My left ear, alas, day by day admits the sounds of profanity and vile indecency from men and women, and boys and girls. It is woeful to hear what goes on among the heathen, whether a marriage or a funeral procession passes, whether bearded men sit under the trees or lads play cricket on the grassless green. If my ears were two phonographs, and you could work them, you would have a striking object lesson as to the effect of Christianity among Panjabis. What a Missionary hears.

There is an Anglo-Vernacular School, which passed four boys in the Middle School Examination, and in connexion with which a Hostel is being erected; and there are twenty-four village schools with 500 scholars, 102 being girls (the only girls in the 250 villages of the district, Mr. Bateman believes, who are under regular instruction). BAHRWAL.

The newly ordained Deacon, the Rev. Wadhawa Mall, has been stationed at Bahrwal, the Rev. H. E. Perkins' station, near which he was born and brought up. Something was done towards putting up three churches, but one was left unfinished because the Christians departed from the immediate neighbourhood in consequence of persecution. Fifteen persons were confirmed in December, 1892. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were obliged by the state of their health to be absent from the district in Kashmir for five months, but while there Mr. Perkins prosecuted the translation of the Book of Isaiah into Gurmukhi. Much of his time is occupied in the revision of the New Testament into Gurmukhi and Urdu, the two vernaculars of this district. Mr. Perkins mentions a case which afforded him encouragement, and which he says is a fair example of many which are met with in the work; cases which present good grounds of hope that the work of Divine grace is real, though the convert is far from an ideal Christian. He says:— Bahrwal. Translation work.

Early in 1890 I entered a village with a very heavy heart one afternoon to preach, and was led to dwell on the vision of God. The next day a large body of people came forward for Christian teaching, of whom the majority soon fell back, but several were at length baptized, and amongst these a blind man and his stone-blind wife with their two children. The man, having a good memory, was set to teach others all that he could learn by rote, but died about a year after his baptism, and as, during his illness, he was found constantly secreting opium, and counteracting the effects of the medicines by this sad habit, I kept silence about him, and had many a sorrow on his account. His widow was sent to St. Catherine's Hospital, and there she has lately died. But not only were that poor blind woman's last days lightened by special grace, leading her to give assurances of her faith and hope, but within the last few weeks I have heard that with all the husband's weaknesses, and the clingings of heathenism round him, he never was in any company where he did not bring up the subject of Christ, and try to teach all who would learn whatever he knew.

Miss Cooper and Miss Worsfold, of the C.E.Z.M.S., co-operate with Mr. and Mrs. Perkins in the work among the women.

TARN TARAN.

The Rev. E. and Mrs. Guilford are at this station, but no report has been received of the year's work. Miss Hanbury, Miss Grimwood, and Miss Janson, of the C.E.Z.M.S., labour among the women and girls in the town and neighbourhood.

CLARKABAD.

Clarkabad.

The Rev. T. J. L. Mayer, who went to Clarkabad by request of the Corresponding Committee at the beginning of 1892, remained there till the close of the year. He describes in his Annual Letter various sanitary improvements in the settlement, draining, raising roads, constructing bridges, &c. The year was one of much sickness, and in May and June the cholera carried off many victims. Mr. Mayer speaks highly of the Rev. T. Howell's faithful pastoral ministrations, especially among the sick at this trying time. The Rev. T. Holden has since resumed his work at this station until the Committee's plans regarding the settlement are matured. There is very much to regret in its spiritual condition, which is not surprising considering that of the 423 Christians, mostly cultivators and day-labourers, very few can read or write. Miss Ellwanger writes of the cholera time:—

A Native Clergyman during cholera epidemic.

> The sad scenes during that time, in the hottest part of the year, and God's sustaining power, will never be forgotten. Some have passed away quite suddenly, long taught, others ready for baptism. We had a thanksgiving service in church, when the disease disappeared, in which we heartily joined.
> My two Bible-women assisted me faithfully in the work amongst Christian and non-Christian women under my charge, and the Christian influence exercised day by day cannot be in vain; and there are signs of progress, and marked improvements. Our prayer and endeavour is, that our Christians may become living branches in the living Vine, to bring forth the fruits mentioned in Gal. v. 22. It is of great importance to have individual personal influence, sympathy and interest, and to give solace and kindly friendship. The women appreciate our efforts on their behalf, and we have our own reward.

The Girls' Orphanage had seventy-one boarders and fourteen day-scholars at the close of 1892, who receive a primary education in Urdu and Punjabi, a selected few being trained for future work as village school-teachers and Bible women. Fourteen girls and twenty-four other candidates were confirmed in November.

LAHORE.

Two students left St. John's Divinity School, of whom one, Hamid Ullah, returned to resume work as a catechist at Peshawur; the other, Wadhawa Mall, was ordained. The other three students are well reported of. The Rev. H. G. Grey says of one who was in the class for a few months:— Lahore.

A student, who was with us last year for a few months on leave from his work in the post-office, has come to us again this autumn. He has for some time been in the habit of preaching single-handed whenever he can spare time from his official work; and he wishes by study to fit himself more fully for this labour of love. He has therefore now obtained leave for a whole year, in order to stay here and read. It may possibly end in his giving up the post-office. Such instances of purely voluntary work are so refreshing—and alas! so comparatively rare—that one almost hopes he may keep to his office, and still remain an honorary preacher. A zealous voluntary worker.

The students were taken on itinerating tours to the Tarn Taran and Bahrwal districts in the spring.

Women's work at Lahore in co-operation with the C.M.S. is carried on by six European ladies, two Assistant Missionaries, and twelve Native teachers of the Z.B.M.M.

KANGRA, KOTGUR, AND SIMLA.

The Rev. C. G. Däuble wrote his Annual Letter at intervals, as he was able, during the sickness which unhappily terminated in his death. During the three years of his residence at KANGRA the number of Native Christians increased from 71 to 153; 51 adult converts from heathenism were baptized during this period, four of them being lepers in the asylum at Dharmsala. Every department of the mission work—the increased number of catechists and Bible women, of schools and outstations—bears evidence to Mr. and Mrs. Däuble's active and enterprising zeal. The Bishop confirmed ten persons in October. He expressed much gratification at the progress in the Boys' School under the Rev. Brij Lal Datt. Kangra.

The Christian community at KOTGUR numbers 16 families, about one-half of whom are dependent on the Mission, the heads of families being engaged as agents in evangelistic or school work. There are ten schools, with some 200 children, and a Sunday School has 80 usually in attendance. The itinerant evangelists' reports show that many villages were visited, 852 by one, 792 by another, and 552 by a third; and two Bible women, the wives of evangelists, accompanied their Kotgur.

husbands on a preaching tour through Komharsen, Shangri, Sukhet, and Mandi. Mr. H. F. Beutel says of these women's work:—

Women itinerants—"hard and rough work."

> They found much encouragement in talking to the women, who generally listened to what they told them. Yet, on the whole, and under present circumstances, it is hard and rough work. Often the women look down on them with contempt, and in no case are they allowed to enter, or even touch, their houses. Moreover, the climbing up and down hill for these women from the plains is no easy work. They have travelled in these visits over 500 miles on foot. On the other hand, there is no doubt that much good is being done in this way, and, unless a beginning is made, there is no prospect that these Pahari women ever will be raised from their degraded condition of ignorance, superstition, idolatry, &c.

As in the two previous years, Mr. Beutel made a long preaching tour during October through Kulu as far as the Rotang Pass; and later he visited Rampur fair. On the latter tour he had with him a lantern with slides, and hundreds of hearers and spectators were present on two successive evenings in the Rajah's courtyard. At SIMLA there are 200 Native baptized Christians under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. Edwards. In addition to the Sunday services and Sunday School, a children's service is held on Wednesdays, a Bible Class in English on Thursdays, and one in Urdu on Fridays. The School here has been raised from the Upper Primary to the Middle Standard. Ten candidates were confirmed in September.

PIND DADAN KHAN.

Pind Dadan Khan.

A destructive fire in the spring, which consumed one-half of the business portion of Pind Dadan Khan, followed by a devastating epidemic of cholera, and that again by excessive dearness of provisions owing to bad seasons, made the year one of chequered experiences to the Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Davies, who, with the Native Christians of the place, were mercifully preserved from both fire and pestilence. Mr. Davies was disappointed by one inquirer whom he hoped to baptize on Easter Day, but who proved himself to be actuated by worldly motives. He had two other inquirers at the end of the year. Mrs. Davies has opened a School for Mohammedan girls, which has an average attendance of 48.

MULTAN.

Multan.

Although no adult baptisms took place at Multan during the year, the Rev. T. Bomford writes that he never before had so many promising inquirers. In January, 1892, he made an itinerating tour, the sixth he has taken annually, except for the interruption of one year's furlough, in the South of the Mozuffergarh district. He took his lantern and exhibited Scripture slides thirty-three times to audiences amounting to 9,500. The tour was uneventful, but it was very encouraging in respect of the earnest attention of the people, a constant desire to hear and to understand being evinced such as Mr. Bomford had never remarked before. The following extracts from Mr. Bomford's interesting journal must be quoted:—

When first we came out into these parts we were known as the Padré Sahib (i.e. the English minister). Then when we took a magic-lantern with us we were called the "Showman Sahib" (one friend finding himself thus designated, and thinking it infra dig. for a clergyman of the Church of England to be so called, gave up using a magic-lantern). This year we found ourselves known as the Preaching Sahib. "The Preaching Sahib."

At Jatoi, some thirty years ago, a Brahman burnt his idols, and afterwards became a Christian, and at Jatoi there are now four men who profess to accept Christianity. Here we stayed five days, and our audiences on five nights were 1,400. In addition to our old inquirers, all of whom we found steadfast, we found some more men whose hearts are opening to the truth. One is a Brahmin, a cousin of the man who became a Christian thirty years ago, and another is a Hindu clerk, who told us that in consequence of our teaching two years ago he had separated himself from his Hindu friends.

We went on to Jelalpur, a fair-sized town, famous for its saint's tomb. The present descendant of the saint, who draws large revenues from the worshippers of his ancestor, seems a thoughtful specimen of his class, and not so bigoted as most of them. Finding no convenient place close to the city, we put up the lantern on the road, and at 9.30 P.M. commenced work with an audience of about 500. The next day brought visitors eager for discussion. They were of various types. One was a very noisy disputant, a man from the North Punjab, with some knowledge of the Gospels. His opposition was so vehement that we were not surprised on the last day of our stay in Jelalpur when he came to us and said that he knew we were right, but what could he do? He had his living to make amongst strangers, and if they got any inkling that he was unsound in the Mohammedan faith, his occupation would be gone. Another visitor was a moulvie of the usual type, who knew nothing but the Koran, and very little of that. No. 3 was a white-haired old moulvie who did not argue, but now and then joined in the discussion with an intelligent question. No. 4 was a moulvie of an unusual type, reminding one of those good-tempered, jovial priests who used to be common in Ireland before every priest became a political agent. He seemed a very jovial fellow, and thoroughly enjoyed the discomfiture of his colleagues when, in answer to the question whether some Christians did not worship crosses and images, they got the answer "Yes, just as many Mohammedans carry on saint-worship against the teaching of the Koran." This was a hard hit in a town wholly given to the worship of a saint, and moulvie No. 4 appreciated it. One must say for these men that, though they came day after day for argument, they never made any attempt to interrupt the preaching in the evening. Once moulvie No. 4 was standing near us when the picture of Abraham offering Isaac was being shown. When Isaac's name was mentioned, he said quietly to a friend, "He is wrong there, it was Ishmael and not Isaac." "A hard hit."

The second evening, just as we were going to commence, moulvie No. 4 came to us and said that the Makhdum (i.e. the saint's present representative) was anxious that the preaching should be in his house—would we come? Not having seen the place we were obliged to decline, but promised we would come the next day and see if we could have it there the next night. This evening some 700 people were present. At 10.30, just as we were concluding, there was a commotion in the crowd, and all jumped to their feet. The Makhdum was the cause: as we would not come to him, he had come to us in spite of his rheumatism. He was of course too late to see or hear much. The next day we went to call on him, and to inspect his premises, which we found would do, though not very well. In the evening we went to make arrangements, and found the place packed. The lantern was put in a large verandah with the curtain in one of the arches. In the courtyard in front were some 600 people. The verandah was packed with some 200 more, and the rooms behind were filled with women, for we were told the Makhdum had invited all the women of the city. It was a difficult audience to preach to—or rather shout to—although our moulvie friends did their best to prevent unnecessary noise, but for two hours we did our best. The Makhdum himself sat first in front of the pictures, where he could see and hear everything.

The Rev. R. J. Kennedy was in charge of the stations during four months of the year, when Mr. Bomford was obliged to go to the hills on account of his health. Mr. Kennedy, who has now been transferred to Agra, taught the Scriptures to the upper classes of the Mission School, of which Mr. Khem Chand is the head-master.

DERA GHAZI KHAN.

Dera Ghazi Khan.

Dr. A. Jukes refers in his Annual Letter to "a larger number of catechumens than we have hitherto reported," but no particulars are given. The Hospitals at Dera Ghazi Khan and at Fort Monro, including the Zenana Hospital, received 8,947 new patients during the year, and took in 124 in-patients; there were 78 major and 449 minor operations; 440 services were held for the patients.

DERA ISMAIL KHAN, BANNU, AND TANK.

Dera Ismail Khan.

From March till November the Rev. D. Davies was alone at DERA ISMAIL KHAN, but in the latter month he was joined by Dr. T. Pennell, and in December the Rev. F. and Mrs. Papprill returned from furlough. In January Mr. Davies was married to Miss A. Bemrose, of Derby. A visitation of cholera in May led about one-fifth of the total population of 20,000 to flee. Mr. Davies relates the dangers and inconveniences of this and the two following months:—

Cholera and floods.

People were turned into the street to die. Hindus, who are generally so particular about burning their dead, now refused to touch them: the result was that they were carried off by the sweeper class—most dishonouring to the dead, and a disgrace to the living. The cholera hospital was within a few hundred yards of the mission-house, and consequently the things one saw were far from pleasant.

At the end of July we had rain, which it was thought would put an end to the cholera. The Mohammedans had been holding meetings in various places daily, and a special moulvie was called to conduct these meetings. The rain was thought to be in answer to their prayers, but it did not put an end to the cholera, but rather increased it. People told me that the filth of the city had been washed into the wells, so that there was not an untainted well in the whole city.

The rain, moreover, increased to such an extent that floods ensued. Houses, and even well-made roads, were washed away. The Mission property suffered very severely. Our property is unfortunately situated—it is about four feet higher than the city and the rest of the station, but lower than the surrounding country in the opposite direction. Thus the water from the whole country beyond us came into our compound. This might have flowed off but for the existence of an irrigation canal just beyond our compound, whose banks formed a complete barrier and prevented the water from escaping from us. Many small houses were washed down, and even parts of the larger bungalows suffered the same fate. I was out till 3 A.M. one morning trying to make ways of escape for the water. Workmen were almost unprocurable, and so one had to busy one self with the spade to make openings in banks. We built a bank of earth about two feet high all round the Mission bungalow to prevent its being washed down.

Mr. Davies usually gave 3½ hours of his morning to teaching in the school, which has an excellent head-master. Eighteen boys sent in for the Middle School Examination all passed—a result unique, Mr. Davies thinks, in the province; and 6 passed out of 11 in the University Entrance Examination. Miss Rose Johnson, of the C.E.Z.M.S., assists in the work among the women and girls at Dera Ismail Khan. Mr. Davies visited BANNU once during the year. The only Native Christian in the town is the head-master of the Mission School, but a boy was sent in September to Clarkabad to be baptized there by the Rev. T. J. L. Mayer. After 24 years of patient sowing, the first convert was baptized at TANK, on January 14, but he has not stood firm owing to the opposition of his former friends.

PESHAWAR.

Peshawar.

The Rev. W. Thwaites was married in October to Miss Jonas, a lady Missionary of the C.E.Z.M.S. The Rev. A. E. Day itinerated in Hashtnagur and Yusufzai districts in the winter of 1891-2, and says that he and his companions were received respectfully by Government servants and Khans, coldly by the Mullahs, and with curiosity by the people generally. He mentions the chief Mullah of a village, the most learned man in the Yusufzai district, for many years past friendly to the missionaries, who reads the Bible and even quotes from it in his sermons to Mohammedans. The Rev. H. J. Hoare succeeded the Rev. W. A. Rice in the charge of the Edwardes High School on the latter leaving for England.

A Mullah quoting from the Bible in his sermons.

The Duchess of Connaught Hospital at Peshawar, belonging to the C.E.Z.M.S., was under Miss Dr. Charlotte Wheeler, assisted by Miss Middleton, a trained nurse; while Miss Phillips engaged in Zenana work. Several of the C.E.Z.M.S. ladies of this station were at home on furlough during the year, or part of it.

KASHMIR.

Kashmir.

The equal rights of the Christian subjects of the Maharajah of Kashmir are now recognised, and it may be hoped that the removal of the disabilities under which Christians have suffered will lead some who have held back to make an open profession of Christianity. The Native Congregation at Srinagar consists at present mainly of those who are employés of the Mission, and are immigrants from India. Indigenous Christianity is represented by the old convert Kadir Baksh and some of his relatives. The Rev. H. E. Perkins, while visiting Kashmir for his health, took the charge of the congregation, and his helpful influence and wise counsels were much appreciated. Two cases of apostasy were referred to in last year's Report. Dr. Arthur Neve mentions a third which occurred in the year then reviewed, 1891. One of these was early readmitted at another frontier station; another admits privately that he acted from worldly motives, but has not the courage to return; and the third, Syed ullah Khan, whose loss was most felt, as he had long witnessed faithfully, even under persecution, for Christ, acknowledged his sin and applied for readmission at the close of 1892. The staff of the Medical Mission.

Congregation.

Medical Mission were intensely busy during a visitation of cholera in May. The deaths increased rapidly from five and ten a day to 100, and even to 300 in and around the city. It seemed an almost hopeless task to battle with the epidemic, seeing that the filth of ages which embedded the city, and the habits and prejudices of the people, fostered its spread. The effort was bravely made, and unhappily Dr. Thomas, the native assistant, himself contracted the disease and died on June 10. A new block of buildings, known as the Maxwell block, was added to the Hospital, and a substantial building was erected for female in-patients. Of the women patients Dr. Ernest F. Neve says:—

Female patients in hospital.

Most of our women patients are extremely dirty, headstrong, wayward, and difficult to control. But they are of kindly disposition, and often grateful. They are most ignorant. In reading to them, or preaching, or talking, one cannot be too simple. They are most ready to hear. The emotion which they oftentimes show must not be misconstrued. Oftentimes when one has hardly begun talking to them, tears will stream down their cheeks, and they will lift their eyes to heaven, and say, "God be merciful to us," "God bless you and give you a long life." To a stranger it might really appear that these poor souls were broken-hearted and earnestly seeking the truth. Even when, however, we have made all due allowance for such manifestations as the outcome of national and personal instability of feeling, we have much to be thankful for, in that those to whom the message is given do not show a stony indifference.

Addresses are delivered daily also in the men's wards, but there were no inquirers from among them. Itinerating in the district is referred to as most interesting and encouraging by both Drs. Arthur and Ernest Neve. The latter writes:—

Itineration to Ladakh.

This year I accompanied Dr. Jones, the newly-appointed Moravian medical missionary, to Ladakh, a journey of a fortnight. On the way we saw a considerable number of patients. When we had gone five marches we arrived among Thibetan-speaking people. Here Mr. Shawe, of the Moravian Mission, interpreted for me, and also preached to the patients. At one place I performed seven cataract extractions in one day.

It is in the valley of Kashmir, however, that itineration is most successful. Recently, in one week alone, I was visited by more than a thousand new patients. Such work is full of interest. Many of the patients are very willing to be taught. In conversation several freely admitted that they were ignorant. One villager remarked to me, "Sahib, we have no chance of hearing about how to serve God. We know nothing about Hazrat Isa (Our Lord). We are busy all day in our fields, and cannot read; you must teach us." Another man offered to build a hut for me, so that I could remain and work amongst them. Unfortunately the priests and pirs and rishis in charge of the ziarats (shrines), which are found in almost every village, see only too clearly that their interests will be interfered with by Christianity. And even the common people place the most implicit trust in the protecting power of the shrines. In village after village, where the cholera did not come, the people ascribe their escape to the influence of the village ziarat and the offerings which they make there. The love of shrines and relics is deeply imbued in the heart of superstitious man, whether in the countries in which Romanism is rampant, or those in which Mohammedanism holds its sway.

"No chance of hearing."

The Rev. C. E. Tyndale-Biscoe wrote his Annual Letter under much physical discomfort, having both his legs in splints, the reason for which is not explained, but his cheeriness of spirits was undiminished, as his account of the High School under his charge abundantly shows. Under his influence sports are rapidly becoming popular among the boys. A fire brigade has been formed among the boys by Mr. Tyndale-Biscoe, and in the summer a fire which occurred at a distance of three miles from the school was successfully extinguished. The Rajah and his officials were present at the scene, and seemed greatly pleased to see of what stuff the mission boys were made. A letter of thanks was subsequently received from the Maharajah, and praise was given by the Municipality. Mr. Tyndale-Biscoe says it is surprising how much some of the boys know about the Scriptures. He concludes his Annual Letter with a request for prayer:—

High School

The Maharajah thanks the Mission School.

Pray for the Kashmiris, that our loving Father may raise up true men from amongst them, who shall be an honour to the holy name of Jesus, and a blessing to this country of false religions.

Miss Hull, of the C.E.Z.M.S., has come home on furlough, leaving Miss Newman, a trained nurse, Miss Judd, and two Native teachers to carry on that Society's share in the women's work.

QUETTAH.

Dr. S. W. Sutton came home on furlough in November. He was much encouraged by the reinforcement of this station, Dr. Marcus Eustace arriving in May, 1892, and the Rev. C. M. Gough in February, 1893. A hospital assistant, a Christian Afghan called Rafi Ullah, and a qualified Native house surgeon from Dr. Valentine's Medical Missionary Training Institution at Agra, have also been added to the staff. During the year 3,198 new cases were treated in the out-patient department, and 174 operations were performed. Patients from Kabul, Ghuzni, Herat, Persia, Kashmir, and Baghdad were received, and Dr. Eustace says he has heard no less than eight different languages spoken in the dispensary.

First convert, a former Qazi.

On Sunday, October 9th, the first convert of the Quettah Mission was baptized, taking the name of Abd-al-Karim instead of his former name, Mohammad Karim. He is an Afghan of some position, and was formerly Qazi of his district and Imam of his village mosque, and can read and write in several languages. He first heard the Gospel from Bishop French in the Quettah market several years before this station was occupied by the C.M.S. He was under instruction for some years, and since his baptism his life has been in peril from his countrymen. The words addressed to the patients seem often to fall on heedless ears, but on the other hand it is sometimes made clear that they are listened to with appreciation. The dispenser one day intermitted the usual preaching, and was accosted by an old man with, "Sahib, how is it you have no kind words for an old man to-day?"

"No kind words for an old man?"

A native paper on missionary work.

The Baluchistan Gazette, the proprietor of which is a Parsee, published a striking article on Missionary work. It was written quite spontaneously, Mr. Gough states, after Dr. Eustace had left at the office a copy of the Report of the Quettah Mission Hospital. The following short extract must suffice :—

> The Mission labour, both in the cause of education as well as physical relief, is eminently superior and more effective than that supplied by Government. The Mission work, no matter where and among whom it is done, has a moral element which is both soothing and instructive. The Missionaries are the bearers of that great truth which cannot fail to enter and enlighten the darkest mind and soften the hardest heart, and it is in this that the success of Mission labour lies.

SINDH.

Addition to the staff.

The Rev. R. and Mrs. Heaton returned to the Mission in December. Mr. Alfred E. Redman, a brother of the Rev. J. Redman, has been appointed by the Corresponding Committee a Missionary of the Society in local connexion. Mr. Redman was a student at Islington College, and passed his course there, but, as was explained in last year's Report, the medical advisers of the Society declined to sanction his going out. He sailed, notwithstanding, at his own charges and on his own responsibility, and at length, fortified by a medical certificate, he renewed his offer of service.

KARACHI.

Karachi.

A very heavy rainfall destroyed much property in Karachi, and a severe outbreak of cholera decimated the population and caused some 10,000 people to leave the town during the year. Special services for humiliation and prayer were held daily, and a thanksgiving service was held after the scourge had passed away. The Congregation numbers 90, including children, and the communicants 40. Of two adults baptized, one, a young Bhil orphan girl, was induced by her brother to marry a Hindu. Daily preaching was carried on in the bazaar except when the cholera was at its worst, and the people generally listened well. Evangelistic meetings in the Ranchore Lines School were held by a band of voluntary workers on 33 occasions, with an average attendance of 27. Two Sunday Schools for non-Christians had each an average attendance of 102. In Max Durso Hall an English lecture on "The Story of the Heavens," by the Rev. J. Haslam, illustrated by lantern slides, and a lecture in Hindustani on Guru Nanak, by a convert from Sikhism, who was a few years since the reader of the Granth, the sacred book of the Sikhs, in the temple which stands some sixty yards from the Mission school, attracted much attention. The sale of books in the Religious Book Depôt amounted to 25,313, of which 22,936 were in various Indian vernaculars. The vernacular Scriptures, included in the above figures, were 6 Bibles, 48 New Testaments, and 647 portions.

The Rev. W. J. Abigail had a hard struggle against the disadvantages incident to inadequate funds for the maintenance of the important High School under his charge. His efforts availed to increase the attendance and at the same time to raise the fees, and he has been encouraged by increased grants.

High School.

Miss Condon and Miss Dawson were the C.E.Z.M.S. ladies at Karachi during the year.

HYDRABAD.

The Rev. J. Redman took a preaching tour eastward from Hydrabad, accompanied by Mrs. Redman, a catechist, and bookseller, and visited several important towns, Mrs. Redman finding easy access to the women. They travelled on camels, but the completion of the Hydrabad and Umarkoli Railway will make future journeys in that direction more easy and rapid. The reception of a convert named Banerji into the Romish Church was mentioned in last year's Report; three others who were inquirers, influenced by him, have been rebaptized, the last in December, into the same communion. Amid the grief of these defections, two baptisms afforded consolation to the Mission workers. One occurred on Easter Day, 1892, and was that of a Parsee youth, who was led to Christ by a Christian schoolmaster at Jacobabad, and went to Hydrabad for further instruction. The other was a Mohammedan, the fruit of Miss Compton's work (C.E.Z.M.S.). Miss Compton has since come home on furlough, leaving the C.E.Z.M.S. work in the hands of Miss Redman and Miss Webb. The death of Mr. G R. Campbell,

Baptisms.

mentioned in last year's Report, had a deep effect on the boys of the High School. Mr. Redman says:—

Working of God's Spirit among High School boys.

His sudden removal called forth prayer and sympathy from many, and special intercession was made for those for whom he had practically laid down his life. The prayers have been graciously answered. I never knew a time when God's Spirit has been so manifestly working amongst our boys as in the months that have since elapsed. Many have been led to deep searching of heart, and not a few have professed faith in Christ as their Saviour. This has led, as was to be expected, to their removal from our school, in the hope that the impression produced may be eradicated; but we believe that a true work of God's Holy Spirit has been done, and we know that He is able to carry it on unto perfection. Several have suffered not a little persecution for the faith they profess; it has resulted, with some, at least, in deepening the work.

SUKKUR.

Monthly visits were made by the Rev. J. Redman from Hydrabad. The Rev. R. and Mrs. Heaton went to this station on their return from furlough. Miss Gordon, in charge of Dispensary, and Miss Dawe, of the C.E.Z.M.S., are at Sukkur.

WESTERN INDIA MISSION.

Bombay, 1820; Nasik, 1832; Junir, 1846; Malegam, 1848; Aurungabad, 1860.

Death of Rev. T. K. Weatherhead.

The Rev. T. K. Weatherhead, who laboured in this Mission from 1860 to 1878 as Secretary of the Corresponding Committee and in the pastoral charge of Girgaum Church, died in December. Mr. Weatherhead was an S.C.L. and LL.B. of St. John's College, Cambridge, and had been curate of St. Peter's, Southwark, before he joined the Society. He acted as Director of the Missionaries' Children's Home from 1880 to 1881, when he accepted the living of Bungay, in Suffolk, which he held until his death.

Reinforcements.

The Rev. E. Sell continued to discharge the duties of the Secretaryship of the Mission until October, when he returned to Madras, and was succeeded by the Rev. William George Peel, transferred from the South India Mission. The Rev. Arthur Herbert Bowman, M.A., Durham, who was minister of the Old Church, Calcutta, for two years, from 1889 to 1891, and who after his retirement from that post on account of Mrs. Bowman's health was Association Secretary for East Yorkshire, has been appointed to the incumbency and pastoral charge of the Girgaum Church, Bombay. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman sailed in October. The Rev. E. J. Jones came home in May, 1892, and the Rev. A. and Mrs. Manwaring in May, 1893, Mr. Manwaring by doctor's orders. The Rev. Ruttonji Nowroji arrived in England in April, 1893, on a visit to this country, by invitation of the Committee.

Ordinations.

The Bishop of Bombay admitted the Rev. C. W. Thorne to priest's orders on September 25th, 1892; and the Rev. A. A. Parry also to priest's orders, and Messrs. David Lucas and Dayaram Shindé to deacon's orders, on February 26th, 1893.

BOMBAY.

Bombay.

The Rev. A. Manwaring was one of the Secretaries of the Decennial Conference which met in Bombay at the close of 1892. He was also, during the past year, Vernacular Secretary of the R.T.S. local Committee, Secretary of the Industrial Home for Women, and of the Western India C.M.S. Conference and the Bombay Monthly Conference; besides which, as a member of the local B.&F.B.S., S.P.C.K., and Y.M.C.A. Committees, and of the Marathi Bible and Prayer Book Revision Committees, much of his time was necessarily engrossed.

Bye-work of a Missionary.

Congregation.

The Marathi Congregation has 147 members, not including scholars in boarding schools whose parents reside in other stations. There are special difficulties in Bombay militating against the sanitary and decent housing of the poor, which accounts in a measure, Mr. Manwaring considers, for the numerous cases of death from consumption among the young, and which enhances the value of the fact, to which he testifies, that many of the members of the congregation have clean and happy homes and lead consistent lives. Street preaching, owing to the noise, does not prove an encouraging method of evangelization in Bombay, but more listeners were obtained in a preaching-room which was opened in June, 1892. Mr. Manwaring mentions the following in connexion with this room :—

Relatives of Christians often ready to follow their example.

I remember one evening that a religious mendicant, carrying a small musical instrument, was passing slowly by, and I asked him if he would sing a song to us, as we had been singing for him. He complied with my wish, and sang one of those refrains about the gods of which the people are so fond. After this he opened his heart very freely to us ; his uncle was a Christian, and not only so, but a Native pastor ; his wife was in her native village ; he himself had come to try and make a little money, and thought of returning soon. We spoke to him of Christ as a Saviour, and urged him, on reaching home, to have a talk with his uncle about a better way than that he was then following.

I have often noticed, as no doubt others have done, that among the lower castes the relatives of one who has become a Christian are more than half ready to imitate his example. In this way a movement towards Christianity spreads quickly among the lower castes.

Baptisms.

There were four adult converts; one was a woman connected with the Z.B.M.M. ; another was connected with the Industrial Home; a third was a young man from Amritsar; and the fourth was a native of Ahmednagar who, while engaged as a teacher in one of the schools in Bombay, was led by a Methodist missionary to study the New Testament, and eventually applied for baptism to Mr. Manwaring.

Mohammedan Mission.

The Rev. J. G. Deimler has as a Native helper in the work of the Mohammedan Mission a convert named Abdulla Beg, a former moulvi, whom he instructed and baptized at Poona in 1891. Mr. Deimler wrote at the time regarding him :—

A former moulvie engaged as a catechist.

The maulvi, Mirza Abdulla Beg, is a very clever but unassuming person, and has not his equal in Poona. He lived for eighteen years in Arabia ; went sixteen times on the pilgrimage to Mecca ; was for a time interpreter to the English Consul at Yedda, and travelled at another time in Arabia with a French gentleman. He knows Arabic colloquially and grammatically very well. Many years of his life he has devoted to the study of the Koran, the explanations of it, the traditions, the sayings of the Ulma (Fathers of Islam). Moreover, he is a very good and eloquent speaker. All this gives him great power and influence among his former co-religionists. Of late he has studied many a Christian book and the Bible, and has thus enriched his mind with the knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. He also knows Persian and some English. He is thoroughly acquainted with Islam as it exhibits itself in daily life, and he abhors it. It is a real pleasure to hear him deliver an address, proving from the Koran the utter worthlessness of Islam for the salvation of men. He is most happy to live now in the light and life of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. As maulvi he has from 200 to 300 disciples in and around Poona, to whom he wishes to bring the glad tidings of salvation, and who still honour him as their spiritual guide.

Mr. Abdulla Beg's knowledge of Arabic and of the Koran renders him of much service as a controversialist with Mohammedans. Mr. Deimler also has engaged temporarily the help of Syad Shah, an Afghan convert of Peshawur, who has twice visited Kafiristan. A greater readiness to hear and more reasonableness in discussion on the part of Mohammedans than in former years are observed by Mr. Deimler. Twelve inquirers are mentioned. An average of ten persons attend the Urdu Sunday services held in the Robert Money School. Mr. Deimler has written a tract in Urdu on the Atonement, but it had not been published when he wrote his Annual Letter. A School for Mohammedan Girls was opened during the year, with ten pupils belonging to well-to-do families, and is under Miss Deimler's superintendence. The average number of boys on the roll of the Robert Money School was 273, the average attendance was 233. Out of a total of 261 at the end of the year, 11 were Protestants, 1 Romanist, 8 Jews, 4 Mohammedans, 108 Brahmins, and 129 other Hindus. Nine pupils were in the Hostel. The Rev. C. W. Thorne gave assistance in the pastoral work connected with the Girgaum Church, especially with the work amongst the young, and he mentions also many interesting conversations with Parsees and others met with on the Esplanade. Robert Money School.

The Z.B.M.M. has a staff of 4 European ladies, 9 assistant Missionaries, 10 native teachers, and 5 Bible women, working in Bombay. It has 4 schools, including a High School for girls and a school for girls of the Beni-Israel community, and carries on Zenana work among Hindus and Mohammedans.

NASIK.

The Rev. W. A. Roberts sends an encouraging report of the work at Nasik and out-stations. The open-air preaching was listened to with much attention, and opposition was rarely experienced. Thirteen students were in the Normal School at Sharanpur, and between 60 and 70 children in the Orphanage and Boarding School. The Bishop confirmed 25 candidates connected with the congregation in September. Nasik.

Miss Harvey and Miss M. Clark, of the Z.B.M.M., superintend the work of eight Native teachers in five schools, and visit the Zenanas.

POONA AND JUNIR.

Five students were under instruction in the Divinity School at Poona, under the Rev. J. A. Harriss. They were J. de Cruz, one of the former year's class; Rustomji Mistry, a recent Parsee convert; Krishnarao Shindé, the native of Ahmednagar referred to above under Bombay; Jiwanji Giri, the son of a Christian of Aurangabad, and himself a convert of the Robert Money School; and David Qadhan, from Aurangabad. The two newly ordained Poona Divinity School.

Native deacons were among the first students in the class. The students regularly preach twice a week in the city. The Marathi Congregation, under the Rev. Appaji Bapuji, meets for public worship in the C.M.S. Mission House, Cypress Lodge, but a generous anonymous gift from England has encouraged the Church Committee to make an earnest effort to raise the sum required for building a new church. The Bishop confirmed fourteen candidates from this congregation in July, the largest number presented hitherto at Poona. The Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji is unable through the infirmities of age to engage in street preaching, but he takes every opportunity of conversing with non-Christians. He says :—

Conversations with non-Christians.

In my travels up and down, to and from Bombay, Nasik, Surat, and Ahmedabad, I try to get into a well-filled railway carriage, so that I may have an opportunity of talking to them, and as soon as the train starts I begin asking one of my fellow-passengers some questions regarding his caste, religion, and business, and in return one of them asks me the same questions, and this opens the way for friendly conversation on the all-important subject, in which most of the passengers join. This conversation lasts till we come to the end of our journey, when some of them thank me for entertaining them with such holy and lofty conversation. I am surprised at this change of feeling. It was very different thirty years ago, when travelling on the same railway I used to be insulted and jeered at if I attempted to mention that I was a Christian, especially by my own people, the Parsees; and in Bombay, where I lived from 1845 to 1849, I often returned home from preaching with my coat torn, and I frequently had dirt, stones, and cow-dung thrown at me. But last May, at the same spot, opposite the Money School, where I used to receive the aforesaid treatment, with taunts and jeers, I was honoured with a garland of flowers, at the close of my address, by a Parsee priest, amidst the applause of multitudes who were standing and listening to my preaching.

Great change of feeling.

Junir.

The Rev. W. C. Whiteside spent a year of uninterrupted work in the JUNIR district, visiting the villages as in previous years in the cold season, and preaching and discussing in the bazaar and preaching-house at Junir during the rains. An unusually severe epidemic of cholera carried off one-fifth of the inhabitants of many of the villages.

MALEGÂM.

No Annual Letter has been received from this station.

AURANGABAD.

Aurangabad.

This station is in the Nizam's dominions, and in the Diocese of Madras. Bishop Gell paid his seventh triennial visitation in December, and confirmed 65 candidates. On Christmas Day he addressed the congregation through interpretation, and administered the Lord's Supper to 125 communicants. The Rev. Ruttonji Nowroji, whom the Committee have had much pleasure in welcoming on his first visit to this country, remarked in his Annual Letter that he observes with much thankfulness the increasing influence of the Gospel. He wrote:—

Increasing influence of the Gospel.

We are no longer looked upon as disturbers of the peace. They speak to us kindly, they hear us readily, they read our books unhesitatingly. God's truth is brought to the hearing of large numbers of the people of all sorts and conditions of life, and the time is not far distant when large numbers of people will take up the Cross of Christ, casting in their lot with the people of God.

Of efforts made to reach the native soldiers, he observed:—

Efforts to reach Native soldiers.

One of the regiments which was stationed here for some years was transferred to another station towards the end of the year. We knew all the men. Most of them used to hear us. Some were more attentive than others. A few were disposed to dispute with us. One of them was a bitter opponent. For years he resented every effort we made to bring about a better state of feeling, but without success. At the time of his departure, he came in the bazaar while I was addressing a large audience. The people fully expected to hear him say something to annoy us; but, contrary to their expectation, he told them that he had done his best to oppose us, and to try our temper and patience, but now that he was to leave the station for good he would bear testimony to the fact that Christians rose superior to all bitter opposition, and that he was always struck with the undaunted courage and loving spirit with which we carry on our work from one year's end to the other. He asked forgiveness for all his past rough and unmanner[illegible]y conduct towards us. He has gone, and so are all the men of his regiment, thanking us for our kind and friendly intercourse with them, and it is our earnest prayer that the precious seed sown in their hearts will bear fruit in God's time. Some of them have been deeply impressed with the truth of Christianity, and one young Mohammedan has since written to say that he was about to take his discharge and would place himself under any Missionary that I might suggest.

Progress of Christianity in the Madras Presidency.

THE Decennial Statistical Tables show the following rate of progress of Christianity in the Madras Presidency between 1851 and 1890:—

PROGRESS OF CHRISTIANITY IN SOUTH INDIA.

	1851.	1861.	1871.	1881.	1890.

Native Communicants . .	14,661	24,976	52,816	113,325	182,722

Taking those sections of the returns which include the districts worked under this Mission by the C.M.S., the whole Native Christian community, and that part of it connected with the C.M.S., have grown respectively as follows:—

	1851.	1861.	1871.	1881.	1890.

Do. C.M.S.	24,613	33,691	38,331	55,310	54,157

In 1881 Tinnevelly had a much larger Christian population than any other district of India enumerated separately in the sections of the Statistical Report. The next in number were Travancore with 59,959, and Nellore and Cuddapah (in the Telugu country) with 59,928; in 1890 the former stood at 72,635, and the latter at 109,223. It will be seen that Nellore and Cuddapah increased over 80 per cent. during the nine years, and exceeded in 1890 the number in Tinnevelly, which receded during the same period by 2,422. The figures of the C.M.S. Tinnevelly Mission account for 1,153 of this apparent retrogression. After the famine of 1877 the number of C.M.S. adherents went up from 41,493 in 1877 to 50,075 in 1878, and they continued to increase until in 1883 they were 56,457; since that year the number has fluctuated, only once, in 1887, exceeding the last-named figure, and that very slightly, being 56,648. The explanation is that of the large numbers who joined the congregations after the famine many did not continue steadfast; they were not baptized, and through marriage alliances and other causes relapsed back again to heathenism. A stricter discipline brought to bear in the congregations has doubtless tended to hasten the departure of unworthy members. But an inspection of the Statistical Tables in the Society's Annual Reports shows that the work has been the reverse of retrogressive. Throughout this period there has been steady progress in the number of baptized Christians, who increased in the C.M.S. Missions from 40,634 in 1881 to 46,888 in 1890, over 15 per cent. in the nine years; while the communicants increased from 10,167 to 12,218, over 20 per cent.

The Society's Educational work in South India.

The schools enumerated in the above table are Primary Schools. There are besides in the Mission 6 Training Institutions for males and 3 for females; 11 Colleges and High Schools for males, 6 Middle Anglo-Vernacular Schools for boys, 11 Anglo-Vernacular Primary Schools for boys, 10 Boys' Boarding-Schools, 10 Girls' Boarding Schools, and 44 Hindu and Mohammedan Girls' Schools. The Palamcottah Girls' Boarding School is the oldest, having been established in 1840; then the Nallur, Surandei, and Mengnanapuram Girls' Boarding Schools, all in Tinnevelly, established in 1842. For the education of males the Noble College at Masulipatam stands first in order, having been opened in 1843, then the Palamcottah High School in 1844. 15 European missionaries, of whom 6 are ladies (three being of the C.E.Z.M.S.), 261 Eurasian and Native masters, and 105 Eurasian and Native mistresses are engaged in these schools. All the female teachers, except three, are Christians, but 106 of the males are non-Christians. The total number of pupils on the roll on March 31, 1893, was 6,068; 12 are Eurasians, 2,135 Native Christians, 3,876 Hindus, 515 Mohammedans, and 30 others. The results of the year, so far as regards examination tests, were: 2 passed out of the Theological classes, and 13 male students the Fourth Grade Government Teachers' Examinations; 15 passed the First Arts; 33 matriculated at the University; 7 passed the Higher Examination for Women, 162 the Middle School Examination (32 being females), 80 the Sixth Standard on Results (23 being females), 147 the Fifth Standard on Results (43 being females), 265 the Upper Primary, or Fourth Standard on Results (95 being females); and 206 the Lower Primary, or Third Standard on Results (92 being females). The total cost of these schools for the year was Rs. 175,512. Towards this the grants from Government, including result grants, amounted to Rs. 30,769; school fees to Rs. 35,870; local funds, endowments, subscriptions &c. to Rs. 38,245; while the C.M.S. General Fund paid Rs. 66,188.

Devotional meetings at a hill station.

A number of Missionaries of several different Protestant Societies who met at the hill station of Kodaikanal in May, 1892, held together some very enjoyable and profitable devotional meetings, of which the Rev. F. W. Breed sent home the following account:—

> The meetings of the Convention were arranged to be held in the American Mission church twice daily from Monday, May 23rd, to Thursday, the 26th; the morning meeting to begin at nine o'clock, and the evening meeting at 4.30.
>
> Let me put before you the scheme of subjects proposed for our consideration during these four happy days. The general subject was "Christ all in all;" the general motto, "Not I, but Christ."
>
> The morning meetings were Bible readings emphasizing the "Not I," and in the afternoons two speakers gave addresses, laying stress on the latter half of our motto-text, "but Christ." On Monday we considered: In Justification, "Not I," "but Christ"—(1) The Faith, (2) The Righteousness. Tuesday: In Sanctification, "Not I," "but Christ"—(1) The Grace, (2) The Growth. Wednesday: In Evangelization, "Not I," "but Christ"—(1) The Message, (2) The Power. Thursday: In Doxology, "Not I," "but Christ"—(1) On Earth, (2) In Heaven.
> On Friday morning we concluded our Convention with a consecration meeting. The chairman spoke of the ready possibility of the impression made during previous meetings being but a fleeting one unless we were careful to maintain the effect and good resolution made, by prayerful waiting upon God. Several then testified to the help they had received during the meetings, or in a few words endeavoured to press home some thought that had been thrown out in one or other of the meetings. A number of prayers followed, intermingled with appropriate hymns, and then our Convention closed; and I think the very general impression was that we had had a very happy and helpful time.

The Rev. Edward Sell, as already stated under the Western India Mission, spent several months of 1892 at Bombay, as Acting Secretary of that Mission. In October the Rev. W. G. Peel, who had, as on a previous occasion during Mr. Sell's furlough, filled the latter's place at Madras, was appointed to that office, and Mr. Sell returned to the more onerous duties of this Mission, which he has discharged with ability and unflagging zeal for 28 years.

Ordinations.

At Palamcottah, on February 14, 1892, the Bishop of Madras admitted Mr. Ambrose V. Thomas, B.A., to deacon's orders, and the Revs. J. Knight, G. Swamiadian, S. Horshington, J. David, V. Gnánamuttu, D. Amirthanayagam, S. S. Simeon, and J. Griffith to priest's orders, all connected with the Tinnevelly Mission. On September 18, at Ootacamund, he admitted the Rev. J. Satthianadhan, of Madras, to priest's orders. On November 27, at Masulipatam, he admitted the Revs. A. E. Goodman, G. H. Asirvatham, and Kaliyana Ramiar to priest's orders, and Mr. M. Gnanasigamoni Pillai to deácon's orders; and on February 26, 1893, he admitted the Rev. D. Anantam to priest's orders. These last belonged to the Telugu Mission.

I. MADRAS.

Madras, 1814; Ootacamund, 1870.

The Rev. T. R. Waltenberg came home after the death of his wife in June, 1892, and the Rev. Malcolm G. Goldsmith came to England in April, 1893, and Mrs. Vickers in May.

Madras Mohammedan Mission.

The visit of the Rev. M. G. Goldsmith, of the Mohammedan Mission, to Hydrabad, in the Deccan, which was originally intended to be for six months, from June, 1891, was extended by leave until June, 1892. In January Mr. Goldsmith visited Bidar, a city about ninety miles from Hydrabad, whose history dates back to A.D. 1323. This place contains many tombs of reputed saints, and many leaders of sects with their disciples, and is regarded as a great stronghold of Mohammedan orthodoxy. Of this visit Mr. Goldsmith wrote:—

Visit of Rev. M. G. Goldsmith to Bidar.

> In Bidar we put up for four days in the Travellers' Bungalow, but were then invited by a Mussulman pleader, in whose house we had held discussions, to become his guests. He gave us comfortable quarters in his house, and was in every way most hospitable for the remaining four days of our stay. He seemed one of the "honest and good" hearts who are not so far from the Kingdom of God; devout in his own religion, but honouring Christ and His people. Such men seem merely to need a little more light to bring them into the sunshine of the Gospel. There may, however, always be difficulties of the unregenerate nature to be overcome, which nothing but the Divine power may conquer; and for this we pray.

Baptisms at Hydrabad,

Two Moslem inquirers were baptized by Mr. Goldsmith at Hydrabad, one Hafiz Muhammed Lan, aged 24, who had given proof of his sincerity by publicly confessing Christ at a large meeting in a Mussulman's house; and the other Mr. Goldsmith's Madras servant, Turab Ali, who had shown for several months a consistent desire to be a Christian. Good and attentive audiences gathered to the bazaar preaching, and some hopeful inquirers were left behind when Mr. Goldsmith returned to Madras in the summer of 1892. In October Mr. Goldsmith had the happiness of baptizing a convert and his five children, sent to him by an L.M.S. Missionary at Bellary, and a widow and her three children who had been instructed by Miss E. L. Oxley, of the C.E.Z.M.S. He wrote:—

In August, two months ago, the Rev. E. Lewis, of the L.M.S., Bellary, wrote to us that a maulavi whom he had known for a long time, and whom he believed to be thoroughly in earnest, wished to become a Christian. He added, "Could you receive him and his children in Madras?" We replied that we should be glad to see him by himself first, so as to be able to judge as to the expediency of having his children also with us in our limited accommodation at Harris School. Accordingly Maulavi Abdullah Sahib arrived with three children on August 24. His simple straightforwardness struck us at once. He had been living in Arabia for several years, was well up in the Qurán and Traditions, and seemed to have been convinced of two things: (1) The superior moral character generally of Christians; (2) the inconsistencies of the Qurán. He had not read much of the Bible, but was anxious to read it and any Christian books. He had read some books of the Christians, and a few years ago had received from a Mohammedan friend a tract entitled, "The Fátiha," or "First Chapter of the Qurán." This tract was probably one of those cast as "bread upon the waters" by Masíh Dyál and myself in our visit to Bellary in September, 1889. Let tract-distributors take encouragement.

Encouragement to tract-distributors.

After remaining a few days in Madras, Abdullah Sahib returned to Bellary for his two other children. He soon came back with them, and on Sunday, October 2, was baptized in Zion Church with his four sons and one daughter. He retains his former name Abdullah, with the addition of Masihi (Christian), and his four boys retain the main part of their former names; but, as a distinguishing addition, have the names of the four Evangelists, so they are now—Mati Abdul Wahább, Marqus Abdul Ghaffár, Luga Abdur Razzáq, Yuhanna Yusuf; while the daughter becomes Mariyam Roqaiya. They are bright, intelligent young folk. Four of them have been ill since their arrival, but in God's mercy soon recovered.

On the same Sunday a widow of Amraoti, whose husband was in the Medical Department in the Berars, and who with her children has been for about three years an inquirer under Miss Oxley, was baptized with three of her daughters and two of her sons. Two, the eldest daughter and a son, who had not shown sufficient readiness for baptism, were kept back. As their house-language was Hindustani, they joined Abdullah and his family in the solemn service. Abdullah Sahib gave a short Hindustani "testimony" before his baptism, which was duly translated into Tamil for the benefit of the Tamil members of Zion Church.

Soon after these had been baptized an inquirer from the L.M.S. Mission at Trevandrum was received, who appeared to be suffering from the effects of poison administered in consequence of his open avowal of his faith in Christ. Mr. Goldsmith took up for a few months the Principalship of the Harris School. Since he left, Mr. Sell has temporarily taken this charge.

Divinity Class students pass the University Preliminary Examination for Orders.

At the beginning of 1892 there were three students in the Divinity Class, under the Rev. H. D. Goldsmith, namely, W. D. Clarke, D. S. David, and A. Devapiram, the last-named being from the Tinnevelly Itinerancy. Later in the year Dhan Singh made a fourth, being the first Hindustani-speaking student which the class so far has received. He is, however, a convert, not from Mohammedanism, but from Hinduism. Messrs. David and Clarke passed the Oxford and Cambridge Preliminary nation for Holy Orders in October, both in the second class; the latter also succeeded in carrying off the Bishop's Greek Testament Prize (as the former did in 1891), which is open to students of the S.P.G. and C.M.S. Theological Schools in Madras. Six competitors from the S.P.G. College appeared, and a second prize was awarded to Mr. D. Solomon. This made the fourth time in recent years that Mr. Goldsmith's students have carried off this prize. The students take part in bazaar preaching. The visit of the Rev. Dr. Pentecost to Madras in the spring of 1892 was most useful to the students, and was greatly blessed, Mr. Goldsmith says, to several members of Trinity Chapel. Mr. Henry Goldsmith has the pastoral charge of the district attached to John Pereira's Church; eleven candidates connected with the congregation were confirmed in March, 1892.

The Rev. S. John continues his labours among the Educated Classes of his countrymen, visiting them in their homes and places of business, and addressing them in the Preaching Hall in Black Town. He says:—

Attitude of educated Hindus.

> The attitude of Hindus towards Christianity as it shows itself nowadays is not, I am led to think, one of antagonism, but rather of indifference. Those who are devoid of English education are, as a rule, still in bondage to orthodox views and antiquated customs and ideas. These are the men who look upon Christians and their religion in a hostile attitude. In my intercourse with enlightened Hindus, I have very frequently noticed their regard for Christianity. They admit the moral teaching as one of a very high standard: they acknowledge the most holy life of the Lord Jesus to be one of unparalleled character. They also confess in a manner very much like Christians the miserable condition to which the human race is reduced by sin, and consequently the utter inability of man to reinstate himself in his original position, and so forth. But the plan of salvation, the vicarious atonement, the self-denial, and the separation from relations and friends which attend one's conversion to Christianity, have been and are now continuing to be the stone of stumbling and rock of offence both to the educated and uneducated Hindu.

Pastorates.

The Native Church Council invited the Rev. A. Gnánamuttu, of the Tinnevelly Mission, who had volunteered in 1891 for work in the Telugu Mission, and had been assigned to one of the Ellore Pastorates, to take charge temporarily of the Southern Pastorate in succession to the late Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan. He conducts two services on Sundays, at 7.30 A.M. and 4 P.M., in Zion Church, and one in John Pereira's Church at 10 A.M. He describes his pastoral labours in visiting his people, some of whom occupy good positions in Native society, superintending the teaching of the Scriptures in his nine schools, giving lectures, and holding meetings. The teachers and catechists go out twice weekly to preach to the heathen, and six adult converts, three of whom, Mr. Gnánamuttu says, owe their conversion to Mr. W. Arbuthnot, were received by baptism. In last year's report an account was given at some length of a visit paid by the Preachers' Association connected with Zion Church in December, 1891, to Palaveram. In December, 1892, the Association visited Poonamallee and the surrounding villages. The Rev. D. A. Peter, Chairman of the Madras District Church Council, wrote of this evangelistic effort, which was continued for five days :—

Visit of Preachers' Association to Poona-mallee.

"Well armed."

Being well armed with all the necessary requirements, such as handbills in Tamil, Telugu, Hindustani and English, tracts, copies of the Bible, and Scripture-portions, violin, triangle, and other accompaniments of native music, five large flags with the following inscriptions, "Trust in Jesus," "Jesus the Saviour of men," "Jesus will conquer India," "Lord Jesus is coming, repent ye," &c., the members, about twenty in number, took their seats in different closely packed third-class carriages, where they had abundant opportunity of speaking to their fellow-passengers and distributing tracts and handbills.

With one exception, the Gospel preaching went on uninterrupted and undisturbed. Among the audience there was found a Hindu lad, a member of the Hindu Tract Society, who had come purposely from Madras to ask us questions and disturb our work. The preachers, finding that he was bent on making mischief and not disposed to learn anything from them, coolly replied that their mission was not to answer questions, but simply to proclaim the Gospel news to those that were anxious to hear them; and another Hindu answered his questions and sent him away from the crowd. On three successive evenings three open-air meetings were held with great success in different parts of Poonamallee. Friday afternoon was set apart for what is called Old Town Poonamallee, which is chiefly inhabited by the worshippers of Vishnu, the most orthodox and therefore the least accessible portion of the Hindu community. Seldom has this part been visited by Christian preachers for fear of persecution and disturbance. There was very little encouragement for preachers to visit Old Town, and they first proposed to leave it unvisited, but after prayerful consideration it was resolved that "the good tidings of great joy" should be taken to them on the last day. The whole band of preachers marched together singing with musical instruments and flags, and proceeded to the Old Town as though they were going to carry the enemy's fort by storm. A large open space was found in one of the public streets near the big Hindu Temple, from which six stirring addresses were made to a large audience, which was chiefly composed of Vishnuvite Brahmins. One of the preachers spoke about our Lord's Sermon on the Mount, another about our Lord's Second Coming and the Judgment Day, and another about the conversion and life of the late Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan. The whole audience was as it were spell-bound and stood speechless, and the most remarkable feature of this meeting was that there was not the slightest disturbance from any one. The preachers went with great fear and misgivings, but returned rejoicing and praising God for His mercies.

A Vishnuvite stronghold attacked.

The usual routine was as follows :—The members would rise as early as four in the morning and get ready for their daily duties, spend an hour together in Bible-reading and prayer, and take a cup of warm coffee, very often without milk, and start in five groups in five different directions, walk a distance of three or four miles and visit as many villages as were on their way, return to Poonamallee as late as 11 or 12 in the day, rest one or two hours, have a simple midday meal and start again for preaching in the afternoon. The Gospel preaching in villages was very encouraging, as the villagers, unlike townsmen, are simple, polite, and obliging, and more easily accessible to Christian preachers than even the best city men. One or two instances may be cited here to show how good-natured and obliging these villagers were. In a village called Mangadu, a Hindu friend who saw the members preach standing for a long time, brought a long bench from his house and asked all the preachers to sit down and tell them more about Jesus. Another Hindu woman, at another gathering in the same village, brought a chair for the use of the preachers; a cup of milk was offered by a third. The preachers were thankful and encouraged to see that the people of one or two villages were willing or very nearly ready to accept Christ as their Lord and Saviour. A small village about a mile and a half from Poonamallee was visited by the members twice, and on the second day one of the leading men came forward and said: "Yes, we believe all that you say; now tell us definitely what we have to do, and how we are to be saved." The preachers happened to stand near an idol temple and one of them spoke about Gideon, how he and his men cast down the altar of Baal and cut down the grove that was by the side of it, and asked if the villagers would likewise break down that idol-temple and build in its place a place of worship for the true and living God. The villagers one and all of them said, "Yes, we shall do so, come and help us." May God help them and make that a Christian village soon.

Baptism of four lepers.

The writer of the above, the Rev. D. A. Peter, is the pastor of the Northern Pastorate, and he baptized ten adults, four of whom were lepers in the Black Town Leper Hospital. In the chapel of this hospital the Bishop of Madras confirmed eight of the Christian lepers in March, 1892. Mr. Peter also visits Pulicat, 25 miles north of Madras, where there is a small congregation of 50 souls and a Primary School. The Rev. J. Satthianadhan, of the Mount Pastorate, baptized three adults, an old woman and two young men; and the Rev. J. Gabb, of Poonamallee, reports two adult baptisms and the admission of a Roman Catholic and his family, five members being of age, into the congregation.

OOTACAMUND.

Ootacamund.

At this station the Rev. G. Swamiadian, transferred from Pragasapuram, one of the Tinnevelly Pastorates, succeeded the Rev. S. Vores, removed to Calicut, in the autumn of 1892. There are congregations at Coonoor and at South-Eastern Wynaad, where catechists are stationed, as well as at Ootacamund; 803 in all, and 340 communicants. A catechist is at Pykara for work among the Todas. The Rev. T. Walker, who spent a few weeks at Ootacamund in April and May, 1892, wrote:—

Work among the Todas.

> Asirvadham, our Toda schoolmaster, is working hard to teach the children there. I was amused to find that the stolid-looking Todas are by no means deficient in critical acumen and mathematical ability! Some of their puzzles and conundrums afforded us considerable amusement, and several times we turned the tables on haughty Europeans who were inclined to speak of them with scorn, by non-plussing them with Toda riddles! We got some new light on their folk-lore and traditional myths, but as yet, though glad enough to talk to us and to hear about the Christian religion, none of them show any disposition to embrace it.

Miss C. F. Ling, who, with Miss E. E. Synge, represents the C.E.Z.M.S. at Ootacamund and Coonoor, has passed a good examination in the Toda language, and is engaged in translating St. Mark's Gospel.

II. TELUGU MISSION.

Masulipatam, 1841 ; Ellore, 1854 ; Bêzwâda, 1858 ; Koi Mission (Dummagûdem), 1860 ; Râghavapuram, 1872 ; Kummamett, 1888.

Reinforcements.

THE Rev. William Charles Penn, M.A., Exeter College, Oxford, Curate of West Ham ; and the Rev. Robert William Peachey, Student of Islington College, who was ordained deacon by the Bishop of London on Trinity Sunday, June 12, 1892, sailed respectively in November and October to reinforce this Mission, the former for the staff of the Noble College at Masulipatam, and the latter for the Itinerancy. The Rev. James Stone and the Rev. J. C. J. and Mrs. Pavey returned to the Mission after short leave in June and November respectively, and the Rev. J. B. Panes returned from furlough in November, 1892. The Rev. F. W. N. and Mrs. Alexander came home in June, and the Rev. E. T. and Mrs. Pegg in December.

Translations of the Rev. J. E. Padfield.

The Rev. J. E. Padfield, B.D., translated and published during the year a book called "Gospel Types and Shadows of the Old Testament," written by the Rev. W. Odom, Vicar of Heeley, Sheffield. The Madras Mail, in the course of an article on Christian vernacular literature, made the following reference to Mr. Padfield's works :—

> We have had occasion to notice with approval Mr. Padfield's translation into Telugu of Paley's Evidences of Christianity, the S.P.C.K.'s well-known Commentary on the New Testament, the History of the Church of Christ to the Council of Nicæa, the Book of Common Prayer, its History and Contents, and an Exposition of the Thirty-nine Articles, all published by the S.P.C.K. In the last he was assisted by the Rev. A. Subbarayudu. We now have to welcome with cordial approval a brochure called "Prasanga Malika," being fifty-two short studies on the types and shadows of the Old Testament for the use of preachers and teachers, printed and turned out most creditably by the little C.M.S. "Dove" Press, Masulipatam. It is a translation, somewhat adapted, of a little book by the Rev. W. Odom, Vicar of Heeley, Sheffield. These skeleton sermons have been made use of by the classes on homiletics in the Preparandi Institution, Masulipatam; and most of them have been preached from by the Divinity students, and found most suitable for the purpose for which they are now published. Small as this book is, the unusual paucity of typographical errors, although it is issued by a very small press, the scholarly and lucid rendering, and the care with which the language has been kept down to the comprehension of the unlearned without sacrifice of elegance or accuracy, speak to much painstaking labour that will be appreciated by few who have not been through something of the same kind.

The Committee have appointed the Rev. J. Stone Chairman of the Telugu Central Church Council.

MASULIPATAM.

Masulipatam.

Again, as in last year's Report, it must be observed with regret that no Annual Letter has been received from the Acting Principal of the Noble College, the Rev. H. J. Tanner. This regret is all the greater inasmuch as 1893 is the Jubilee Year of this institution, and the Rev. C. W. A. Clarke, the Principal, is endeavouring, while at home, to collect funds with the object of increasing and extending its usefulness. The Collector of the Bellary district, R. Sewell, Esq., who was formerly Collector of the Kistna district, in which Masulipatam is situated, on the occasion of the annual prize-giving of Wardlaw College, Bellary, made honourable mention of the Noble College. He said:—

Testimony to value of Noble College.

"The only other college with which I have been at all intimately connected during my service in this country was the Noble College in Masulipatam, and that institution succeeded in turning out a number of very good alumni, honourable and upright men, so that to have been educated there was, as it were, to be hall-marked for good. I trust that all the students of this college will so conduct themselves that in after years it will be a stamp of good character for a man to say that he was educated at the Wardlaw College at Bellary. The result in Masulipatam was partly due to the high tone of discipline and obedience that characterised the institution.

The Rev. A. Sabbarayudu, a former pupil, and one of Mr. Noble's converts, took the F.A. junior class, consisting of 45 boys, in the Scriptures, and also gave assistance to the Rev. J. E. Padfield in the Preparandi Institution. This Institution has two departments: a Divinity Class which had seven students under training in the vernacular, and a Normal School which had 21 students at the beginning of 1893, 16 having completed their studies and gone out to work in the various districts during 1892. All the students preach by turns in the town and bazaar. The Sharkey Memorial Girls' School, under Mrs. Padfield's superintendence, in which she is assisted by Miss Padfield, was quite full with 60 boarders and 12 day scholars. A very favourable report was given of the school by the Government Inspectress. Miss Brandon, Miss J. Brandon, and Miss Digby, of the C.E.Z.M.S., were working during the year among the women of this district, and were joined by Miss Jennings in the autumn.

Preparandi Institution.

The Native Congregations in the Masulipatam district have 2,158 baptized members, as compared with 2,077 in 1891, while the catechumens increased from 223 to 303. Twenty-nine adults were baptized during the year. The contributions of the Christians towards the support of the Native pastoral agents &c. amounted to Rs. 1,106, as compared with Rs. 922 of the previous year. The Bishop of Madras held an ordination in the church in November, and during his visit 150 candidates were confirmed. Of these, 92 were presented at Rudravarum, some 30 miles from Masulipatam, by the Native pastors, the Revs. T. Ephraim and M. David, and the Bishop expressed great pleasure at the cleanliness and behaviour of the candidates. Mr. Padfield says:—

Pastorates.

Confirmations.

"In the matter of confirmations there is much to be thankful for. When the Bishop was up here three years ago, I was only able to present very few indeed for confirmation, owing to the lamentable state of ignorance and indifference. This time we presented about 150, and each one of these was, as far as we could judge, fully fitted to receive the rite; each one had been carefully instructed in the prescribed subjects, and besides being examined by me in classes, I had, in nearly every instance, a private interview with each candidate before giving the card denoting fitness. This involved much labour and a great deal of travelling, but I feel sure the results are worth the pains, for besides the individual good to those directly interested, such things teach our people that these sacred rites are not the mere matter of form they had so largely come to think they were.

There is still much indifference among the Christians, and a low standard of holiness, and twenty persons were excommunicated by the Bishop who had fallen into the sin of drunkenness, or had married heathen wives or contracted such marriages for their children. In regard to these and similar cares much grace and wisdom are needed, and the prayers of the friends of Missions should be frequent and fervent. The Rev. A. E. Goodman says:—

Prayer for the Native Christians needed.

It is in such circumstances as the foregoing that we need the prayers of the people of Christ at home. I often think that Missionaries get a great deal of false sympathy. I could write pages of so-called missionary hardships—mouldy bread, lack of provisions when on tour, difficulties in travelling &c. &c.—these things are nothing for Christ's sake, and only add a charm to missionary life. We need the prayers of the people at home for the Native Christians themselves, in order that they may lead pure and holy lives. They need greatly the Holy Spirit's power to sanctify them; and also the moral character and fibre of real soldiers of Christ in order that they may not hinder those who would come into the Kingdom of God.

BEZWADA AND ELLORE.

Bezwada.

The Rev. J. Harrison is in charge of the BEZWADA district, and is assisted by the Revs. K. Naganna and B. Daniel, the former having the Bolapad pastorate, containing sixteen villages with Christian inhabitants, and the latter having Tiruduru, a new pastorate between the Kistna and Godavery rivers. The baptized Christians in the district number 1,040; the communicants are 345, and the unbaptized adherents 562. Twenty-three adults were baptized. Sickness and other causes interrupted the work of the Itinerators, but most of the large villages and towns were visited. Mr. Frank Samuel, a Telugu Christian who had been working in Tinnevelly, has joined the band.

Ellore.

Upon the Rev. F. W. N. Alexander coming home on furlough the Rev. E. T. Pegg took charge of the ELLORE district; but in December his health obliged him to leave, and the Rev. James Stone, the leader of the Itinerating Band, was requested to undertake the supervision of the work. Influenza and cholera were prevalent more or less in this station during the year. The Rev. K. Peter and his family suffered from influenza, and his son of the age of nineteen died; while the Rev. G. Krishnayya lost his eldest daughter through cholera. Mr. and

Mrs. Martin Browne were also called to surrender their little daughter. Notwithstanding the presence of epidemics the numbers of the High School increased from 230 to 280, and good results were obtained in the Matriculation Examination, two of the boys taking honours in the first class. A member of the Matriculation Class is a hopeful inquirer. Mr. Browne says:—

A hopeful inquirer.

A young Brahmin, one of the senior students of the Matriculation Class, a gentlemanly thoughtful fellow, drew my attention from the very first, by his interest in and careful preparation of his Bible studies, and towards the close of the year he came forward and expressed his full belief in Christ. I have every reason to believe that his is a genuine case of conversion, and he has not swerved in the least from the stand he took at first. He has left Ellore for a time, in order to go up for his examinations, one of which is the Bible examination of the Peter Cator Prize Scheme, but when he returns I firmly hope that he will be baptized.

The Bishop of Madras was at Ellore in December on a Confirmation tour. He visited the school, and Mr. Browne says:—

The Bishop of Madras at the Ellore High School.

A nice meeting was held, the proceedings being opened by a senior boy, a high-caste Brahmin finding and reading aloud from his own Bible a portion selected by the Bishop, after which the boys of the Matriculation Class repeated from memory John x. and Psalm ciii., in which a very bright little Mohammedan boy distinguished himself by his eagerness and ability. The Bishop then addressed the boys, after which three very hearty cheers were given for his Lordship, and the meeting terminated. I received a very kind and most encouraging letter after he left, enclosing a cheque for fifty rupees, to assist the poor students of the schools.

Miss Symonds was sent out to Ellore by the C.E.Z.M.S. for work among Mohammedan women in 1892.

RAGHAVAPURAM AND KUMMAMETT.

Raghavapuram.

No Annual Letter has been received from the Rev. H. W. Eales, of RAGHAVAPURAM. The Rev. K. Ramiar, who resides at Jaggiapet, in the centre of his evangelistic district, which is forty miles in length, erected a prayer-house during the year with funds sent out by the Rev. T. Y. Darling, in memory of Venkayya Garu, the first Raghavapuram convert (an interesting sketch of Venkayya's life was published in the Intelligencer for December, 1892), who died in 1891; a great-grandson of Venkayya was baptized on the occasion of the opening of this prayer-house. There are no Christians except Mr. Ramiar's own family in Jaggiapet, but a congregation of about sixty souls, all of Madiga origin, exists at a village four miles off. Mr. Ramiar mentions four high-caste men, Sudras, who meet together daily to read God's Word.

Kummamett.

The Rev. James Stone had charge of Kummamett after the Rev. E. T. Pegg's removal to Ellore, but in December he was relieved by the return of the Rev. J. B. Panes. Mr. Panes has sent an interesting report of the district. Just before his return 46 persons were confirmed, whom Mr. Stone had examined and selected. At the end of 1892 the baptized Christians numbered 453, and the catechumens 233. Mr. Panes says:—

In travelling through the villages in many places I have been greatly encouraged, and felt bound to praise our Heavenly Father for the interest manifested, and the great readiness to hear the Gospel, on the part of all classes. The people are indeed hungering and thirsting for the Word of Life, and our greatest difficulty is to find time and means to set it before them, while seeking at the same time to consolidate and strengthen the work already in hand. We ought to send into the work four more good evangelists at once, but where to find them I really cannot tell.

In Venkatagiri and Ramanjaram, two villages in which the work was just beginning when I went home, I had the privilege of baptizing thirteen adults and four children, all thoroughly well instructed, and coming, I believe, with a true faith in Christ as their personal Saviour. There are a number of others under instruction, whom I desired to wait for a future visit, as I did not consider them quite ready. In Sitampett and Sadhanagudem, also, some have been baptized, and others are waiting. An aged man, who knew but little and could not learn lessons by heart (not yet baptized), said, "I pray God to cut away sin from my heart, as the grass is cut and the jungle cleared."

An aged inquirer's prayer.

In a village about twelve miles from Khammamett there is an aged Mohammedan who has confessed Christ publicly for some months, though we have not yet baptized him. On one occasion in the presence of the Parsee Collector—the chief Government official of these parts—and a number of Mohammedans, he boldly said he was a Christian, and was worshipping Christ alone. His courage in confessing his Master has raised no small persecution, and on that account we have not yet thought it advisable to baptize him. His son (who is over thirty years of age) and his wife have turned him out of house and home. He has had to cook and eat his food in the jungle, and they have tried to take away his land and a small monthly salary which he gets as one of the minor village officials, but, so far, they have not succeeded in doing that. Whenever he is able he comes to Khammamett for the Sunday, to attend our Church service, and though sometimes he weeps over his trials, with a few of our Master's words of comfort his face brightens, and he declares he will never forsake the Saviour he has begun to know. Pray for this one, that he may continue faithful unto death, that he may grow more and more in the knowledge of his Lord and Saviour; and pray for us, that we may have the Spirit of wisdom in dealing with his friends and persecutors.

Sufferings for Christ's sake of a Mohammedan Catechumen.

DUMMAGUDEM.

Dummagudem.

The Rev. J. and Mrs. Cain went in the spring of 1892 on an itinerating tour, when they visited the scattered Christians in the Malkanagiri and Rampa Taluqs. The Rev. Gnânasigâmoni Pillai, who was ordained in November, has laboured as a catechist in Malkanagiri since 1886, and the pastoral care of the Christians in these taluqs is committed to him. At Salmerikonda, the village of Nadigotta Lingayya, the first convert in the Malkanagiri Taluq, who had died since their former visit in 1889, they found 15 Christians. At Pullangi, in the Rampa Taluq, they had pleasant intercourse with P. Baleshudu, the first convert of that district (see Annual Report 1889-90, page 156), who is the proprietor of the village. Mrs. Cain wrote from this village in February:—

Visit to the Rampa Taluq.

We have just been camped for four days in Pulangi, a little fertile village which belongs to P. Bálés, the first convert from these parts. He is fairly well off, and counted it a great honour to have us in his village, gave us all we needed, and fed our ponies, carriers, servants, and bullock drivers. We travel as lightly as possible, with a very small tent, and yet we have ten men and three bullocks. For feeding all he would receive no payment, and gave also ten rupees to the Church Fund, as a contribution and thank-offering. Three of our girls from the boarding-school are here married to three Christians; there are ten adults and four children in the church in Bálés' house. We had a most interesting midday service on Sunday in his cattle shed, the only place large enough for service, and two adults and two children were baptized. Bálés, after service, was pressing us to go and visit some people forty miles away, who are longing for baptism. As their village is much nearer Rajahmundry than Dummagudem, and there is a Lutheran Missionary there, Mr. Cain thought it better they should go there and be baptized. As we were still talking a fine-looking well-dressed man came up, and this was one of the inquirers. He had started off and walked the forty miles in a day and a half, feeling no fatigue for gladness, and, to use his own expression, "I felt as if I was mounted on an elephant all the way, so glad was I that you had come to our parts." He told us that ten years ago he got a tract, "The History of Salvation." He did not read it enough, he said, to get the taste of it, but six years ago he heard from his friend Bálés how he was led to Christ through a book, "The History of Salvation," so he took out the tract, and though his friends tried to prevent him from reading it, he was determined to see what it was about. After Bálés and the Christians were put out of caste, his friends besought him not to let this new madness seize him. But it was too late; the truth had seized him, he got other books and tracts and at last a Bible! For three years he has been longing for baptism, and there was no one to gather in such a sheaf. Our earnest hard-working Tamil catechist visited him, and was delighted at his progress. His wife and children have cast in their lot with him, and are under the ban. Last year they were promised baptism, which promise was not fulfilled, and now, was he to be refused when he wanted it so, desired it above anything? "Offer me," he said, "a thousand rupees or baptism to-day, and see which I would take."

"I felt as if I was mounted on an elephant all the way."

The history of a tract.

"A thousand rupees or baptism."

So the next day in Bálés' cattle shed, with a family (father, mother, grown-up daughter and four children) who live twelve miles from Pulangi, he was gathered into the Bundle of Life; but how about the others who could not walk the forty miles?

Mr. Cain went to Rajahmundry to invite the Lutheran Mission to visit the inquirers referred to in the above quotation, but the Missionary there was unable to do so, and Mr. Cain went thither with a catechist, involving six nights in a bandy, and he admitted 13 into the visible Church.

Of the Christians and the agents, Mr. Cain writes:—

With the terribly low moral tone of the heathen around, and the easy way in which grave offences are condoned by the payment of a fine (too often spent at once in drink), it is not to be wondered at that some of the scattered, isolated Christians do not make that progress that we so long to see (Tinnevelly Christians have a wonderful advantage in this respect). We have been obliged to use the pruning-knife more than at any previous time, but a strong, healthy tone seems to pervade the body of Christians in a manner for which we cannot but be most thankful.

Dangers of Christians isolated among the heathen.

Fidelity and earnestness of Native agents.

All our co-workers, whether catechists or schoolmasters, have laboured very earnestly and faithfully, and their co-operation has been of unfailing comfort to us. Possibly this may be one reason why the great Adversary seemed to be more than ever active in tempting the less stable members of Christ's army to be disloyal to Him.

The increasing age and infirmities of the Rev. I. V. Razu prevents him visiting the Kois as he did formerly, and the love of some who once were promising appears to have grown cold.

Miss Crooke, a trained nurse, was in charge of the C.E.Z.M.S. Dispensary at Dummagudem, during Miss Graham's absence on furlough.

III. TINNEVELLY.

Reinforcement. The Rev. Arthur Henry Sheldon, B.A., St. John's College, Cambridge, Curate of St. Leonard's, Exeter, son of the Rev. J. Sheldon, formerly Missionary of the Society in Sindh, joined this Mission in November; and Mrs. W. H. Wise went out to join her husband about the same time. The Revs. H. J. Schaffter and T. Walker and Mr. E. Keyworth came home on furlough in October, November, 1892, and April, 1893, respectively.

Deaths of Native Pastors. The Revs. Suviséshamuttu Swamidasen and Muttusami Dévaprasádham, Native pastors, died, the former in May and the latter in August. Mr. Swamidasen was ordained deacon in 1870, and Mr. Dévaprasádham in 1878.

Several of those who were admitted to priest's orders in February had been members of the Theological Class in the Preparandi Institution. Palamcottah Preparandi Institution. There were fifteen students in this class during the year, some of whom had previously been employed for several years as Mission agents. Twenty students were in the Normal Class, all of whom, the Rev. T. Kember hoped when he wrote his Annual Letter in December, would go out for work as teachers in January, 1893. Girls' Schools. The Girls' Boarding School at Palamcottah, under Mrs. Kember, is the oldest such school in the Mission. It has eighty-five pupils. The Bishop confirmed fourteen of these girls in February, 1892. Miss Kember is the superintendent of a large Sunday-school, many of the teachers of which, all of course voluntary, are members of a Bible Class conducted by Mrs. Kember. In the Sarah Tucker Institution, under Miss A. J. Askwith, Miss F. Swainson, and Miss Walford, of the C.E.Z.M.S., there are three departments—the Normal department, with thirty-five students under training to be mistresses; the Practising department, with 160 children, from infants up to the Seventh Standard; and the High School, with seventeen on the roll. Seven pupils passed the Higher Examination for Women; and six girls who tried for the Peter Cator Scripture Examination all passed, three in the First Class, one taking the second prize of Rs. 40, and three in the second class. There are fifty branch schools, and urgent requests are received from several heathen towns and villages to open other schools. In addition to the above-named ladies, the C.E.Z.M.S. had at Palamcottah, Miss Gehrich, Miss Thomas, Miss Munro, Miss Fitton, and Miss Kember.

Boys' High Schools.

The Boys' High School at Palamcottah and that at Mengnanapuram have been under the Revs. F. W. Breed and E. S. Carr respectively since Mr. E. Keyworth came home on furlough. The pupils, who are sons of Christian parents in the various districts of Tinnevelly, do credit to their teachers, especially in their knowledge of the Bible. All the boys from these schools presented for the General Religious Knowledge Examination open to pupils of all Protestant Schools, both European and Native, in the Madras Presidency, were successful, while over thirty per cent. of the whole number examined failed. Of the nine prizes given, these two schools obtained five. All the boys presented were boarders; the day boys, of whom there are over eighty, do not generally, it is found, make so good progress in religious knowledge as the boarders. Fourteen passed the University Entrance Examination; twenty the Lower Secondary; and the two Primary Schools at Dohnavur and Palamcottah passed eleven in the Primary Examination. Of the physical exercises of the boys Mr. Keyworth says:—

Proficiency in religious knowledge.

Physical exercises.

> In gymnastics and other physical exercises the teachers, students, and manager mingle together without any weakening of discipline. We have good performers, all Christians, on the horizontal and parallel bars, trapeze, rings, vaulting horse, and jumping poles. We have regular drill with dumb-bells and clubs. There are popular stilts, football, lawn-tennis, and bad-minton, and many good Indian games like "prisoners' base" and "rounders." The health of our staff and students has been very good. The boarders in the three boarding-schools march to the river, a mile away, every morning at five for bathing.

The Rev. H. J. Schaffter's place at the College in Tinnevelly Town, on the opposite side of the river to Palamcottah, on his coming home on furlough, was taken by the Rev. L. G. Scott Price. Mr. Schaffter wrote in August:—

Baptisms at Tinnevelly College.

> Considering that the first three years of the College in Tinnevelly only one convert of high caste (according to heathen notions) was gleaned, how thankful should we be that in the first eight months of this year three, after careful preparation and considerable persecution, have been baptized; and another one, very highly connected, who for the past eighteen months has been kept at home under a guard, has come out and will, I hope, soon be baptized. Or, looking at the matter from another point of view, considering that thirty years ago, when a Hindu was baptized in Mr. Cruickshank's school, the Tinnevelly people collected Rs. 20,000 in four days and founded their great opposition school, which has now developed into the Hindu College, intending to smash the C.M.S. higher education, how thankful should we be that in spite of twelve baptisms in their midst, not one rupee has been, or can be, collected now, and that the Hindu College is languishing for funds!

Removal of boys inoperative to arrest the work.

There has been a large withdrawal of boys; but we have become quite inured to that, and feel sure that with patient work our numbers will grow, if we faint not. There are 400 still reading in the College, and many of those compelled to leave us went away very sorrowfully: some of them are standing up for the Gospel in the Hindu College, dealing valiant blows on Hinduism, and promising to come back as soon as ever their parents will allow them.

Nine students passed the F.A., five being boys from the Christian Hostel; and 18 the Matriculation Examination. Mr. R. F. Ardell says of the Scripture teaching and its fruits:—

Scripture teaching in the College.

There must be always something new and inspiriting in dealing with souls over the Word of Life, and I find that in dealing with these dear youths day by day lessons are learnt which make the Christian life all the happier to live. Indeed, I often come away from the Scripture hour praying that I might be made as great a blessing to them as they have been made to me. The questions they ask, and the objections they bring forward against the truth, cause one to think, and seek for wisdom and teaching from above, that one may be enabled to answer them aright. And so there is something fresh and original every day—at least to me—something requiring fresh study of the Word, new light on old texts, and, above all, earnest prayer that in answering such questions, and meeting such objections, the good news about Jesus be always plainly and faithfully preached. I thank God that I feel sure they are benefited by these lessons, and that the Word of God is "being made of effect."

One young man (of thirty!) who came to the College determined to use all his efforts to prevent the others younger than he from being misled, went away after a year thanking me for the Bible lessons. He actually told the boys that it was their duty to attend to the words spoken, as they would find them necessary for their soul's salvation. This man, a few days before he left, found me reading Mr. Moule's little book, Thoughts on Christian Sanctity. He took it up, and having examined it, asked me if I would lend it to him for an hour. He brought it back to me next day, saying that it had opened his eyes to what Christianity really was, and asked if I would order him one from England. I gave him my own, and he went away saying he had never read such a "holy book." I have not heard of him since. This was his leave-taking.

"Never read such a holy book."

Afraid to stay at the Mission College.

Another student told me that he would have to leave our College and go to Madras. "Not," said he, "because I have anything against the College, but because I'm afraid if I stay here I shall fail in the F.A.; for as long as I'm here I only think of religion, so I must go away." Poor fellow! the Spirit was striving with him. He, with a few of his class-mates, used to spend hours talking about the Bible.

Speaking lately during the Bible hour, I said to the boys that I was sorry to find that while they were very anxious about their F.A. examination they were careless about their own souls. To my surprise a Brahmin student, who I thought was indifferent, if not bigoted, stood up and said, "You must not think, sir, that we are careless about these things. I and a few of my class-mates (likewise Brahmins) often spend hours talking about these things, and searching out what claim Christ has upon us."

One morning early, while I was reading my morning portion in my own room, I suddenly became conscious of the presence of some one beside me, and looking round I saw that one of our students had entered by the door behind me, and was watching me closely. Then began a conversation. "You see, Nelliappan, I like to see what my Heavenly Father has got to say to me before I begin my day's work." "Yes, sir, that is a good thing to know." Then followed a question. "Do you read the Bible every morning, sir?" "Yes, Nelliappan, and every evening too." "Oh! sir, I thought you only read it on Sundays and festival days, like we read our Vedas on our festivals." "Oh, indeed! and do you read your Vedas yourself on festival days?" "No, sir, we young people do not read. Our elders read and explain them to us." "Why do you not read them for yourself?" "Because our elders are afraid to allow us." "Why?" "Because, sir, if we read our Vedas as you are reading your Bible now, we would understand that they are worthless, and we would have no faith in them." The Vedas and the Bible.

The Elliot Tuxford School at Mengnanapuram was opened in 1842, and consequently 1892 was its Jubilee year. It has about 100 boarders and twenty-six day scholars. Mrs. Thomas, senior, Miss E. F. Thomas, and Miss E. C. Vines constitute its European staff. Miss Thomas states that there has never been a death of any girl while in the school. Elliot Tuxford School.

The new organisation of the Native Pastorates under one District Church Council was tentatively adopted in January, 1892. Very much work was entailed on the Rev. T. Walker and the Rev. E. S. Carr, in Conference with the members of the Executive Committee of the Council, in framing and adapting rules and scales of pay, classifying schools, arranging for the proper supervision of agents &c. under the altered arrangements. Mr. W. H. Wise rendered very welcome help in the office work. The Council meets quarterly, but much business which was formerly done by the Councils is now done by fifteen "Circle Committees," representing Circles of pastorates, most of which are presided over by Native chairmen, and whose proceedings are subject to revision by the Council. The supervision of the Evangelistic work of the Native Church has been delegated to a Missionary Association, of which the European Itinerating Missionaries are members. The Wm. Chas. Jones Fund Evangelists are under this Association. The Bishop of Madras held an ordination in the Tamil Church at Palamcottah in February, 1892, to which reference has been already made; and he visited besides Sattur, Sachiapuram, Sriviliputtur, Sankaranainarkoil, Vageikulam, Pannikulam, Panneivilei, Mengnanapuram, Suvisesha-puram, Dhonavur, Nallur, and Surandei, thirteen centres in all, where he held confirmations. At some of these places the number of confirmees was very large; e.g. at Mengnanapuram 800 candidates were confirmed at a single service. The success of the Harvest Festival at Sachiapuram in 1891 encouraged Mr. Walker to organise two similar ones in June, 1892; one at Sachiapuram in the north, and the other at Nallur in the west. Mr. Walker wrote:— Pastorates. New organisation. Missionary Association. Visitation by Bishop of Madras.

As before, a Harvest Thanksgiving Service, a public baptism of adults, a Missionary Meeting, and the Anniversary Meeting of North Tinnevelly, together with a Christian demonstration in the heathen town of Sivagasi, formed prominent features in the programme. The chief novelties were a lecture by Mr. Douglas on "Charles Spurgeon," and athletic sports for the young people, the "tug of war" between European Missionaries and Native pastors causing much diversion to all beholders! The harvest offer- Harvest Thanksgivings.

ings amounted to about Rs. 220 (more than double those of the preceding year), and included a live calf and some large slabs of stone from a neighbouring stone-quarry! Some twenty souls were admitted to the visible Church of Christ by the rite of baptism, tokens of the year's spiritual harvest.

At Nallur—although it was the first attempt of the kind made there—the success of the festival, as regards numbers and offerings, was even more striking than at Sachiapuram. The Thanksgiving Service produced an offertory of Rs. 250, and the congregation in the large pandal was very closely packed. About a dozen catechumens were baptized. At this festival the special services for women only proved particularly attractive, and large gatherings of "the sex" assembled to hear the addresses given by the Misses Ling and Gehrich (of the C.E.Z.M.S.).

Mr. Walker was summoned home in consequence of the state of Mrs. Walker's health before he and Mr. Carr had completed the circuit of the villages containing Christians in the Mission. Of the labours involved in such a task and of its value to the Christians the following from Mr. Walker's Annual Letter conveys a just impression:—

A Superintendent Missionary on circuit.

To give you an idea of the amount of work involved, I have only to say that for weeks together I visited from four to seven villages every day, sometimes having to travel many miles to see a single Christian family. In these visitation tours we examine the schools, scrutinise the church books, make careful inquiries about the circumstances of the congregation, and conduct service with the Christians, catechizing or exhorting them, as the case may be. Careful notes are made and written down, so that the information thus acquired will be always available when required. One good result, at least, has been secured. The people are being stirred up to provide more suitable church furniture, and to give more liberally to the Native Church Fund. These tours among the Christians reveal much which is deplorable, while they also provide something for encouragement. Solitary instances of liberality on the part of Christians are not wanting. One man has given Rs. 2,000 towards the new church which has been erected by his sole exertions. In another village a woman has provided Rs. 200 for the purchase of a new church bell, reading-desk, and set of communion plate. But on the whole the Tinnevelly Christians do not contribute to the extent of their ability, and the stimulation of a more willing and generous spirit among them is one of the pressing duties which lie before us.

Instances of liberality.

Marriage irregularities.

Intermarriage with heathens has been in the past, and is, a sadly common evil. Mr. Carr refers to one village of nearly 3,000 people, most of whom were formerly Christians, but who have gone back to heathenism on account of the difficulty of getting wives or husbands as the case might be among the Christians. Discipline was enforced. Mr. Walker wrote:—

Ecclesiastical discipline.

For many years discipline has been sadly lax, and marriage irregularities, like evil weeds, have grown apace. After consultation with the Madras Corresponding Committee, and submission of the question to the Bishop of Madras, it was decided to face the evil at all risks, and endeavour to uproot it. Accordingly every case of marriage irregularity has been faithfully reported to the Bishop, and as faithfully dealt with by him in the exercise of wholesome discipline. I grieve to say that several hundreds of Christians have been thus excommunicated during the course of the year. We must teach our people that Christ has no fellowship with Belial. The Native Church requires stern Nehemiahs as well as loving Johns. The tree will be healthier, and its growth steadier, for the lopping-off of its rotten branches.

The Rev. F. W. Breed, while studying the language, accepted the Secretaryship of the Y.M.C.A., and he refers to useful debates and lectures, as well as Bible readings, at the weekly meetings; and the Rev. L. G. Scott Price organised a Children's Scripture Union, which has over 1,100 members in seventy towns and villages. The Revs. E. A. Douglas and A. N. C. Storrs were engaged in Itinerating during the year. Their letters contain many evidences of the present state of ferment of the native mind, and of the readiness of nearly all classes to hear, and of many individuals to consider the claims of the Gospel. The following extracts are from Mr. Storrs' Annual Letter :—

Itinerating.

At Tirukurankudi I was asked to examine the Hindu school, and so made friends with the boys, and secured a quiet hearing from their fathers. Mrs. Grimké having kindly sent some texts just at that time, I had an opportunity of sending the Truth into their homes. Some of the boys told me they had fastened the texts on the walls of their rooms.

A heathen Tahsildar advises boys to read the Bible.

At Ambasosamudhram the Hindu Reading Club lent us their room for a magic-lantern lecture, which was attended by the Tahsildhar, District Munsiff, and other gentlemen. The Tahsildhar, in thanking us for the lecture, said that every Hindu boy should read the Bible, and that he hoped that Hinduism would soon see its young men going out as preachers and Missionaries, imitating the example of the Christian religionists.

At Kaladakuruchi we were invited by a wealthy Vellalar to come into his large hall and address his relations on Christianity. This is the more remarkable in that he is the uncle of one lately converted, at whose baptism there was a great deal of opposition and bitterness shown by these very relations. Since then, however, this uncle has been reading the Bible, and asked us questions so earnestly that I cannot but believe him to be a real inquirer.

A whole street of Brahmins expressing dissatisfaction with Hinduism.

On my last tour (I have just been driven in by the rains), at a small village called Cholapuram, I found a whole Brahmin street in a state of dissatisfaction with their own religion. Their leading man confessed to me, "The more I read of it, the less I believe it," and for an hour and more in my tent he was earnestly seeking to know what was the truth. A few days ago I was invited into the house of a relative of one of the rich Zemindars. He produced a well-worn Bible, and told me that if I could convert the other members of the family he would become a Christian too, for he knew it was all true. As I know that already in two branches of that family there are secret disciples, I urged him to come out boldly, and said that I felt sure he would not stand long alone.

Sunday afternoon address to Hindu students.

Mr. Douglas received an invitation from some of the students of the Palamcottah Hindu College to visit their village and address them in English on Sunday afternoons. He did so, and was much struck with the earnestness of some of the young men. The village in question is the native village of the late Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan. Mr. Douglas mentions an inquirer, a Brahmin apothecary who speaks English. He says :—

I called first to see him at his dispensary. I found Albert, one of our band, had given him a Bible. He took it out of one of his medicine chests and gave it to me. I spoke to him earnestly on the need of a new heart. I found he was convinced of the truth of Christianity, did not wear the sacred ashes, never went to the temple, gave out that he was a Vedantist to escape attention being drawn to his not attending the temple worship. He came to my tent afterwards, and I spent a long time talking to him of Christ. He felt it hard to leave all and follow Christ. He had a wife and a young family. Another Hindu, a private Vakil at S——, was, so his friend told me, a $\frac{3}{4}$ Christian before he came to see me. When he went away, his friend, seeing how near he was to accepting Christ, said of him, he was now a $\frac{15}{16}$ Christian. But it is this last $\frac{1}{16}$ part which is so hard to supply. God's Spirit alone can enable a man to leave all and follow Christ.

"This last $\frac{1}{16}$th part which is so hard to supply."

Miss Turner and Miss B. Turner, of the C.E.Z.M.S., who went out in 1891, were preparing for future work in North Tinnevelly.

TRAVANCORE AND COCHIN MISSION.

(Commenced 1816.)

Allepie, 1816 ; Cottayam, 1817 ; Cochin, 1817 ; Mavelikára, 1839 ; Trichur, 1842 ; Pallam, 1845 ; Tiruwella, 1849 ; Kunnankulam, 1854; Arrian Mission, 1855 ; Alwaye Itinerancy, 1881.

Progress since 1851.

THE increase in the Native Christian community in Travancore and Cochin during the four decades since 1851 was as follows:—In 1851 there were 21,179 Christians; in 1861 there were 30,607; in 1871, 46,285; in 1881 the number was 59,959; and in 1890 it was 72,635. The Christians connected with the C.M.S. increased from 3,802 in 1851, and 19,505 in 1881, to 27,606 in 1890.

Ordination.

The Bishop of Travancore admitted Mr. M. P. Matthan to deacon's Orders on September 25, 1892. Mr. Matthan had successfully passed the Universities' Preliminary Examination for Orders. The Ordination was held for the first time at Allepie, previous ordinations having usually been at Cottayam, but occasionally at Mavelikara and Tiruwella.

Archdeacon J. and Mrs. Caley and the Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Painter returned to the Mission in December. The Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Richards came home on furlough in April, 1893.

Archdeacon Koshi invested with D.D. hood.

On July 6, during the session of the Missionary Conference, Bishop Hodges publicly invested Archdeacon Koshi Koshi with the hood of his D.D. Degree, which was conferred upon him in 1891 by the Archbishop of Canterbury, in recognition of his labours in translating the Scriptures into Malayalam. The ceremony took place in Christ Church, Cottayam, the Pro-Cathedral of the diocese, and the interest of the occasion was enhanced by the fact that the day was the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of Christ Church. A jubilee service was held, and the Archdeacon preached a sermon from Deut. viii. 2, in which he dwelt upon the progress of the work during the fifty years. On the same day a new building was opened by the Bishop for the better accommodation of the Cottayam Printing Press, which is the oldest Malayalam press in the country. The first press was sent out from England in 1821, but the type supplied was English. A fount of Malayalam type which was soon afterwards obtained proved to be defective, and the Rev. B. Bailey, to obtain what he required, was reduced to the necessity of making his own type. The account of his work in this unusual capacity was sent home at the time by the Rev. Marmaduke Thompson, and the record deserves to be had in remembrance. Mr. Thompson wrote in 1824:—

Jubilee of Christ Church, Cottayam.

Printing press.

Missionary, who made his own type and printed his own translation of the Malayalam Bible.

> Mr. Bailey's proceedings in this department ought to be put on record. How very faulty the Malayalam types were the Committee have long known. Hopeless of anything better, at least for a long time to come, Mr.

Bailey, without ever having seen a type foundry, or its apparatus of any kind, eager to get some portion of Scriptures and some other works respectably printed as soon as possible, set himself to endeavour to form his own types with such aid as he could find from books alone, and from common workmen. He had recourse chiefly to the Encyclopædia Britannica, and with the instructions which he derived from this and another smaller work or two, a common carpenter, and two silversmiths, it is pleasant to report he succeeded so completely that some months ago he sent a specimen of his types in print to the Resident, whose reply is added :—"Accept of my best thanks for the specimen of the new types which you have been so kind as to send me. The print is extremely beautiful and correct, and reflects much credit on your zeal and industry." The sight of this machinery and of the means by which he accomplished all was very gratifying to me. Besides the correctness and beauty of his types he has reduced them in size. A youth, adopted some years ago by Mr. Bailey as a destitute orphan child, had acquired the art of printing sufficiently to succeed as head printer, to which office we appointed him on a salary of Rs.7 per month. Thus the translation of the Bible is entirely his own, the types formed by himself from the very mould, and the printing executed by an orphan boy reared up by his charity.

Pastorates. As usual, a valuable detailed report of the Pastorates has been received from the Bishop. In the six pastorates connected with the Cottayam District Church Council there are 7,493 baptized Christians and 677 unbaptized adherents. In the eight pastorates of the Mavelikara Council the numbers are 8,059 and 780 respectively. The Bishop held confirmations at sixteen different places, and confirmed in all 594 candidates. The general impression derived by the Bishop from the pastors' reports is that the year under review was one of steady progress. Schools increased in number, new churches were built and old ones repaired, and the contributions to the Council's funds increased from Rs.4,431 in 1891 to Rs.8,492. Special services for quickening the spiritual life of the congregations were held in several places by the Rev. J. H. Bishop. In the Arpukara pastorate a Roman Catholic who was forbidden to read the Bible joined the Protestant congregation; and the Bishop mentions the case of a Roman Catholic priest near Allepie who, with several of his flock, visited him in great distress because he had been excommunicated by his Bishop for refusing to give up reading his Bible and for encouraging his people to read it. Regarding this man Bishop Hodges says :—

Movement among Romanists. Mr. Richards knows him well and has often told me about him, and of the real movement among these Chaldeo Romanists caused by the entrance of the "Word which giveth light." I encouraged him and his people to go on and trust in God who would not fail them, and pray for the Holy Spirit to enlighten, teach, and strengthen them. He fears being deprived of his church, which he says his own family built; but perhaps, if there is the root of the matter in him, this is the best thing that could happen. It will test and purify and decide and push forward to an issue what might otherwise be smothered up or languish away. I ask your prayers for this priest and people, and others who are reading the forbidden Volume in far greater numbers than ever before.

COTTAYAM.

Cambridge Nicholson Institution.

The Cambridge Nicholson Institution, under the Rev. J. Thompson, continues to develop. Its recognition by the Madras Educational Department as a training college, together with the success of the students in examinations, have obtained for it a high place in the estimation of the public, and this operates in attracting students of attainments and mental power. As a rule all the students receive a first-class training in the Normal School and proceed from that to work as schoolmasters. While serving in this capacity they are expected to assist the pastors, and thus have opportunities of manifesting and developing whatever gifts they may possess for the sacred ministry. Such as are chosen from among them are admitted to the Divinity Class. There were 47 students under training during the year, of whom 11 were being trained as deacons of the Syrian Church. Three matriculates trained in the Institution passed successful examinations in "method," two of them being first and second respectively in the second class. None in the whole Madras Presidency were placed in the first class, and only 5 per cent. of the candidates passed at all. Four other students passed the higher grade of the Peter Cator Examinations in Scripture Knowledge; and out of nine boys in the highest class of the Practising School connected with the Institution eight passed the Lower Secondary Examination, two obtaining a first class in every subject. Besides Mr. Matthan, the newly-ordained deacon, 21 students left the Institution; of these, 10 took posts as vernacular teachers, one as Anglo-Vernacular teacher, two as head masters of Anglo-Vernacular Schools; and three as evangelists. A reunion gathering of "old boys" was held in January, 1892, which lasted for nearly three days, each day beginning with an early Service and being filled up with lectures on teaching and on temperance, and with devotional meetings and meetings of the Gleaners' Union. No report of the year's work at the Cottayam College has been received from the Rev. A. J. French Adams, the Principal, or from the Rev. E. Bellerby. The latter was married in September to Miss Ethel James, of the C.E.Z.M.S. Ceylon Mission. The new buildings of the Buchanan Institution at Pallam were opened by the Bishop on November 25, 1892. After the opening prayers and speeches the visitors were afforded an opportunity of witnessing an illustration of the teaching powers of the girls in the training class. The Rev. A. H. Lash, the Principal, wrote:—

Good results in Scripture examination.

Opening of the Buchanan Institution.

> This exhibition excited the greatest interest, and everyone was struck with the concentration each young teacher exhibited in the work she had in hand, and the control she exercised over her class. Lessons were given in Scripture, arithmetic, geography, reading, dictation, and objects. After the teaching the visitors inspected all the buildings in the quadrangle, the dormitories, dining-hall, kitchen, well, &c. In the meantime the girls took their places in the centre of the quadrangle to be drilled. Miss Lash stood upon the steps, and the children, with their eyes steadfastly fixed upon her, imitated all her movements in exact time, accompanying their actions with a musical chant. This performance greatly delighted the crowd, who looked upon it from the verandahs, and elicited a burst of applause. The proceedings terminated with the Benediction by the Bishop. The buildings were greatly admired.

In December there were 130 girls on the roll, about 90 of whom were boarders, and eight branch schools with 282 children (37 boys and 245 girls) were affiliated to the institution. Miss M. F. Baker has 130 on the roll of her Girls' Boarding School at Cottayam, and 95 children in two branch schools.

Alwaye Itinerancy.

The Alwaye Itinerancy was worked during the year by the Rev. C. E. R. Romilly, assisted by the Revs. K. M. Matthan and T. K. Ninan, the latter residing at Alwaye, the former at Koothaltakolam, 33 miles further north. The chief Hindu festivals in the district were visited, and Bishop Hodges timed his visit to the district so as to be present at the Siva Ratra festival at Alwaye, when he took an active part in the preaching. At Kattampakkal is a congregation consisting of 102 baptized Christians and 40 inquirers; 34 candidates were confirmed during the year. Of this congregation Mr. Matthan says:—

Pulayans elevated by the Gospel.

> This is a congregation composed of the most degraded and down-trodden caste in Travancore. They had to pass through many fiery trials and persecutions from the high castes, who used to sell them like animals. Even now one of these poor converts is not allowed to walk through the public road. It is an interesting fact that the children of these most degraded people attend the school in neat clothes, and read and write far better than their so-called masters, the Sudras.

Mr. Ninan mentions an inquirer, a well-to-do landlord of the town of Alwaye, who has twice read through the New Testament, and once the Old, but who described himself as a "Thomas" needing some special manifestation to overcome his unbelief.

ALLEPIE AND TIRUWELLA.

Allepie.

ALLEPIE was under the charge of the Rev. W. J. Richards during the year, but as a member of the Malayalam Revision Committee of the British and Foreign Bible Society, he had to be absent for three months. The final revision of Acts to Galatians inclusive was completed during 1892. The most encouraging feature of his work was the Book Shop from which 512 copies of the Scriptures were sold, a large number to Roman Catholics. Mr. Richards says:—

Roman Catholics purchasing the Scriptures.

> There has been quite a stir among the people of two parishes which I have visited, and I am happy to think that a copy of the Bible which I gave in 1887 to a young man, the brother of a priest, has been the beginning of a large amount of Bible-buying and Bible-reading. I know of another parish the vicar of which lately bought twenty-five rupees' worth of Scriptures at one time.

With the cases referred to in the above quotation that mentioned by Bishop Hodges on a previous page may be compared. The Word of God finds a ready welcome also among the Syrian Christians. Mr. Richards says:—

The Syrian Christians, both "Reformed" and "Unreformed"—separated outwardly—are united in one good thing in that they largely buy and study the Scriptures, and gladly receive a word from anyone who will teach them about Jesus.

A Sunday among Syrian Christians.

When staying some weeks at Mavelikara, on Bible revision, I spent one Sunday in observing what they did. Leaving the house at nine in the morning, I found a large Sunday-school being conducted by a Syrian matriculate teacher. There were forty to fifty children present, and several adults looking on and listening. The children had Bibles and Lyric books, from which they sang the same Christian praises which are heard in our churches. Then at the Syrian Church an earnest Cattanar preached from St. John vi. on "I am the Bread of Life." The same evening this priest conducted an open-air prayer-meeting and Bible-reading in the street, while another was going on a furlong away, both parties of Syrians joining in them.

There is no doubt that the long-continued seed-sowing carried on by our Mission among the Syrians is bearing fruit in many directions. May God grant His blessing more abundantly! Both the Reformers and Non-reformers have now missionary associations. At the last preaching at Alwaye the Rev. C. E. R. Romilly and his party had a tent as usual. I see by the Malayala Mitram that a Syrian priest, a "Non-reformer," with other priests and assistants, put up a pandal or large booth, and joined with our preachers in the aggressive work against Hindu idolatry and in proclaiming the common Gospel at the same Hindu feast or mela.

Before Mr. Richards left Allepie to take furlough, a Six-days Mission was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Bishop, assisted by the Rev. T. K. Joseph and Mr. C. Thoma. About 100 attended at the evening services. Mr. Richards baptized an inmate of the Leper Asylum, in which there are 13 patients, seven of whom are Christians. The Annual Letter of the Rev. J. H. Bishop, regarding the work at TIRUWELLA, has been received too late for this Report.

ARRIAN MISSION.

Mundakayam.

The Rev. C. A. Neve had charge of the Mundakayam district and of Pir Mirde during 1892, residing at Cottayam from November to February and from May to August, and at Pir Mirde the other six months of the year. Since Mr. Richards' departure from Allepie Mr. Neve has been assigned to that station, retaining charge of the Pir Mirde, where he will reside during the hot months. In the Mundakayam district are 26 stations, and Mr. Neve visited most of them at least four times during the year. The physical exertion involved in these journeys through a wild country and in a damp, hot climate is considerable, but the encouragement afforded by the sincere welcome given by the people and their simple, child-like readiness to receive instruction is abundant recompense. At Tiruwanchur Mr. Neve baptized 36 who had been some time under instruction. At Kangara he met an old Christian of the lowest caste, of whom he says:—

A generous free-will offering.

His liberality towards the support of his church is most striking. On one occasion he brought me Rs.51 as a free-will offering. Altogether, on different occasions, he has given me more than Rs.200. He says that God has prospered him, and he is only returning to God what has been lent to him.

Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held at all the stations and were observed with much joyfulness. At Pir Mirde the average attendance at the native service was from 30 to 40, and there is a day school with 60 pupils.

COCHIN: TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

Happiness of Missionary work.

"The longer I live in this interesting though heathen country, the more do I feel that Mission work is the most blessed in which mortal man can engage under heaven," is the testimony of the Rev. F. Bower, who has spent a quarter of a century in the Travancore Mission.

Trichur.

At Trichur he has the assistance of the Rev. A. E. David, who sends a detailed report of his pastoral engagements.

Kunnankulam.

The adult baptisms were 17 at Trichur and one at Kunnankulam, where the Rev. A. J. Jacob is the native pastor. He says of the seven schools in his pastorate that "the chief aim is to impart the knowledge of God's Word and His Salvation through Jesus Christ to the hearts of the young." The Rev. J. J. Beauchamp Palmer resided at Trichur during the greater part of the year while engaged in studying the language.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced 1817.)

I. Singhalese Mission: Kandy, 1818; Baddêgama, 1819; Cotta, 1822; Kurunêgala, 1880.

II. Tamil Mission: Jaffna, 1818; Colombo, 1852; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

Progress since 1851.

According to the statistical tables of Protestant Missions in India, Burmah, and Ceylon, which have already been largely quoted in this Report under the Indian Missions, the Native Christians increased between 1851 and 1890 from 11,859 to 22,442. The C.M.S. Christians increased from 2,859 in 1851, and 4,783 in 1881, to 7,844 in 1890.

Mr. Eugene Stock and the Rev. R. W. Stewart spent several days in Ceylon in December, 1892, after completing their Mission to Australasia, and visited Colombo, Cotta, and Kandy.

Reinforcements.

The following reinforcements have been added to the staff: the Rev. Henry E. Heinekey, of St. John's College of Divinity, Highbury, Curate of St. Paul's, Stratford, and Mrs. Heinekey; Mr. E. S. Carus-Wilson, previously engaged as a tea-planter in the island; Mr. Sydney Simmons, son of the Rev. J. D. Simmons, of this Mission; Miss Emily Young, sister of Mrs. J. I. Pickford, of this Mission; and Miss Helen P. Phillips, late tutor to women students in the University of Sydney, sent out as an honorary missionary by the New South Wales Church Missionary Auxiliary. Mr. Carus-Wilson and Mr. Simmons offered as Associated Evangelists, and were accepted by the Missionary Conference in local connexion.

The Rev. G. T. Fleming, who was married in September to Miss M. F. Fleming, daughter of the Rev. T. S. Fleming, Vicar of St. Clement's, Leeds, formerly a missionary of the Society at Ningpo, returned to the Mission in October; and the Rev. R. T. and Mrs. Dowbiggin sailed in May, 1893. The Rev. J. G. and Mrs. Garrett came home in October, 1892, on account of the former's ill-health, and Mrs. H. Horsley, also on medical certificate, came home in May, 1893. Miss B. Child accompanied Miss Eva Young, whose health had failed, to this country in the spring of 1893, returning after a few weeks.

The Committee have received with much regret the resignation of the Rev. D. Wood, after twenty-five years in the Mission, in consequence of failure of health.

I. WESTERN AND SOUTHERN PROVINCES.

COLOMBO.

Colombo.

The Census returns show that in Colombo the number of Christians exceeds that of any other religion. The numbers were 43,174, while of Buddhists there were 31,518; of Hindus 12,490; of Mohammedans 29,503; of other religions 150. The Christians here enumerated include those of all races and of all denominations, the larger number of them being Roman Catholics. The Rev. E. T. and Mrs. Higgens and their two daughters, also active Mission-workers, are on their way homeward to take a needed furlough as these pages go to press. Mr. Higgens, in addition to the Secretaryship of the Mission, was responsible for the pastoral charge of the English Congregation, which manifests its interest in Missionary work in the island by contributing about Rs.6,000 for the support of catechists, Bible-women, schools, &c. The Singhalese Evangelistic Work was also under Mr. Higgens' superintendence, who wrote:—

Crowds of people listening to the Gospel.

Week by week at our different preaching-stations we have crowds of people listening to the simple proclamation of the Gospel, and listening earnestly and attentively, eagerly taking our tracts and leaflets in their own language, and many of them buying, after the preaching is over, larger tracts and portions of Scripture. We meet with people from all parts of this widely-scattered city of Colombo, and numbers also from the country districts for miles around. Our custom during the preaching is to advise those who seem at all interested to go to a missionary or catechist in the neighbourhood in which they live to inquire further about the truths of the Gospel which we proclaim to them, or to come to us for that purpose. In this way a knowledge of the Gospel is being very widely spread abroad.

The catechists visit the gaols and hospitals and also private houses. Three adults were baptized during the year. Three Singhalese and one Portuguese Bible-women laboured under Mrs. and Miss Higgens' supervision. Mrs. Higgens thus described their work:—

Visits to the lanes and courts.

In company my daughters and I have made a practice of going with these two Bible-women every Friday afternoon to the lanes and courts and yards in which the Singhalese houses are situated, and have then talked to the people who crowd around us, men, women, and children, about their one great need, the forgiveness of their sins, and the way to obtain the salvation of their souls and eternal life. The people usually receive us kindly, and give us chairs, when we reach the place; so we sit down and begin by singing a hymn in Singhalese. This soon brings the people round us, and then we and the two Bible-women speak to them in turn. They generally listen attentively, though the children around often make a great noise.

The Rev. A. E. Dibben took up Mr. Higgens' work upon the latter's departure. The Rev. J. D. Thomas, who superintends the Tamil Work in Colombo, lamenting that the spiritual tone of the congregations leaves much to be desired, accounts for it partly by the fact that as a rule the immigrants from India who go to Ceylon in search of work or trade leave their wives and families in India. There were fifteen adult baptisms. Mr. Thomas gives the number of baptized Tamil Christians as 1,059, an increase of 172 on the returns of 1891. This increase is accounted for in part by fresh arrivals, and partly by the discovery and reclamation of some Christians who had been lost among the heathen. Of the latter the following is a sad instance :—

Reclamation of lapsed Tamil Christians

M——, a Christian, native of a village in the Tinnevelly district, about fifty years of age, has lived continuously in Ceylon for the last twenty-five years, among the heathen and as a heathen, worshipping idols, never coming near Christians or making himself known to them. The catechist met and talked with him; at first he was cold and distant, and did not care to be noticed. The catechist visited his wife and children in their house, and had Bible-reading, exposition, and prayer with them. After a time the woman seemed touched, and wished to become a Christian; but the catechist was afraid that if she did her husband would at once repudiate her and cast her off—a common practice in Ceylon! On the next occasion of his visiting the house, however, the man greeted him kindly and treated him with civility. He read John xv. and offered up prayer, after which the man's face seemed sad and tearful; he asked what book and chapter had been read, and took the book and read it over again himself; then said, "From this day forward I give myself up to be a child of Jesus." He asked the catechist to procure him a New Testament, and related how he had got into the company of bad men who led him astray, and induced him to worship idols, which now he detested and abhorred.

Mohammedan schools.

The largest of the Tamil congregations meets for worship at Galle Face Church; as many as 362 have been present at the service, and 82 communicants. One of the Mohammedan girls' schools which were opened in 1891, as mentioned in last year's Report, had to be closed in consequence of the opposition of their priests; but the other at Galle has so far survived the opposition, and the girls passed a good elementary examination in Scripture. A school for Moslem boys, also at Galle, is described as in a flourishing condition. Some Mohammedans in the neighbourhood wrote asking Mr. Thomas to supply a master to teach their boys, they providing the school and master's house; this was done, and fifty boys were in attendance at the close of the year.

Progress in self-support.

As signs of progress in self-support, Mr. Thomas mentions the purchase by the Christians from their own funds of a house and garden as a residence for the pastor of Slave Island congregation at a cost of Rs.3,240; the erection of a school, chapel, and agent's house at Wellawatte, at a cost of Rs.310; and the purchase of a piece of land and buildings for services, &c., at Marandan, at a cost of Rs.2,064. Thirty-three persons were confirmed during the year.

The Rev. W. Welchman writes in grateful terms of the help he received from Mr. Thomas in his language studies. H says :—

"Heathenism a real power."

My first impressions on landing were that heathenism is a very real power. I had never felt what it really meant until I saw it in all its blackness and horror. The discovery made me feel more than ever the blessed privilege of being called to bring Light to such dark lives. The next thought that struck me was the very small hold Christianity at present has over the people. The number of Christians seems so small compared with the multitudes of heathen who surround them, and the fact calls for immense effort by all who love the Saviour.

COTTA.

The pastoral and evangelistic work at Cotta, under the general supervision of the Rev. S. Coles, showed signs of marked progress during the year. There was thankworthy evidence, Mr. Coles says, of growth in spiritual power on the part of many of the Native agents. The schools in this station are a specially important agency. The English High School maintains a high degree of efficiency. Its Native Head Master, Mr. W. de Silva, writes:—

"Sought the knowledge of salvation in vain from Buddhist monks."

Five lads in the upper classes, who were strongly attached to Buddhism, have joined of their own accord the catechumens' class, and declared their belief in Jesus as their Saviour. One of them was taken by his parents before the renowned head of the Buddhist Church in Ceylon, Sumangala, so that he might win him back to Buddhism; but the young man replied that he had sought in vain for salvation while a pupil of the Buddhist monks, but had found it in Jesus after he came to our English school.

Evangelistic effects of Mission Day Schools.

Mr. de Silva devotes much of his spare time to evangelistic preaching, having made himself responsible for five services weekly, two on Sundays and three on week days. There are 58 Day Schools in the district, giving instruction to 1,381 children, and their educational success is proved by the large Government grant earned during the year—Rs.6,832, an increase of over Rs.800 on that of the previous year—in spite of exceptionally severe examinations. The schools are regularly visited by two inspectors, who give lessons on religious truth, and hold periodical examinations. One of these inspectors reports that more than thirty Buddhist children professed their faith in the Lord Jesus during the year, but of course without their parents' consent they were not baptized. The boarders in the Girls' Boarding School number 56, the complement of the building's capacity. Mr. Coles says:—

Spiritual tone of Girls' Boardin School.

Visitors are unreserved in their praises of the tone of the school, and I who know it thoroughly am deeply moved when witnessing the unfeigned faith, the practical love, the impressive earnestness, and the determined efforts to go about doing good amongst themselves. Some of the elder girls accompany the teachers in visiting the surrounding cottages to hold prayer-meetings. On Sundays the elder girls gather the little ones together in classes for teaching and prayer. I might enlarge on this pleasing topic much further, but refrain, except to say that I believe this school to be second to none in the whole island as a focus for reflecting spiritual light, and as a nursery of the Church of Christ, where many are born of the Spirit, and are brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

Pastorates.

Two of the four Pastorates are under ordained pastors, the Revs. G. S. Amarasékara and W. L. Botêju; the other two are under catechists. Mr. Coles gives instances of quiet good work in all; of one especially he writes:—

A zealous Native pastor.

Mr. Botêju is distinguished for his untiring, incessant actions for the good of his people, who highly esteem him in love for his work's sake. Although sick for a little while there was scarcely any intermission in his labours for the good of souls. His people distinguish themselves by taking the foremost place in contributing in proportion to their means for the support of a missionary to work in the regions beyond. They also give well for the support of their pastor. A door was opened by the Lord to preach in a village in this pastorate, where the people had hitherto been totally indifferent or bitterly opposed to Christianity. One of them, however, was led to seek for salvation through Christ, and then he gave up his house for Christian services, which are now held regularly every week. Sometimes fifty people are present, who listen attentively while the preaching of the Gospel is carried on.

In the Liyanwala district, where an evangelistic catechist is in charge, four bands of voluntary workers engage in preaching the Gospel.

BADDÊGAMA.

Baddê-gama.

The Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Balding continue at this station. The latter superintends the Girls' Boarding School, through which 109 girls have passed during the five years since it was opened, eleven of whom have become teachers in other schools. Seventeen of the girls have been baptized during the same period. Of the 53 pupils, 44 are Christians and 9 are Buddhists. One of the girls at a religious examination repeated 345 texts from the Singhalese Bible, giving chapter and verse in each case correctly, whilst six other girls quoted over 200 verses each. Four girls repeated correctly the Sermon on the Mount. A large percentage of passes, 83 per cent., was obtained in the Government Examination, one of the girls in the eighth standard, a Buddhist, passing every subject so creditably that the inspector recommended her for a special prize. Another of the girls, the daughter of a catechist, came out first in the Government teachers' examination, open to girls in all parts of the island. There are 29 Village Schools in the district, with 1,905 children.

The Scriptures committed to memory by school girls.

Twenty-three adults were baptized, and several inquirers are referred to by Mr. Balding. One, a Mohammedan, is, he believes, a converted man, but is afraid of his relations; he travelled over 20 miles on several occasions to visit Mr. Balding. Another was a pervert to Mohammedanism of 15 years' standing, who had visited Mecca and Medina and Egypt and India. The six Pastorates are somewhat widely removed from one another; at least their centres, where the pastoral agents reside, are so. At Baddêgama the Rev. J. P. Kalpagê is the pastor; Balapitiya, 16 miles from Baddêgama, is under the Rev. G. B. Perera. Bentotte, Telwatta, Dodanduwa, Elpitiya, and Kitulampitiya are distant from 6 to 28 miles from Baddêgama. At Telwatta much opposition and persecution were experienced from the Buddhists, and at Dodanduwa a painful disappointment was suffered in the conduct of one of the agents, a schoolmaster, who upon being dismissed for inconsistent actions declared himself a Buddhist. Mr. Balding reminds the Committee of the dense Singhalese population in this southern district: 2,870 Buddhists,

Dense Singhalese population

he says, passed from it into eternity during the year, and he pleads for fellow-helpers. But he asks, he says, with little expectation of availing in his plea, and is reminded of a Singhalese proverb, "It is like fiddling to a deaf elephant." The Committee are not deaf to such appeals; they sympathise with their missionary brethren; but they can only send forth the men whom the Church gives them, and send them to the best of their judgment where the need is greatest.

"Like fiddling to a deaf elephant."

II. CENTRAL PROVINCES.

KANDY.

Trinity College, Kandy.

Trinity College had again, as in 1891, the honour of the presence of Lord and Lady Havelock on the Prize Day in the summer. The Principal, the Rev. H. P. Napier, reports a year of progress in numbers and in examination results; but especially he dwells upon the fact that five boys were baptized during the year, three of whom were Buddhists and two Hindus (Saivites). One of these lads had for several years been a professing Christian, and was prepared for baptism by the present Bishop of Travancore, when he was Principal of the College. The lad's father, however, refused his consent until the close of 1892. Two younger brothers of this boy, aged 17 and 16, declare their determination to be baptized when their father's consent is obtained. Another of the baptized youths is a son of a man who was converted under the Rev. G. C. Grubb's preaching. This youth was most thorough, Mr. Napier says, in his inquiries, "whether these things were so." He has won the Childers Scholarship, the conditions of which are that he should intend to take Holy Orders and should proceed to the B.A. degree. The third of these lads is a day-boy, who was converted through the addresses given at morning prayer. The fourth is a Jaffna Tamil; and the fifth is a low-country Singhalese, about whom the Rev. J. W. Fall wrote in 1891 as "a particularly interesting case," as quoted in the last Annual Report, page 163. Mr. Napier writes the following very encouraging testimony to the influence of Christianity among the boys:—

Baptisms.

Many boys hoping to be baptized.

I have been very much struck, in individual conversation with boys, to find how many of them are hoping to be baptized as soon as they are their own masters. With some no doubt this arises from the desire to be like English people; but with many I am convinced that it is caused by a profound dissatisfaction with Buddhism, and a conviction, vague, perhaps, but real, that we have something better.

A high-born Kandian youth decides to become a Christian.

We have one very interesting case amongst those who are really inquiring. He is a Kandian of very high family. His uncle is the Diwa Nilame of the Tooth Temple, and his father a very bigoted Buddhist. I had spoken to him over and over again, but I considered him to be quite uninfluenced. One night, without saying anything to any of us, he faced his father and uncle and told them that he had decided that he must become a Christian. They replied that if so Jesus Christ must give him food, for they would not. The next day he came in great distress to me, not knowing what to do, and I advised him to go home and take his food as usual. It was not refused to him, though his uncle would not speak to him or eat with him, or even allow him in his presence. Since then for the last six months he has been suffering more or less persecution, and his father would not send him to school. A friend has now offered to pay his fees, and so I hope we shall have him here again when the term begins. He was led to think by listening to the Buddhist opposition preaching on the other side of the street to our Divinity students. Finding that their only argument was abuse, he came to the conclusion that they could not be right, and after weighing the matter for about three weeks, he then before his relations professed his determination to be a Christian. He is a boy of a strong and rather obstinate character, which, when sanctified, will, I trust, be converted into a character of unflinching faithfulness. There are several others in whom we are deeply interested, and about whom we are very hopeful; but what I have said will be enough to show that the Holy Spirit is working amongst us.

Confirmation of College boys.

Seventeen of the boys were confirmed on Advent Sunday, a larger number than had before been presented at one time. Bishop Barry, who was on a visit to Ceylon, was present at the service, as well as the Bishop of Colombo. Eleven of these boys were prepared for Confirmation by the Vice-Principal of the College, the Rev. J. Carter, who says that they seemed to be truly converted to Christ, and to be quite sincere in renewing their baptismal vows. The Divinity Class of four students is under Mr. Carter, and accompany him and Mr. Napier in street preaching. The addresses at these out-door services are given in English, and are translated sentence by sentence into Tamil and Singhalese by two of the students, and hymns (Sankey's) are sung in all three languages, accompanied by a concertina. Of these students Mr. Carter says, "They are such real Christians, and so anxious to learn."

Divinity Class.

"Such real Christians."

The two Pastorates in the Kandy district are under the Revs. H. Gunasêkara and A. W. Senewiratna. The former, in addition to the Trinity Church, Kandy, congrégation, has the care of those at Katukelê, Gaetembê, and Kahigannawa; the latter is stationed at Gampola.

Miss Bellerby and Miss Malden, of the C.E.Z.M.S., conduct the Clarence Memorial School for the daughters of Kandyan chiefs; and Miss Scovell, of the same Society, engages in village work in the Kandy district.

KANDIAN SINGHALESE ITINERANCY.

Singhalese Itinerancy

The Rev. A. E. Dibben, who within eighteen months of his arrival in this Mission was called upon in September, 1891, when the Rev. L. G. P. Liesching came home, to undertake the supervision of the Western division of the Singhalese Itinerancy, received in October, 1892, the further addition to his responsibilities in the charge of the other portion of the district upon the Rev. J. G. Garrett leaving the island on sick leave. In the latter division, known as the Central Itinerancy, baptisms were deferred owing to Mr. Garrett's ill-health, and consequent inability to visit the out-stations; but forty-two adults were waiting at the close of the year to be admitted into the visible Church. Ten catechists and forty-one school teachers are engaged in this division. Miss A. M. Denyer resided part of the year at Pusellawa, and she writes of "the terrible darkness which reigns in the Kandian villages of this province"; but amid the darkness gleams of encouragement appear now and then. A few weeks which Miss Denyer spent in a district twenty-two miles south of Kandy, occupying a room over the gateway of a chief's residence, whose son had lately been baptized while at college, gave opportunities of reaching the women in that out-of-the-way neighbourhood. A chief's daughter, alone in her heathen home, seemed wishful to live for Christ, and two others assured Miss Denyer that they read the Bible daily. It is hoped that Miss H. P. Phillips will co-operate with Miss Denyer in this district. Her main work during the year was the study of the language, in which she made excellent progress. But she did not put off altogether the commencement of direct efforts to make Christ known to the Singhalese. Mr. Eugene Stock visited her in a little house in the heart of Kandy, and found her small back room packed with fifteen Buddhist women and thirty-six little children all sitting on the floor, to whom she was already talking freely in Singhalese.

"Terrible darkness in the villages."

Bible read daily by Kandian ladies.

In the Western Itinerancy, besides the European missionary, there are one Native clergyman, the Rev. B. P. Wîrasinha of Kaegala, and thirty-eight male and female catechists and teachers. The children under instruction rose during the year from 851 to 1,216, and the Sunday scholars from 150 to 282. The Bishop confirmed forty-three candidates from the various village congregations. A prominent feature of the year's work was a series of Special Mission Services held in four jungle villages in the spring of 1892. One of the Singhalese evangelists was the Mission preacher. Talampitiya was the centre of the group of villages first visited. Mr. Dibben says:—

Mission Services in the jungle.

> After beginning with services in the church on the Sunday, a different centre was chosen each day, and addresses were given at the houses of leading Christians, as it was found that the heathen would come more readily to a private house than to a church or schoolroom. Some of the Christians took an active interest in the Mission, and sought to influence their heathen neighbours and to bring them to the meetings. The average attendance of adults, Christian and Buddhist, was about thirty. Among the visible fruits of the week's services were the coming forward of several Buddhists as inquirers who knelt with us in prayer, the return of the old catechist, Abraham's brother Philip, and his wife, who had been backsliders for several years, and the healing of a breach which had existed for some time between two Christian families. One of our most attentive listeners was a well-known cattle-stealer, who had just been released from prison.

The next group of villages visited clustered round Hêwadiwela, and in this place the Mission services were instrumental in reconciling two nominal Christians, David, the head-man of the village, and his son Solomon, who had long been alienated and had engaged in lawsuits one against the other. The touching scene must be described in Mr. Dibben's words:—

Reconciliation between a father and his son.

The missioner had conversations with them separately, and felt that the time had come for a reconciliation. Some of the leading Christians were called together in the schoolroom, as it was felt that, under the circumstances, the reconciliation should be a public one. The object of the meeting having been explained, Solomon, who had at one time even threatened to shoot his father, was called upon to beg the old man's pardon. He immediately knelt at his father's feet, and, expressing sorrow for his past misconduct, asked for forgiveness. David, in a voice choked with emotion, replied that he freely forgave him, adding, "I have cursed you for the past eight years, but now I bless you." Then, falling on his knees before his son, he embraced him and wept aloud. The scene, as may be imagined, was a very touching one, and we gave vent to our feelings by rising and singing the Doxology. Then we knelt, and two of our members, whose hearts seemed very full, led us in turn in praise and thanksgiving. The first of these was a young head-man named Joseph, who in the past had been wronged by David, and had, in consequence, given up coming to church until the Mission services began. The other was Phœbe, the brightest Christian woman in the district.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

Tamil Cooly Mission.

The same three missionaries continue to superintend the three divisions of the Tamil Cooly Mission as in 1891; the Rev. J. D. Simmons residing at Kotagala; the Rev. H. Horsley at Kandy; and the Rev. J. Ilsley at Haputale. Mr. Simmons thus describes the work and some of its hindrances:—

Hindrance to the work.

Many thousands of heathen have heard the old, old story of redemption, as they have stood drawn up in a body numbering from fifty to four or five hundred, ready to be told for work in the estate, day by day; and many more, though in very much smaller groups, have heard it in its many phases, after the day's work was over, as they gathered around the preacher in the lines where they dwell. From these dwellings arise some of the evils we have to contend with. Overcrowding is as common, and as productive of sin amongst the coolies, as it is in overcrowded alleys in English cities. In a room 12 ft. by 12 ft. two families, or from five to seven single men, live. In the case of families a temporary division may be put up. The consequences may be easily imagined. Boys and girls from seven to thirteen years old make excellent pluckers of tea-leaf, and will gather more than men, hence they are largely employed. Their morals rapidly degenerate in such an atmosphere. Again, the climate, being wet and cold, often leads to drinking. From these causes and one other that must not be withheld, the great immorality of the unmarried of our own countrymen, not only are the heathen demoralised, but very frequently the Native Christians fall into sin of a character such as ought not to be even named amongst us. It must be admitted that the sphere of the Tamil Cooly Mission is one where much seed is likely to perish, and where, even when the seed has lodged, germinated, and sprung up, there is much to stunt its growth and to obstruct the development of spiritual life. Yet here illustrations are found of the truth, "Where sin abounded grace did much more abound."

Several instances are mentioned of the repentance of individuals who had been led aside by temptation. Thirteen adults were baptized in Mr. Simmons' district and sixteen in that of Mr. Ilsley.

III. NORTHERN PROVINCES.

St. John's College, Chundicully, under the Rev. J. W. Fall, increased its numbers from 250 to 263, and the boarders from nine to nearly forty during the year. Ten of the latter, mostly Saivites, are in the habit, Mr. Fall says, of praying daily in private. Several boys were confirmed, and one was baptized who has, in consequence of his Christian profession, suffered the loss of a situation, to which he went after leaving the college. This latter youth was much influenced for good by attending a Bible Class connected with the Y.M.C.A., which Mr. Fall says "is a Y.M.C.A. with a stress laid on the C." Four members of the Chundicully congregation show a practical interest in the Association. No Annual Letter having been received from the Rev. J. I. Pickford, the materials are lacking for a report of three out of the five Pastorates. The Rev. G. Champion, nearly 70 years of age, who has completed his fiftieth year in the service of the Society, reports that on Easter Day 113 partook of the Holy Communion at Chundicully Church. The Rev. J. Backus, of Pallai, describes his pastoral work, which has the usual agencies in operation. The Christians, he testifies, contribute willingly towards their pastor's support and to other religious objects.

MAURITIUS MISSION.

(Commenced 1856.)

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies (Madras Branch), 1857; 2. Bengali and Hindi-speaking Coolies (Calcutta Branch), 1857; 3. The Seychelles Islands, 1875.

Death of Archdeacon Hobbs.

Archdeacon Hobbs, a name much honoured in the history of this Mission, as well as in that of Tinnevelly, died in April, 1893, in his 79th year. His term of missionary service was little short of forty years before his retirement in broken health in 1877. For seventeen years, from 1839 to 1856, he laboured in Tinnevelly, and then, when his state of health forbade his continuing there, he was transferred to this Mission, where he laboured on for twenty-one years. Death has also removed two other workers in this field, namely, the wives of the Revs. H. D. Buswell and Nigel Honiss. Mrs. Buswell laboured with her husband, first in Ceylon and afterwards in Mauritius, since 1862; and Mrs. Honiss also was a true helpmeet in her husband's missionary work in India and in this Mission. Her death took place in January, 1893. A few months before the Committee had accepted Mr. Honiss' resignation in consequence of failing health, and placed on record their sense of his valuable services during thirty-two years, sixteen of them in Mauritius.

Mrs. Buswell, and Mrs. Honiss.

Ordinations.

On March 13, 1892, Bishop Walsh admitted the Revs. S. Sunker Singh and J. F. Chorley to priest's Orders, and Mr. S. Susunker to deacon's Orders.

Congregations.

The lists of members of the Congregations were carefully revised during the year, the names of all who had left the island or who had ceased to attend the services being removed. The figures arrived at were—Baptized Christians, 1,988; unbaptized adherents, 76; communicants, 681. The last item is higher than in the previous year, but the first one is lower by 448. This is partly due to some members having joined English or French congregations. Sixteen adults were baptized during the year. The schools are 27 in number, with 1,333 boys and 183 girls, a total of 1,516. The language problem is a very puzzling one. The Rev. V. W. Harcourt, the Acting Secretary of the Mission, says:—

Language problem.

Creole is the language all understand, but one most inadequate to express religious truth in. Though it has two Gospels written in Creole, it has nothing else—grammar, dictionary, &c. It is fast supplanting Hindi and Tamil, and Government has placed a ban on the Indian languages by making English and French compulsory languages at school, and not Hindi and Tamil. Are we to give up Hindi and Tamil, then, in which our Prayer-books, our Bibles, are printed, and our Indian services? And our Hindi and Tamil catechists and pastors, what will be the special use of employing them? Or shall we have French services, which is half-way towards Creole? I am feeling my way towards an opinion, and brought up the subject at our last Native Church Council, when it was elicited that, however regrettable it might be to give up the Indian languages, it was almost hopeless to attempt to teach English, French, Hindi, and Tamil simultaneously, with Telugu and Hindustani also requiring some recognition.

Plaisance Orphanage.

The buildings of Plaisance Orphanage were considerably damaged by the cyclone of April, 1892, and accommodation for the classes has had to be found elsewhere, while they assemble for their meals in the open air, no room large enough being now available.

Work among coolies.

The work among the North India coolies was shared by the Revs. C. A. Blackburn and W. Latham, the latter undertaking the charge of the stations in the southern part of this island. Mr. Blackburn writes:—

> A door seems to be opened everywhere for the preaching of the Gospel, and the Hindus are always glad to hear it. Not a few are gradually getting serious and anxious about their souls. It is indeed encouraging to see the large number of those who attend some of our missionary services, and the attention with which they listen to two and sometimes three successive addresses. In the camps also I generally have the opportunity of speaking on until I am tired, and as soon as I stop someone is always ready to ask questions, which lead to another long conversation.

Seychelles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Luckock continue at Bel Ombre in the SEYCHELLES, where they had twenty-five African children under their care during the year. Mr. Luckock holds a Sunday service in his schoolroom, which has an average attendance of fifty-five, and other services which he holds in the Mission compound on Sundays, Wednesdays, and Fridays were much appreciated, the average number present being thirty-three. Efforts were made to benefit the Africans and other members of the community by holding Bible classes, opening a night school and a lending library, instituting a branch of the C.E.T.S., &c., but the encouragement has not been very marked.

Reinforcements.

THE reinforcements sent out from England to this Mission consisted of the Rev. George Henry Davies, student of Islington College, who was admitted to deacon's Orders by the Bishop of London on Trinity Sunday, June 12, 1892; and the Misses Jemima Elizabeth and Janet Cumming Clarke, daughters of the Rev. R. F. Clarke, incumbent of Brinny, in the diocese of Cork. These sailed in October. Miss Minnie Wolfe, daughter of Archdeacon Wolfe, was accepted by the Fuh-Kien Sub-Conference, authorised to do so by the Parent Committee, in local connexion. The Rev. C. Shaw returned to the Mission in February, 1893. Miss E. S. Goldie and Miss A. K. Hamper came home, the former in September, 1892, the latter in the spring of 1893, on sick leave. Mrs. Wolfe was obliged, after a severe illness, to go for change of air and rest to California in December. The Rev. T. McClelland was married to Miss Olive Annie Derry, of the C.E.Z.M.S., in April, 1893. The Rev. C. Bennett, who resides at Hong-Kong, is the Secretary of the Mission.

HONG-KONG.

Hong-Kong.

New church.

The chief event marking external progress in the island of Hong-Kong during 1892 was the opening of a new church, St. Stephen's, on July 27. The old St. Stephen's Church, built some thirty years ago, was pulled down in 1885 by the local Government, the site being required. Compensation was of course granted, sufficient to erect the new church, which has accommodation for about 350 worshippers. A preaching hall on part of the site of the old church is well situated for proclaiming the Gospel to the heathen, as it stands opposite the Chinese recreation ground. At this place there is daily preaching, and listeners are never wanting, except at the great Chinese festivals. Six of those who heard the Word in the preaching hall were baptized, besides whom 26 others were admitted into the Church, most of them being young women and girls of the Victoria Home and Orphanage which was under Miss A. K. Hamper until she left in February, when Mrs. Bennett assumed charge. Ten Mission Day Schools, all under Government inspection, are scattered over the island. The Rev. J. Grundy baptized a young married couple in July at Kowloon, opposite Hong-Kong, on the mainland, a place which has lately become a resort of gamblers, attracted by gambling saloons opened there. Mr. Grundy says of the wife:—

> Two months later the woman died, after but a few days' illness. On her death-bed her friends tried to induce her to renounce her faith in Christ, telling her that the gods were angry with her for becoming a Christian. She replied, "The gods are false gods; I know that Jesus is true, and that He died to redeem and save me. I believe in Jesus." Her husband was overcome with grief at losing his wife so suddenly, and his heathen friends, gathering round him, said, "The gods are punishing you for abandoning the faith of your fathers and embracing the barbarians' religion." Thank God, he too stood firm; though it was a great trial to his faith. He was confirmed in December.

A dying woman's faith in Christ.

"Their minds are so dwarfed."

Miss M. L. Ridley has a class of three Bible-women, and she visits the women in their homes. She finds them slow to learn, "their minds are so dwarfed," she says; but occasionally she meets with one who as a child received instruction in a Mission School, and such always far surpass all others in their intelligent interest and willingness to hear.

Miss Johnstone, of the F.E.S., has been joined by Miss Fletcher, of the same Society, which has a boarding school and several day schools in Hong-Kong.

KWAN-TUNG.

Itineration near Canton.

In the spring of 1892 Dr. W. W. Colborne made his third visit into the Kwang Si province, travelling up the West River from Canton. He stayed several days at Pak-Lau, and three weeks at Kung Yuen. Later in the year, from April to August, he was itinerating among the out-stations near Canton, namely, Tsang Shing, Heung Shan, Kong Moon, Hok Shan, and Shiu Hing. He wrote :—

"Nothing but encouragement from first to last."

From first to last, I may almost say, we had nothing but encouragement. The medical element (whether it will be confirmed by subsequent experience I do not know) seems at once to open doors wide for the entrance of the Gospel, for which we might have otherwise to wait decades of years, with our stations as generally conducted apart from the medical element, or they might not be opened at all. It gives a capital introduction to people—you get to know them, and they get to know you when talking of and treating their ailments. It also tends, I should think, to disarm suspicion by giving people a definite reason they can understand for our wandering about the country.

The best reception we and our doctrine got was in the Tsang Shing district, which was a Mission undertaken by the Hong-Kong Native Church. Owing, I suppose, to Matthew (the Rev. Fong Yat Sau) being the most frequent visiting evangelist in those parts, the doctrine there did not seem to me to be regarded so much as a "foreign devil doctrine" as in other parts. I saw four men baptized while there, and I believe there may have been about twenty who were seeking baptism. Matthew at one place, so he said, was kept up to midnight talking and explaining, and they were at him again at daylight. At one village they have given us the use of an ancestral hall for twenty years, only we do the repairs and any alterations.

"Kept up till midnight explaining."

Pakhoi Hospital.

The work at PAKHOI centres round the Mission Hospital, in which Dr. E. G. Horder treated 2,420 out-patients and 258 in-patients, while he visited 86 sufferers in their homes in the town, and treated 405 in the villages; 330 villages were represented by the patients who visited the hospital. Eleven adults were baptized, seven of whom were lepers. Dr. Horder asks :—

Misery of lepers in China.

Are we at all conversant with the trials and sufferings of these poor creatures? Dr. Taylor speaks of a mandarin inviting to dinner all the lepers in his district, and at a given signal firing the house where the lepers were feasting, and burning them alive, any escaping from the building being struck down by soldiers on guard for the purpose. Only a few days' journey from here a mandarin, during his residence of two years, put to death three hundred lepers. Several times of late I have questioned officials from various districts in regard to the veracity of this statement, and all have answered, "It is quite true!" Little or no provision is made for the leper in China. He is forced from his house and friends, divorced from his wife, separated from his children, and left entirely without means to obtain a living. It is our duty to help them, and our privilege to lead them to Him who was always so full of compassion towards the poor leper.

During the year we have received as in-patients ninety-one lepers. Our four wards give accommodation to forty lepers. Some of the patients remain in the hospital about two years, others stay only three or four months, and, being greatly relieved, return to their homes, making room for more needy ones. While residing in the hospital they learn to read the Bible and Prayer-book and their own Chinese classics. Morning and evening prayers are conducted in the largest ward, where all assemble; in this way even those who make the shortest stay with us obtain a head knowledge of the plan of salvation, while seven, already mentioned, have been baptized on profession of their faith in Christ.

Preaching is conducted daily in the town of Pakhoi, and all the villages within a radius of four miles were visited more or less frequently by the Rev. E. B. Beauchamp and Dr. Horder.

PROVINCE OF FUH-KIEN.

Bishop Burdon visited the Fuh-Kien Mission at the close of 1892, and confirmed 325 candidates in the Hok-Chiang district.

Death of Rev. Wong Kiu Taik.

The Rev. Wong Kiu Taik, the senior native clergyman of this Mission, who was ordained by Bishop Alford in 1868, died from the effects of an accident on January 16, 1893. Archdeacon Wolfe wrote of him and of the circumstances of his death :—

Mr. Wong was especially qualified as a controversialist. He was well acquainted with the various heathen systems and customs of his countrymen, and could expose them with scathing power. He was able to hold his own with the literati of the city, and was, without question, the most literary native agent in the Mission. About two or three years ago he was appointed to the College as Native Principal, but he was afterwards transferred to the city to take up his old work in South Street, where he remained till his sad death, which occurred on the afternoon of Monday, January 16. On that day there was an unprecedented fall of snow at Foochow, such as had not been seen by the oldest living inhabitant, and the curiosity of the natives was therefore very great. Mr. Wong, anxious to view the sight of the city houses enveloped in white, took a ladder and went on the roof of his house for the purpose. He must have lost his balance when he got to the top of the ladder, and fell backward on the stones in the court below, and broke the back part of his skull. He never spoke or moved afterwards, and in a few moments he breathed his last on earth.

Provincial Council.

The Annual Meeting of the Provincial Council at Fuh-Chow, when all the agents of the Mission were invited to be present, was held from November 26 to December 5. Archdeacon Wolfe preached the opening sermon from John iii. 3, after which nearly 300 received the Lord's Supper. Examination of agents in the Scriptures took place on two days of the gathering. Every evening devotional meetings were held and papers read. That on the first evening was on "The Power and Efficacy of Prayer," by the Rev. Yek Siu Mi. Two able and striking papers were read at two of the services, one by the Rev. Ting Sing Ki on "The best method of doing the Lord's work with the view to saving the greatest number"; the other by the Rev. Ling Sung Mi, on "Self-support." The Council voted both these papers to be printed and circulated all over the Mission. Other papers were: "The New Birth: by what power effected, and what are its manifested results in the daily life of its subjects," by the Rev. Yek Siu Mi; "The methods best calculated to promote success in Missionary work in the cities," by the late Rev. Wong Kiu Taik; "The best means of exciting in agents and others a deeper interest in meetings for mutual edification in spiritual things, and encouraging shy and silent members to speak at these meetings," by one of the catechists, Hu Hwa Ing.

Excellent papers by native agents.

FUH-CHOW.

Fuh-Chow city.

"As hardened as ever against the message of God's love to man," Archdeacon Wolfe laments regarding the great heathen city of Fuh-Chow. There is a readiness to hear, indeed the people who attend the preaching in the Mission Hall never seem tired of listening, but actual conversions are very few and rare. The Archdeacon thinks many of the regular attendants night after night at the preaching must be secret believers; some of them have given up idols, and profess to believe in God, but say they cannot accept Christ; and others again say the standard of life required by Christianity is unattainable by them. In the Fuh-Chow Valley, opposite the island of Nantai, an interesting work has opened up. Curiously, the first two converts, under totally different circumstances, heard the Gospel at Fuh-Ning. Archdeacon Wolfe says:—

Spread of the Gospel in Fuh-Chow Valley.

Some natives of this valley, many years ago, removed to Fu Ning, where they heard the Gospel from our brethren there, and were baptized and joined the Fu Ning Church. This year one of the family, now an old man, returned to his native village (Ma-Po), and began to preach the new faith to his fellow-villagers and friends. At the same time a man from a neighbouring village, whose brother had been a servant of the C.M.S. ladies at Fu Ning, had, on a visit to this brother, heard the Gospel at Fu Ning, and by the grace of God became deeply impressed. Hearing that there were Christians at Ma-Po, he and his family, twenty in number, came and joined them, and then sent the old man to invite us to come and teach them. This we have done, and an interesting little band of between twenty and thirty meet together on Sundays at Ma-Po and A-Ting to worship God.

Theological College.

The agent sent to Ma-Po was a third-year student at the Theological College, under the Rev. Ll. Lloyd, who says he is a very earnest man, and well grounded in Scripture truth. There were 25 students during the year. The Boys' Boarding School had 35 boys, and the Girls' Boarding School, worked by Miss Lambert, of the F.E.S., assisted by the Misses Wolfe, had 52 girls under tuition. Miss Bushell, also of the F.E.S., has been welcomed back to the latter school. Miss Strong, assisted by Miss Stevens, both of the C.E.Z.M.S., had the charge of the Bible Women's Class, in which some twenty women were under training. Many of these women are the wives of the college students, and the training they get has a marked effect on their character and habits. The school is supported by funds raised at home by Mrs. R. W. Stewart. Mrs. Mears, who with her husband, Dr. W. P. Mears, resided in Fuh-Chow during a great part of the year, engaged in studying the language, had the medical care of this class, and together with Mrs. Chitnio Ling, the matron, paid visits to houses in the city and neighbouring villages. Mrs. Mears has passed the final language examination. The Rev. T. McClelland, who is supported by the Trinity College, Dublin, Fuh Kien Mission Fund, the Vice-Principal of the College, dwells in his Annual Letter upon the value of the Village Schools, of which there are 110 in the Mission. He says they form a locus standi for Christianity in the several villages, they break down prejudice, they make Christian phraseology familiar, and they are the nursery of the more advanced schools. These are some of the indirect advantages, besides the direct blessing which the daily instilling of God's Word in the children's minds, their instruction in the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, catechisms of Christian doctrine, the "100 Texts," &c., may be expected to confer. In addition to the two C.E.Z.M.S. ladies mentioned above, that Society has the following ladies residing for the present at Fuh-Chow:—Miss Mead, Miss Leslie, Miss Codrington, Miss Bryer, Miss Fleming, Miss Burroughs, Miss Lloyd, Miss E. Marshall, Miss Hook, Miss A. Hankin, Miss Lee, and Miss Stewart.

Women's work.

Value of village schools.

LIENG-KONG DISTRICT.

Lieng-Kong.

Steady progress is being made in this extensive Hien, or county. In the older stations, Archdeacon Wolfe reports, there is a remarkable freedom from persecution, and willingness to listen, and it is very rarely that a rude word is addressed to any of the agents wherever they are known. In Lieng-Kong city the Rev. Ting Sing Ang and his wife are held in high respect; but the increase in the congregation is owing to new adherents from the suburban villages—the people of the city are as yet unprepared to endure expulsion from the ancestral halls, and deprivation of all privileges connected with ancestral worship. In the town of Ma-Pe a deep interest in Divine things was manifested for a few weeks. The little chapel was crowded day and night with men who seemed anxious about their souls. After the excitement had passed several remained whom the Archdeacon hopes were permanently influenced. In connexion with this place the Archdeacon makes some important remarks on opium, which deserve to be pondered :—

Misery inflicted by opium.

This town of Ma-Pe is notorious for the amount of opium consumed by its inhabitants. It is estimated that one-half of its adult population is addicted to the vice. Many have come to me begging for medicine to help them to give it up. Our openly-declared hatred and hostility to the opium traffic and our earnest desire to help its victims to free themselves from the terrible grasp of the habit have, I am persuaded, greatly tended to break down the old prejudices against us, and to produce the present friendly feeling which I have mentioned above. One of our ex-catechists has been residing here for some years, and has opened a small hospital for the cure of opium-smokers. He charges a certain sum for every case which he treats successfully ; and in this way supports himself comfortably. He has usually three or four patients in his little hospital. One lady, the wife of a rich gentleman in this neighbourhood, whom he treated successfully, gave him $50 as a token of her gratitude for deliverance from this fell and baneful vice. I am sure if God's children in England knew only one-half the misery it is inflicting on this poor people, they would never cease praying and agitating on the subject till the unholy and unjust traffic were entirely abandoned by the English Government.

At Kang Wong, in the same pastorate, two men, who had heard the Gospel at Lo-Ngwong, declared themselves Christians. A catechist was sent there during the year, and about thirty catechumens joined the congregation, and have courageously borne persecution. The Archdeacon writes :—

Persecution for not contributing to idol processions.

The reality of the faith of these new converts has been put to the test, and I am glad to report they have stood it nobly. The usual yearly offerings for the support of the idol temples, and idol processions and theatricals in honour of the dumb gods, were demanded by the village elders from the Christians, who, of course, refused. This refusal created quite a sensation in the town, and was met by threats on the part of the idol worshippers. The Christians on their part declared they would rather die than give a cent to support idolatry, as their doing so would offend God, and would be a denial of their Christian faith. On this the heathen assembled and attacked them in their houses, severely beating them, and partially destroying their houses. The magistrate issued a proclamation forbidding this persecution, but the heathen party took down the proclamation and tore it into shreds, and again attacked the Christians more severely than before. The persecution is still going on.

At Pah Sa, in the south-western extremity of the district, there are about forty adherents. One of the villagers attended the Mission church at Pwo Kau while on a visit to that place, and as a consequence gave up idolatry and told others what he had heard. An effort is being made to erect a church at Pah Sa, and one man, though unbaptized, has promised $70 towards the sum needed.

LO-NGWONG.

Lo-Ngwong.

The Rev. J. and Mrs. Martin took up their residence at Lo-Ngwong in February, 1892. The spiritual tone and character of most of the Christians in this district are very disappointing. Some of the congregations which were large and promising a few years since have dwindled down to three or four adherents. One of the chief hindrances is the presence in the district of several dismissed agents, and their evil example. Mrs. Martin was welcomed in her visits to the women.

NING-TAIK.

Ning-Taik.

As mentioned last year, this district as well as Lo-Ngwong was placed at the beginning of 1892 under the Rev. J. Martin. The Rev. Ting Sing Ki is the resident native pastor. His health unfortunately is not good, as he still suffers from the effects of wounds he received when he first acknowledged Christ as his Saviour. Mr. Martin mentions a painful case of persecution which originated with the refusal of a Christian to pay some thirty or forty cash (about 2*d.*) towards the expenses of an idolatrous procession and theatrical performances. The man was beaten and his wheat and bamboo trees were cut down. When Mr. Martin appealed to the mandarin the latter sent messengers to the place, with the following consequences :—

A Christain tortured by running needles into his feet.

These messengers went, but failing to get money from the offending party, they seized one of the brothers of the family. The other brothers heard of it, and before the constables were able to reach the city of Ning-Taik with their prisoner, the brothers overtook them, beat them, and released their younger brother. On their return to the village they determined to have their revenge on the Christian ; so they marched to his fields, where he was working, seized him, dragged him by his queue through the fields and streets to their house, bound him, and tried to force him to sign an agreement that he would deny the name of Jesus, and promise not to appeal to the mandarin again. On his refusing they tortured him by running shoe-needles into his feet. He continued to assert his faith in Christ, and they threatened to kill him and to pull down the chapel. At this juncture the elders of the village interfered. The Christian's wife fled to the mandarin and sought his help. He sent constables to the village, but the villagers had armed themselves with guns and instruments of husbandry. The constables, on hearing of this, returned, and told the mandarin they were afraid to go on. In the meantime the Christian was liberated, and allowed to return to his own house.

Death of a leading Christian.

The death occurred during the year of a leading member of the Ning-Taik congregation and the Chairman of the Committee of Delegates. This man was baptized in 1883 by the Rev. Ll. Lloyd, having been an influential vegetarian in the district (see Annual Report for 1883–84, page 193, and for 1884–85, page 186). Mr. Martin says of him :—

When he first accepted Christ he was persecuted by his friends, his wife and family. His wife would not allow him to take any money out of the house for Church purposes. He was anxious to give his share towards supporting the catechist, so, as he could not get any from the house, he began to plant indigo, and gave a good proportion of the profits to the catechists' fund. Some four or five years since he spoke to me about his anxiety for his wife and children, and asked me to pray for them. Soon after his wife and son showed signs of interest in the Gospel, and later on were baptized. He was always ready to help in Church work. Two years ago he was chosen as the head of the ancestral hall, and had a deal of work to do as adviser and organiser. He used to say to the catechist, "This work takes up a lot of my time, and I cannot do as much for Christ as I wish. I do long for the time to come when God will call me to go home." His call came in February, 1892. He was able to witness for Christ up to the end, and just before his death he called the Christians together, and spoke to them very earnestly about their own souls and the souls of the heathen.

A Christian youth of the age of sixteen died under touching circumstances. Mr. Martin writes:—

Monuments of a thoughtful Christian boy.

The catechist gave me the following interesting and touching account of his call to his Father's house. One day, towards the end of last May, he, together with a few more lads, were looking after the goats on the hills. He suggested making stepping-stones over a gully which lay on the road to the church, so that the Christians could walk more comfortably to and from church. While he was moving a big stone he slipped and wounded himself. He did not tell his parents, but on the following day had to take to his bed. The day after this account was given me I left the church to go to one of our schools, and on my way stepped over the stones he had arranged; just above I saw his grave: two monuments of a thoughtful and Christian boy.

FUH-NING.

Fuh-Ning.

The Rev. H. M. and Mrs. Eyton-Jones (the latter as well as her husband has passed the language test, receiving special commendation for her knowledge of the written character), Dr. B. van Someren and Mrs. Taylor, Miss M. D. Boileau and Miss Kathleen Power were at this station thoughout the year. Miss E. S. Goldie left it to come home on account of ill-health in July. Mr. Eyton-Jones, in reporting on the congregation at Fuh-Ning, says:—

The Pauline Epistles "new books."

The Pauline Epistles are now new books, and take quite a new form and meaning to us, in touch with utter heathenism. The joy and earnestness of some, the double-mindedness and unworthy motives of others, the various difficulties to be met and questions to be solved, all take one back to St. Paul's days.

One catechumen was baptized, a young man who died shortly afterwards of consumption. Mr. Eyton-Jones says that the "reverence and quiet earnestness of the Christians at the Lord's Supper are most striking." The Boys' School has thirteen pupils; "the discipline is excellent, the rooms are tidy and clean, and the boys in person as neat as could be desired." Miss M. D. Boileau reports thirty pupils in the Girls' Boarding School, and three day girls. Two of the girls applied for baptism and gave proof of their faith. A class for female inquirers was held for three months of the year. One member was from Fuh-Ang, a large city to the north-east of Fuh-Ning. This woman is a member of a well-to-do family, and proved a more apt scholar than the other women. Miss Boileau says of her:—

A convert unbinds her own and her children's feet.

She is most anxious to receive baptism, and will, I hope, before long, in her own city, as I shall, if possible, go up there. One matter which was of some difficulty to her she overcame in the best of all ways by simply obeying what she believed to be God's will. The question was as to unbinding her own and her two children's feet. She at first told me that she was sure it would only hinder the spread of the Gospel, were she to do so, as other women would fear to come to the church in case that should be required of them. I must tell you that her husband, too, had given his eldest girl strict injunctions not to unbind her feet when he brought her to school a year ago. However, his evident fear that he would lose on the price received when his daughters are betrothed has evidently been overruled by their mother's conviction that the thing should be done, for shortly before returning to her home she said to me, "I don't mind what the people will say or think; I am sure it is pleasing to God that I should do this," and the new shoes and stockings were purchased before she returned home, as the girl is still with us. Their household is a large one, some 100 people with all the brothers' families, as they number here.

"I am sure it is pleasing to God."

Hospital.

In the Hospital 651 in-patients and 7,329 out-patients were treated during the year, an increase on the previous year of 115 in-patients and 2,102 out-patients. Dr. van Someren Taylor mentions several villages to which former hospital patients introduced the Gospel; e.g., the fishing village of Sung Sang, four miles from Fuh-Ning, where there are about a dozen inquirers; and Au Dio, where the chief man was an old opium patient, and where several of the inquirers have been inmates of the hospital. Miss K. Power found in the house of one of these village inquirers that the Ten Commandments were hung on the wall in lieu of the kitchen god—a picture on red paper supposed to bring good luck and happiness, which is seen in every Chinese house. Mrs. Taylor is the matron of the hospital, and holds a Bible class for former patients and others. Miss Power says:—

Ten Commandments in lieu of kitchen god.

Nursing in China and at home.

The hospital, house, and furniture are all essentially native, only we endeavour to keep everything scrupulously clean. Nursing in China brings many experiences widely differing from the same line of work at home. The constant contact with the Chinese in their most untidy houses, where the pigs occupy the parlour, and where dampness and foul odours reign supreme, somewhat tests the ardour of the missionary, and removes any particle of romance which may still survive. But it is such a joy to do anything for the Master, and it seems that we have just got to show these natives that we have given up the joys and comforts of home life for the far greater joy of serving Jesus and doing His will, and that, more than anything else, will overcome the suspicion and fear with which they still regard us.

"He is from Fuh-Ning, where I was healed."

In the course of several evangelistic journeys, both on foot and in the Mission boat, along the coast of the extensive Sam Sah Basin, Mr. Eyton-Jones heard an interesting testimony to the far-reaching influence of the Fuh-Ning Hospital. It was at Swa-tiang, three days' sail to the north of Fuh-Ning; he entered the theatre to sell books, and while he was being curiously and somewhat rudely questioned, one remarked, "I know him; he is from Fuh-Ning, where I was healed; he is all right."

HOK-CHIANG DISTRICT.

Hok-Chiang.

Extracts from Archdeacon Wolfe's very interesting journal of a visit he made to this district in the winter of 1891–92 were published in the Intelligencer for February, 1893. As already mentioned, the Bishop made a visitation of the district in November, 1892, and confirmed 325. The two native clergymen, the Revs. Lau Taik Ong and Yek Twang Mi, supervise the work: the former has his headquarters in Hok-Chiang city, and has five pastorates with eighteen congregations under his care, assisted by five pastoral catechists; the latter resides at Ko Sang Che, and has also five pastorates with twenty congregations and six catechists. The majority of the members of the Hok-Chiang congregation are villagers from the suburbs. In the densely populated valley outside the west gate of the city about twenty families became inquirers during the year, and several were baptized. Among the latter was the wife of the eldest son of one of the gentry whose husband was baptized in 1891. The Archdeacon wrote:—

Evidence of a female convert's sincerity.

> This woman and her daughter are now in Foo-Chow, one in the Women's School learning to read, the other in the C.M.S. Girls' Boarding School. Great efforts had been made during the past months by some members of their family to prevent this woman and her husband from joining the Church; but this opposition had no effect whatever upon them, except that of strengthening their determination to be baptized and join themselves more closely to the Christians. The mother-in-law, especially, did all she could to prevent the baptism, and wrote to her daughter-in-law's mother, begging her to use her influence and, if possible, prevent the disgrace of her daughter joining the Church. The answer which the mother returned was to the following effect:—"I have heard nothing but good of the Christian Church. My daughter has explained it all to me. I see no disgrace in my daughter and her husband joining the Christian Church!" The daughter has now shown one of the greatest evidences of her sincerity that a woman in her position could show: she has, entirely of her own accord, determined to unbind her cramped feet and those of her daughter. Her husband, whom I baptized during my visit to Hok-Chiang in December (1891) in company with Mr. Eyton-Jones, is an earnest Christian, and does all he can to bring others to the knowledge of Jesus Christ.

Church building.

The Christians at Kau-tau, near Hok-Chiang, have built a church and parsonage, and those at Teng Tieng, who now number over a hundred, whereas four years ago there were none, are doing the same. In about the same period a congregation of about eighty has been gathered at Siong Siek. The Ngiang-Tau congregation has branched out into four, and two of the new ones are wishful to build churches. In the Tiang Taing pastorate thirty families have begun to attend the services, and as one family alone consisted of twenty-two members, there was naturally a consequent overcrowding of the church, and proposals were made to build an additional one. The Archdeacon's report is full of similar instances of progress in the district. As an example, the following, which relates to the Ting Chong pastorate, may be quoted:—

This is one of the largest and most difficult pastorates to work in this division, arising from the distant and scattered congregations connected with it, and the rough and rugged nature of the country, and the absence of anything in the shape of roads; but the work is deeply interesting and encouraging. The large church at Ting Chong village was roughly finished when the Bishop visited it. On this occasion the building was crowded. There were sixty women present and a large number of men. There were about seventy confirmees, but we expected over a hundred. They were kept away, no doubt, by the long distances they had to travel, and the difficulty, especially to the women and old people, of making their way over the rough pathways and high mountain roads. The Wong Kang congregation have finished their little church, and the Kah-Tak congregation are building theirs, and I hope it will soon be ready for holding Divine service in, as there is no place in the village convenient or large enough to accommodate the forty or fifty members who meet for worship.

Seventy confirmees in one pastorate.

HING HWA DISTRICT.

The Rev. Ll. Lloyd writes of this district, which he superintends from Fuh-Chow:— Hing Hwa.

Every visit I pay to this region sends me home with deeper thankfulness for the evident tokens of God's blessing which is resting upon His work there. The number of adherents is continually increasing, and two excellent churches and parsonages, built mainly by the efforts of the people themselves, testify to the reality of their faith. During a recent visit I baptized some seventy of our catechumens, several of them being day scholars from our schools and parents of the scholars. This is a most gratifying fact, and proves that these schools may become real centres of blessing everywhere, if only we can get the right sort of teachers to take charge of them.

KU-CHENG AND PING-NANG DISTRICTS.

The Rev. W. Banister states that he travelled over 1,800 miles, visiting the congregations and agents in his two districts during the year. Mr. Banister has adopted a plan for reaching the unevangelized parts of this district. Two catechists at a time are withdrawn from their stations for the space of one month and form, together with the head evangelistic catechist, Li Taik Ing, an "Evangelistic Band." Several new out-stations have been opened as a fruit of their labours. To the west of Ku-Cheng city there are ten congregations, the oldest in the Ku-Cheng district, but Mr. Banister does not report hopefully of their state. The accessions of new members are mostly to the congregations east and north of the city. An invitation was received to reopen work at Sa Yong, a large town some 90 miles from Ku-Cheng, where a congregation existed at one time, but the chapel was closed about 13 years since. The invitation was addressed to the master of the Ku-Cheng boys' school by a distant relation, who lives at Sa Yong. Mr. Banister writes:— Ku-Cheng. An "Evangelistic Band." Heathens apply for a Mission school as an antidote to gambling and opium-smoking.

He said that he had observed with sorrow how the young men of the town were becoming utterly demoralised and given up to gambling and opium-smoking, and he had consulted with the oldest and leading inhabitants of the town as to what ought to be done, and they all felt that the best thing would be to invite the Christians to return, and thus preserve their town from utter demoralisation. This is to my mind a testimony from the heathen conscience to the truth and power of the Gospel, and a strong encouragement to labour on in the simple declaration of the Word of God.

Three C.E.Z.M.S. ladies were proposing to occupy this place.

Ping Nang. In the PING NANG district the chief course for encouragement is found among the women of Tong Kio and Pi Liang. There are at Ku-Cheng a boys' and a girls' boarding school, and in the district 32 day schools, six being for girls. The Misses H. and M. Newcombe, Miss Weller, and Miss Nisbet, of the C.E.Z.M.S., were stationed at Ku-Cheng during the year.

KIEN-NING AND YEN-PING DISTRICTS.

The Rev. J. S. Collins, of the Trinity College, Dublin, Mission, who undertook the superintendence of the pastoral and evangelistic work of these districts in the spring of 1892, comments in his Annual Letter on the disappointment imposed by his transfer on Mrs. Collins and himself of being dumb a Nang-wa. second time, the dialect of NANG-WA being quite different from that of Fuh-Chow and Lo-Ngwong, his former stations. His missionary fellow labourers were Dr. John and Mrs. Rigg, besides whom the Misses I. and B. Newcombe, Miss Frances Johnson, and Miss Rodd, of the C.E.Z.M.S., of whose work at Nang-wa and the surrounding villages Mr. Collins writes most gratefully, were stationed in the district. The progress of the past year consisted in clearing the ground, Mr. Collins says, and deepening the foundations on which the infant Church rests.

Hospital. Dr. Rigg and his native helpers received at the Hospital 2,274 out-patients and 202 in-patients; 86 of the latter were opium patients. The services in the hospital had a daily attendance of from 12 to 40, and on Sundays generally about 60 were present. The opium cases were fewer than in previous years. Dr. Rigg says as to this:—

"Opium a good thing?" I can only account for this by assuming that the number of those wishing to be cured is getting exhausted in our immediate neighbourhood. Opium dens are increasing in number in Nang-wa. I often say to opium habitués, "Opium is a very good thing, is it not?" but I never yet heard a Chinaman say, "Yes, it is." I believe there would be a great shout of joy, even from its victims, if it were abolished.

In January, 1893, Dr. Rigg wrote:—

With students and others there is quite a large company of Christians here, and since Christmas Day we have adopted the plan of going out into Nang-wa and adjacent villages and hamlets in twos and threes (the younger ones in threes), and taking every opportunity that presents itself of telling the Gospel by conversation or preaching. In the evening we meet and relate our experiences. That meeting is very interesting. The results are very encouraging. As a rule, there is a readiness to hear the Gospel. To give you an example :—Last Sunday, about 2.30, I started with Ngiong Ki, one of my elder students, into the main street of Nang-wa. It was market-day, and I anticipated some difficulty in getting hearers, as market-day in Nang-wa is a busy time. We first called at a blacksmith's, where, while I urged a young man from Fuh Ning to give up opium, and taught him to ask God's blessing and mercy daily, Ngiong Ki talked to some passing countrymen from the doorstep. We went on to another blacksmith's shop ; this man was from Canton. I could not thoroughly get his ear, but his wife listened to me, as I told her that God, who made the world, loved us as we loved our own children. An intelligent man came in, and for half an hour I had a group varying from five to twenty, to whom he acted as friendly medium.

A readiness to hear the Gospel.

The out-stations are Siong Bo, Siong Cie, Tai Chiu (spelt Tai Chin in last year's Report), and A-Cue in Kien-Ning; and Yen-Ping and Nang Sang in Yen-Ping district. One of Dr. Riggs native medical students and a catechist spent a month in the autumn at Yen-Ping, about 25 English miles south of Nang-wa, and during that time the former treated 574 patients. Preaching was held twice daily, and Gospel portions were sold to the patients.

The Tai Chiu Hospital books were destroyed in the riot of May, 1892, to which reference was made in last year's Report. Between December 1, 1891, and May 11, 1892, it is estimated that 800 new out-patients were treated, and 130 in-patients, including 50 opium cases, and 150 minor operations were performed. At the close of 1891 Dr. Rigg purchased a piece of land at Tai Chiu to build a hospital on. Building was delayed by Dr. Rigg's enforced absence after being bitten by a mad dog, and by the magistrate on various pretexts refusing to attach his official seal to the deed of conveyance. An exchange of magistrates then took place, and the new one, named Ma, was more reasonable, and fully conceded Dr. Rigg's right to the land, but pleaded that the gentry were bent on withstanding the erection of the building. On April 29 it was alleged that graves had been discovered on the land in question, and that it would be impious to disturb the soil. It was demonstrated that these were new graves placed there by the gentry for the occasion. Two men from whom the land had been bought were put in prison. On May 11 the opposition culminated in a violent and most offensive attack. Dr. Rigg wrote :—

Tai Chiu Dispensary.

Attack on Dr. Rigg.

About 2 A.M. I was awakened by a dreadful smell, and certain sounds made me guess what was the cause. I cautiously opened the door and found the door smudged with filth, and quite a load of the same stuff on the doorstep and all about. The perpetrator had gone off. I moved my bed into the hospital at the back, and about six o'clock was called up to see the mandarin. He had to walk by a plank over the filth and endure a horrid odour while he was in the room. He urged me to leave at once, as he said that Chio Chie Pwoi had "several tens" of men hired at 200 cash a day to pull down our hospital and other buildings. He said he had had a row with Chio the previous day, and intended to accuse him to the Viceroy.

I asked him why he wished me to leave, and he said it would then be easier for him to protect the hospital. I doubted this, and rather thought that if I went he would not protect it at all. However, I promised to go as soon as he sent twenty soldiers armed with swords to keep watch during the day, and eight to watch at night. This he promised to do, and I promised to leave as soon as they arrived. The soldiers were to keep watch for eight days and nights. He then left.

I took a little breakfast—tea and bread—but none of the others had anything. There were then in the hospital Ting Sui King, the medical catechist; Ting Hiong Sieng, my student; the hospital cook, two colporteurs, the leper catechist, one of the carpenters, and a mason and myself. After the mandarin left more and more people gathered together, and shortly there was a shout, and the people began to shower stones on the hospital and to pull down the window bars. No soldiers had come, and those on the premises were practically of no use. All the natives with me went off by the back door, but not before they had pressed me to do the same. I slowly followed, and was pushed and struck by a number of people who pressed on me; they threw brickbats and lumps of wood, but, so far as I know, I was not struck. I climbed a bamboo fence and got into an adjacent garden, but there I was a mark for stones, &c. I climbed another fence, and made my way into the chief street of Tai Chiu and went on the way to Kien-Yang. I was closely followed and pressed upon, struck, and my clothes torn off me, my watch and chain were torn away, my hat went, everything in my pockets was taken, and I was thrown on the ground. When I was thrown down a second and a third time I was dragged to a large filthy pit (pong k'ang), and they tried to pitch me in. I dreaded this extremely, and prayed in my soul to be kept from such a horrible death. I did not doubt it would mean death, as the pit was deep. I held on to a man's wrist till I could no longer resist them twisting and bending my fingers, and then held on to a man's clothes. I made a violent effort and got on my feet, and, thrusting all I could aside, made off, but not so quickly as I should have liked. After being thrown down once or twice more I got free, and ran along the road away from those horrible pits. Until then the colporteur had bravely kept by me, but then I lost him. A Foo-Chow man followed me and helped me. I was hatless, in a hot sun, and my clothes were ragged and torn. My spectacles had been snatched off and I could not see far. My Foo-Chow friend, whom I did not know, led me about three English miles on to a ferry, and left a man with me to lead me to Nang-wa. On the ferry-boat I was recognised by a former hospital patient, who lent me his umbrella and voluntarily gave me fifty cash. So I went on, and partly by walking, partly by boat, got back to Nang-wa about 12.30 or 1 o'clock.

"I prayed to be kept from such a death."

Helped by a former hospital patient.

Through the intervention of the Consul at Foo-Chow a fine was imposed on the leader of the riot, and it was agreed that the Mission should be compensated, a new site given for a hospital, the old hospital repaired, and that a proclamation should be issued declaring the right of missionaries to rent, purchase, build, or reside in any part of Kien-Ning. The Committee are not aware, however, that any of these provisions have yet been carried out. An agreement has, however, been made and signed by the mandarin and the missionaries regarding a site at Sing Kio, about a mile further from Kien-Ning than Tai Chiu is.

Kien Yang.

The Rev. H. S. Phillips took a tour from KIEN YANG into the provinces of Kiang Si in March. As on his previous itinerations he saw many places which seemed to offer excellent openings for more continuous and systematic labours, and sold numerous books. The following incident occurred:—

Selling books to pay hotel bills.

Finding I was a few cash short to meet my hotel bill, 5½*d.* for two, including rice for two meals, I went into the street, and in a few minutes before breakfast sold sufficient to meet my liabilities. I never felt more like a hawker! This saved me changing a dollar and getting a weighty bundle of cash, no unimportant consideration in starting a journey with a heavy load of books.

After his marriage at Fuh Chow in May, Mr. Phillips was advised by the Consul not to return to Kien Yang until the Kien-Ning troubles were settled, and he accordingly, with Mrs. Phillips, spent the summer near Nang-wa. On learning of the settlement arrived at between the Consul and the Chinese authorities at Fuh Chow, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips returned to Kien Yang in October. He thus relates what occurred:—

On October 6 I brought up my wife to Kien Yang. The previous day an attack had been made on the Natives in the house, and my servant, "Beseech Grace," and a plasterer, a heathen, working for me were severely beaten. When we arrived all seemed quiet again. I informed the district magistrate of our arrival, and asked him to settle matters. He took no steps to do so, save issuing an almost useless proclamation, and sending a couple of runners across.

On the 8th, first thing in the morning, I heard that the two characters meaning "Drive out the devil" were posted on the city gate. I sent across and informed the Yamen. About 9 A.M. I heard the mandarin himself was coming, but ere he arrived I saw the first of over ten men carry two buckets apiece of filth; this they proceeded to ladle out all over the place. My wife, for the time, was comparatively safe in an inner room. She had only just said good-bye to a very friendly set of women who had come to visit her. The previous day she had had over fifty women visitors, all most friendly.

Attack on Mr. Phillips.

Directly I saw these men come in I knew at once a row was imminent, and went to search for "Beseech Grace." While looking for him, one of the rioters doused me with manure. An inquirer, named Chin, urged me to run, and immediately several men cried, "Oh, you are one of them!" dragged him to the ground, and began to beat and kick him. I got in between, and, as none of them seemed to have courage to beat the foreigner, I was able to help the poor fellow up.

Now the magistrate arrived, and hesitated for a moment to come into the house on account of the smell. When we got inside, the man who had previously ladled manure over me aimed a blow at my head with a heavy stick. Providentially the magistrate caught his arm and saved the blow. I now joined my wife in the inner room; she had just been spending the time in committing all to our Father. Shortly afterwards poor "Beseech Grace" joined us; he had been disgracefully treated, and was in an almost fainting and half-naked condition. He had gone out at the back, and was caught by these ruffians and shamefully beaten, and forced to eat filth.

Now the mob spied us through a window, and this they at once made for; its wooden bars were immediately smashed up. The mandarin, with a few soldiers, then came and harangued the people from the window, but were met with shouts threatening the mandarin, &c. We now heard the house was on fire, and the mandarin said our only chance of escape was to accompany him to the Yamen; so we got out through the window, and, surrounded by a small squad of soldiers, started for the Yamen, believing we were leaving all to the flames, but sure all was being over-ruled by our Father.

We heard later that almost all our possessions were untouched, and sealed securely, and that only the house I had bought and was repairing had been burnt down. This was the next-door house.

The next day, as to occupy the house was impossible (owing to the filth), I agreed—on getting an assurance that our goods should be sealed and would not be opened till I came up again—to go down to Nang-wa for a while, and it seemed best to go down from that place to Fuh-Chow for consultation, especially as the Conference was getting near. Only about twenty men took part in the riot. All were people of the suburb in which we dwell, and almost all members of one family, named Chiau, sons and grandsons. No city people took any part; the crowd were mostly spectators.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips returned up-country to Nang-wa in December. The former wrote:—

The Church at home must and will rejoice that the work of the Fuh Kien Church, as a whole, has prospered, and that many have been added to the Church of such as should be saved; and if the rejoicing is mingled with a touch of disappointment for such spots in the field as Kien Yang, we shall, at least, remember that the work is the Almighty Master's, and that One in perfect wisdom, perfect love, is working for the best, even though the devil seem to triumph. Surely, too, Kien Yang and North-West Fuh Kien are a call to prayer.

A call to prayer.

MID-CHINA MISSION.

Kiang-Su Province: Shanghai, 1845.

Cheh-Kiang Province: Ningpo, 1848; Hang-Chow, 1864; Shaou-Hing, 1870.

Bishop Moule visited all the main stations of this Mission more than once during the year. Shanghai and Ningpo were visited three times, and Shaou-Hing twice; besides which he made the journey from Ningpo to T'ai-Chow, and from Hang-Chow up the Tsien Tang River to Fu Yang and beyond, and traversed the Chuki district from one end to the other. Altogether, the Bishop spent 116 days away from his home at Hang-Chow, and he confirmed 164 persons in "seventeen different oratories, from the beautiful cathedral of Shanghai to the poor cottage-room in the mountain village of Tszelang, or the riverside hamlet of Yangtsang." Of these confirmees two were Europeans, and twelve were Chinese catechumens presented by an American missionary at Shanghai. The Bishop sends a full and valuable report of the events of his visits to each station. He also draws the Committee's attention to an error which was made inadvertently in the Annual Report for 1881–82, and has been repeated each year since then, representing 1861 as the year when Hang-Chow was occupied by the Society. That station was not opened until 1864. On October 8 the Bishop admitted the Revs. C. J. F. Symons and A. Liggins to priests' Orders. Bishop Moule's movements. Ordination.

The Rev. John B. and Mrs. Ost have been transferred to this Mission from the South China Mission, and the following six ladies have also been added to the staff: Miss Elizabeth Caswell; Miss Isabella Sarah Clarke; Miss Edith E. Cornford, an honorary missionary; Miss Alice Hunt; Miss Agnes Alexandra Snell; and Miss M. A. Thompson. The ladies sailed in October, and Mr. and Mrs. Ost in March, 1893. Miss Cornford was accompanied by her brother, Mr. Charles E. Cornford, a member of the London C.M.S. Lay Workers' Union, who has gone out as an independent missionary at his own charges. Miss Caswell, Miss Snell, and Miss Thompson were designated by the Committee for Sz-Chuen. Mr. J. H. and Mrs. Jose, who went out to China from Australia, have been accepted by the Missionary Conference as missionaries in local connexion. Miss G. Smith sailed in October, 1892, to return to the Mission, and the Rev. G. W. and Mrs. Coultas in February, 1893. Miss A. L. Wright has also returned, having visited her brother and sister in the Panjab en route. The Rev. A. and Mrs. Elwin have come home on furlough. Reinforcements.

PROVINCE OF KIANG-SU.

SHANGHAI.

Shanghai. ARCHDEACON A. E. MOULE observes a marked difference in the number of those attending the services, and in the interest they evince in the Gospel message. A new reading-room was opened during the year, but the crowds of visitors were such as to necessitate its being used instead for evangelistic preaching in the evenings. The old Mission Church, built forty years since by Canon M'Clatchie, was repaired, and on the day of re-opening it was filled from end to end, and forty-four Chinese Christians and six English were present at the Lord's Supper. In October six adults were baptized, two being inmates of the Blind Industrial Institution, of which the Archdeacon is Managing Trustee. Archdeacon Moule says of one of the other converts :—

A convert declines to make money out of other people's sins.

> Dzien has a mother who has been for a long time a very earnest devotee, and a worshipper specially of a kind of trinity in the pantheon of the Taoist sect, namely, the presiding deities or primordial principles of heaven, earth, and water, the Three Rulers, or San Uwun, as they are called. One account of their origin represents them as three brothers of ancient days, who were so harmonious in family life, and so absolutely one in sentiment and action, that they attracted the admiration of their contemporaries, and were worshipped after death. The mother of this new convert (now herself also a catechumen) had worshipped three little images of these worthies for thirty years and more, and when she and her son abandoned this worship, the neighbours, thinking that images reverenced so long must have some special virtue, wanted to buy them; but the old woman, persuaded by her son, declined to make money from other people's sins, and was going to throw them away, when I asked for them as a proof of their sincerity, and I am sending them now to England.

Itineration across the Yang-tse. Two of the catechists made a three weeks' evangelistic tour in a district one hundred miles north of Shanghai, on the further bank of the Yang-tse-Kiang, where Christ had scarcely ever before been named, and were much cheered by their friendly reception in the seventeen towns and villages in which they preached. Mr. A. J. H. Moule continues his translation labours, being engaged upon the R.T.S. Old Testament Commentary, and on a book on prophecy by the late Rev. James Vaughan, of the North India Mission. Miss Stanley and Miss Onyon write happily of their language studies, and of their visits with Mrs. Moule to Chinese women in their homes.

PROVINCE OF CHEH-KIANG.

NINGPO.

Ningpo. UPON the return of the Rev. J. Bates a redistribution of the work, as regards responsibility for supervising the pastorates and evangelizing the district, was effected. The city pastorate, and the work of making Christ known within its boundaries, was placed under the Rev. J. C. Hoare; the Western Hills pastorate was allotted to the Rev. W. S. Moule; and the two pastorates to the north of Ningpo, those of Z-Ky'i and Soen-poh or Kwun-hoe-we were placed under Mr. Bates. The Bishop confirmed 35 candidates. At a meeting of the Church Council in November the Rev. Dzing Ts-sing delivered an address on "How may the Christians in the several pastorates be led to promote the spread of the Gospel among the heathen?" Mr. Bates, who presided, remarks:—

An important discussion by a Church Council.

Mr. Dzing went very thoroughly into his subject, and showed that what was needed above all, was that the Christians themselves should be instructed and spiritually awakened, and he remarked that if the 300 or 400 adult Christians of the Ningpo Church were only really in earnest, we might easily see their number doubled from amongst their own friends and acquaintances alone, and our churches and chapels crowded to excess. The address made, I think, a deep impression on all present. I was not prepared to find that all would so heartily endorse the words of the speaker. But so it was. Even the lay delegates spoke very earnestly and very seriously as to the low and backward condition of the Church. I am hopeful that some real practical result will follow this discussion. Indeed, I think I see some good fruit already in the two pastorates in my district. May God in his mercy open the windows of heaven, and pour out a rich blessing upon us!

The reports of the pastors presented to the Council show that they are well aware from whence success in their holy calling must be sought for and procured. One writes, after comparing the opportunities presented by the town and rural districts respectively:—

It matters not in what place we preach, or what method we employ; we must depend entirely on the influence of the Holy Spirit the Comforter. And so we may learn that prayer for the Holy Spirit must always prepare the way for preaching.

Mr. Bates mentions the following sad exhibition of the people's superstition and ignorance, which occurred at Tsong-Gyiao, close to Ningpo, in the summer:—

Worshipping the Rain Dragon.

The heat during these months was unusually excessive and long-continued, so that the fields were quite parched for want of water. For many days the farmers hoped against hope that the rain would fall. But after many days' waiting no rain came, and their sense of disappointment manifested itself in almost wild fury. Recourse was had to all kinds of superstitious observances in order to propitiate the God of Rain. Public fasts were proclaimed. Shops supplying certain articles of food were ordered to be closed. Idolatrous processions were organised. I have never seen the people so excited as they were at this time. The city of Ningpo was crowded with persons from all parts of the country, who came up specially to petition the Mandarins to worship the Rain Dragon. And what was this Rain Dragon? It was a toad, or a crab, or a snake, or such-like reptile, which, after much search, had been discovered in some dirty ditch or pond, and then suddenly elevated and carried in procession as an object of worship. On the street passers-by were obliged to lower their umbrellas or bare their heads. At the Yamens the Mandarins were compelled to come out and worship before the Dragon. In one case a Mandarin pleaded illness as an excuse for non-appearance, but such an excuse would not be accepted, and so he was obliged to leave his sick-bed and submit to the will of the multitude. In another case, that of the Taotai, a deputy having been sent to represent him, the people beat the deputy and would not allow him to perform the ceremony. At length the great man was obliged to show himself, and to kneel down on the public street without even being allowed the use of a cushion! Alas! the honour and reverence thus given to the Rain Dragon were unavailing, for the drought has affected the crops to a serious extent throughout the country.

It is not surprising that false conceptions concerning God are often found among the Christians who have been rescued from these degrading superstitions. The Rev. W. S. Moule gives the following example:—

I had been trying to press home our "dwelling in Christ, and Christ in us." I said something about Christ being near us and in us, to keep us from morning till night, in whatever occupation we were engaged, with His strength. I saw a poor old field-labourer amongst the Christians listening with some attention, and afterwards he said, half musing, as we were sitting in the house, "Yes, in whatever we are doing; only when I am manuring, I mustn't remember Him!" I tried to explain that our Heavenly Father always looks upon us as in Jesus Christ, and that these are not the things which defile a man, nor is He ashamed of us, nor ashamed to be remembered by us, in any honest occupation. "Well," he said, "I often kneel down and pray when I am in the fields, but I certainly thought I mustn't think of Him when I am carrying manure." Surely a "book of remembrance" is written for these poor, illiterate, humble folk who fear the Lord and think upon His Name. Their conceptions may want clearing, but their hearts are towards the Lord, and their trust is in Him.

Training College.

The division of work in the Training College was the same during the year as was described in last year's Report. The Rev. J. C. Hoare had the Theological Class students, who did, he believes, effective work in the city preaching. Regarding one of these occasions, when the end in view, however, was rather to edify and stir up Christians than to convert the heathen, Mr. Hoare says:—

An Eight Days' Mission.

At the request of the pastor of Tsong-Gyiao the students and I went there to hold a sort of Mission for eight days. We invited only Christians to attend, though, of course, we did not exclude heathen, but all our work was directed towards the building-up of those who were already baptized. When we went there we should have been well pleased if we had had a party of half-a-dozen at each of the afternoon and evening services; but to our surprise we had gatherings three times a day of from twenty to thirty or forty Christians. This in a place where the Christian community is but small, and all are very poor, and consequently tied to their work, was a cause for great thankfulness. We kept to elementary teaching on the great subjects of justification and sanctification, and were much encouraged by the apparent earnestness the listeners displayed.

A dying student preaching the Gospel.

One of these students was ill and believed to be dying at the time when Mr. Hoare was writing his Annual Letter. The Rev. Sing Tsae-Seng, one of the tutors, who sat up with the youth through the night, told Mr. Hoare that the whole night, in spite of his struggles for breath, he was preaching the Gospel to his heathen brother-in-law, urging him to accept the Saviour in whom he himself was trusting.

The Rev. W. S. Moule had the care of the boys under training for schoolmasters. An "old boy" of the College has been taken on as classical tutor in succession to a heathen master. Seven of the boys were confirmed, and are included in the thirty-five mentioned above. For other former pupils who are at work in the country a system of examination has been revived, which Mr. Hoare explains:—

Help rendered to former students.

Once a quarter we issue papers, which contain questions on Scripture and Theology, a text for a sermon, and a subject for a Chinese composition. The men are allowed to use any books that they like, and to answer the questions in their own houses. We examine and mark the papers, and then send out our own printed answers. In this way, I trust, we have stirred up many to continue to study "the Old Book" with more diligence; and such study is absolutely essential if they are to do effective work as evangelists.

Of Literary Work, the little Mission Press printed a Commentary on the Prayer Book, and an abridged edition of Leighton on St. Peter in Chinese.

Hospital.

The Hospital had 233 in-patients and 5,366 out-patients during the year ending March, 1892. It is stated that not a few of the patients, after leaving the Hospital, became candidates for baptism—some in the Ningpo and some in the T'ai-Chow districts. The Report says:—

Strange ideas regarding ailments.

It is curious to notice the strange ideas which the Chinese have regarding some of the commonest ailments. One man attributes chronic rheumatism to demoniacal influence; another attributes neuralgia to maggots in the teeth, and indeed there is a class of persons who drive a lucrative trade by pretending to extract these maggots by means of chop-sticks; nor is it uncommon to have people come to the dispensary affirming that they have some serious internal tumour, which, on examination, proves to be nothing but some ordinary portion of the human frame in perfectly good condition. Thus, not long since, a man came asking for treatment to remove his backbone, which he said he had had for four-and-twenty years, ever since he was nineteen. Frequently people come to ask for medicine to cure the diseases of friends who live at a distance, but whose symptoms they are utterly unable to describe.

Women's work.

Miss B. E. Bullock says the girls of the Boarding School have an excellent head knowledge of the Bible, and she trusts in many cases a heart knowledge too. Mrs. Hoare's Women's School was well filled. Mr. Hoare gives the following facts in evidence of its good fruits:—

In the spring, when in T'ai-Chow, I visited a newly-opened place of worship—the upper storey of a farmer's house—and baptized some five or six men. They told me that there were then some thirty or forty regular worshippers there, but all were men, women being shy of coming, as there was no one to lead or teach them. We arranged that two of the T'ai-Chow women, who had been to Mrs. Hoare's school, should visit the place, which they did, with the result that, through God's blessing on their work, when we visited the place a few weeks ago, some four or five women came forward amongst the twenty-one who sought and received baptism.

Miss A. Maddison and Miss M. A. Wells were assigned to this station by the Conference, and removed to it in April, 1892.

T'ai-Chow.

The most encouraging spot in this Mission is Greatstone Valley, in the T'ai-Chow District. During the year 98 were baptized there. Mr. Hoare says: "The Native pastor works humbly, faithfully, and well; the Native evangelists do their part most manfully; and the Christians let their light shine brightly in spite of many difficulties and hindrances from those without." Dr. H. Hickin and Mr. J. H. and Mrs. Jose have been assigned to reside in this district.

SHAOU-HING.

Shaou-Hing.

The Rev. E. P. Wheatley visited Japan under medical advice in the summer, and the Rev. W. G. Walshe also had leave of absence for a few weeks. The number of adult baptisms was again four. One of these converts was from the same village as the fireworks maker who was baptized in 1890 (see Annual Report, 1890–91, page 191). He had been a catechumen of the Roman Catholics, but declared himself to be a Confucianist when first met with by Mr. Wheatley. After several interviews with one of the catechists he visited Mr. Wheatley in the city, and the latter says:—

Difficulty in deciding between Roman Catholicism and Protestantism.

> Eventually he came to see me in the city and declared his belief in the truth of the Gospel, but he had a difficulty in deciding between the Roman Catholic and Protestant Churches. I urged him to search the Scriptures, and to follow whichever Church adhered most nearly to them. I saw him many times afterwards, when he brought me difficulties which he had met with. At length he applied for baptism, and was admitted to the Church in June last by Mr. Walshe. He is a man of some means, and had not been engaged in any work. We urged him to do something, and he has now opened a school in which he teaches the truths of Christianity as well as the indispensable Chinese classics.

Mr. Wheatley says that the demeanour of those attending the preaching-room has undergone a marked change during the past two or three years. A deep interest is now manifested in Christianity, such as leads him to look for signs of wide and deep blessing ere long. A daily prayer-meeting is held in connexion with a branch of the Gleaners' Union, and on Tuesdays the meetings of the Parent Committee are specially remembered. They have calculated that the two meetings in China and in London are held simultaneously. A small hospital, with accommodation for six beds, has been added to the Dispensary, and the first in-patient was a Mandarin. About 3,000 patients were treated in the Dispensary by the Native doctor trained by Dr. D. Duncan Main at Hang-Chow.

Meetings of the Parent Committee remembered in prayer by Chinese Christians.

Buddhist priests buying copies of the Gospels.

Mr. Walshe made systematic visitations of the Shaou-Hing Plain in the spring and autumn, almost completing its circuit. Large audiences were addressed in Buddhist temples, the priests making no objection, but on the contrary, in some cases, themselves buying copies of the Gospels and accepting tracts.

HANG-CHOW.

Hang-Chow.

The Bishop spent the greater part of the year at this station, where he resides, and besides episcopal duties undertook the pastoral charge of the Native Christians in the city, and the care of the scattered Christians on the banks of the river. In June, July, and December the Bishop baptized 21 adults, of whom three were his own servants; one was a tailor who for nearly forty years had known and been known by various missionaries, but had not until 1891 expressed concern about his soul's salvation; and several of the others had been influenced for good in the Hospital. One of those last referred to, on entering the hospital, informed Dr. Main that he went there not so much that he might be cured of his complaint, chronic rheumatism, but that he might hear the Gospel. His daughter had been a patient in the female ward, and had told her father when she returned home what she had heard, and pressed him to go too, that he might hear of Jesus before he died. Dr. D. Duncan Main writes in reference to the instruction he received from the Committee to enter every door with the Gospel which should be opened through the Medical Mission: "The doors open to the Medical Missionary are legion. The difficulty is not to find them, but to find time to enter them. We know nothing about trying to get near to the Chinese; we are the centre of gravity, and they gravitate to us without difficulty." 10,000 out-patients and over 600 in-patients were treated. Dispensary work has great disadvantages as compared with Hospital treatment:—

A patient enters the hospital for purpose of hearing the Gospel.

"The doors open are legion."

> The Chinese are very impatient of recovery, and if the first dose of a six-ounce mixture does not have effect as soon as it is swallowed, they are inclined to combine some native drug, which may spoil the effect or kill the patient. Again, if drugs are not very nauseous, they put them down as cheap and ineffectual; however, we have not much difficulty in pleasing them on this point. All heard the Gospel, and although many of them are too much occupied with their troubles to think of anything else, still most of them listened to the Gospel story with attention and interest, and carried it away in hand, breast, or heart to their homes scattered throughout the length and breadth of the province.

Disadvantages of dispensary as compared with hospital treatment.

> For spiritual work the hospital is our harvest field. In the wards we do not only preach but practise Christianity—something that even a Chinaman can appreciate. Most of the patients remain long enough with us to get a fair knowledge of the Gospel, and when they go home they take with them a more or less clear conception of the Truth. In the wards there are precious opportunities for closer spiritual dealing than is possible in the chapel or in a public address.

"The hospital is our harvest field."

One patient was told by his friends that the foreigners had given him pills which made him believe their religion! He replied that it was God who gave him the pills, and if He gave them one they would also believe. One hundred and twenty-four opium patients, not included in the above enumeration, were treated in the Opium Refuge. Dr. Duncan Main says of the vice of opium-smoking:—

The vice of opium-smoking.

It is admitted by all to be a vice; nothing can be said in its favour. It is an unmixed curse. It destroys the health and shortens life, for an opium-smoker falls an easy prey to disease; and it leads to crime and ruin. We long for the time when the curse shall be removed, the atmosphere purified, and the light of the Gospel shining through the darkness. When anyone says that the Chinese "can smoke opium with impunity" he talks pure and undiluted nonsense. It is almost impossible to over-estimate the evil effects of this degrading vice.

All the Hospital helpers have been trained by Dr. Main, and he has a Medical Class of eight young men, all professing Christians. A Leper Hospital was opened in November, and had five inmates at the close of the year.

Female ward.

The Female Ward with its eighteen beds was quite full throughout the year. Over a hundred patients were received; many of them, having chronic diseases, had to remain several months. Four of those baptized by the Bishop in the summer were women who had been taught while inmates of the women's ward; one was a blind woman whose physical sight could not be restored, but who received, it is believed, the far greater blessing of spiritual sight. Another who was baptized in December, receiving the name of Lydia, is a nurse in the ward. Mrs. Main concludes her Annual Letter thus:—

Tablet erected to Dr. Main.

As I finish I hear a sound of rejoicing—a tablet being erected, in the midst of a burst of fireworks, to Dr. Main, presented by a grateful father on the recovery of his son after a serious operation.

Miss L. H. Barnes, who went for a health trip to Japan in the summer, and was greatly refreshed in spirit by the visit, rendered help by visiting the women patients, and also in Mrs. Moule's Girls' Boarding School. The Bishop examined this school twice during the year, and remarks on "the extraordinary display of memory on the part of all the girls," and on the "intelligent and accurate knowledge of Scripture truth in the older ones." There are twenty-one pupils, and all have unbound feet, though they come from families in which foot-binding is practised. Miss M. Vaughan had a class of women, mostly from the country out-stations, for Bible instruction; and the Rev. A. Elwin during the winter had a similar class for men from the Chuki district.

Extraordinary memory of Chinese girls.

First administration of Holy Communion at Yangtsang.

The Bishop confirmed five candidates at Yangtsang, some seventy miles up the river, at the close of 1891, and administered the Holy Communion, he believes for the first time in the place, to eight Native communicants, including the evangelists. The Rev. J. and Mrs. Neale, with Dr. H. Hickin and Miss Vaughan and the Rev. W. G. Walshe, went up the river in April, 1892, on an evangelistic tour as far as Yen Chow, and sold about two thousand books.

In the Chuki district, unhappily, misunderstandings arose between the Rev. Nyi Liang-ping and many of the Christians, which led the former to resign the pastorate. The Bishop writes of him as "zealous, intelligent, and spiritual, but not always wise or gentle;" and the estrangement resulted from his failing to bring to a successful issue the cause of some persecuted Christians which he had too readily espoused. Chuki district.

Mr. Elwin and Mr. Neale visited the district three times, and Miss Vaughan went four times, staying on two occasions three or four weeks. The Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Ost have been assigned to reside in this district.

PROVINCE OF SZ-CHUEN.

The arrival of the Rev. O. M. Jackson and of Messrs. D. A. Callum and E. B. Vardon at Chung-King on February 20, 1892, after nearly four months of almost uninterrupted travelling, was mentioned in last year's Report. The ladies of the party under the escort of the Rev. J. H. Horsburgh, and accompanied by an experienced lady missionary of the China Inland Mission, Miss I. W. Roberts, whose services were most kindly lent for the occasion, followed the above-named male missionaries up the Yang-tse River after an interval of some three months. These ladies were Mrs. Horsburgh, Miss A. Entwistle, Miss E. D. Mertens, Miss E. Garnett, Miss R. Lloyd, and Miss G. E. Wells. The deeply interesting journal of their progress up the river from Hankow, where they left the steamer and proceeded by Native boat, written by one of the ladies and signed by them all, was published in the Gleaner. Only for a few extracts can space be afforded in this Report. The first quotation regards the life on board:— The missionary staff.

> The boat is about 70 ft. long and 12 ft. wide; there is no deck, but two planks at each side, where the men walk when "poleing." The skipper and crew occupy either end. We have five apartments—four small ones for bedrooms and one larger one for a dining-room. The best of the low table-beds mounted on soap boxes does duty for a dining-table; it has a polished top, and is really quite nice. We should like you to see our table at dinner-time. The rice is served up in an enamelled wash-basin, the soup in another, and some stewed fruit appeared in a jug belonging to the said basin. The meat comes on in the baking-tin and the vegetables in plates. We use Chinese tea-cups without handles, and small wine-cups for our eggs. Sometimes we have a Chinese meal, and use chopsticks. > We rise early to get a quiet time with the Lord. We breakfast at seven A.M., when we each give our special morning text. At eight we gather round our Bibles and have a very helpful time together (each one takes the lead in turn); then we have some prayer. We are reading McCheyne's daily readings. At nine we have our Chinese class, and spend the rest of the day in study. After dinner we have a prayer-meeting—using the C.M.S. Cycle, and the one used by the C.I.M. to pray for each of the provinces and their missionaries once each week. After tea we write Life on a Chinese river-boat.

up our diaries and letters, and again have a time over the Word together before going to bed.

No Sunday travelling.

Our Sundays have been days of real blessing, very sweet to us because we have seen God's hand "silently planning" for us about them. Feeling that we ought not to travel on Sunday, Mr. Horsburgh offered to give the skipper fifty cash a man for each Sunday if he would stop. He was not very willing, and although he assented we did not know whether he really would. On the first Saturday he hinted that if there was a good wind he should go on. We prayed much about it, and when Sunday came it was raining heavily. No Chinaman cares to go out in the rain, so we rested "according to the good hand of our God upon us." Each Sabbath has been more blessed than the last, and God has arranged that we should never travel on His day. More than once He has used the rain to keep us quiet and to disperse crowds.

At length, after a journey of nearly 2,000 miles from the mouth of the river, and 1,000 in Native boats, the great province of Sz-Chuen was reached, and populous cities, whose names will not be found on the map in this Report, were passed. The reflections of the party are thus expressed:—

"Thousands of precious souls all uncared for."

It is perfectly heart-breaking to find great cities with their thousands of precious, precious souls, all uncared for; cities which are so accessible too. What have we been thinking of all these years? Have we been dreaming? If so, we are wide awake now, some of us.

The report that we have heard is quite true—woefully, awfully true. There are multitudes who have NEVER HEARD THE NAME OF JESUS. We have met them and spoken to them—we have held their hands in ours—we have looked into their bright, intelligent eyes—we have heard them repeat after us for the first time that precious Name; but only to say with a blank look "puh tong"—i.e. "I don't understand."

Yes! They are real people."

These dear women will stroke our hair and hands—they give us a welcome—they bid us sit down—they ask about our homes. Yes! They are real, real people. And it breaks our hearts to see them uncared for, and ignorant of all that to us makes life worth living.

A few weeks before the party arrived at Chung-King, on May 19, two C.I.M. missionaries, Mr. Beauchamp and Mr. Parsons, had been expelled with much insult and indignity from Shun-Kying, a large city to the north of Chung-King, and this event materially affected the plans of the C.M.S. party, as it occasioned unexpected demands for house accommodation at Paolin, where the ladies were to have been lodged. Consequently, the house which had been taken for the men of the party at Chentu, the political capital of the province, some 200 miles to the north-west of Chung-King, where Dr. and Mrs. Parry, of the C.I.M., were stationed, was occupied by Miss Mertens, Miss Garnett, and Miss Wells. Miss Lloyd was placed at Lu-cheo, with Mrs. James (C.I.M.). Mr. and Mrs. Horsburgh and Miss Entwistle were accommodated at Sin-tien-tsi, eight or nine days' journey to the north of Chung-King. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Callum were taken in by the Rev. Hope Gill (C.I.M.), at Wan Hsein, a city of 200,000 people, on the Yang-tse River, some 350 miles below Chung-King. Mr. Vardon became the guest of Dr. Cameron at Chung-King. Mr. A. A. Phillips, who followed Mr. Horsburgh's party up the river, arriving at Chung-King on June 8, went forward 14 days' journey further up the Yang-tse, to Sücheo, to Mr. Faërs, of the C.I.M. Thus the members of the band were located immediately after reaching Sz-Chuen in six different stations, a journey of several days intervening between almost any two of the little groups. This separation is of course not at all what would have been desired.

At the river stations the summer was especially trying. The unusual heat melting the snows on the mountains of Tibet, caused the river to rise suddenly about 100 feet, inundating the lower parts of the towns. This was followed by an epidemic of cholera, which was not confined to the river valley. As many as 300 who had died from this disease were carried out of one gate of Chentu in one day. The young bride of a missionary of the Canadian Mission died in the same town, and Dr. Cameron, with whom Mr. Vardon was staying, died from this disease at Chung-King. Through this sickness God graciously preserved all the missionaries of the Society. Their work mainly consisted in studying the language, but they were not wholly debarred from witnessing for their Lord. Mr. Jackson in October took a Mission tour of 160 miles on foot, accompanied by a Native agent of the Scottish Bible Society, selling 600 books. In every place they saw opium dens and were asked for medicine. A few weeks later Mr. Callum took a similar journey, ascending and descending, he says, more than 100 miles of steps during a ten days' journey in the hilly country, and selling 480 books and Scripture portions. One of the ladies writes:—"It would be worth while to come to China if only to get to know God as we get to know Him."

Improved attitude of the Government towards Christian Missions.

JAPAN is in some respects a unique Mission-field. As Archdeacon Warren, in his report to the Conference of C.M.S. Missionaries which met at Osaka in March, 1893, pointed out, Christian work in these islands has passed within a quarter of a century through well-nigh every possible phase of treatment by the secular powers. First it was proscribed, and Archdeacon Warren recently saw a memorandum to the effect that in 1869, the year when the Rev. G. Ensor, the first C.M.S. Missionary, reached Nagasaki, the Governor of Hyogo, in reply to an inquiry, stated that if a bookseller sold an English Bible, knowing it to be a Christian book, he would be subject to punishment for the crime. Then followed a period of official inaction, during which Christian congregations multiplied largely in the land. And finally, in February, 1889, came the promulgation of the Constitution guaranteeing civil and religious liberty to the people. Archdeacon Warren's able analysis of the statistics indicating the progress during the decade ending with 1892 deserves quoting somewhat fully. He says:—

Progress of Protestant Christianity during past decade.

During that time the number of male missionaries has been more than doubled, the 90 of that year being 205 now; whilst the single lady missionaries have been very nearly quadrupled, the present number being 201 against 56 in 1882. At the close of 1882, 93 congregations had been formed, and now there are 365, or nearly fourfold; then the number of Christians connected with the Protestant Missions was 4,987, and now it is returned as 35,534, more than sevenfold; then the Japanese workers were 149, and now they are 693, nearly fivefold; then the contributions were $12,064.88, and in 1892 they were $63,337.99, more than fivefold. The total Christian population of Japan is now said to be over 100,000 (100,671), viz. Roman Catholics 44,812, Greek Church Christians 20,325, and Protestant Christians 35,534. These are results for which we may heartily thank God.

It is interesting to note that the growth of Protestant Christianity has been much more rapid during the decade than that of either Roman Catholicism or Greek Christianity.

The relative increase stands thus:—

	Number of Christians.		Increase per cent.
	1882.	1892.	in decade.
Roman Catholics, approx.	28,488	44,812	say 57
Greek Christians, approx.	8,237	20,325	,, 146
Protestant Christians ...	4,987	35,534	,, 612

Whatever may be the reason assigned for this larger growth of Protestant Christianity, the fact is undeniable, and it is not without significance to ourselves, whilst it proves that the work of the Protestant Missions is carried on vigorously and, under the Divine blessing, not without a good measure of success.

Encouraging as the progress in the decade has been, from another point of view we are not without causes of anxiety. The first of these is the decrease year by year for several years past in the number of baptisms. From 1882 the number of baptisms increased year by year until in 1888 it reached 7,687, the highest number baptized in any one year, but since that time the growth has been less rapid. Thus in Causes of anxiety.

1889	there were	5,542	baptisms,	more than	2,000	less
1890	,,	4,899	,,	,,	600	,,
1891	,,	4,228	,,	,,	700	,,
1892	,,	4,218	,,	just	10	,,

The flood-tide of success which ran so strongly till 1888 resulted in an increase in the first half of the decade of 300 per cent., the 4,987 of 1882 rising to 19,289 in 1887, but during the last half of the decade it has not been 100 per cent. ; that is to say, whilst during the first half of the decade the body of Christians increased fourfold, during the last half it has not doubled itself.

Another cause of anxiety is the apparent number of defections. Many Christians disappear unaccounted for. The total number of baptisms during the last five years was 26,574, which, added to the number of Christians at the close of 1887, would give a total of 45,863. If from this number an estimated loss of 5 per cent. through deaths be deducted for each year, the defections must have been 3,000, or say 600 a year at least.

During the same period our C.M.S. Mission has grown, but not in all respects up to the full extent of the general average. Our staff of male missionaries is more than double what it was in 1882, for we now have a nominal force of 22 instead of 10, whilst we have 21 single lady missionaries instead of one ; or to make the contrast more striking, we have a nominal European force of 43 against 11 in 1882, nearly fourfold. We have six times as many congregations—36 instead of 6 ; six times as many baptized Christians—2,126 instead of 323 ; seven times as many Japanese workers, including Christian school teachers—67 instead of 9, of whom 7 are ordained ; and during 1892 the contributions of our Japanese Christians were $2,389.24, against $262.20 in 1882, showing a result considerably above the average. Growth of the C.M.S. Mission in the decade.

It is encouraging to note that whilst during the whole decade the growth of the body of Christians counted with us was slightly below the general average, it has been above the average during the last half of the period, rising from 941 in 1887 to 2,126 in 1892 ; and it is cause for thankfulness and praise that, with the exception of 1888, when the number of baptisms was abnormally high in all the Missions, and in our own reached a total of 505, or 262 more than in the previous year, the number of baptisms is higher than in any previous year in the history of the Mission, a total of 388, being 50 more than in last year and 60 more than the year before. To God be all the praise for this manifest token of His presence with us.

Turning now for a moment to finance, we find that with the exception of 1890 and 1891, when the contributions were considerably higher than in previous years, last year was one of the most encouraging, the total contributed by all the Protestant Christians being returned as $63,337.99, or $1.78 for each baptized Christian. Native contributions.

In our own Missions the contributions, though below the general average, have gone on steadily increasing year by year, though during the year 1892 the increase was considerably less than in previous years. The total for the year was $3,081.38, or $1.45 for each baptized Christian, being 33 cents less than the general average, and 15 cents less than the contributions for 1891. This matter should have our most careful consideration, and every effort should be made to increase the contributions.

Bishop Bickersteth made a visitation of the whole Mission, and indeed of all the Missions connected with the Church of Bishop Bickersteth's Visitation.

England in Japan, during 1892. His aim was to visit, not only every station where European Missionaries are located, but also all the chief congregations of the various outstations. By a special effort he accomplished his purpose, but with the sense that his visits had been somewhat hurried and the opportunities for deliberation and spiritual converse with the agents limited in consequence. Seeing that the extremities, north and south, of the Mission are some 2,000 miles apart, and that many of the places to be visited are difficult of access, and in view of the rapidly extending work on all sides, it is indeed no wonder that the Bishop conceived that the time had come for an increase of the English episcopate.

Proposal to create two new dioceses.

On his arrival in this country for a few months' stay, the Bishop lost no time in communicating proposals to the Committee for the creation of two new sees, one to be co-terminous with the northern island of Yezo and the other with the southern island of Kiu-Shiu. In both these islands, each about the size of Ireland, and one of them much more populous, the C.M.S. is the only Society engaged that is connected with the Anglican Communion, and the Committee had no hesitation in responding to Bishop Bickersteth's invitation, made with the Archbishop of Canterbury's concurrence, that the Society should undertake the responsibility for the stipends of two Bishops, to be nominated by the Society.

Ordinations.

Bishop Bickersteth admitted the Rev. H. L. Bleby to priest's Orders, and Mr. T. Ogawa to deacon's Orders, on December 18, 1892.

Death of Miss Brandram and Mrs. Goodall.

The death of two lady missionaries, both labourers in the southern island of Kiushiu, has to be recorded. Miss Brandram, who worked with her brother, the Rev. J. B. Brandram, at Kumamoto, from 1884 till 1890, when she came home on furlough, died in October; and Mrs. Goodall, whose untiring work among Japanese women and girls since 1875, first as an unattached missionary, then as an honorary agent of the C.E.Z.M.S., and latterly, since 1890, as an honorary member of the C.M.S. Mission, has always won the admiration of her fellow workers. Mrs. Goodall was a cousin of the late Lord Tennyson.

Reinforcements.

The reinforcements of the year consisted entirely of ladies. They were: Miss Matilda Laurence, transferred from the Mid-China Mission; Mrs. Jane J. Harvey, an honorary missionary; Miss Amy Caroline Bosanquet, daughter of C. B. P. Bosanquet, Esq., of Rock Hall, Northumberland, an Honorary Life Governor of the Society; Miss Elizabeth A. S. Huhold; and Miss Edith C. Payne. The four last sailed in October, 1892, Miss Laurence in April, 1893. The Rev. G. H. and Mrs. Pole returned to the Mission in August, 1892. The Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Brandram and the Rev. G. and Mrs. Chapman came home in August on furlough; and Miss E. P. Buxton and Miss G. E. Cox came home in May, 1893. Miss M. Hunt was married in April to the Rev. J. M. Baldwin, of the Canadian Church of England Mission in Japan.

I. THE MAIN ISLAND.

OSAKA.

Osaka.

THE direct evangelistic work in this great city, apart from the schools which are unmistakably evangelistic, devolves mainly, so far as relates to the C.M.S., upon the staff and students of the Divinity College, who carry on preaching at five different places in the town. Each of the nineteen students preaches on an average once a week. Three students who completed their five years' course went out to labour as catechists at Hakodate, Gifu, and Yonago respectively. The Principal, the Rev. P. K. Fyson, had the pleasure of welcoming back to the College the Rev. G. H. Pole, who was the bearer of a goodly contribution of volumes to the College library, which are exceedingly valuable to those students able to read English. The Rev. S. M. Koba renders help daily in tuition. At the Boys' Boarding School, out of twenty-eight boys who began the year 1892, only sixteen remained to the end of the year. There were twenty-four in regular attendance in December, thirteen of whom were boarders. The Rev. H. McC. E. Price is naturally somewhat discouraged by these figures, but he observed at the end of the year that the tendency was upward, and the conduct of the boys showed a real improvement. Six boys of the school were baptized during the year, and four were confirmed. The Rev. H. L. Bleby—who was married in October to Miss Fanny Mathilde Withers—says that the recently-baptized lads seem to be really striving to live as those who are servants of Christ. Miss K. A. T. Tristram, after Miss Boulton (of the F.E.S.) went home in the spring of 1892 for her much-needed furlough, was assigned by the Conference the help of Miss R. D. Howard and Miss M. D. Wood in the Bishop Poole Memorial Girls' School. Miss Wood, however, was ill for several months, and has been ordered home as soon as the journey can be safely made. Miss Howard is now appointed to engage in Evangelistic work, and Miss Bosanquet is to help Miss Tristram. The first two girls to finish the school course left it at the end of 1891, and five others left—one of whom had not, however, taken the full course—in July, 1892. Two of these seven "fully-fledged nestlings," as Miss Tristram terms them, were engaged as teachers in the school, one went to Hakodate as a Bible-woman, another in the same capacity to Gifu, one to Kumamoto, and one to be interpreter to an S.P.G. lady missionary. Of all these Miss Tristram receives excellent reports.

The seventh of the girls died. The numbers in the school continue about the same (fifty) as in 1891. The Cottage Sunday Schools taught by some of the girls, referred to in last year's Report, continue to prosper, Miss Tristram says. Miss G. E. Cox, Lady Principal of the Bible-women's Home, also refers to a Sunday School for non-Christians with thirty pupils, held by her in a part of the town where little has hitherto been done. Two of the trained students left the Home in the summer to be stationed, one at Fukuoka, the other at Nagoya. Nine were in the Home at the end of the year. Miss Cox has come home on special leave in consequence of her mother's death, and Miss O. Julius has taken her place temporarily at the Home.

Pastorates. Archdeacon Warren is Chairman of the District Church Council, with which the pastorates of Trinity Church, the Church of the Saviour, Andoji-machi, and Shima-machi, all in the city of Osaka, and those of Fukuyama and Tokushima, are connected. The Trinity Church roll of membership shows 144 adults and 22 children. The falling-off during the year is due to the exclusion of names of persons who have left the neighbourhood. Nine adults were baptized at Trinity Church, eight at the Church of the Saviour, two at Andoji-machi (where the Rev. S. M. Koba is in charge), and 10 at Shima-machi. The preaching-place in the last-named district was opened in 1890, and is under the aged pastor, the Rev. Y. Nakanishi.

GIFU.

Gifu. The Gifu district, or ken, contains 25 hundreds, with 134 towns and 1,525 villages, and a population of one million souls. The Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Chappell are assisted in the town of Gifu by Mr. Kuroki, a graduate of the Osaka Divinity College, and by Okoma San, a former student of the Bishop Poole Memorial Girls' Boarding School, the Rev. T. and Mrs. Torato having been transferred to Hiroshima. Once a month the catechists of the district meet for conference and prayer at Mr. Chappell's house. The temporary church put up after the earthquake is now felt to be unsuitable, and the Christians, though very poor, have undertaken to raise $50 towards a new one. Bible-classes for young men and for older Christians are held on Sundays; the young men's class, numbering 20, have formed themselves into a Y.M.C.A. The Bishop confirmed 15 candidates in November. At Kano, which is worked from Gifu, there are nine Christians, and there are also Christians at Kitagata, Horamura, and Awano. At Ogaki there is a catechist stationed, Mr. Houda. A preaching-place capable of holding 100 people was opened here by Archdeacon Warren in October, and another preaching-place in a different part of the town has more recently been opened. When the former was opened a Buddhist priest attempted to disturb the meeting, but he was quickly expelled, not by the Christians, but by the heathen who were present. There were seven adult baptisms at Ogaki. The death is recorded of an old man, aged 74, who was led to Christ by his son. This son, formerly a Buddhist priest, has now become a colporteur. The earthquake was especially severe in this place. The Government seismologist informed Mr. Chappell that between October, 1891, and December, 1892, there were 3,090 shocks. Mr. Chappell says:—

A former Buddhist priest now a colporteur.

> The people here, as well as throughout the earthquake district, are rapidly recovering themselves. A run through the district would lead one to think that there is more money in circulation here than in any other part of Japan. The river-banks and the roads have now all been repaired. The roads in some cases have been made much wider, and more attention has been given to the drainage, but there has been little or no change in the mode of building. Of the many temples that were destroyed, few have been rebuilt. Some of the people and even some of the priests are saying that they are afraid they will never be all rebuilt again.

Few temples rebuilt after the earthquake.

Mr. Houda also visits Imao, Takasu, and Takata. Miss Tristram and Miss Hamilton (of the F.E.S.) visited Imao, the latter twice; and Miss Tristram has been enabled to place a Bible woman there. There were 20 adult baptisms in the whole district during the year.

TOKIO.

Tokio.

The progress to be noted at this station is discerned rather in the suburbs than in Tokio itself. The St. Paul's Congregation, the Rev. J. Williams remarks, has not the same vitality as it had some years ago. At Ko-Nodai, however, eight adult baptisms, and at Boshiu nine, took place. Of the catechist at the latter place Mr. Williams says:—

An unanswerable argument.

> The catechist Takahashi in his own person presents an unanswerable argument of the blessings resulting from Christianity. A short time ago, addressing a meeting in his native place, he went on to say: "People often say that if Christianity spreads it will be bad for Japan. Well, you know what I was, a gambler, a profligate, such a curse to myself and my relatives that even my own wife used to think that my death would be rather a gain than a loss to herself and my family. You know what I was. You know what I am. How can you account for the change? It is not human power or learning, it is not a result of any form of civilisation coming from a foreign source. It is a fruit of Christianity, it is a result of the Gospel of Christ. You cannot deny that in my case belief in that Gospel has been good for myself and a gain to my family. Not only to my family, my change has been a gain to my native district; and if my district, then to my province, and if to the province, then inferentially to the whole country; so you need attach no importance to those who say that the spread of Christianity would prove an injury to Japan." To me the argument, couched in simple language, seemed perfectly irresistible. This is the reasoning which must carry weight anywhere, and the more especially in Japan, where the experience of centuries clearly shows that Buddhism fails to exercise the same renovating power on the individual and national life.

FUKUYAMA.

Fukuyama. The Rev. S. and Mrs. Swann are stationed at FUKUYAMA, which is in the province of Bingo, and on the northern shore of the Inland Sea. Archdeacon Warren visited the station six times, and he reports that the congregation is one of the most flourishing in the neighbourhood, having 112 members and 55 communicants. The Church, of which the Bishop of Exeter laid the foundation-stone in November, 1891, was opened in July, 1892, by Bishop Bickersteth of Japan. The sermon was preached by the Rev. S. Koba. Four adults were baptized during the year. Miss O. Julius, who with Miss Hamilton has done so much to gather in souls at this station, resided here through the autumn and winter. The Rev. P. T. Arato writes that the erection of the church has aroused the Buddhists and Shintoists to action, and they invited lecturers from Osaka, who addressed over 50 meetings, but the chief effect was to direct the people's attention to Christianity.

New church opened.

Fuchiu. FUCHIU is also in the province of Bingo, and has a resident catechist. Archdeacon Warren says the Church members are apathetic for the most part, but there are two or three bright and zealous Christians among them. He called on an old Christian woman who for several years had been crippled with rheumatism, and administered the Holy Communion to her. To his question whether she did not feel lonely, she said, "No, I am never lonely, for the Lord is always with me."

"Never lonely, for the Lord is always with me."

The Rev. T. Torato has been stationed at Hiroshima in the neighbouring province of Aki by the Native Church Missionary Society, by which he is supported.

MATSUYE.

Matsuye. In the province of Izumo and the adjoining province of Hoki, in which the Rev. B. F. Buxton and his little party of lady workers and of Native catechists labour, there are 800 villages, in only 11 of which are there Christians. There were 19 adult baptisms. Mr. Buxton writes of one of the converts:—

> Amongst those baptized this year were six at a village called Fukuhara, about five miles to the east of Matsuye. One man there, by name Watanabe, had received a Bible; this he was diligently reading. At last he sent to Matsuye, and asked us to come and preach the Gospel. After preaching there a few times seven applied for baptism. We found that they were reading the Word together and delighting in it. Watanabe San himself had read the New Testament through four times. In spite of the opposition of the Buddhists, they wished to be baptized in their own village, to testify publicly that they henceforward meant to serve the Lord Jesus. Since then they have met together every Sunday morning, one of our Christians from Matsuye generally going over to be with them, and they have helped a good deal to extend the Kingdom in that neighbourhood.

Read the New Testament through four times.

Miss O. Julius spent some time at Matsuye in the winter of 1891–2, and she writes :—

Unexpected result of an anti-Christian meeting.

The preaching-place in the heart of the town where Mr. Buxton had preaching for the heathen was often largely attended, and the priests, to counteract the effect of this, organised special anti-Christian services in one of the theatres, but they roused such a commotion that they were forbidden to continue them by the police. They then removed to a village five or six miles off and went on with their addresses, with the strange result that a party was commissioned to go to Mr. Buxton and request him to come and preach to them the Christianity against which they had heard so much ! He did so, and we have since been told that several have been baptized in that village.

The province of Izumo, in which Matsuye stands, is considered specially to belong to the gods of Japan, who are supposed to assemble there every year in the month of November to hold a consultation, and therefore during that time the rest of the country is left without any. This idea may account for the strong hold Buddhism has in the province, and for the activity of the priests.

There are baptized Christians also at Daito and Hirose, and catechumens at Mori and Yodoye. At Yonago a catechist, Mori San, is working with much blessing, both in the town itself, where there are two preaching-places, and in the country round. Another catechist is at Agarimichi which has ten Christians among its people.

In October and November Archdeacon Warren made a tour through the provinces of Iwami, Izumo, and Hoki, accompanied by the Rev. T. Torato. The Rev. D. Marshall Lang visited the Iwami province from Osaka, in April and June and September, spending five weeks there on the second and nearly three months on the third visit. The number of baptized Christians in the district is 66, and of communicants 41; they are in Hamada, and Masuda, 27 miles off, along the coast to the South West, and Tsuwano, 25 miles from Masuda, and the villages of Gotsu and Watadzu on the other side of Hamada, and Omori, 30 miles still further from Hamada. Mr. Lang was married in January to Miss Adelaide Norton Whitney, of Newark, U.S.A.

II. THE ISLAND OF KIU-SHIU.

NAGASAKI.

Nagasaki.

The Rev. A. R. Fuller writes more cheerfully of the aspect of his work at Nagasaki than he did at the close of 1891. Then he had to report the loss of five young men, members of his congregation; now he mentions the reception of three young men after careful instruction into the Church, and the return of three out of the five who left the year before. The attendance at the services, and especially the Sunday evening service, shows improvement; the demeanour of the congregation is reverent, and they manifest a readiness to meet the current expenses of the Church, as well as pay the salary of the pastoral catechist. The Bishop, after visiting Nagasaki in the autumn, wrote regarding the work of Mrs. Goodall, who has since been called to her rest:—

The late Mrs. Goodall's work.

> Her quiet work has been some of the most useful and effective which has been done in Japan. She has succeeded—and it is hard to think of any way in which life and talents could be more fruitfully spent—in impressing her own firm and gentle character on a succession of young pupils who have come under her influence. No doubt large institutions have a work to do of their own, but Mrs. Goodall's house has proved the exceptional value in Japan of personal and domestic influence brought strongly to bear on individuals in a limited circle. She has determined, I believe, to spend such time as may be still granted her in the city where she has so long lived and laboured.

Two adults were baptized at Shimabara on Christmas Day, walking the 45 miles with the catechist to Nagasaki for the purpose.

Three adults were added to the church at Kagoshima; there was no falling away on the part of any of the Christians, while the attendance of non-Christians at the meetings was well maintained. In last year's Report it was mentioned that 17 Christians had removed from Kagoshima to Okinawa, the largest of the Loochoo Islands. Bishop Bickersteth and Mr. Fuller visited this island in November. Its population is over 300,000, and its capital, Naha, has 50,000 inhabitants. An attempt was made in 1846 by Dr. Bettleheim to establish a Mission in this island, and when the attempt was abandoned a sum of money was offered to the Church Missionary Society, the hope being expressed that the Society would at some time take up the work. Meanwhile the naval officers who promoted the scheme engaged the Rev. G. H. Moreton (now at Sydney) to go out, but ill-health quickly drove him away. No traces of their work were discerned by the Bishop and Mr. Fuller. The Bishop wrote:

Loochoo Islands.

> It should be noted first that the islands are now open in the same sense that the rest of Japan is. And there is no doubt of a friendly reception by the people, who seem to be of a most kindly disposition. A tomb, probably of a British sailor, on the coast near Okinawa, recorded that it was "erected by the king" (probably the daimyo is meant) "and inhabitants of this hospitable land," and this character seems not undeserved.
>
> Then it may be noted that Buddhism, though priests and temples are to be found in some parts, has but little hold in the island. It is a recent importation. Mr. Fuller received earnest invitations a short time since, from persons resident in two islands to the north of Okinawa, named Oshima and Kikai, to visit them and teach Christianity, as they said they felt the great need of some religion, and they had none. We have been unable as yet to do anything for either of these islands. One has since been occupied by a Roman Catholic Mission.

They had "no religion."

> Thirdly, a large number of Japanese from Japan proper have taken up their residence in Okinawa and elsewhere, chiefly with a view of developing the sugar trade, which is the main source of the island's wealth, and their immigration, together with the establishment of the Japanese system of government and education, are spreading everywhere new ideas and exciting new hopes among a people who have known little change for centuries, except such as followed on the alternating success of China and Japan in claiming their allegiance.

Fourthly, apart from any initiative or planning of our own, a small congregation of our Church has, as I have mentioned, grown up in Naha, the capital city. May not these facts be rightly interpreted as significant that in God's providence the time has come for an effort to be made by the Church of England to carry the Gospel to these islanders?

A catechist has since been sent to Naha, and found a door of entrance, not only among the immigrants from Kiu-Shiu, but also among the Natives, who, though they speak a different language, are sufficiently familiar with Japanese to understand a simple address when slowly and distinctly delivered.

FUKUOKA.

Fukuoka.

The Rev. J. Hind mentions with thankfulness, as missionaries at several other stations have done in former years, a visit of about three months to Fukuoka of Miss Hamilton, of the F.E.S., and Miss Julius. He is grateful also for the arrival of Miss A. C. Tennent, the first lady missionary on the Fukuoka staff. A large meeting which the two former ladies commenced for heathen children has been regularly carried on since their visit. The attendances at the services and classes show an increase. A young carpenter, Miwa San, of the congregation, carried the Gospel to Imajiku, a village some eight miles from Fukuoka, and one there has asked for baptism. A Christian doctor, Dr. Nishi, formerly a Presbyterian at Hirametsu, some thirty miles south-east of Fukuoka, took upon himself the care of a number of orphan children, bereft by the earthquake, whom he is bringing up as Christians. Mr. Hind baptized these twelve children, and also one of Dr. Nishi's medical assistants. This and a number of other towns in the neighbourhood are visited by Nakamura San, the catechist at Oyamada. The Christians at Saga have caused much anxiety, having separated themselves from the Mission, and indeed, the Bishop writes, from all Christian fellowship. Mr. Hind was hopeful, when he wrote in January, that a catechist sent by the Native Missionary Society would prove acceptable and heal the breach. In Kotake and neighbouring towns, a district full of coal-mines, to the north-east of Fukuoka, there are numerous inquirers. The Kiu-Shiu District Council met at Fukuoka in November.

KUMAMOTO.

Since the Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Brandram came home Kumamoto has been under the Rev. H. Evington's charge; but owing to passport difficulties he was not able to reside there until December, and his visits, chiefly for the same reason, were very brief.

Bishop Bickersteth visited Kumamoto and its out-stations, Oita and Nobeoka, and confirmed fifteen of the Christians. Miss H. Riddell and Miss G. Nott lived at Kumamoto for several months, while no male missionary was in residence, holding Bible-classes and other meetings for men, women and children.

III. THE ISLAND OF SHIKOKU.

Tokushima.

TOKUSHIMA was visited in July, 1892, by a tidal wave which flooded the town, and by a typhoon attended by an unusual downpour of rain, which increased the inundation, destroying much property and causing about one hundred deaths in that town alone. Much sympathy was shown to the sufferers, especially by the Native Christians in Tokushima, who—both those of the C.M.S. and of the Presbyterian Mission—formed a relief committee and distributed some $400 among the distressed. One of the lady missionaries writes :—

"He managed to save his Bible."

> Amongst the many incidents connected with our Christians during the flood I might mention one of a boy about seventeen years of age, who used to attend our meeting in Tokushima-Machi, and who had just been baptized about three weeks before this disaster. The house where he and his mother were living was deep in water, and they had to make their escape as quickly as possible. On looking round to see what they could by any means save from the waters, the boy's first thought was his Bible, which, fastening firmly round his neck with a string, he managed to save, and then set forth waist-deep in water to find a place of refuge.

The Rev. W. P. Buncombe refers with thankfulness to much improvement in the Tokushima Congregation in respect of unity and mutual love, and attendance at the services. As to the causes of this improvement, he says :—

Increased spirituality of the congregation.

> I am quite sure it is to be attributed wholly to the working of the Holy Spirit in answer to our prayers. We felt very much the unsanctified and unspiritual state of the Church, and several times at our Friday afternoon prayer-meetings (which we C.M.S. missionaries in Tokushima hold) we made very special prayer that God would sanctify His Church. The prayer was answered, and is being answered, firstly, in the visibly improved spiritual condition of the catechists and workers. The change has been so marked in at least two of them, that from their own confessions at the prayer-meeting one would almost think they had not truly realised Christ as their personal Saviour before, so new and real did eternal life become to them. Secondly, the special mission in May was a time of blessing to many. Thirdly, in answer to special prayer the Lord sent Mrs. Kubota, the old lady who has done such good work in Kumamoto and in Osaka, to Tokushima as the Bible-woman of the Church—the Christians paying part of her allowance, and the evangelistic fund of the Osaka District Church Council the remainder. Her great earnestness, added to her ripe experience in the Christian life, has quickened the faith of many.

Special Mission services and meetings.

The Special Mission mentioned in the above quotation was the third such effort made in Tokushima since Mr. Buncombe went there; it was attended with less opposition than either of its predecessors in 1889 and 1890. The Revs. H. Evington and

T. Makioka and Mrs. Edmonds were invited from Osaka to render assistance. The Christians of their own accord held daily prayer-meetings from 5 to 6 A.M. during part of April and May. Thirty-four meetings were held during the "Mission," and the aggregate attendance was nearly 6,000; Mrs. Buncombe and Miss Hunt held a daily meeting for women only, which was well attended, the same women going day after day, and several seemed to be deeply interested. A branch of the Y.W.C.A. is under Miss Ritson's care, and she mentions a zealous idol-worshipper, the daughter of a Shinto priest, who attended a meeting for the purpose of learning knitting, but gradually became interested in the Bible lessons and eventually gave up her idols as useless.

There was no catechist at Tomioka, to the south of Tokushima, for several months of the year, and consequently the duty of ministering to the little companies of believers in the district devolved on the leading Christians in the several places, on Dr. Okamoto for Tomioka, Mr. Tanaka for Honjo, and Mr. Kitome for Kotajima. Miss Ritson thus describes a visit she made to this district in the autumn, accompanied by her Bible-woman:—

After riding along in jinrickshas through miles of lovely country, we at last reached our destination. We, of course, were going to stay in a true Japanese lodging-house; so, after getting our luggage conveyed into our room, we soon found ourselves seated in the usual Japanese style on our feet on the floor. Dr. Okamoto, the chief Christian in the village, gave us a very warm welcome. There is no catechist or paid agent working in that district at present; but this man's zeal in teaching and preaching Christ are wonderful. We had meetings at different places in the district each evening for the heathen; three at Tomioka, two at Kotajima, one at Honjo, and one at Kami-no Mura, quite a new village, where only one old lady is yet a Christian, and scarcely any had ever even heard of Christianity before. In the mornings we generally had visits from those who wished to learn more about the Bible. One, in particular, who seemed never to tire of hearing, was a blind young man, whom my Bible-woman took great pains in teaching. As is usual with blind people this young man has an excellent memory, and seems never to forget what he is taught. In the afternoons we had a meeting for the female Christians in our own rooms. It was a great happiness to see how some of these people love their Bibles, and seemed as though they would have sat by the hour to hear more. Dr. Okamoto's wife and child are very earnest, bright Christians.

Zeal of a voluntary worker.

On the Saturday afternoon the doctor obtained leave to hold a meeting in one of the Government buildings, by which means he hoped to get several of the officials and others who would not go to an ordinary meeting. On that day Mrs. Buncombe came over from Tokushima to help me, and we were very much amused at one more instance of the "upside-downedness" of the Japanese mode of procedure as compared with the English. The good doctor had made much preparation in the way of (as we thought) tempting the people to come in, by having tickets printed, announcing that the magic lantern meeting would be at three o'clock. What was our amazement to see these tickets being distributed at the close of the meeting for the people to take home with them, instead of beforehand, to invite them to come in. However, as 196 had assembled together, we had no cause to complain, especially as on the one side of these tickets was this announcement, on the other side a text.

Mr. Buncombe visited Hiwasa on two or three occasions. In November he stayed five days and administered the Holy Communion in the house of Mr. Shimo, the Christian Government official there, and held public meetings at the hotel. After the latter he had several interesting inquirers—a young Government official, a builder who threw away his household gods, a conjuror, and the landlord of the hotel. Nine adults were baptized at Wakimachi, twenty-six miles west of Tokushima. To the north of Tokushima a catechist, Masuda San, is stationed at Muya, under the superintendence of the Rev. C. T. Warren. At this town of 10,000 inhabitants there are four adult Christians and three baptized children. At Takashima, a large village surrounded by salt-fields, there are six Christians, the first two of whom were baptized in August. A family in well-to-do circumstances with five children were baptized as the first fruits of Kitadomari in December, and one earnest Christian and several inquirers are found at Donoura.

IV. THE ISLAND OF YEZO.

Bishop Bickersteth visited Yezo, or, as it is now more commonly called, Hokkaido, twice during the year. He saw all the out-stations except one, and confirmed in all 106 candidates. The Bishop wrote:—

Increasing importance of Yezo.

The conditions of life in this island differ greatly from those of the islands to the south. Yezo was only comparatively recently brought under Japanese dominion, and is still regarded as a colony. It returns no members to the Imperial Parliament. Every year, however, the island is growing in importance. Since the Revolution of 1868, apprehension of Russian aggression has led to strenuous effort on the part of the Government to increase the population and develop resources. Bad faith on the part of those first employed delayed success, but during recent years the population has grown from under a hundred thousand to more than four times that figure, and coal and mining and farming operations have been largely extended. Remission of taxes and exemption from the conscription are the inducements held out to colonists, and have been found sufficient to induce large numbers to leave their southern homes and make trial of the protracted winter and very considerable hardships of a semi-arctic climate. The immigrants for the most part are left to manage for themselves. In some cases semi-military settlements have been formed by the Government, of retired soldiers, for whom small houses have been erected, and who receive allowances for three years on the condition that they clear and cultivate a piece of forest land, and attend drill for one month in the year. At the end of three years the land becomes their own, if they desire to retain it.

The Rev. W. Andrews, the senior missionary of the Society on this island, says: "From the beginning to the end of the year God has been working with us, and the knowledge of the truth is spreading everywhere." The number of Native workers advanced from 11 to 21, the baptized Christians from 316 to 432, and the unbaptized adherents from 48 to 90. The number of communicants is given as 205, compared with 222 in 1891; the falling-off in this item is not explained. There are fifteen congregations, four of which were formed during the year; two new churches were built and opened, and two others were commenced. The Hakodate congregation has a graduate of the Osaka Divinity College as its lay-pastor, and "a real good solid work is going on," Mr. Andrews says. Miss A. M. Tapson, who prepared the female candidates for Confirmation, writes:—

Experimental knowledge of the Holy Spirit's power.

I am sure it was a truly blessed time. The deepened spiritual life and care for spiritual things in some of the women since has been very evident. One of them, a sweet, refined little woman, said at that time, "Till lately I have just said, 'I believe in the Holy Ghost,' that was all, but now I know His work in my heart; at least it must be that, I think, that has made things that used to be very hard quite easy. For one thing, I used to find it so difficult to get up early in the morning for prayer, but now it is not any effort. I wake up wide at once, and other things that used to try me very much seem all joy now." One day I referred to a verse in one of the Epistles; "Oh, I never read that before," she said, "but I have learnt it in my own heart." Another of the Christians, a nice old woman, had been thinking and thinking, and finally came to the conclusion that she could not be confirmed. She was not fit for it. She would be sure to go and do bad things afterwards, just the same as before, and so it was better to give it up. We talked and prayed a long time together on the morning before the Confirmation. She was very unhappy, but still said she could not be confirmed. Late that evening she came round to tell us that when she heard the whistle of the steamer that brought the Bishop, a pain went right through her heart, and then she felt she was refusing a blessing, and she wished to be confirmed after all.

A catechist dies from the extreme cold.

The remotest out-stations are 350 miles distant from Hakodate, and Mr. Andrews cannot visit them oftener than twice a year. Tottori was deprived in the spring of 1892 of its catechist, who perished one night through the extreme cold. He had walked to Kushiro, and on his return missed the road and wandered about all night till he was exhausted. "He was found next morning in a kneeling position quite dead," Mr. Andrews writes. This catechist was one of the first Christians at Nagasaki. The Tate congregation is made up of Christians of several denominations, who have come thither from different parts of Japan (see last year's Report, page 210). They have spontaneously decided to join the C.M.S. Mission, and have obtained permission from their several Churches to do so. The congregation at Yesashi has increased to 32; it is described as "a hard place to work." Ota Mura is a Government military settlement. Seventeen were baptized there. Mr. Andrews says:—

"He was found in a kneeling position."

A promiscuous congregation elects to join the C.M.S.

A Buddhist priest converted through reading Ecclesiastes.

One of the new Christians was formerly a Buddhist priest, but was brought to the Truth by reading the Book of Ecclesiastes and considering Solomon's advice to fear God. He said that Buddhism taught that all was vanity, but that Ecclesiastes went further and showed men where to find that which was not vanity.

Miss Tapson visited Ota Mura in the autumn, going to Kushiro by boat and then on by pack-horse. She writes:—

There are about 400 families, all from the south, and for the most part entirely unused to the rough farming life they live here. Of these 400, at the time the colony was opened only two were Christian families. One of these in particular is very earnest, and now, round his house, in the immediate neighbourhood, there are seven or eight Christians, a beautiful instance of a light not hid under a bushel. We were able to begin the evening women's meetings at once. They were all hard at work in the fields through the day, so came late, and we were generally not home till after 11 P.M., having a three-mile walk home, as a rule, from the different Christians' houses in which the meetings were held to the inn where we stayed. The men used to come in afterwards for singing, and for the first few evenings we used to get about 60 every night, but the military authorities objected, saying it would interfere with their work, &c. So after that we had very quiet meetings, but very happy ones, some nine or ten inquirers coming every night. One was a young girl, whose old father had said to her, "The teaching may be good, or it may be bad, I don't know; but she has come such a long way to give it, you shall go and hear."

"She has come such a long way to give the teaching, you shall go and hear."

Of other out-stations Mr. Andrews writes:—

The town of Abashiri is 350 miles from Hakodate, and during the winter is entirely frozen in. The congregation has increased, and now numbers about fifty. There is a convict station close by containing about 800 convicts, and three or four hundred officials. The authorities have hired a Congregationalist Christian to act as a sort of chaplain who preaches to these 800 every Sunday, and also on holidays and other days. After the service, those of the prisoners who like can stay behind for an hour's Bible-class. Our catechist at Abashiri voluntarily assists this chaplain, and it is a grand sight to see these two men telling the 800 prisoners about Christianity, and at the same time to know that the authorities think Christianity to be the best religion to improve men's characters. Among the officials there are some Christians, and the governor is also inclined favourably towards Christianity. Two days' journey further on there is a small fishing village where work has lately been commenced.

Heathen authorities engage a Christian to preach to convicts.

At Akkeshi a new church has been built, costing with furniture £30. In this district the telegraph clerks at the various offices are more or less catechumens or inquirers, and some of them are Christians. One of the clerks at Kushiro is a very active Christian, and after office hours, or during the winter months when there is not much business, he talks to his fellow clerks at the other stations, and in this way during the past year five have become decided Christians.

A Christian telegraph clerk,

The congregation at Kudo is a new one. Most of the Christians are the results of the labours of a tea merchant from Yesashi, who as he hawks his tea carries the Gospel at the same time.

and a tea merchant.

Miss L. Payne resides at Kushiro, one of the above-named out-stations, where she conducts a school for girls, a night school for boys, and visits the houses of the people and the surrounding villages. The Bishop wrote:—

Miss Payne's residence in Kushiro, where she works with unfailing devotion and cheerfulness (though at times cut off by ice and snow for some weeks together from all communication with Hakodate), is doing much for the women and girls in the town. She has also established a successful school among Ainus in a neighbouring village.

A lonely but cheerful worker.

The Rev. J. Batchelor, who is in charge of the Work among the Ainus, resides at SAPPORO. In his itinerating tours he invariably meets with goodwill from the Ainus, but on several occasions meetings which had been arranged could not be held because the whole community had become intoxicated. Once the excuse for this was that they wished to do honour to their visitor! One adult Ainu was baptized, and two others were under preparation at the close of the year. The first confirmation for Ainus was held by the Bishop on June 14, in Mr. Batchelor's house at Sapporo. There were four candidates, who "behaved very devoutly," the Bishop wrote. Mr. C. Nettleship was unable to obtain a passport authorising him to reside at Horobetsu, consequently he could only make occasional visits from Hakodate. Mr. Andrews concludes his Annual Letter with these words:—"We look back on the past, and we praise God; we look on the present, and we praise Him; and we look forward to what He is going to do, and praise Him still more."

Visit of Mr. Eugene Stock and the Rev. R. W. Stewart.

MR. EUGENE STOCK and the Rev. R. W. Stewart visited New Zealand in October with the object of exciting a deeper interest among the Colonists in the work of evangelizing the world, and for the purpose of consulting about plans for enabling men and women whose hearts God had touched, or might touch, to go out into the Mission-field. They held meetings at Auckland, Gisborne, Napier, and Wellington in the Northern Island, and at Nelson, Blenheim, Christ. Church, and Dunedin in the Middle Island, and preached in all the six cathedrals of New Zealand. The first meeting was in St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral at Auckland, Bishop Cowie presiding, and Mr. Stock thus epitomised his opening words in his letter to the Intelligencer:

> Naturally I began my address with a reference to the historic past. Naturally I quoted, what has been quoted in hundreds of missionary meetings—nay, thousands—in the past seventy years, Samuel Marsden's text on Christmas Day, 1814, when he preached the first Christian sermon in New Zealand—"Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people." As I quoted it, almost as a matter of course, as almost a commonplace of missionary history, I suddenly found that the words conveyed the whole message we have come to the Antipodes to deliver. "Which shall be to all people"! Yes, it was the joyful consciousness that the good tidings are for "all people" that brought Samuel Marsden to New Zealand: will not the now flourishing Colonial Church of New Zealand take its part in sending forth the same tidings, the "tidings meant for every creature," which "millions yet have never heard"? Ought not the "all people" of the text of the first Christian sermon ever preached on these Islands to be the object of the loving solicitude of those now in the Islands who know and love the Lord?

I. DIOCESE OF AUCKLAND.

Ordinations.

THE Bishop of Auckland admitted the Revs. Hone W. Tana Papahia and Hare Rewiti Hukatere to priest's orders during the year, but the date is not mentioned. The Rev. R. Burrows, the veteran missionary, who went out in 1839, before Bishop Selwyn, and was for many years the Secretary of the Mission, does important work in his old age as Secretary of the Land Board, which manages the Society's New Zealand property. This property was acquired in the early days of the Mission. When the Maori chiefs were selling land to the newly-arrived Colonists, the Society bought some for its Mission stations, &c. Some of these lands were afterwards sold, and the proceeds invested for the benefit of the work. Other lots were let, and still produce rents. The whole produce is about £1,000 a year, and this sum,

The Society's land in the Colony and the Land Board.

with the Society's lump grant, is used by the Board for the general purposes of the Mission, viz., the stipends of the Missionaries locally engaged, those of the Maori pastors (who, however, are partly supported by their own people), the support of the Maori College for training evangelists and pastors, &c. Mr. Burrows reminds the Committee that since his arrival in the Mission the Maori population in the Northern Island has diminished from 120,000 to 38,000. He says :

Diminution of Maori population.

> This fact is, of course, to the two or three of us missionaries who still survive, a melancholy one, and it would be much more so were it not that we are cheered by the confident hope that the record of our labours among them is "on High"; in that not a few of the many who have passed away have departed in the faith of the Gospel, with hearts renewed and made meet for the home prepared by Christ for His redeemed.

Death of Mrs. J. Matthews.

The Rev. Joseph Matthews, the veteran retired missionary who went out eight years earlier even than Mr. Burrows, suffered the loss of his wife, who had shared his labour for well-nigh sixty years, in August, 1892.

The Maori Church.

Archdeacon E. B. Clarke sends a valuable report of the Maori work in this diocese. The Native Church, he says, is not altogether satisfactory; but on the other hand it is far from giving occasion for despondency. There are great hindrances to spirituality. Political unrest and dissatisfaction seem to pervade the whole Native community; and the difficult questions involved in the ownership of land add to the uneasiness. These matters distract the mind from higher and elevating contemplations, and the superstition still remaining among the people, which leads them to have recourse in sickness to witchcraft, is a symptom of the low spiritual tone which has resulted. "The Native clergy worked satisfactorily as a whole," the Archdeacon writes; adding, "but we have not enough of them." The people are scattered in small parties over the country, and it is only on rare occasions that more than 100 or 150 can be got together. Mormonism, which a few years ago was very aggressive, is now everywhere on the wane, in some cases the whole community have renounced it and returned to the profession of orthodox Christianity. Hauhauism also is gradually dying out, in many places is already dead, in this diocese.

Hindrances to spirituality.

Mormonism and Hauhauism dying out.

The Rev. F. T. Baker, of Waitara, in his Annual Letter confirms the testimony of the Archdeacon, both on its bright and dark side. He mentions the death of a Native teacher:—

Death of a diligent Native teacher.

> I have to mourn the loss of my most valued Native teacher and beloved friend, Te Tuiti, whose death took place on the 8th of this month. He was ever faithful and diligent in his work, taking services with a section of our Christian community twice every Sunday. Our people are greatly stricken by his death, which was rather sudden. Great respect was shown at his funeral by a large number of the non-Christian Natives, who all stood around with bare heads and quiet, reverent manner throughout the service—behaviour so different from what I have witnessed on former occasions.

II. DIOCESE OF WAIAPU.

Ordinations.

The Bishop of Waiapu admitted Hoani Piwaki and Hoeta te Hata to Deacon's orders on March 14, 1892. The Rev. G. and Mrs. Maunsell came to England by medical orders in October for rest and change.

The three Archdeaconries of this Diocese are those of Turanga, Heretaunga, and Tauranga. Archdeacon W. Leonard Williams has the Archdeaconry of Turanga, and resides at Gisborne, in Poverty Bay, where Captain Cook landed when he discovered the island, and which he so named because he could get no supplies from the Natives. The district bordering on the Bay was called Turanga, and William Williams, afterwards the first Bishop of Waiapu, the father of the present Archdeacon, carried the Gospel to it about 1840. The station was subsequently fixed at a place called Taranganui, on the site of which the modern town of Gisborne, only 20 years old, now stands. The Training Institution in this town is under the Rev. H. W. Williams, son of the Archdeacon. There were eight students, five of them married, in the Institution during the year. Mr. Stock writes:—

> I am assured that they are true Christian men, some of them marked by special earnestness. They receive a thorough Biblical education, with sufficient Greek to read the Greek Testament. Each year the College turns out three or four men for the work of the Church, and the only difficulty is to find spheres for them in which the Maoris are able and willing to support them. I was present also at their daily afternoon prayer, a shortened service which it was interesting to follow in the Maori Prayer Book. They sang the Maori version of "Hark! my soul, it is the Lord," to the familiar tune, St. Bees. The singing was a little harsh, but very hearty.

A Bible question.

I gave them a favourite Bible question of mine, by the answer to which I have surprised a good many inquirers about missionary service who thought they knew their Bibles—"Supposing St. Luke had not written his Gospel, what should we have lost?" The Maori students next day gave me their reply, nicely written in tabular form. They had found sixty-five separate incidents or facts or discourses (not mere words or sentences).

Mr. Williams says:—

Vacation Evangelistic tour.

> Mr. Stock's visit has made it more easy for us all to realise the share we have in the work of spreading the Gospel throughout the world, and one outcome has been a mission originated and undertaken by four of our students to a tribe known as the Urewara, which is distinguished by its obstinate refusal to admit any Europeans into its territory. They are devoting their vacation to this object, and we pray God that they may return in February to tell us of a satisfactory and fruitful tour among their benighted countrymen.

Two new churches were opened in the Archdeaconry, one at Kaitara in the Turanga district, the other at Kakariki in the Te Horo district. The Maoris who raised the money for the former were all a few years ago staunch adherents of Te Kooti, as a majority of the tribe of which they are a section are still. The service at the opening of the latter of the two churches is thus referred to by the Rev. H. W. Williams:—

communicated. The service was most hearty, the responses being made by the whole assembly in the good old-fashioned Maori way, in a very regular monotone. One feature of the service was the singing: the Maoris of these districts have lately been setting some of the hymns to original Maori tunes, and the result, if not pleasing from a musical standpoint, is certainly very gratifying and encouraging as a proof of the desire on the part of the Maoris to make every part of the service thoroughly their own. These tunes are in use at all the settlements which we visited. Monday was taken up with the sitting of the Maori Synod, in which the members, both clerical and lay, took a most intelligent interest, many of the motions showing a thoughtful consideration for the furtherance of Church work.

Hymns set to Maori tunes.

The Archdeacon mentions no fewer than four Native clergymen in his Archdeaconry who are in feeble health. The Rev. M. Pahewa is nearly blind and has quite lost the sight of one eye; the Rev. H. Pohutu suffers severely from asthma; the Rev. H. Te Wainohu is more or less an invalid; and the Rev. A. Te Whareumu has felt compelled to resign the charge of Te Horo.

The Rev. G. Maunsell before coming home met a number of Te Kooti's followers some twelve miles from Opotiki at one of their half-yearly gatherings, and was warmly welcomed. The Maoris of Te Kaha, the Rev. K. Ratapu's district, contributed during the year, £60 towards church building, &c. The Rev. W. Goodyear, of Maketu, expresses thankfulness for spiritual blessings he received during a Mission conducted by the Rev. G. C. Grubb at Napier, to attend which he had to ride 400 miles there and back. The congregations in his district were larger and the attendance more regular than in previous years, and he has frequent opportunities of addressing the followers of Te Kooti and Tawhioa.

One of the newly ordained deacons, the Rev. Hoani Piwaki, was placed at Heretaunga, near to Te Aute, and the Rev. A. F. Williams says of him:—

Success of a Maori clergyman in bringing Hauhaus back to the Church.

Hoani Piwaka is the son of one of the ablest Maori clergy we have had (now passed away), and bids fair to follow in his father's footsteps. He was working here as a layman some time before he was ordained, and he has done a great deal towards awakening up and bringing back the Hauhaus of this district into the Church. At one "Kainga" in the bush most of the Hauhaus, or believers in Te Kooti, have joined the Church again, and at another place on the coast they all came to his services and begged him to go again soon. He has also paid two visits to a district outside this diocese, in the hope of winning back the Hauhaus, and they wish him to go frequently. It is a long distance, but he will be going again early in the new year. At another "Kainga" on the coast I am glad to be able to report considerable improvement in the attendance at service by those who were Hauhaus. On the whole, therefore, I feel we ought to be cheered and encouraged by this improvement to work harder, and to expect better things still.

Te Aute College.

Te Aute College, the most important Maori school in New Zealand, is under Mr. Williams' supervision. It is supported by the Te Aute Estate, given many years ago by the Maori chiefs for educational purposes. The land was then worth little, but Archdeacon Samuel Williams has made it a veritable oasis in the wilderness, and it provides free education to seventy or eighty Maori boys and youths, many of them sons and grandsons of great chiefs. The education given goes on to the matriculation examination of the University of New Zealand. These boys become the leaders of their tribes, and it is a most hopeful feature in the prospects of the Maori race that those who will more and more influence it have been well educated in a Christian school. Mr. Stock wrote :—

I have seen nowhere at home, or anywhere else, brighter-looking specimens of young manhood than the youths in the matriculation class at Te Aute. The head-master, Mr. Thornton, is a former C.M.S. schoolmaster in the Telugu Mission, who did valuable work there in his day. I had the privilege of addressing the Te Aute boys twice.

Mr. Williams writes :—

Students form a "Social Reform Society."

Three of the head boys of the college spent their winter vacation of three weeks in "tramping" from village to village (as far as they could get in the time) preaching, and trying to stir their countrymen up to social reform. This was their own idea, and they have formed a kind of Social Reform Society among the boys of the college, to try and put down the drink, and improve the social and religious condition of their race.

The fourth master of the college, a Maori, and formerly a College boy, and a good number of the older boys, will be devoting their Christmas holidays to this work. I think this will show that good work is being done at the College, and that their Christianity is of a practical and real nature.

III. DIOCESE OF WELLINGTON.

Bishop Hadfield's resignation.

After an episcopate of 23 years (during the last three of which he has been the Primate of New Zealand) and a previous Missionary service of 32 years, Bishop Hadfield has felt it necessary to resign the See of Wellington. The Committee pray that in his retirement he may have the satisfaction of seeing for many years to come the fruit of his long and faithful labours. With the exception of the Whanganui River district, where Te Kootiism is extending its influence, the Rev. A. O. Williams, of Whanganui, can write hopefully of the work under his charge. He preached during the year 232 times, and travelled 4,557 miles, spending fully one half of the year away from home; and yet felt that little was accomplished of the work needing to be done. He writes :—

A Missionary travels over 4,500 miles in his district during 12 months.

Northwards along the West Coast a great change is visible to the most casual observer, and the resident magistrate, in his recent annual report to the Government, states that the Natives are now sober and industrious, and attributes this to the labours of the missionaries. I am thankful to say that many of the Waitotara or Ngarauru tribe show signs of a real change of heart. The present attitude of the Te Whitiites around Hawera is also very encouraging. I recently held a series of services amongst them, which were well attended, and they have now invited me to visit them regularly. A short time ago they sent a chief to ask me to go and live amongst them, and they would return to the Faith at once, so that I am looking forward to many happy visits to them during the present year.

Southwards through the Rangitikei district the work is going on steadily under the Rev. Arona Te Hana. Perhaps one of the most encouraging signs is the missionary spirit which is beginning to manifest itself amongst the Maoris living there. They are trying by every means in their power to win back the followers of Te Kooti and Te Whiti, and at a large meeting held in October they of their own accord set me free to work amongst those who have lapsed from the Faith. "Leave us," they said, "to our Bibles and lay-readers, and go after the lost sheep. We shall be quite content if you only come to us once a year."

"Leave us, and go after the lost sheep."

They gave a well-merited rebuke recently to one of the members of the New Zealand Cabinet. He arrived at a place called Bulls on a Saturday, and sent a message to the Maoris at Parewanui to the effect that he was going down to address them on Sunday. Upon the receipt of his message they held a meeting to discuss the matter, and sent him the following answer :—"The Government Minister has six days weekly in which to speak to us, while Christ's minister only has one. To-morrow is the day for Christ's minister to speak to our souls. If you would like to come and hear him we shall be very pleased to see you, but if not remain where you are till Monday."

Maori Christians decline to attend a political meeting on Sunday.

The Rev. J. McWilliam gives some pleasing instances of the return of Hauhaus to the Christian faith.

Death of Bishop Horden

Bishop Horden, the first Bishop of Moosonee, died after an illness of several weeks at Moose Factory, on January 12, 1893. He went out in 1851 at a few days' notice to occupy Moose Factory as a lay agent, that station having previously been the scene of a good work by agents of the Wesleyan Missionary Society. In the following year Bishop Anderson, the first Bishop of Rupert's Land, visited the station, and wrote: "To hear Mr. Horden address the Indians in their tents, to hear him address them for some time in unpremeditated words, to see the love which they seem to bear towards him in the Lord; this is a sufficient reward for the length of way along which I have travelled." During this visit the Bishop admitted Mr. Horden to deacon's and priest's orders on August 22 and 24 respectively. In 1872, after twenty-one years spent in the work, Mr. Horden was called to undertake the episcopal oversight of the Hudson Bay stations, the boundaries of the new diocese of Moosonee enclosing an area measuring from 300 to 500 miles from the coast of the Bay, and extending northward as far as human habitations are to be found. The difficulties of locomotion, however, rendered Bishop Horden's visits to the northern stations necessarily very infrequent. Only twice, in 1879 and 1889, was he able to reach Forts York and Churchill. On the former of these occasions, to accomplish his object he had to travel first several hundred miles southward from Moose to the nearest station on the Canadian Pacific Railway, then proceed westward through three dioceses to Winnipeg, then take a northerly and north-easterly direction—a wearying canoe journey of 800 miles—to York Factory. The journey to Churchill was accomplished by sledge. The southern stations could be reached without so much circuition, but the conditions in other respects were the same, and the Bishop spent no inconsiderable proportion of his episcopate in traversing the snow wastes or canoeing along the interminable water channels of the lonely region which was his home for over forty years. He was privileged to see the work of evangelization begun and carried on with marked blessing among all the Indian tribes within the extensive borders of his diocese, and the beginnings of a Christian literature in the local dialects of all the four languages used, viz., Cree, Ojibbeway, Chipewyan, and Eskimo. The work which especially engaged his own labours during his last years was the revision of Dr. Mason's Cree Bible, and it is a touching circumstance that these two labourers, who were the first C.M.S. occupants respectively of Moose and York Factories, and whose united labours gave the whole Bible translated and revised to the Cree Indians, died within a fortnight of one another, the Bishop at Moose Factory, Mr. Mason at Long Horsley Vicarage in Northumberland. Of Bishop Horden's last days, Archdeacon Vincent wrote:— and of Mason. Their translation work.

Early in winter he was attacked by rheumatism in the leg and hip. He was sometimes better, and at other times worse, but always cheerful and bright. This was particularly so on the last Sunday of his life. For eight weeks he was confined to his room; he received all attention and care, and when no one expected it he quietly passed away. I was at Albany when this sad event happened. Mr. Broughton, the Bishop's son-in-law, kept the body, and sent for me, and it was not interred until after I got here. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death. We most fully and most heartily sympathise with the afflicted family. May God comfort them! A dear daughter watched over him in his last illness as only a beloved daughter can. This must have been a great comfort. You will be glad to know that before he got very ill he finished the translation of the Old Testament.

And a young Indian who had been for several years under the Bishop's instruction, wrote to Archdeacon Winter:—

Saturday, January 21, we had the funeral. The coffin was closed in the presence of four clergy. It was a lovely afternoon, almost spring-like, when the beautiful Burial Service was read, and the first Bishop of Moosonee's body was committed to the grave before his bereaved people. The whole adult population went to the church and to the grave. There he was laid amongst his flock, as he had said he wished to be. While still lying in the church young and old came to take the last farewell of the face they loved so well, and who went in and out of their homes, over forty years, as a missionary, pastor, friend, and Bishop. "Laid amongst his flock."

The Committee passed the following minute on receiving the news of his death:—

The Committee have heard with the deepest sorrow, though with trustful submission to God's holy and loving will, of the removal from the Church militant here below of their revered, loved, and honoured friend John Horden, late Bishop of Moosonee, who was called to his rest on January 12th last. They thank God for his forty-two years of devoted and self-sacrificing labour, for the bright testimony of his holy, loving, and consistent life, for the twenty-one years of his wise and faithful and successful episcopate, for his translations of Holy Scripture and other books into the Cree and Ojibbeway languages, for the almost entire expulsion of heathenism from the Indian tribes in his diocese, and for the hopeful commencement in the same vast area of the evangelization of the Eskimos. The Committee have no doubt that the memory of this departed Christian brother will long be an incentive to every good work and effort in the Moosonee Diocese, and that the fruits of his prayers and efforts will continue to be manifested there until the Lord returns. They remember with pain that they, like many others, have lost a valued, wise, and trustworthy adviser. They offer the expression of their deep and respectful sympathy to his widow and family in their profound sorrow and terrible bereavement, and they pray that they and the dear Missionary and Indian brethren may find that as affliction abounds so consolation will abound also, and that God will wipe away all tears from their eyes. The Committee's minute on the late Bishop.

Death of Mrs. Cowley.

MRS. COWLEY, the widow of Archdeacon Abraham Cowley, died in February, 1893, at Winnipeg. A son of the Archdeacon and Mrs. Cowley, the Rev. A. E. Cowley, is a joint secretary of the Rupert's Land Mission, Archdeacon R. Phair being his co-worker; and a daughter became the wife of the Rev. E. A. Watkins, who was for some years in this Mission.

Ordination.

The Bishop of Rupert's Land admitted Mr. George Prewer to deacon's orders in June, 1892. The Rev. W. Owen returned to the Mission after sick leave also in June.

Archdeacon Phair has sent a useful report of the Society's Indian work in the Rupert's Land Diocese which very materially assists the Committee in making their review of the past year's events.

St. Peter's Indian Settlement.

The Rev. J. G. Anderson pursued his pastoral labours at ST. PETER'S INDIAN SETTLEMENT. There is very little drinking now in the settlement, Archdeacon Phair says. On the occasion of the treaty payments, whisky sellers were rigorously excluded from the place, and services were held daily. The people, old and young, are said to show a keen interest in the weekly prayer-meetings and Bible-classes. The Bishop of Rupert's Land confirmed forty-six candidates; others had been prepared, but were prevented by the weather from being present. Mr. Anderson refers to efforts that had been made to disturb the Indians' minds by "telling them that they could never be saved in the Church of England." A few became disaffected, but most of them "returned again to their first love."

Fairford.

No Annual Letter has been received from the Rev. G. Bruce, of FAIRFORD, on Lake Manitoba. Archdeacon Phair passed through the district twice during the year. He spent the Sunday before Christmas at Fairford, and although the weather was intensely cold the church was well filled with a most attentive congregation. The Rev. G. Cook, of Stagville, lost his wife in January. He mentions in his Annual Letter that he found in the house of one of the congregation on the Ebb and Flow Reserve a picture given by the Romish priest to the man's wife, who before marriage was a Roman Catholic. The picture is thus described:—

Roman Catholic pictures circulated among Indians.

> On it is portrayed, in horrid colours, first the road to purgatory, secondly that to glory, and lastly the road to perdition; and along the latter, as you would naturally expect, were many Protestants to be seen walking, with Luther as their conspicuous leader, while all good Roman Catholics were on the road to everlasting bliss, a full description and explanation being given in plain language.

He refers in grateful terms to a grant made by the S.P.C.K.

of Prayer and Hymn Books, and says that most of the churches on Red River are similarly indebted to the same Society. On the west of Lake Winnipeg is Jack Head, a station occupied by Mr. Jeremiah Johnstone, a Native Christian from St. Peter's Settlement, who speaks two Indian languages as well as English. The work, Archdeacon Phair says, is very uphill. The majority of the Indians are heathens, and the influence of Roman Catholic Government officials is used to hinder Mr. Johnstone's efforts; but he has, notwithstanding, made good progress in winning the people's confidence, and the services are fairly well attended. Between Fairford and Jack Head are found Little Saskatchewan, St. Martin's Lake, Sandy Bay, and Lower River, out-stations with resident teachers. When the Archdeacon visited them, through the bad roads and the deep snow—the thermometer was 42° below zero—he arrived several hours later than the time appointed; but the people waited cheerfully, "appearing not to mind that kind of thing, or, indeed, any difficulty in the way of roads or weather, that they might meet together for worship."

S.P.C.K. grants.

"Not mind that kind of thing."

Fort Alexander is at the south-east of Lake Winnipeg, and is under the Rev. A. Cook. Black River, an out-station, has neither heathen nor Roman Catholic among its people; moreover, it has no resident catechist, the services being conducted by members of the congregation, with occasional help from the missionary at Fort Alexander. Hole River, another out-station, on the other hand, is occupied almost exclusively by heathen Indians, and those too of the lowest type, having for years been in contact with unprincipled whites, whose vices they have too readily adopted. The Archdeacon refers to Mr. Newton, the catechist here, as "a devoted Christian," and he adds:—

Fort Alexander.

> When I stayed with this lonely worker a few months ago, and realised his position, how cheerful in his loneliness, how courageous amid difficulties, I could not help feeling what grace can do. Surely a bright, intelligent young Christian fellow, who can spend his lonely days, and still lonelier nights, among a people who have so little in common with him, and so few attractions, must be possessed with a motive that is really pure. I would like to ask on his behalf the prayers of those who have an interest in these people.

"Cheerful in loneliness."

The Rev. T. H. Pritchard gives instances of the eagerness of the Indians of Lac Seul to attend the services. Writing in November, he said:—

Lac Seul.

> Two Sundays ago, when the lakes were on the verge of freezing over, I deemed it extremely improbable that any one would attempt to cross the wide stretch of water which intervenes between the Mission and the Reserve. A heavy fall of snow, driven by a cold north wind, seemed to confirm my doubts. But, to my surprise, a widow woman with her daughter and two young children, arrived at about eight o'clock. They had paddled from their camp, about four miles distant, and were very cold, being covered with ice from the waves which from time to time would splash into the canoe. Soon after some more arrived, and at eleven o'clock we entered the church and had a very enjoyable little service. This is one of many instances of their willingness, or rather eagerness, to hear the Message.

"Great Praying Days."

There are three days in the year the Indians call the "Great Praying Days," viz., Christmas, Good Friday, and Easter Sunday. Those Indians who spend the winter far away from the Mission in search of fur, bring over their calendars before leaving, and have these days marked with red ink, so that by marking the days as they pass, they may know exactly when to leave their hunting-grounds, in order to be present at the services on these days.

The Rev. George Prewer, the newly-ordained deacon, has been placed in charge of Wabigoon; the teacher, Mr. Wood, who was formerly there, has been transferred to Frenchman's Head.

Rainy River district.

The RAINY RIVER district has been added to the political province of Ontario, in which the restrictions affecting the introduction of liquor are less severe than in the province of Rupert's Land. The Indians are more difficult, in consequence, to reach, and less willing to accept a message that speaks against the thing they so much love, Archdeacon Phair says. LONG SAULT, where the Rev. W. Owen resides, having a companion in the person of Mr. W. J. Southam, a lay evangelist, is about forty miles up the river from where it falls into the Lake of the Woods; the old station of Fort Francis is forty miles still further up the river, and is near where it leaves the Rainy Lake.

Sioux Mission.

Mr. H. Hartland labours among the Sioux Indians residing at GRISWOLD. There are some 300 of these Indians in the neighbourhood, and the average attendance at the services is 45; but there are frequently as many as 80 or 100 present.

The station at Touchwood Hills was occupied during the year, with the sanction of the Winnipeg C.M.S. Finance Committee, by a clergyman kindly placed in temporary charge by the Bishop of Qu'Appelle, in whose diocese it is situated.

II. DIOCESE OF MOOSONEE.

Moose Factory, 1851; York, 1854; Albany, 1855; Matawakumme, 1876; East Main Coast, 1877; Rupert's House, 1887; Trout Lake, 1889.

Bishop Horden's last ordination.

THE late Bishop Horden admitted Mr. W. G. Walton, a student of Islington College, who sailed in June to reinforce this Mission, to deacon's orders at Moose Factory on September 4, 1892. The Bishop preached from Deut. xxxi. 6.

The Ordination was the Bishop's last episcopal act, and the opening words of the sermon were singularly, however unconsciously so, appropriate. Referring to the text, he said, "These are the words of the great leader of Israel, just when he gave up his charge to younger hands." Like Moses, Bishop Horden had the privilege of knowing before his decease on whom the duties and responsibilities of his office would devolve after his departure. As he returned to Moose Factory in 1889, after his last visit to this country, he met the Rev. Jervois A. Newnham at Montreal, and learned that he had a desire to engage in Missionary work in Moosonee. After some correspondence between himself and Mr. Newnham, the Bishop communicated his views to the Committee, with the result that Mr. Newnham was invited to London, and went out to Moosonee in 1891. In view of Bishop Horden's expected retirement, the Committee, with whom the duty of nomination rests, instructed the Secretaries in July, 1892, to take the necessary preliminary steps for promoting the appointment of a successor, and a letter from the Metropolitan of Rupert's Land on the subject was received only a few weeks before the telegram which announced that the see was vacant. Hence it was possible for the Committee to proceed, on the same day on which Bishop Horden's death was reported, to nominate Mr. Newnham as his successor, which, in view of the desirability that the consecration should take place at the Provincial Synod in the autumn of 1893, and in view of the necessarily long intervals involved in correspondence with some of the bishops, whose consent or co-operation is required, was a very providential circumstance. Mr. Newnham visited Montreal in June, and was married on the 22nd to Miss Letitia Agnes Henderson, daughter of the Rev. Canon Henderson of that city.

Archdeacon G. S. and Mrs. Winter came home in August, having been travelling (viâ Winnipeg) eleven weeks, seven of which were spent in open boat by day and in camp by night; and the Rev. E. J. and Mrs. Peck came home in the autumn. Mrs. Winter's and Mrs. Peck's failure of health was the cause of their husbands' return home.

Moose Factory.

At Moose Factory Mr. Newnham shared with the late Bishop, so far as his limited knowledge of Cree allowed, the pastoral work. The Rev. E. Richards, comparing the Indians of Rupert's House with those from the inland territory, says many of the former are very careless regarding church attendance, but the latter, whose opportunities of hearing the Gospel are comparatively rare, are much more attentive. He, Mr. Richards, visited Waswanape, a few hundred miles up Rupert's River, and held two services daily, as well as school for the children during his stay. The Rev. J. Sanders removed in the summer of 1892 from Matawakumme to Biscotasing, in the province of Ontario. He says he finds the latter place, being on the Canadian Pacific Railway, more convenient as his head-quarters for reaching the Indians of his district, which extends from Metagama to Missinabie, 153 miles. He did a great deal of travelling on snow-shoes during the winter of 1892–3.

Fort Albany.

Archdeacon T. Vincent of Albany mentions as a noteworthy fact that there was no case of death from actual starvation among the Indians of his station. The sources of food supply are rapidly failing, fur animals are disappearing, wild fowl are leaving the district, and even the fish in the rivers are less plentiful than they were. Among the few resident Indians the work of the station is of the ordinary pastoral character; but each year Albany, like most of the stations in the Mission, is visited by a number of Indians, who, after a few weeks spent there, return to spend another twelvemonth in the depths of their native wilds. For these, special classes are arranged, and the brief opportunity is improved to the utmost to instruct them in the elementary truths of Christianity, and to urge on them the necessity of repentance and of a new heart. As one of the visible fruits of this work the Archdeacon mentions a young man, who not only received the truth but led several families of his relatives to a knowledge of Christ. The Archdeacon visited Osnaburgh in the summer, calling en route at Martin's Falls and Fort Hope. At the last-named place, where he baptized 33 adults in 1891, he again baptized 23.

Fort George.

Before leaving FORT GEORGE in June for Moose Fort, from whence he came home by the annual ship, the Rev. E. J. Peck went on the ice fields to visit the Eskimos. He says:—

Confined within a snow-house for two days.

Some of our experiences were rather trying. Once, for instance, when visiting some Eskimos living on an island some distance from the mainland, I was caught in a fearful storm, and was kept prisoner in a snow-house for nearly two days, no one being able to venture out on account of the blinding drift and heavy wind. Fortunately, one of my friends had, before my arrival, succeeded in shooting a fine reindeer, and as the poor people always give me a share of the hunt, I did not, therefore, suffer for lack of food; the people were also, as usual, most kind, and a fine opportunity was given me of laying before them the claims of that Saviour who loved them and died for them.

Translations.

He was engaged during the winter of 1891-2 in translating St. Matthew's Gospel from the Labrador dialect into that spoken by the Eskimos in his district. Mr. Peck was cheered before leaving Moose by the arrival of Mr. Walton to engage in work among the Eskimos of the East Main. Immediately after his ordination in September Mr. Walton proceeded in an open boat to Fort George, which he reached in five and a half days.

Fort York.

Archdeacon G. S. Winter left FORT YORK by the annual ship to come home. He commenced the translation of Peep of Day into Cree during the previous winter.

Fort Churchill.

"Eight months of continuous winter, with only about six weeks of real summer, becomes very trying after several years," writes the Rev. J. Lofthouse, of CHURCHILL. Even as late as May the station was surrounded with snow and ice, and the ice on the river did not break up till the end of June. Regarding the Fort people, Mr. Lofthouse writes:—

Nearly all the adults are regular communicants, and although all are not what we could wish them, there is no open sin, and I believe a real desire to know more of the truths of God's Word. Constant and regular attendance at all services is some proof of a desire to serve Christ at Churchill, for I am quite sure there are many real Christians in England whose place in the house of God would often be vacant if they had such a church as we had last winter: it was no uncommon thing to see minister and congregation covered with snow, and often have I gone through the full service with the thermometer a long way below freezing point, yet all were as reverent and devout as if in a comfortable English church. Thank God, we have now got our new church opened and in use, so that I hope we may escape rain and storm, though to get the church fairly warm, with the thermometer 50° below zero, requires good fires and good wood; the latter is an impossibility to get at Churchill.

Minister and congregation covered with snow.

About 100 Eskimos visited the station in the summer, and on their leaving Mr. Lofthouse accompanied them to Marble Island. He found many proofs that the Gospel had been carried to that island, and even farther north, by the Eskimos instructed at Churchill from time to time. He met on this trip an Eskimo named Powow, who he says is "a true Christian, and is doing a good work for God with the other Eskimos." He had hoped to baptize this man and his family at Churchill, but they were unable to go thither during the summer. His arrival at Marble Island, after a fortnight's somewhat dangerous sailing, and his summary of the work done during the excursion, he thus describes:—

Visit of Rev. J. Lofthouse to Marble Island.

The same day (July 28, 1892) we got our first view of Marble Island; it is just like a large iceberg, when seen from a distance, being quite white. Next day we saw lots of ice, and a thick fog coming in from sea, we were in great danger for a time, and anchored for the night close in shore. At daylight next morning we were shut in by heavy ice, when a severe gale came on from the north. We managed to get clear of the ice, and ran down "Jones Inlet," where we were kept two days. During all this time rain fell in torrents; for twenty-four hours we could not get a fire, had no food, and everything was drenched with water. We had been within a mile of the Eskimo tents, but could not get in. After the gale abated we tried again, and at last got to them. There were only nine tents, but the same day we got there a party of Eskimos came from Chesterfield Inlet, and altogether there were fifteen tents, in nearly all of which there were two families, while in some there were four. Here we stayed two days, and every moment was fully occupied in teaching. One night in a large tent I had nearly 100 people gathered together; they listened eagerly to the story of God's love, and prayed me to come again and teach them. I do trust some truth sank into many hearts.

On the trip I saw fifty-three tents, and reckoning eight persons in every tent (a moderate computation, as in many tents there are three or four families); this gives us a total of 425 persons, besides 100 staying with us this summer. To all these the Gospel has been preached "in hope," but there are yet many not yet reached.

"Many not yet reached."

III. DIOCESES OF SASKATCHEWAN AND CALGARY.

Cumberland and Devon, 1840; Stanley, 1850; Sandy Lake (Asisipi), 1875; Battleford, 1876; Prince Albert, 1879; Fort McLeod, 1880; Grand Rapids, 1881; Blackfoot Crossing, 1883; Fort Pitt, 1888.

Bishop Pinkham admitted Mr. Frank Swainson to deacon's orders at Calgary on December 21, 1892, and Mr. C. J. Pritchard, also to deacon's Orders, in the previous spring.

The stream of immigration has not yet set in towards the territory which constitutes the Saskatchewan Diocese, and the white population shows little increase year by year. Archdeacon J. A. Mackay says that out of 17 clergy in the diocese 13 are engaged in Indian work. He further reminds the Committee that in 1874, when the first Bishop was consecrated, there were only three clergymen in the diocese. Emmanuel College, at PRINCE ALBERT, which is now recognised by the Indian Department of the Canadian Government as a training institution for Indian teachers, and receives an annual grant, is under the Archdeacon's superintendence. Three teachers were sent out, all for Indian work, during the year. At Sturgeon Lake, an Indian reserve 24 miles north of Prince Albert, described by the Archdeacon as "the last stronghold of heathenism in the Saskatchewan," three adults were baptized in the course of the year. The Indians of Nepowewin continue their wandering mode of life, and are consequently seldom, and only for short periods, within reach of instruction. The Rev. A. H. Wright says the attendance at the services was not so large as in former years. St. James and Butler Settlement, twenty and forty miles respectively from Prince Albert, further down the Saskatchewan, are under the Rev. J. Badger, who had a severe illness in the winter. The work is purely pastoral, as the Indians are all Christians. Sandy Lake (formerly called Asissipi) and its out-station, Stony Lake, are under the Rev. J. R. Settee, who commends his Indians for morality, industry, and sobriety. The births in the Reserve were 2½ times as many as the deaths, whereas in other Reserves in the same Agency, Mr. Settee says, the death rate was considerably higher than that of births. Stanley is on the Churchill or English River, some 300 miles north of Prince Albert. The district is under the Rev. R. McLennan. The Indians are very scattered, so much so that a day school is impracticable, as there is no place where an average attendance exceeding four or five could be obtained. A teacher, who also conducts Sunday services, has been placed at Montreal Lake, 90 miles north of Prince Albert, where a Reserve has been allotted to the Indians, and from which a wagon road has been opened to Prince Albert.

Prince Albert.

Birth and death rate among Indians.

Devon.

DEVON is situated much further down the Saskatchewan, and the work on the Indian settlements existing between Cumberland and Grand Rapids is under the superintendence of the Rev. J. Hines. There are day schools at Devon and at the Eddy, four miles distant, with 40 and 35 children respectively. The congregations at Devon in the summer are large; but in the winter they seldom number 100. The Indians then disperse, and are visited by Mr. Hines at Rocky Lake, thirty miles distant fr

Devon; Rocky Point, 16 miles in an opposite direction; Pas Mountain, 100 miles to the south; and Red Earth, 12 miles still further southward. The Indians at Red Earth are mostly heathen, and Mr. Hines refers to a visit paid to them by a Christian Indian from Pas Mountain for the purpose of preaching the Gospel to them. He says:

The headman at Red Earth said to him, "I find it hard to believe that the Great Spirit will forgive the sins of a life-long sinner, one who has grown old in sin and superstition, and has never once bent the knee in submission to His will." The Christian Indian replied, "My friend, I do not wonder at this; I, too, should find it as hard to believe as you do if I had only man's word for it, but we have the Great Spirit's own Word for it;" and he then repeated 1 John i. 8-9, and he added, "I have proved this to be true." "We have the Great Spirit's Own Word for it."

The Rev. J. Sinclair is now stationed at Cedar Lake, and the Rev. C. J. Pritchard, the newly ordained deacon, is at Grand Rapids. Mr. Sinclair visits Moon Lake, forty miles north-west of Cedar Lake, where a school teacher, a son of the Rev. J. R. Settee, is stationed.

Battleford

Battleford is at the junction of the North Saskatchewan and Battle Rivers. The Revs. R. Inkster and D. D. McDonald were both encouraged in their work on the four Reserves on which they labour. Twenty-two adults were baptized. The Rev. I. J. Taylor mentions thirteen adult baptisms at Fort Pitt and out-stations.

Fort McLeod and Blackfoot Crossing.

Fort McLeod and Blackfoot Crossing are near the foot of the Rocky Mountains, on the South Saskatchewan and one of its tributaries, the Bow River, respectively, in the Diocese of Calgary. On the former Reserve the Rev. F. Swainson has three day-schools and a boarding-house for girls, and he baptized six inmates of the latter. The Blackfoot Indian whose baptism by the Rev. J. W. Tims was mentioned in last year's Report died soon afterwards, as was expected. The boarding school at the Blackfoot Crossing was enlarged during the year, and was re-opened in December by Bishop Pinkham. It now accommodates thirty-five boys and girls, and was full at the close of the year.

IV. DIOCESE OF ATHABASCA.

Fort Chipewyan, 1867; Fort Vermilion, 1876; Fort Dunvegan, 1886; St. Peter's, Lesser Slave Lake, 1887; Christ Church, Shaftesbury, 1888.

Ordination.

Bishop Young admitted Mr. James R. Lucas to deacon's orders on Trinity Sunday, June 12, 1892, at Chipewyan.

The mail facilities in this remote Mission have diminished, and now only one packet arrives during the winter, and the letters received by it cannot be answered by those whose stations are distant from the route taken by the packet until the following open season. For this reason Bishop Young proposed to remove his residence from Fort Vermilion to Athabasca Landing, which the Provincial Synod decided at its last session should be included within the Athabasca Diocese.

Vermilion. The Bishop visited all the stations during the year. In the Irene School at VERMILION there are now 20 girls, 13 of whom reside in the Bishop's house, proving a heavy strain on Mrs. Young in the absence of adequate help—of any help it might be almost said.

Chipewyan. Mr. J. R. Lucas and Mr. A. J. Warwick arrived at CHIPEWYAN in August, 1891, after nearly three months of travelling. For ten months, until June, 1892, when the Bishop and Mr. Scott visited the station, and Mr. Lucas received deacon's orders, they did not see the face of a brother missionary. While studying the language they could do little missionary work among the Indians, but their efforts among the Hudson Bay Company's people and their families appear to have been blessed. The Bishop writes brightly of his visit to SMOKY RIVER, LESSER SLAVE LAKE, and WHITE FISH LAKE, but no incidents of special interest are given. DUNVEGAN was without a resident missionary throughout the year, the Rev. A. C. Garrioch having resigned in consequence of the delicate health of his wife and children.

V. DIOCESE OF MACKENZIE RIVER.

Fort Simpson, 1858; Fort McPherson, 1874; Fort Norman, 1871; Forts Resolution and Rae, 1875.

Bishop Reeve's journey to and in his diocese. BISHOP REEVE paid a short visit to this country from Canada for the purpose of carrying through the press some portions of the Scriptures and other books in the Syllabic character, before proceeding to his distant diocese. He sailed at the end of April. At Toronto, on May 15, he admitted to deacon's orders two graduates of Wycliffe College, one of them, Mr. J. O. Stringer, B.A., being for work among the Eskimos in the Mackenzie River Diocese. The Bishop and his companion reached Athabasca Landing, 100 miles to the north of Edmonton, where the railway terminates, on June 1, and Grand Rapids on the Athabasca River (to be distinguished from Grand Rapids on the Saskatchewan) by steamer on June 3. Thence a series of rapids, extending for nearly 90 miles, have to be passed in flat-bottomed barges, a work of time and of some considerable danger. McMurray was reached on June 16, whence the progress to Fort Chipewyan and Fort Smith was without hindrance. Fort Smith is on the southern border of the Mackenzie River Diocese. Then a portage of 15 miles occurs, made in an ox-cart, the heat and mosquitoes being very trying. From this point to the most northern station of Mackenzie River Diocese, Fort McPherson, is a distance of 1,300 miles. To this place the Bishop proceeded, and placed there Mr. Stringer. The Bishop returned to Fort Simpson, where he was to remain for the winter. He wrote in November comparing the advantages enjoyed now with those of twenty-three years ago, when he joined the Mission :—

Twenty-three years ago and now.

Then the journey occupied nearly five months; now it could be accomplished in thirty days. Then the railroad did not come within 2,500 miles of us; now it is only 1,000 miles away! Then there was no steamboat nearer than Winnipeg; now one passes our very door! and there is steam communication in summer nearly all the way, excepting about 200 miles. Then, and for nearly twenty years afterwards, it was necessary to order our clothing, groceries, flour, &c., two years beforehand, and sometimes they were three years, and even more, before they reached us; now we can receive them within nine months. Then we received our letters twice a year; now we get them three, and occasionally, four times! These are improvements for which we are very thankful.

The Rev. D. N. Kirkby left the Mission in the summer to take furlough in the United States. Mrs. Spendlove came to England for much-needed rest and change, after eleven years spent in the Mission, travelling as far as Winnipeg with Mr. Kirkby. She sailed again to return to the Mission in May, 1893.

Most of the Indians at Fort Resolution are Roman Catholics. The Rev. W. Spendlove conducted services without intermission, and feels sure there is a real work going on. The absence of Mrs. Spendlove was very much felt, not only in the home, but in the Mission work. Mr. Spendlove says :—

Fort Resolution.

Night and day, summer and winter, she has been fetched in sickness and sorrow. Though it is my wife I must record her faithfulness to Christ, and state that her influence for good seems greater than mine. In a country where base, worldly priests have long ruled, and where there is an absence of true Christian white men, ignorant, credulous Natives are apt to look upon all men as alike. Mrs. Spendlove is esteemed and beloved by all in this country, men and women. Independent of nationality or creed we have ministered to sick and suffering of various forms.

A Missionary's wife's influence.

Fort Rae, 100 miles from Fort Resolution to the north, and Fort Providence, 170 miles to the west, are also under Mr. Spendlove's nominal superintendence, but they were not visited during the year, and no Protestant teacher is at either place. Fort Simpson is the oldest, but not the most encouraging station in the diocese. About one half the Indians are Romanists. The Rev. J. Hawksley was placed here by Bishop Bompas in July, 1891, and remained until the arrival of Bishop Reeve in July, 1892, when he removed to Fort Norman. As already stated, the Bishop returned to Fort Simpson after visiting the northern stations. A Wycliffe student, Mr. Marsh, has been placed at Fort Liard.

VI.—DIOCESE OF SELKIRK.

Bishop Bompas crossed the Rocky Mountains in September, 1891. This was about the twelfth, and it will probably prove the last, time he has crossed this natural barrier between the eastern and western portion of his old diocese, and which separates what is now his Diocese of Selkirk from that of Mackenzie River. The Bishop wrote from Rampart House in June, 1892, that until the previous month he had been wholly without letters or other communications from the outside world since the summer of 1891—that is, ten months. In defence of the name of his diocese, the appropriateness of which seems to have been called in question, the Bishop wrote:—"Selkirk, I presume, may be shortened from 'Selig Kirche,' or 'Holy Church'; Manitoba means, I suppose, 'Spirit Narrows,' and Athabasca, 'Plenty of Narrows,' and Saskatchewan, 'Strong Current,' and Moosonee, 'Moose Deer Walk,' and Qu 'Appelle, 'Who Calls?' and I hardly see why Selkirk should be deemed an inferior name to these."

Bishop Bompas ten months without letters.

The name of the diocese.

In July the Bishop met at Fort Youcon the party from England consisting of Mrs. Bompas, the Rev. G. C. and Mrs. Wallis, and Mr. B. Totty, who had been joined on the Youcon River by the Rev. T. H. and Mrs. Canham, removing from Nuklakayit. A conference was held on board the steamer, at which it was arranged that the Bishop with Mr. Totty should occupy Buxton, Mr. and Mrs. Canham proceed to Selkirk, two hundred miles further up the Upper Youcon, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallis return to Rampart House, their former station. A Missionary, the Rev. J. L. Prevost, has been sent by the American Board to occupy Nuklakayit, which is in Alaska Territory. It is proposed to form this territory into an American Diocese.

NORTH PACIFIC MISSION.

BISHOP RIDLEY, who arrived in England at the end of April 1892, returned again to the Mission in September. His health was by no means fully restored, and he was laid up at Metlakahtla during the winter. Mrs. Ridley was also unwell. The Rev. J. B. and Mrs. McCullagh returned to the Mission in July. The Rev. A. E. and Mrs. Price came home in September.

Metlakahtla.

The Rev. R. W. Gurd was in charge of the work at METLAKAHTLA during the Bishop's absence. He refers to the hearty response made by the Indians to his appeal for funds for the purpose of painting and renovating the church, $74 being contributed at the meeting which he summoned, and the labour was voluntarily performed. A Harvest Festival was held on All Saints' Day. Mr. Gurd says :—

A Harvest Festival.

> You would, I think, be surprised to see such a medley of articles brought to the church. And yet the general effect was good. Salmon was represented in every imaginable form, i.e., smoked, salted, canned, fresh, &c. In fact all the native articles of diet were there. The Bishop, whom we had just welcomed back in our midst, preached the sermon, both in English and Zimshian. And the offertory amounted to twenty-four dollars.

Mr. Gurd believes that a deep spiritual work is going on among the Christian Indians. A Girls' Home, under Miss E. G. Stephenson, was opened by the Bishop on October 21, with five inmates, three of whom left very soon, not appreciating the restrictions on their liberty, but their places were speedily refilled, and the number increased to thirteen in a few weeks. The work at the Hospital varied from time to time. Occasionally there were no in-patients, but this was seldom. The out-patients averaged five or six daily. During the canning season, however, Dr. V. Ardagh was more busily occupied at the mouth of the Skeena, where the average of patients was, he considers, from 15 to 20 daily. Miss West, who undertakes the nursing of the patients, and Miss Dickenson, with some of the girls under her charge, also went to the canneries, visiting the people, and holding classes for women and children. In like manner, at the spring fishery on the Naas River during March and April, and at the salmon canneries in June and August on the same river, Archdeacon W. H. Collison held services in the Mission Church, which were attended by the Christians of his own station, KINCOLITH, and of AIYANSH, higher up the river. The Archdeacon says of the summer services :—

Work at Canneries and Fisheries.

> We always held a morning service at the village first, and also a Communion service on the first Sunday of the month immediately after the morning service, having arranged with the Native teachers present for the carrying on of the services in the afternoon and evening. I embarked quietly, generally taking two men with me, and got away to one of the fishing camps in time for the afternoon service at 3 P.M. This service is wholly for Indians. At 7 P.M. another service in English and Indian was held for both the whites and Indians. At this service I preached first in English and afterwards in Niska. Both services were generally well attended, and the house filled with attentive congregations of Indians from every tribe around and whites of various nationalities, with occasionally a few Chinese amongst the number. At the close of one such service, two Chinese came forward and thanked me for "speaking the Words of truth." How I longed to be able to proclaim to them in their own tongue the wonderful love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord! An open-air service was added towards the close of the season, at which our earnest, devoted, and zealous voluntary Native teacher, Philip Latimer, took a leading part. In this way all were brought under the sound of the Gospel message. In this manner the good seed has been sown widely. We only need the mighty power of the Holy Spirit to cause the seed to spring up and bring forth abundantly in changed hearts and lives to the glory and praise of God.

HAZELTON is on the Skeena River, about 200 miles from its mouth. The Rev. J. Field refers to the death of a Christian woman who was baptized in 1889 :—

A dying Indian woman's stedfastness.

Martha Nelson was certainly the most promising of our little band. So far back as the Bishop's time at Hazelton, when still quite a little girl, she identified herself with the Church party, and, although living in a heathen den, she steadily persevered until she was admitted to the Church. From that time to the time of her death, she was a pattern Indian woman, wife, and mother, continuing unshaken in her allegiance to her Lord, and meeting every attack of the Enemy with quiet but firm resolution. She was ill about two months, and during that time her heathen friends, many of whom are medicine people, were indefatigable in their efforts to turn her aside. The doctors (heathen medicine men) begged, entreated, threatened, yea, they even disowned her at the last, but they did not prevail. Though much disturbed, when she should have been left in peace, her face was ever directed towards God. To meet her assailants she used one and only one weapon : "I am a Christian ; I believe in God ; do not disturb me." On her dying bed she besought her father and mother to repent of their sins, give up their evil ways, and turn to God. And her prayer seems to have been at least partly answered, for the mother is now pressing for baptism.

The elders among the heathen manifest much anxiety regarding the future of heathenism. Mr. Field says :—

Despairing efforts in behalf of Heathenism.

At "Kishpaioks"—a village some seven or eight miles higher up the river than Hazelton—there has just come to an end a potlatch which lasted fifty-two days, an unheard-of thing, the usual time being from ten to fourteen days. The missionary there told me the other day that it was made specially attractive for the young people, whose allegiance is suspected by the old. And, indeed, the misgiving of the elders is not without cause. The young are certainly inclined to break away—not from kith and kin, for they are very patriotic, but—from practices of which they are beginning to be ashamed. It requires great resolution, however—shall we not say the resolution which only the Spirit of God can beget?—to sever the ties that bind them.

Mr. Field baptized three adults at GIATWANGAK, which he visited on three occasions, the Rev. A. E. Price being absent on furlough. Their names before baptism were "Tahst," "Yensku," and "Daldamuks"!

No Annual Letter has been received from the Rev. J. H. Keen, of Massett, on Graham Island, one of the QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS.

VANCOUVER'S ISLAND: KWA-GUTL MISSION.

The Annual Conference of Missionaries met for three days in May, 1892, at ALERT BAY on Vancouver's Island. The Rev. A. J. Hall, who is on his way home, prepared St. Luke's Gospel in the Kwa-gutl language during the year. On Christmas Day a new church was opened. Mr. Hall wrote:—

New church at Alert Bay.

It was a day I had looked forward to with much pleasure, but it more than realised my expectations. The band played "Onward, Christian soldiers," and afterwards "Christians, awake," which was also sung by the congregation. Then the service proper commenced, and a Native played the harmonium. The subject of the sermon was Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the temple. In the morning the attendance was 84, and in the evening 102. There were eleven communicants, six being Native. The name of our church is Christ Church, and we offered our gift to Christ as a birthday gift from grateful hearts.

Temperance work.

A branch of the C.E.T.S. was started in April, 1892, which 68 joined. Since its inauguration, drunkenness, Mr. Hall says, has almost ceased. This effort was begun by Mr. A. W. Corker, who was at Alert Bay in the summer, when his Indians were absent from GWAYASDUMS, engaged in "oolachan" fishing at Gwaya. Mr. Corker was discouraged by the evidences of the influence of the heathen custom of "potlatch" over the people. In November he went to Cape Mudge, where the tribes had assembled for one of these potlatches. Some 600 of the Indians assembled for a service which he held, and several young men told him afterwards that they desired to follow Christ and to join His Church, but if they did they knew they would lose their wives and all that they possessed.

Accepted Candidates

THE following tables, alphabetically arranged, furnish particulars of the 81 candidates who were accepted by the Committee during last year for foreign service, as reported in the General Review (page 7 supra). The tables are intended to show at a glance details as to the collegiate status of the candidates, the parishes or places where they resided, and in the case of those who sailed before June 1, 1893, the Mission to which they have been assigned. It is hoped that this information will tend to deepen personal interest in those who have consecrated their lives to the foreign field :—

Valedictory Dismissals

The Annual Public Valedictory Dismissal of Missionaries in Exeter Hall on October 3, 1892, was an occasion of deep and solemn interest. The great hall was, as usual, filled to overflowing, and the proceedings were impressive in the extreme. On the front platform were ranged 99 missionaries, male and female, who appeared to say farewell, of whom 45 were going out to the field for the first time. A further reinforcement of 26 had sailed before the meeting, 6 of these being newly-accepted missionaries. On October 4, the General Committee met and took leave of two of the outgoing parties. Next day, after Holy Communion, Canon Hoare gave an address in St. Bride's Church; and subsequently the General Committee took leave of a third party, thus completing the customary private farewell following that in public at Exeter Hall.

F.S.M. Of the special efforts, during last year, to awaken deeper interest in the missionary cause, the February Simultaneous Meetings in London, from January 30 to February 10, 1893, naturally claim the precedence in this Report. They extended over the entire metropolis, even into some outlying districts, and were of a most varied character, from the smaller parochial gatherings to the grand aggregate meetings in Exeter Hall. There were mid-day services in City churches; a special address to clergy by the Bishop of the Diocese; daily meetings for prayer in Salisbury Square; united gatherings in selected centres and groups of parishes; sectional meetings to reach different classes, such as elementary teachers, nurses, medical students, lay-helpers, young men's and women's associations, Scripture-readers, and Bible-women; drawing-room meetings in different quarters; and last, not least, addresses to the young in public, private, and Sunday schools. Some idea of the prevalence and nature of the movement may be formed from the returns actually received at headquarters, which reported 206 Church services on week-days and 391 meetings, larger and smaller; at which 225 deputations from Salisbury Square and 113 locally provided gave addresses, the total attendances recorded being over 80,000, irrespective of congregations throughout the metropolis addressed on the subject of missions on the Sundays during the period. When it is added that about half-a-million copies of literature, specially prepared for the occasion, were distributed at the various services and meetings, it will be seen how far-reaching was the influence of the movement. The work was entered upon and carried out in prayerful dependence on the Divine blessing, and it received the warm approval and assistance of dignitaries and clergy of the Church and of lay friends of the Society, and in not a few cases the cordial sympathy of others outside the Society's immediate circle, but truly interested in missionary enterprise.

Special Meetings for Prayer. In connexion with the Day of Intercession for Foreign Missions, the Committee and friends of the Society met for prayer in Sion College on December 1, and a special request for united prayer for more labourers, both at home and abroad, was warmly responded to a few months earlier on July 14. On the former day there were meetings in Salisbury Square, and two in Sion College—afternoon and evening; while from home friends throughout the country and from the foreign mission stations the tidings received told of a world-wide earnest supplication on the latter day to the Lord of the Harvest.

Association Secretaries Gathering. The Annual Gathering of Association Secretaries was held on January 11 to 13. The meetings were marked by a spirit of earnest hopefulness, and from all sides there was expressed a desire for an increase in the deputation staff, in order to work more adequately the home field. The reports received showed that, even though valuable assistance had been rendered by Honorary District Secretaries and local clergymen, it had not been possible to satisfy all the requests for deputations. In order in part to meet the growing need, the Committee have appointed an additional home clergyman, the Rev. C. D. Snell, on the permanent Deputational Staff.

Deputations.

The Returns sent in by Association Secretaries showed that during the year 6,002 sermons had been preached, and 2,737 meetings attended by deputations; about half of the former by the Association Secretaries themselves or by missionaries on the staff provided by Salisbury Square, the other half by the parochial clergy or Honorary District Secretaries and other voluntary clerical helpers; the great majority of the meetings having been addressed either by Association Secretaries or deputations from headquarters. Besides the work represented by these figures, there have been many services and meetings held which are not included in the above returns; and certainly many more might have been held if the missionary deputational staff, which has been taxed even beyond its fair capacity, had been able to supply every demand.

County Unions.

The County and District Unions and Associations have fulfilled their functions, on the whole, satisfactorily. There have been one or two additions lately to the number, and the customary annual meetings have been held, at which deputations from Salisbury Square have attended.

Ladies' Unions.

The Ladies' Union for London, formed rather more than seven years ago, now numbers 1,560 members. Monthly meetings are held regularly at the Church Missionary House, when addresses are given by leading missionaries and others. These gatherings were largely attended last year.

There are 35 districts in and around London for promoting prayer meetings and working parties. Twenty-seven members of the Union have gone into the foreign field. The sale of missionary publications has been much increased and knowledge of the Society's work diffused through the diligent labours of the district secretaries. Valuable pecuniary help to the Society has not been lacking. For example, in one district two sales were held last year in connexion with the Union, when £87 was realised, and in another there was collected £75 for one of the Society's Missions. The income of the Union is about £200, mostly derived from the subscriptions of members.

Work Depôt.

A Work Depôt is established at 5 Wellington Terrace, Bayswater Road, to receive ladies' work to be sold for the benefit of the Society, and boxes of work are sent to sales, on which a small charge is made to defray rent of room and other expenses. In the past year fifty-five boxes of work, valued at £213, have been sent out, and £118 worth has been sold at the Depôt.

Ladies' Reading Union.

A Ladies' Reading Union, supplying the newest and most interesting works on Missions, and the Intelligencer at a cheap rate, now numbers 150 members.

The various Ladies' Unions in the country are moving steadily forward. An important Union has lately been formed for the Diocese of Peterborough and the Borough of Stamford, under the presidency of Mrs. Creighton, the wife of the Bishop of Peterborough. Manchester had a very successful sale of work in connexion with a Missionary Exhibition, and the Ladies' Union in that town held its first annual meeting in March last. An interesting gathering was held at Liverpool in the drawing-room of the Bishop's Palace, which was attended by 200. The Yorkshire Unions have been helpful as usual. Indeed, all the Provincial Unions have heartily contributed in their several spheres to the funds of the Society and the furtherance of the missionary cause.

Lay Workers' Unions.

The Lay Workers' Union for London has enrolled since its foundation on October 30, 1882, 1,175 members, of whom 830 are at present on the register. The progress made has been steady from year to year, and the Union has become solidly established as an auxiliary of the Society.

During last year fifteen meetings were held, with attendances varying between 40 and 130. The subjects of the addresses related chiefly to the Mission Field.

A three days' Conference in London was arranged in June last with friends from the provinces, for the furtherance of laymen's personal work at home in aid of Missions abroad. The attendance was thoroughly representative, and the subjects considered were the spirituality and urgency of missionary work, personal responsibility, laymen's personal work at home, the need and supply of candidates for the Mission Field, the formation, method, and work of Lay Workers' Unions and Missionary Bands, and missionary work amongst children.

At the Annual Meeting of the Union in October 1890, the Bishop of Sierra Leone, who presided, laid great stress on the necessity for industrial training for the young people of his diocese. He stated his desire to find both means and men to commence such a work. The members took the matter up, the man was found, and is being supported through the Union's instrumentality.

Sunday School addresses are regularly arranged by the Union in many of the metropolitan districts. Islington, Paddington, Marylebone, Spitalfields, St. Pancras, and the whole of the South London area are included in this work. In May and at Advent last year 170 addresses were given in these districts in 150 Sunday Schools, mostly by members of the Union. In addition, a special organisation was formed in connexion with the F.S.M. on January 29, and February 5 and 12, 1893, when a large number of schools were reached.

Up to last autumn 48 members of this Union had either gone to or were preparing for the Mission Field, two of whom have died at their posts. The list includes fourteen who are connected with other societies, five of whom offered to the C.M.S. first; and two others broke down in health when on the point of starting.

The Union has several district and parochial branches in London, and a few in the country. In the latter case, a distinctive name is usually adopted from a place or a people in the Mission Field. These societies are termed Missionary Bands, of which 33 are now connected with the Union either as Branches or Associated Societies, and hold half-yearly conferences for the discussion of missionary subjects. Two such meetings were held during last year, one at Waltham Abbey, the other at Paddington.

The Lay Workers' Unions in the provinces also exhibit a healthy activity, Manchester reporting 160 lectures and addresses during the year; Liverpool with its library, regular meetings, and systematic Sunday School addresses; Sheffield with its monthly meetings and simultaneous sermons and addresses; Birmingham devoting much attention to lantern and Sunday School lectures; Chester, lately formed; Bradford, Bristol, and Portsmouth.

The Younger Clergy Unions have made good progress during the past year. That for London and the neighbourhood now numbers 312, and, during the twelve months last reported on, held eight general meetings, at which addresses bearing on missionary work were delivered, one being by Rev. Dr. Pierson, of Philadelphia, and another by Mr. R. P. Wilder, so well known in connexion with the Student Volunteer movement in America for foreign missions. Ten members of the Union have lately been accepted by the Society, raising the number of those who have gone from it to foreign service to thirty. The home work has been much aided by members who have preached, given addresses, and lectured with lantern, as well as assisted in organisation and otherwise. In the provinces the Younger Clergy Unions are also vigorous. New branches have been formed at Huddersfield and Liverpool, and the one at Bristol has been placed on an improved basis; at all these points valuable work has already been done and plans have been laid for further effort. Younger Clergy Unions.

The Gleaners' Union has maintained its record of progress.

Gleaners' Union.

During the twelve months embraced in its last report there were enrolled 9,816 members, making the number since the formation over 46,000; and 87 new branches had been formed, the total number being 437. These figures have been considerably increased during the period which has elapsed between the date of the last Gleaners' Union Report and that closing the Society's year under review, Australasia alone having swelled the strength by at least 1,500. The contributions received from members during the year were £1,969; the cost of the Union had been £536. Three missionaries were nominated for 1892 under "Our own Missionary Fund."

The usual Gleaners' Anniversary was held on All Saints' Day, 1892. After the prayer meeting in Salisbury Square there came the sermon in St. Dunstan's Church, preached by the Rev. Jani Alli, of Bengal; then a crowded afternoon conference in the Lower Exeter Hall, the addresses being by ladies; and finally an evening meeting, completely filling the Great Hall, at which one of the speakers was the Bishop-Designate of Lucknow (Dr. Clifford). A pleasing link with far-away associates was formed by the receipt of a telegram from Mr. Eugene Stock, dated Hobart Town, Tasmania: "Ephesians vi. 18 and 19"; a reply to which, founded on the Gleaners' Union motto then announced, was proposed with acclamation: "May living waters flow." It only remains to mention the conference at the Church Missionary House during the Society's Anniversary of 1892, which considered and dealt with the different developments of Gleaners' work, special notice being directed to the Sowers' Band for juveniles, which has now 226 bands and approximately 8,750 members.

Sowers' Band.

Loan Department.

The work of the Loan Department has greatly increased during the past year. The method of missionary instruction by lantern slides has become exceedingly popular, and to meet the ever-increasing demand not only has the stock at headquarters been steadily augmented and improved, amounting now to 2,450 slides, but 17 sets have been placed for the convenience of the Society's friends in certain centres in England and Ireland under the control of Association Secretaries, and one set of 50 slides has been sent to Australia. The descriptive notes also have been systematically revised by missionaries from the several fields. The registers show that last year sets of slides were lent for use 1,751 times, sets of diagrams 437 times, and maps 674 times; 47 lecturers and 33 lantern exhibitors having been provided chiefly through the kind services of members of the Lay Workers' Union.

There has also been a great and growing demand for missionary curios, the small stock of which in the Society's possession has done good service, not only at smaller parochial and district gatherings, but also at the larger exhibitions which have become so common, notably at Manchester, Birmingham, Dover, Leeds, Cambridge, and Kennington. During the year 148 lots, comprising 4,159 curios, were thus lent, and in many cases lecturers provided. The only limit to the more extended use of this valuable missionary object lesson is the smallness of the collection at Salisbury Square, which, however, has been supplemented from time to time by loans from kind friends who possess such curios.

In the Loan Library, too, the demand has been much greater, 1,425 books having been lent; a distinct indication of a healthy increase in the desire to read missionary literature.

Medical Missions Auxiliary.

At the request of the Medical Missions Auxiliary, a course of four lectures on "How to take care of Health in the Foreign Field" was delivered in the month of June by Dr. Martyn Clark, of C.M.S. Hospital, Amritsar, followed by an examination. As the course was open to all missionaries or candidates, representatives attended from other societies, and there was a general feeling that the lectures had been very helpful. During June and July, meetings were held in London and several places in the provinces, in aid of the Medical Missions Auxiliary, which is now established as one of the regular Committees, and charged with the administration of supplies to the medical missions of the Society.

Thanks.

The Committee desire in closing this Report to record their most hearty thanks to the many kind friends—clergymen, laymen, and ladies—who have in any way assisted in the Home Operations of last year; and to express an earnest hope that there may be an increased and prayerful effort during the year now current. In view of the present position of the Society, they desire that there may be stimulated in all quarters among its supporters a solemn sense of the duty of patient continuance in well doing and of waiting on God; that so the urgent needs for men and means may be supplied and the work of the Society greatly strengthened.

REPORT OF THE WILLIAM CHARLES JONES INDIA NATIVE CHURCH FUND.

THE interest of this Fund is available for assisting the Native Church Councils connected with the Church Missionary Society in India to employ more evangelistic labourers among the heathen. Two important conditions are imposed regarding grants. It is necessary, before an application for a grant can be entertained, for a Native Council to show that the Christians whom it represents have actually engaged in aggressive evangelistic work through a Native Missionary Society, or that they are prepared so to do. It is necessary, also, that the Council be able to show that at least two-fifths of the cost of maintaining religious worship and pastoral work in its district has been raised from purely local sources; and that a definite sum has been contributed towards missionary work. The scheme also provides that the amount granted from the Fund to a Council shall not exceed the amount set apart by that Council for purely evangelistic purposes, or the amount raised by the Native Missionary Society in connexion with that Council.

Grants were made during 1892 to the following Church Councils:—

	Rs.
Calcutta District Church Council	300
Nuddea ,, ,, ,,	216
Punjab and Sindh ,, ,, ,,	800
Madras ,, ,, ,,	570
Bezwada ,, ,, ,,	350
Tinnevelly ,, ,, ,,	2000
Mavelikara ,, ,, ,,	450

The Committee again, as they did in 1892, present in full the report which was presented to the Travancore Provincial Church Council by the Secretary for this Fund in the Travancore and Cochin Mission, Mr. T. Korula. But before doing so, the following remarks of the Bishop of Travancore and Cochin upon the report must be quoted:—"The report shows that the work of the Jones Evangelists is making its mark. These men have a peculiarly trying work, and need our special prayers. I would call attention to the incident recorded of a Roman Catholic opponent rebuked by a Hindu; also that of the discussion with a Jew at Cochin. The house-visitation is perhaps the most valuable part of this work, and the fact of 3,500 houses having been visited and 37,000 persons addressed by the evangelists on the one all-important theme of sin and salvation, is in itself a cause for gratitude, apart from the results known and recorded."

The report is as follows:—

This Agency was remodelled during the year under report. The districts occupied by the pastorates under the Cottayam and Mavelikara Councils have been divided into six centres with two evangelists in each. The reports received from these centres speak of encouraging results of work done, chiefly in places where the Gospel had not reached before.

Putupalli.—The two evangelists here itinerate in the Putupalli and Kannit pastorates. They speak of several individuals who, after having heard them, bought Scripture portions, and in one instance (a Koukani Brahmin) a New Testament, and are carefully reading them. In one place

3 Chogans have begun to join with their Christian neighbours in their family prayers. At Kannit one family have become catechumens. At Iyerukala 30 Kuruvars are preparing for baptism. Here and there they meet with opposition from Hindus and Mohammedans, but generally they are well received. Once when they went to a Nair's house, he remarked, "These people (evangelists) made a great effort at Ochira annual fair, now they come to our houses; we are bothered by them." A Nair woman, being struck with an address she heard, said, "What these men say is true; they do not worship idols like us." Her husband was angry with her for the remark she made.

Mavelikara.—The two evangelists speak very joyfully of the encouragements they have met with in their itineration. They have been generally welcomed into Hindu houses, and were gladly heard and asked to go again. On the other hand, some have objected to their visiting houses and preaching there. Mohammedans, as a rule, are bitter enemies of the Gospel. Nevertheless, the evangelists have been enabled to sell them some Gospel portions. This is really a matter for joy. Some Brahmin students learning English received handbills and read them carefully. Some of them read also the Bible; they expressed regret for having destroyed tracts and handbills in their younger days. The evangelists speak of the prospects for opening a school at Idapōna, where there are many Sudras and Chogans who are quite uneducated, having no school among them. An old man, having heard the first part of the Sermon on the Mount read, asked for a copy of St. Matthew, and bought it most gladly; though he could not read, he said he would have it read to him. At Puthia Kavu 12 families of Chogans meet together on Sundays for reading and prayer. They are stonecutters.

Chenganur.—The evangelists report an interesting baptism of an old Chogan, who has been reading the Scripture for the last four years at a Sunday class conducted for Chogans. He is a devout reader of the Word of God, and a man of prayer. Another old man is growing bold to speak the Word to others of his own caste. There are signs of hopefulness in others. Some educated Hindus ask for English Bibles. In a Hindu school the evangelists were allowed to teach the children English lyrics and Bible stories. Five families of Chogans observe the Sunday in one place, and meet together for reading the Scriptures, and two brothers are preparing themselves for baptism. God's grace seems to take effect more easily among the lower orders of people. In some places house-visitation is a new thing, and the people are afraid of the evangelists going into houses; while others receive them gladly, and buy books from them. They also speak of a Hindu official who reads with interest a Christian book called "The Glory of Jesus"—a Malayan book.

Changanachery.—The report is full of interest. The evangelists went to places where the Gospel had never before been preached. Near Thalawady 50 families of Chogans, living in one place, were visited. They came together, and heard the evangelists several times, bought Scripture portions and family Prayer Books, and promised to meet on Sundays to read and pray; and the first meeting was conducted by the evangelists themselves, and it is now regularly continued. The Syrian Cattanar in the neighbourhood takes a great interest in it, and sends his young men to the meeting. These Chogans ask for a schoolmaster. At Chakkolam upwards of 60 families of Arayan fishermen were visited and spoken to. They are favourably inclined. One of them bought a Scripture portion. He reads it, and tells of it to others. On one occasion when the evangelists went there with the pastor of Thalawady, a drunkard opposed them; some others also joined with him, when the man mentioned above silenced them by telling them the miracles of the feeding of the 5,000 and the raising of Lazarus, and said these were important truths worthy of their careful attention, and as life was uncertain, they should decide about the future immediately.

These are hopeful places. So also is Oomichera near Allepei. There are above 100 families of Chogans living near each other. They ask for a teacher. They were very glad that the evangelists visited them, and heard them very attentively. An educated man among them spoke of the Bible as a good book, and recommended that everyone should buy and read it. Accordingly seven Gospel portions were bought with the promise to read them carefully, and with prayer that they might know the truth. A sick Chogan whom they visited was very much struck when he was told of the forgiveness of sin. A goldsmith gave back the Gospel portion which he had bought by the advice of his friends, but repented of it when he met the evangelists next month, and bought another copy, and is now reading it. At Kodupunna many Pulayans and Parayans heard them very eagerly, and prayed with them, and promised to come to church from the Sunday following, and so 22 of them are now attending the church. A Brahmin remarked once that it was a great sin to convert people from one religion to another, and that the evangelists were deceiving the people. But when he was spoken to at some length, he confessed that their work was a charitable one, and that the Christian religion contained some important truths not found in any others. "These preachers," said a Nair, "are to be seen everywhere; the end is near; there are signs to be seen of all embracing one religion, and that is the Christian religion." In one place a goldsmith received them with open hands, for he was thinking of sin, death, and moksham just as the evangelists went to him. He listened to their address with great attention, and said he would pray only to the Saviour whom they preached. They gave him a Gospel portion at parting. A rich and influential Nair Vakeel hearing the evangelists preach, listened with great interest, and at the close of it, turning to those around him, said, "If we examine our Shastras we find Raman committing murder, Krishnu stealing, and many gods mentioned for worship, but we do not see any mention of an incarnation to save sinful men. We read of Aswamedha and other sacrifices, but the Christians speak of the sacrifice of a sinless man for sinners; we should compare our books with theirs, and find out the truth. At Varapally a Potti Brahmin said he was reading the Bible, and showed them the Old and New Testaments he had with him, and on asking how he came to read them, a Nair youth, who was standing by, replied, "I brought these books here; I was learning in the Cottayam College, where I used to read them, and was very fond of them, but my uncle, fearing that I might become a Christian, sent me here. I am reading them even now," and by this means this Brahmin also happened to read. Some Chogans near Kurumpanadam have expressed their willingness to be instructed.

Cottayam.—The evangelists once met a few Nairs. One of them stepping forward, gave an astonishing imitation of a long evangelical sermon which he had heard at the Tirunakara cattle fair. He did this in mockery. They speak of a Chogan who has bought a Bible and is reading it; he has also learned the Lord's Prayer, which he uses every morning and evening. He is kept back from openly becoming a Christian on account of some family circumstances. This Chogan even reproves the Christians living near him when he finds anything inconsistent on their part. At Kodamalur a Roman Catholic objected to preaching, but he was rebuked by a Hindu who was listening. These evangelists have commenced work in several villages newly. In one place three miles to the south-east of Pallam some Chogans have become inquirers. One family comes to church on Sundays. A school is newly started for their benefit by the pastor of Pallam. At Kollatta some Syrian young men who meet on Sundays for Bible reading go along with the evangelists sometimes among the Hindus, and this voluntary effort on their part is much appreciated by the Hindus. In two places Pulayans have become catechumens in connexion with the Cottayam pastorate.

Cochin.—The evangelists have travelled in some of the outlying parts of Cochin, and they speak of the scope for opening a school among the Chogans at Vendurithi, and another among the Idians at Aripkal. Three Thiers were earnest inquirers for a time, and one of them came to church on two Sundays, but afterwards discontinued, owing to the opposition of his friends. The report speaks of an interesting discussion with a Jew, who tried to meet the evangelist with other than the accepted interpretations of the Messianic prophecies. The work here lies chiefly among Hindus surrounded by Romanists, who are not at all friendly towards the work ; the evangelists at times fail even to get a lodging among them when they are out on tour. Educated Hindus who have seen the Roman Catholic specimen of Christianity speak very disparagingly of it. Unlike in the interior parts of the country, they meet with Vedantist opponents here.

REPORT OF THE HENRY VENN NATIVE CHURCH FUND.

FROM this Fund grants are made to (1) Native Church Councils to assist them in maintaining and developing their pastoral work; and (2) to Native Missionary Associations to assist them in carrying on missionary work.

Under the former head grants have been made to the Church Councils of Sierra Leone, Madras, Tinnevelly, Travancore, and Mauritius. The grant to the last-named Council is again larger than it has been wont to be, on account of the trying circumstances of the Mauritius Church through the diminution of the Government grant.

Under the latter head grants have been made to the Missionary Associations of the Sierra Leone, Lagos, Cotta, and Jaffna Churches, and to that connected with the Tamil Cooly Mission in Ceylon.

The following were the amounts granted during the year:—

Africa.—
Sierra Leone Native Church Fund	70
Sierra Leone Native Missionary Association	75
Lagos Native Missionary Association	8
India.—
North-West Provinces Native Missionary Association	45
Madras Native Church Council	18

REPORT OF THE FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL MEMORIAL FUND.

The objects of this Fund are (1) to promote the translation and publication of Miss F. R. Havergal's works in the languages of India; and (2) to encourage the employment of female evangelists in India. Six Bible-women have been employed during the year; and altogether, since the Fund was formed, fifteen translations of Miss Havergal's works into six of the Indian and Ceylon languages have been produced which are now in circulation.

The following grants have been made:—

	Rs.
For employment of one Bible-woman at Annfield	144
For employment of one Bible-woman at Kangra	144
For employment of one Bible-woman at Tarn Taran	144
For employment of three Bible-women in Ceylon	360
For employment of one Bible-woman at Thandiala	240
For employment of one Bible-woman in Punjab Village Missions	120
For employment of one Bible-woman at Jubbulpore	120
For employment of one Bible-woman at Masulipatam	120
For employment of one Bible-woman at Bombay	120

NOTE ON SPELLING OF NATIVE NAMES.

THE following system for spelling NATIVE NAMES is recommended to the Society's Missionaries generally for adoption in their letters and reports, unless any of them should prefer a still closer approximation to the more elaborate scheme of Professor Lepsius. This system should not be applied, of course, to those well-known places of which the spelling has become so fixed that it would be mere pedantry to disturb it; as, for instance, Travancore (Travankur), and Lucknow (Laknau). Other well-known names, spelt correctly according to this method, are not pronounced accordingly by English residents. For example, the a in Lagos is always pronounced by English residents, when speaking English, as in the word make.

The powers of the vowels are as follows:—

a as in '*a*bout.'	o as in '*n*ot,' or as in the French '*b*onne.'
â usually as in '*f*ather' (in North-Indian words as in '*a*ll'.)	ô as in '*n*ote.'
e as in '*p*en.'	u as in '*f*ull.'
ê as in '*f*ête.'	û as in '*tr*uly.'
i as in '*th*in.'	ai as i in '*th*ine.'
î as in '*p*ique.'	au or ou or ow as in '*b*ough.

It needs only to be noticed further that—

y always sounds as in '*y*ou.'	gn as in '*poign*ant.'
g „ as in '*g*o.'	ng as in 'thing.'
j „ as in '*j*oin.'	ei as in '*v*ein.'

h has always a separate sound, except in ch as in '*ch*urch,' and sh as in '*sh*e' th and dh should, therefore, not be used in South Indian names to express the dental t and d.

c, whether for k or s, being superfluous, is not used.

ae represents a sound intermediate between a in '*m*at' and e in '*m*et.'

The above Rules are not adopted in the N.-W. America Mission.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY beg to remind the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations that the Society's Financial year ends on the 31st of March.

All moneys belonging to the year should be received at the Society's House by that date, in order to ensure their being included in the Accounts for the year then closing.

The Committee would also strongly urge for universal adoption the practice of making early remittances after the 1st April on account of the year's receipts in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This course would tend to equalise in a greater degree the Income and Expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial year, and save the Society a considerable yearly sum. They are glad to observe that the suggestion has been partially carried out during past years, but they are desirous of seeing it more generally adopted.

Sums remaining unpaid on the 31st March are not shown in the Accounts as Balances. The Contribution Lists should therefore agree in total with the amounts actually paid to the Parent Society to that date.

Lists and Accounts (if not sent with the money) must be forwarded not later than April 6th. If not so sent the Lists are liable to be excluded from the Report. The date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, and the names of the Local Officers, should be specified. Should no officers be named it will be assumed that they remain the same as in the previous Report, and the List will be so printed. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Contribution Lists should be written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. Forms of Account may be had on application at the Society's House.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Money and Accounts of the Branches must be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the date for forwarding to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded.

Branch Associations should in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society. If sent direct, the Association or District with which such Branch is connected should be specified.

"Appropriated" Contributions (i.e. Contributions for particular objects for which there is no Special Fund) will be acknowledged as part of the General Fund. All such sums paid through Associations must be distinctly marked in the Association Accounts.

Particulars of Contributions to Special Funds are printed with the Lists to which they respectively belong, and the totals only transferred to the Accounts of the Special Funds. All particulars of Special Funds should be received not later than 6th April. In cases where the Lists are received too late for the transfers to be made in the Accounts of the current year, they will be made in, and the amounts deducted from the Contributions of, the succeeding year.

II.—ENGLISH ASSOCIATIONS.

NOTE.—All Contributions from Associations are for year ending Dec. 31st, 1892, except where otherwise stated.

XIX.—TABLE OF CONTRIBUTIONS, SCHOOL FEES, GOVERNMENT GRANTS, &c., RECEIVED IN THE VARIOUS MISSIONS OF THE SOCIETY DURING 1892.

This Table has been compiled with a view to giving to the Society's friends the best statement possible of the sums received (in connection with its work throughout the world) in addition to the Contributions to the General Fund, and to the income derived from Special Funds in the Parent Committee's hands.

The following figures are therefore assumed to be exclusive of the sums shown in the General Account of Receipts and Payments on pp. 282–3.
